The particular phase of the structure upon which the speaker based his sermon is found in Jeremiah 33.3: "Call unto Me and I will answer thee and shew thee great and mighty things which thou knowest not."

"Here was a very tense, dramatic situation, with this gracious word from God coming in the hour of Israel's depression. Jeremiah had been exhorting the people and telling them of approaching disaster and calamity, but they continued on their way disregarding his warning. At last we find the prophet in prison. Could there be any situation more depressing, or a prophet more heart-broken? Yet, in the darkness of prison, Jeremiah waited upon God, and out of the stillness comes this wonderful gracious message "Call unto Me". It was meant for the people as well, telling them that God would lift them out of this depression but they must turn to Him for strengh.

You and I to-day are facing times of depression, many of us on the borderland of panic. Here is the voice of God speaking to us in this potent message.

It is a great pity to-day that the educated man very often disdains the art of prayer. Why, he asks, do we expect an answer to prayer when it means the interference with natural law? At the root of it all is this fact, there is a great difference between 'physical law' and 'spiritual experience'. Such a person has a wrong conception of prayer—they are really challenging God to answer their own prayers in accordance with their own wishes.

A great many people are praying that this depression may pass on and that prosperity may return. How do we know that this would be good for the world and that it would not bring a return of the old evils? It may be that he must suffer until many more are humbled to their knees like the proud Israelites.

The great necessity to-day is that men and women restore God to His proper place in their homes and in their contracts with one another.

Not only the educated man, but the ordinary man of the street has his question mark opposite prayer. Even the church itself, is leaning upon organization and upon material things, rather than upon prayer.

So many definite promises in the Scriptures are seemingly contradicted in human experience that it causes many to doubt the power of prayer. They, again have the wrong conception regarding prayer as a sort of magic chart to protect them from physical harm and to procure their happiness. This is a caricature of God, and a reflection upon the reality of prayer. We must leave the answer to our prayers to God, not go to Him with the answer already in our minds. We mustn ot tie God down to any certain action. We must call upon Him and leave the way to Him.

In the Old Testament we are told that we must make prayer for Christ continualy. The real meaning of this is that we must pray for the cause of Christ, in India, in China, in Russian and here at home.

Our prayers should not be that the depression should pass, nor that prosperity should shine. Neither should we pray for the blessing of materialism nor scientific advancement. Rather we should pray that in this time of darkness and depression christ should be within ourselves."

All joined in the grand old hymn "Onward Christian Soldiers" and Dr. Barr dismissed the congregation with the benediction.

The final prayer service of the series will be held on Friday night in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, when Rev. David Wren will be the preacher.

JERUSALEM, THE CITY OF PEACE, AN INFERNO OF RELIGIOUS HATE

We tear into Rome with an ungodly din and an unbecoming clatter. And as to Jerusalem, if took me a full minute to recover my senses when the chauffeur halted mid a flock of evil-smelling goats opposite a ramshackle Arab coffee-house, and I, looking up, recognized in the spreading twilight the familiar outline of David's Tower.

Is this Jerusalem, the Holy City? I asked myself.

Unlike Paintings

Many overlook the fact that Jerusalem's strategic position has throughout the centuries presented a standing challenge to the military ambitions of every bandit-in-arms, and that not only Assyrian and Babylonian czars, but also Macedonian and Persian satraps, Roman generals, successive generations of Saracen warriors and Crusaders have all, at one time or another, razed and destroyed here with unbridled savagery and barbarism. Overlooking this, many Christians have, unconsciously perhaps, permitted their conception of the modern Jerusalem to become warped by looking upon lovely church paintings, or by listening to well-meaning pastoral exaggerations. This has for result that when they go on a pilgrimage, they come to look for something approaching the Patmos vision, as recorded in the last book of the Bible. So it was with me, at least, the first time I came here.

It is true, of course, that Saint John's mirage on the Aegean Island had to do with a heavenly Zion. But this New Jerusalem was and is frequently even in our day, held up to the faithful as a sort of celestial pendant, and not so much as a contrast, of the earthly Jerusalem. It all becomes very confusing, for the magic city of Saint John had walls of jaspis, gates of pearls, fountains of precious jewels, and the streets were pure gold, like transparent glass. And then we remember the exclamation of the disciples of Jesus when the crude Galilean fishers and laborers saw Jerusalem for the first time: "Behold Master, what manner of stones, what houses!"

Now a few steps from the bazaar in the modern Jerusalem, with its slippery paving stones, its blatant noise and perpetual twilight will soon dispel any such notions. It is all typically Oriental down there, that is to say dirty, though colorful, hilarious and crowded, but it answers by no means to the Jerusalem of your imagination. The scene that confronts your western eyes comes perhaps much nearer to your conception of the right kind of setting for a tale like Ali Baba and his forty bandits.

Abounds With Holy Men

On the other hand, I hasten to add, they are, happily, not all bandits—that motley and tumultuous swarm that you see squirming and squeezing and shouting its way through the bazaar's thread-needle streets. Far from it. The place simply abounds with holy men of one kind or other. You see proud and dusky mullahs wearing green turbans, in token of an accomplished Mecca pilgrimage, redounding to the wearer's social prestige and eternal salvation, furthermore, long-haired Greek monks, their oily black coils partly hidden under immense cylindrical towers of hats; caftaned and bearded rabonim; Abyssinian prelates in loosely flowing woollen garments; Protestant pastors affecting a Jesuit vogue in collars, and further, representatives of all the varieties of Latin orders; Franciscans, Dominicans, Cistercian fathers, cowled Capuchins, hooded Carmelits, helmeted Templars, Hospitalers and grave-visaged Benedictine doms. All these people mingle and elbow each other in jumbled confusion and colorful array in the tortuous alleys which are lined on both sides with confectioners' booths, coffee-houses, cobblers' shops, bakeries, smithies, greengrocers' stalls, and book shops, vending sacred Jewish tomes.

But, alas, even the sight of so many holy men, in so compact a space, does by no means help to restore your childhood vision of a holy city with an atmosphere of miraculous serenity and peace. For sooner than you like you become aware of the fact that the adherents of the various Christian sects in Jerusalem are so ready to exchange glances of haughty disdain or looks expressing utter despise and even fierce enmity with each other that you silently come to wonder that this city, whose very name means peace, is not a veritable inferno of quarrels, unquenchable hatred or even violence and bloodshed. And neither would you be very much mistaken.

I am not out here to "debunk" Jerusalem by any means. I believe that this city still has a supreme spiritual significance to mankind But we must first of all see what is most obvious and at hand that is the physical outline, the reality of everyday life. The spiritual meaning of Jerusalem, in the east as well as in the present, will, I hope, become clearer in another article a few days hence.

LADIES' AID MEETS AT TRENT RIVER

First Meeting of Year is Held on Wednesday in United Church.

TRENT RIVER, Jan. 6 (Examiner Correspondence).—The first Ladies' Aid meeting of the New Year was held Wednesday afternoon at the United Church with an attendance of 17. The president, Mrs. Shearer, presided.

Baskets of fruit were ordered for two of the congregation who are ill and cards were ordered to be sent to others who are convalescing. Discussion was taken up regarding the postponed progressive cronkinole party and the date was fixed for Friday, January 20, after the opening exercises of the Efficiency League meeting.

The many friends of Mrs. McLaughlin, who is confined to bed at the home of her sister, Mrs. James Johnston, Havelock Road, will regreat to hear her condition has become very critical.

Mrs. H. Ridley Wood and Miss Irene, who have been confined to bed suffering from a 'flu attack are making a good recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Revoir and son, Clayton, were New Year's visitors with their daughter, Mrs. Nicholas Frank and family at Cobourg.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Greenly had as their New Year dinner guests: Mrs. A. Wight, Mrs. Henry Wood, Mrs. Ira Cook of "Cedar Isle," Mr. and Mrs. P. Logan and familyof Havelock, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wight and family, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wight and son Herman, Mr. and Mrs. Melville Wight, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mann of Trent River.

Mrs. Harry Hogg and sons, Glen and Murray, of Janetville, were visitors during the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. James Dunn.

Jackie Boyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Boyd, Jr., celebrated his fourth birthday by entertaining a few of his little friends, from two to five o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Each guest was given a bag of candies from the Christmas Tree. Those attending were Jeryne Brown, Glenna Brown, Murray Wight, Bruce Cook, Lisle Cook, Billie Pollock, Herman Wight and Jimmy Umphrey.

GERMANY POSTPONES DEBT.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6. — (A.P.) —Ogden Mills, secretary of the U. S. treasury, announced to-day that the German government had made known its intention of postponing approximately $7,000,000 due the United States on March 31 on account of payments for the mixed claims commission and costs of the United States' army of occupation.

INJURED IN CRASH

ROY BROWN WON BY 44 BALLOTS

Four New Men Are Elected to Council of Burleigh and Anstruther.

WINDSOR DEFEATED.

APSLEY, Jan. 6 (Examiner Correspondence).—The complete returns of the municipal election at Burleigh and Anstruther are as follows: For Reeve—Roy Brown, 151; Vernal Windsor, 107. For Councillors—Herbert Tucker, 149; Wellington Dunford, 132; John Booth, 129; George Killoran, 118; (unelected), William McCauley, 110; John Coones, 84. The new council is composed of three new men—Reeve Brown, Wellington Dunford and George Kilborn, with John Booth and Herbert Tucker who have been Councillors three years. Mr. Brown opposed Mr. Windsor two years ago, being defeated by 24 votes. He has never sat on the Council, but is a man of good business ability and sound judgment, and is well qualified to undertake the duties of Reeveship. His majority of 44 is evidence of the confidence the public has in his fitness for the office. Mr. Dunford has been Councillor some years ago and polled a big vote at Burleigh, his place of residence. George Kilborn had a flattering vote in Apsley, and Clanricard, coming out at the head of the poll in both places, securing 90 votes in Apsley, Burleigh only giving him 19. This is his first venture in municipal life. The two defeated men, Mr. Coones and Mr. McCauley, have both been Councillors several years. James Downing, the remaining member of the Council for 1932, though nominated, did not qualify.

THE MARKETS

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, Jan. 6.—With dullness prevailing yesterday which made a complete week to date of inactivity on the local butter market, brokers were of the opinion that there was little likelihood of a "pick-up" during the last day and a half of trading, but looked forward to improved conditions next week. Prices on fresh and regraded offerings of creamery solids were steady, but the movement of receipts was small. Brokers quoted fresh-made Ontario solids at 21c to 21¼c, and regraded lots at 21¼c, the same price as asked for Western solids. Prices to retailers on creamery prints were unchanged at 24½c for No. 1, and 24c for No. 2.

Cream

The old prices on churning cream that have been in effect for some time, still held, and there were no indications of changes in the near future. Country shippers were quoted 21c for special, 20c for No. 1, and 17c for No. 2 f.o.b. country points.

Cheese

New makes of cheese were not plentiful, and prices were back to the high levels quoted last weekend. Brokers offered new cheese at 10c for large, 10¼c for twins, and 10½c for triplets, while wholesalers quoted the trade new large at 11c, new twins at 11¼c, new triplets at 11½c, and new Stiltons at 13½c.

Eggs

Brokers reported storage eggs practically all cleaned up, but offered fresh supplies at steady prices. Graded eggs were quoted, in free cases, at 30c for extras, 25c for firsts, 23c for pullet extras, and 19c for seconds. Quotations to country shippers were firm at 36c to 27c for extras, 23c to 24c for firsts, 19c to 20c for pullet extras, and 17c to 18c for seconds, delivered, ungraded, cases returned. Prices to retailers were 34c for extras in cartons, 32c for extras loose, 28c for firsts loose, 26c for pullet extras loose, and 22c for seconds loose.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Jan. 6.—A decline in egg prices featured the produce and dairy market here yesterday. The mild weather caused fresh graded eggs in car-lots or less to dip from 1 to 2 cents a dozen. Extras at 32c to 33c and pullets at 26c to 27c were both down a cent, while firsts at 27c to 28c were off 1c to 2c. Storage eggs in car-lots or less held unchanged at 21½c to 22c for extras, 19½c to 20c for firsts and 18½c to 19c a dozen for seconds. To retailers, fresh eggs in cartons were 1c to 2c lower, while storage extras eased a cent and storage firsts and seconds remained firm. Receipts were 992 cases.

Butter Easier

Butter was easier, due to quiet demand, No. 1 finest grass make losing ¼c at 21¼c a pound. Receipts were 49 boxes.

Cheese was unchanged, current Ontario white being quoted at 8¼c to 8½c, current Ontario colored at 9½c to 9¾c, and early Ontario make at 10½c to 11c a pound. Receipts were 22 boxes.

Potatoes

New Brunswick or Prince Edward Island Green Mountain potatoes per 80-pound bag were quoted at 85c to 90c, and Prince Edward Island Green Mountains per 90lpound bag at 95c to $1.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, January 6 — Wheat prices moved within a narrow range on the Grain Exchange yesterday, but sufficient strength was left the market to leave a gain of ⅛c in all futures chalked on the board at the close.

May closed at 46¼c July at 47⅛c and October at 48½c.

After an early advance, induced by seaboard and commission house buying, prices slipped off below the previous close, and a dull period of trading set in. Spreading operations involved selling here against buying in Chicago, and elevator interests were also credited with scattered offerings.

Buying Checked.

Export demand was very limited, the advance on Wednesday having checked buying. Liverpool and Chicago displayed some strength, while Buenos Aires was fractionally lower. Receipts of new wheat in the Argentine are increasing, but prices hold steady in sympathy with other world markets, and it is no longer believed Argentina will sell at distress prices.

Very little demand for cash wheat and coarse grains developed during the day, and business was reporid at a standstill.

Futures:

	Open	High	Low	Close	Prev. Close
Wheat—
May	46⅛	46¾	45⅝	46¼	46⅛
July	47	47½	46⅝	47¼	47⅛
Oct.	48¾	48¾	48⅛	48½	..
Oats—
May	23¾	24	23¼	23¾	23¾
July	22⅛	23¼	22½	23⅛	23⅛
Oct.	22½	22⅝	22½	22⅝	....

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Jan. 6.—Shifting uneasily to and fro, grain prices averaged a little higher yesterday.

An active domestic milling demand for wheat was largely offset by weakness of export markets, Winnipeg and Buenos Aires in particular. The mill demand was associated with possibilities of Congressional approval of farm allotment legislation, but the same possibilities appeared to resu in a good deal of selling of wheat future deliveries.

Wheat closed unsettled 1-8c to 3-8c above yesterday's finish, corn unchanged to ¼c off, oats a shade up, and provisions at 7c to 17c advance.

FUNSTON LAUDED PRESS ADVERTISING

Firestone President Announces Increased Appropriation for 1933.

QUEBEC, Jan. 5. — (Canadian Press Despatch.) — The value of newspaper advertising was stressed here yesterday by William H. Funston, Jr., President of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company, who is making his first trip across Canada since his appointment to the position. During 1933, he said, his company intends to increase its advertising appropriation, particularly in the daily newspapers.

Mr. Funston found conditions improving in the Maritmes. In Halifax, he said, port officials expect one of the busiest winter seasons for many years. "I was told that $14,000 was paid out in wages to dockworkers on the Saturday that I spent there. Large shipments of apples, wheat and other commodities were arriving at the Atlantic port for exportation," Mr. Funston continued. Eastern officials were inclined to credit the Imperial Conference at Ottawa with the improvement in Maritime Provinces shipping activities.

ST. JOHN'S OPEN NIGHT IS POSTPONED FOR WEEK

The executive of the Men's Club of St. John's Church has decided to postpone the Open Night scheduled for Monday evening next, to a week later, Monday, January 16, on account of several other meetings which would lessen the attendance of club members. It is hoped that a goodly number will take advantage of the Open Night, which is available for any member of the church, with his wife or friend.

The regular business meeting set for the 16th will be held on Monday, January 9th. A local Derby will also be played between St. John's teams Nos. 10 and 17. The game will be called at 7 o'clock sharp. A good turnout is expected.

CONSIDER PLAN OF FARM RELIEF

Amendments Would Establish an Initial Marketing Period for U.S.

SET WHEAT 75 CENTS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 6.—(A.P.)—A score of U. S. House of Representatives Republicans of independent leanings gather in closed session to-day, seeking a united position on the Democratic farm relief bill.

Most were from farming areas, but the meeting was presided over by Representative Laguardia, of New York City.

While they discussed the emergency allotment plan now before the House, its sponsors prepared to propose changes vitally affecting the bill during its first months of operation. These amendments would establish an initial marketing period, beginning one month after enactment and ending with a 1933-34 marketing season defined by the Secretary of Agriculture. During this, the fair value of wheat would be fixed at 75 cents a bushel, cotton at 9 cents a pound and hogs at 5 cents a pound. Tobacco would not come under the plan until the 1933-34 marketing season began.

During the initial marketing season the processing tax on wheat and cotton and the farmer's bounty would be equal to the difference between the fixed values and the actual market price. But to obtain the premium wheat and cotton growers would not have to prove a 20 per cent. acreage reduction. After the 1933-34 season began, the wheat, cotton and tobacco bounties would be determined by the pre-war party level on prices and the processing tax levied accordingly.

SEEK MORATORIUM
TORONTO—A deputation from the Hamilton Property Owners' Association will meet Premier George S. Henry here today to discuss matters pertaining, it is understood, to a moratorium bill.

Obituary

MRS. E. A. ARMSTRONG.
The death occurred at Hamilton, Ontario, on Wednesday last of Annie Elsbeth Glass, the beloved wife of E. A. Armstrong, at her residence, 88 Myrtle avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong were former residents of Peterborough, the former having been employed on the C.P.R. The family at one time lived on Weller street.

JOSEPH NICHOLLS.
(Contributed)
The funeral service of the late Joseph Nicholls was held at his late home in Lakefield on Monday, January 2, at 2 p.m. The pastor of the Lakefield Baptist Church Rev. W. B. Walker, assisted by Rev. R. Wright of the Gilmour Memorial Church, and Rev. R. Burton, of the Lakefield Presbyterian Church, was in charge of the service, and spoke on Revelation 14.13: "Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord.'
The late Mr. Nicholls moved to Lakefield about eleven years ago, and was very high'y esteemed by all who knew him. The variety of floral offerings and th large number present at the funeral service were tributes to his sterling worth. For several years he has been a great sufferer, and will be greatly missed by those who knew his genial smile and cordial friendship. Relatives and friends from Toronto, Peterborough, Buckhorn, and the surrounding district attended.
He had been a member of the Sylwyn Baptist Church for about forty years and his membership was still there at the time of his death. The immediate members of his family mourning his loss are his wife and four daughters, Mrs. Percy McFarlane, and Misses Ruby, Edith, and Alice.

MARTYN CHARLES MOWRY.
The death occurred suddenly at Toronto on Thursday of Martyn Charles Mowry a former resident of Peterborough, in his 66th year.
Mr. Mowry left Peterborough some forty-five years ago and for many years had been associated in business with the Dominion Regalia Company. Besides his wife, he leaves two sons, Dr. Albert Mowry, of London, Ont., and Rex Mowry of Toronto, and one married daughter, Vera, also a brother, M. Mowry, of Charlotte street, Peterborough.
The funeral is to be held on Saturday from his late residence, 542 Palmerston Boulevard, Toronto, at 3 p.m. Interment at Mount Pleasant cemetery.

MRS. MARGARET WALL
The funeral of the late Margaret Wall took place from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Francis McCracken, 650 Stewart street, on Friday, Rev. J. E. J. Millyard, officiating.
The late Mrs. Wall was in her 82nd year and was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Crowe. She was born in Dummer Township and lived in Peterborough district during her life. The late Mrs. Wall was a member of George Street United Church which she attended regularly.
During the funeral service a beautiful solo, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" was sung by Mr. Rufus Payne, while those in attendance sang Mrs. Wall's favorite hymn, "Safe in the Arms of Jesus." Mrs. Clayton Telford accompanying at the piano.
Those left to mourn her loss are two daughters, Mrs. Edward Watley, and Mrs. Francis McCracken; one son George, all of this city; three sisters, Mrs. S. Johnston, of Lindsay; Mrs. C. H. Crowe, Mrs. A. Brown, of Toronto, and one brother, William of Peterborough; also fourteen grandchildren and sixteen great grandchildren.
The pall bearers were grandchildren of the deceased: Bert Watley, William Jewell, Gilbert Wall, O. S. Morrison, Victor Wall, Harold Wall.
Burial was made in Little Lake Cemetery.

Mrs. Johnson Wins W.F.B.C. Draw Cake

The monthly business meeting of the members of the W.F.B.C. of St. John's Church was held last evening with an attendance of 19 members when after the devotional period the reports were read and approved.
Among the business discussed, it was decided to hold an afternoon bridge party on January 19 in the Parish Hall. Owing to illness, Mrs. J. Marshall sent in her resignation as visitor and flower fund convenor. This office is to be filled by Mrs. A. Price.
The draw for the cake so kindly donated by Mrs. Scates took place, the ticket being drawn by little James Collis, the winner being Mrs. Johnson, Dublin Street. Further arrangements were completed for the dance and card party to be held that evening.
At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. J. Collis, and a social half-hour spent.

Liquor Runner Given 2 Years, Fined $5,000

FERGUS FALLS, Minn., Jan. 6.—(C.P.)—Fred Gifford, alias Bailey, of Winnipeg, convicted of illegally transporting liquor across the United States' border from Canada, today was sentenced to two years in Leavenworth penitentiary plus a fine of $5,00. Gifford also forfeited a $15,000 bond for failure to answer a narcotic charge which dated back to 1924. The sentence was believed to be the heaviest meted out to a violator of the Federal liquor law.

WELSH SOCIETY HOLDS 'AT HOME'

Toys Are Distributed to Younger Members—Enjoyable Program.

REFRESHMENTS SERVED.

Great success attended the first annual New Year's party held under the auspices of the St. David's Welsh Society last evening, where fun and entertainment was provided for the young, and the "not so young" in the well-balanced program of games, singing, distribution of toys by Santa Claus, and dancing.
A feature of the program, so far as the grown-ups was concerned was the exceptionally high standard of the various vocal solos and choruses generously distributed throughout the program, although the main appeal for the kiddies was probably found by them in the big illuminated Christmas tree, heavily laden with gifts, that was reared in the centre of the dance floor at the W.O.W. Hall where the event was staged.
The program opened with a brief preliminary business meeting, under chairmanship of Gwilym Davies, president of the Society, followed by the singing of the Welsh National Anthem in the native tongue, and the unfurling of the Welsh National Flag (green and white surmounted by a red dragon), by Robert Evans.
Miss M. Flowers presided at the piano, while Santa Claus' (Alex Kirkaldy) entered the room to the sprightly tune of "Jingle Bells" after which he distributed toys to the delighted children. He was assisted by Mrs. J. Henderson. Each child received an orange and an apple in addition to a toy. Games for the children followed, after which a further delightful program was completed without a hitch. The program was as follows: Solo, Miss Eleanor Brown; carols, "God Bless You Merry Gentlemen"; "New Year's Eve" sung in Welsh; "Silent Night"; "Good King Wenceslas"; Solos, Miss Anne Cairns, Mrs. W. Davies, Rev. J. L. Hughes, Honorary President of the Society; A. Lee. The program concluded with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" as a compliment to the Scotch visitors, after which the assembly broke away to resume dancing.
Refreshments were served during the evening by a band of women workers under the direction of Mrs. Williams. Much of the success of the effort was due to the large amount of preparation that had been made by the officers of the Society. They are: President, G. Davies; Hon. Pres., Rev. J. L. Hughes; Vice-president, Mrs. H. Morton; Secretary, Mrs. C. L. Armstrong; Treasurer, Mrs. J. Henderson.

Police Round-Up Yields One Transient

In response to many complaints, police spread a net for "palming" transients last night. The "danger" message must have been flashed along the grape-vine wireless because the hoboes quickly "holed up" and only one was captured.
Citizens telephoned to the police early in the evening that they were being bothered by begging transients. A squad was sent out to round-up the offenders, but when the bluecoats arrived there was not a transient seemingly abroad. However, one was picked up near the C.P.R. station.
After a night in the cells, he was questioned by Chief Newhall and ordered back to Belleville, where he claimed he has a home.

BREAK FOR CONGREGATION
CHICIAGO, Jan. 6. —(AP)— For too many years church congregations have been at a disadvantage, reasons Dr. Curtis W. Reese, of All Souls church at Lincoln Centre.
Beginning next Sunday the pew will talk back to the pulpit. "The audience", he said "may interogate the preachers, criticize and discuss the sermon"

IN MEMORIAM
GRIEVES.—In loving memory of our dear husband and father, James Robert Grieves, who departed this life January 6, 1932.
Peacefully sleeping, resting at last,
His weary trials and troubles are past;
In silence he suffered, in patience he bore
Till God called him home to suffer no more.
—Lovingly remembered by Wife and Family.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

* * * * * * *

Probably many of you readers say, "What a strange ideal. Who would hunt for hurts? But strangely enough, many of us do.

* * * * * * *

For example, when you were out in company recently, one of the company said something which bothered you. What did she mean? There was an interpretation which could be put upon the words which would be disparaging.

* * * * * * *

Had the woman meant what she said to be taken so, or not? And you concentrate over the sentence until it seems as though there could be no other intention nor any other possible construction of the sentence than the unkind one.

* * * * * * *

Such thoughts stir up strife in your own mind. You begin to dissect the woman's life as you know it, and all the disagreeable ways she had, and all the odd things she has ever said, until her character is pretty disagreeable all around.

* * * * * * *

You are upset and bothered, and you have been hunting for trouble.

* * * * * * *

It is more than likely that the woman had no slurring thought in her mind toward you. She may be entirely unaware of how hurt you are, and when next you see her, she feels there is a restraint in you, a reserve toward her which rankles.

* * * * * * *

And she, not thinking for a moment she brought this feeling of yours forth, begins to see you in an unexpected light. She commences to think of your "off side," and to find your faults. Now it is she who is hunting for trouble.

* * * * * * *

Some people have an unfortunate way of saying the wrong thing without really meaning any harm. They have not learned to express themselves graciously.

* * * * * * *

It is regrettable that they do not know this is their handicap and how many enemies it can make for them.

* * * * * * *

When there is a question in your mind, believe the best. If it is their manner, they did not intend anything unkind. It is they who will suffer in the long run by failing to cultivate a happy manner of speaking.

* * * * * * *

OUR MAIL

Dear Anne, and Neighbors:

May I wish you all from my heart "A Happy New Year." May we all enter upon it with desire in our heart to make the best use of our life. It came to me Anne, this afternoon, to make a great resolve. I know that resolves are inclined to be ridiculed but nevertheless made my resolve and I am going to pass it on if I may, but before I do, let me say, that Daniel of old made a great resolve not to eat of the King's meat and looking to the Lord, he kept it.

Now let me try to put down on paper what I have resolved to be and do. I believe my resolutions came from Heaven where all good thoughts come from—therefore as the Apostle said, "Let us work out our own salvation with fear and trembling for it is God that worketh in us." I have resolved that when tempted to be discouraged, sad or depressed, that I will lift up my heart in prayer and then I will break forth into praise instead of listening to the suggestions of the evil, and I am convinced that the evil ones who tempt us to get "down in the dumps" won't stay long to listen to our spiritual praise and will slink off defeated. Also, I will ask for a passage from "The Word" which is the sword of the Spirit by which to combat the enemy and I am going to trust in this manner to meet my spiritual enemies of 1933.

Neighbors and friends, can I ask you to join me in this great crusade, each of you knowing your own special weaknesses and (most of us meet with discouragements) shall we go forth with the above mentioned weapons and determine to live the victorious life. As our spiritual man gains the victory our burdens will seem lighter, our health will improve and we shall be an inspiration and a help to others. So shall we find the rest promised by our Saviour for those who learn of Him and take His yoke upon them.

Yours sincerely,
WATER LILY.

Thank you for your letter, Water Lily, and for the personal note which you included. No doubt many of the neighbors will agree with you, but we will wait and see what they say in their letters Hoping the New Year will be a pleasant and prosperous one for you.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

LOOKING OUTWARD NOT INWARD

A young man consulted a physician regarding his general health, and during the course of the examination asked many questions regarding his "subconscious self," his 'repressions," and other questions that the physician at once recognized as dealing with physciatry—mind ailments.

He learned that although the patient was well read, he had the feeling that he was meant to do big things in the world and that he was making a mistake and losing valuable time doing any ordinary work, mental or physical.

The physicians pointed out to him that while the reading of books, even medical books, increased knowledge, nevertheless reading text books on psychiatry which at present has so many new names and with so many differences of opinion among physciatrists themselves, was really a mistake for the average man. It developed that this man had been reading a large text book on the subject, not a short simple outline intended for the layman.

He therefore advised the young man to get out and take a job of any kind using either his hands or his head, and thus support himself instead of living on his father who was a poor man.

He pointed out that until he did this he was really not a member of the community but an outsider actually getting a living without producing anything himself.

This young man was simply living in a dream state all the time, dreaming of the big things he was to do, and letting these dreams take the place of actual work of any kind.

Now we all must dream if we are to accomplish things because it is out of dreams that the greatest advances and greatest discoveries are made, but the difference between a sane or normal individual and one who is not is that the latter lives in a "persistent dream state"—always dreaming, instead of taking his part and doing his part in the world.

The thought then for all of us is that we should do our everyday work, our job in life, and spend only our spare hours in dreaming of things we want to accomplish. It is not harmful, often helpful indeed, to look into ourselves and note our strong and weak points, but this should not occupy all our attention.

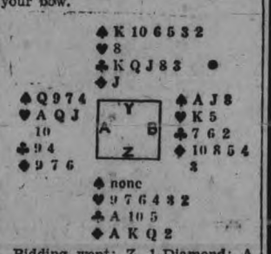
CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS
By E. V. SHEPARD

Y CHANGES HIS PLANS

A resourceful player has in mind other means of trying to accomplish his purpose in case his first plan will not work. The hand shown illustrates the wisdom of having more than a single string to your bow.



Bidding went: Z, 1-Diamond; A, 1-Heart; Y, 2-Spades, as he wanted to make certain of being able to show both his black suits; B, Pass. Having no other course open, Z bid 3-Diamonds; A, Pass; Y, 4-Clubs; B, Pass; Z, 5-Clubs. B doubled, possibly hoping to force Z back to diamonds.

The opening lead was the K of hearts, and it won the trick. When dummy went down, B saw two things; that Y held no more hearts and that Z's hearts could be established and utilized for throw-offs by the declarer, unless B was careful. B decided that his best return lead was a trump, and he led one.

Y carefully looked over his none-too-good prospects of going game, before deciding where he wanted the lead. The best adverse division of spades must be 4-3. The best break of diamonds must be 4-4, with the odds all against finding diamonds so evenly divided Y had lost one heart trick If he could escape with the loss of a single spade he could fulfill his contract. If dummy ruffed two spades, and if Y could discard three spades upon dummy's diamonds, game could be won. In case diamonds did not break Y could go game in case the missing Ace of spades dropped on the third lead of that suit. It was probable that the spades were fairly evenly divided between A and B. If A held five biddable spades he would have shown them before bidding hearts. If B happened to be very long in spades he would have doubled Y's spade bid. In any even Y must first try for the break in diamonds. If that failed him he must try to drop the Ace of Spades in three leads. He assumed that the five missing clubs were divided 3-2. A careful player has to consider all probabilities before beginning play.

Y won the first club trick in his own hand. He led back a spade and dummy ruffed with the 10 of clubs. Y gained entry to his own hand by leading the 2 of diamonds and playing his own J. He led the 3 of spades. B's J fell. Dummy's Ace of trumps won the trick.

Now was the time to try for a break in diamonds. Dummy's Ace and K were led. The declarer discarded his 5 and 6 of spades. Both A and B played low diamonds. If only both opponents followed suit on the Q of diamonds, Y's contract was assured. When dummy's Q of diamonds was led, A trumped and Y over-trumped. He led his K and Q of clubs, capturing both outstanding trumps.

It was an anxious moment for the declarer when he led his 10 of spades at the eleventh trick. If B held the lone Ace Y would be all right, but if the Ace failed to fall Y would be down one trick doubled. As Y hoped, B played the Ace of spades, winning the second trick for his side. B led back his last heart. A's Ace of hearts went up, but Y ruffed with his last club, then he displayed his good K of spades, which gave him his five-odd doubled. He had carefully planned his game and he deserved to win.

Three Tie Games in National League Fixtures

LEAFS BATTLE MAROONS 2-2 IN 70 MINUTES OF HOCKEY; BRUINS-HAWKS HELD GOALESS

AMERKS-SENATORS 1-1.

TORONTO, Jan. 6.—(CP)— The mid-season deadlock doldrums had descended on the National Hockey League today, bringing along fewer goals and fewer thrills but just as many customers to watch the fun.

The boys started knotting things in earnest along the ice front last night when Toronto and Maroons went 70 minutes to a 2-2 tie at Montreal, Ottawa and Amercans overtime to a 1-1 count at New York and both Boston and the Black Hawks goalless at Chicago.

But just to show a crowd of 8,000 at Detroit that the good old days of "all-or-nothing" are not altogether departed, Montreal Canadiens threw everything wide open in the third period of a hitherto scoreless battle with the Red Wings and started something that the Wings took over and finished.

Before that 20-minute session had ended Newsy Lalonde's gambling Frenchmen had taken the most decisive whipping of the National League season in one spasm. The Red Wings sizzled a half-dozen drives past unprotected George Hainsworth to win 6-1 and leave Canadiens deeper in the International division cellar.

Howie Morenz, laid low by influenza, was in a Detroit hospital when the Canucks went out to meet Jack Adams' wingers. He may have to stay there another day or two but his attack is taking a normal course, according to hospital attendants.

Olympic fans, after watching Canadiens consistently outplay the Wings for two periods without scoring, had little hope of a home triumph in the third. But Red Wings made it fast and decisive once they started. In the first five minutes of the period Larry Aurie, Happy Emms, Ebbie Goodfellow and Herbie Lewis each planted the rubber behind Hainsworth.

Ebbie Goodfellow

Leo Gaudreault temporarily halted the onrushing Borderites by scoring for Montreal on a pass from Battleship Leduc, but old George Hay engineered a closing sally that netted two more Wing tallies. He passed to Aurie for the first and to Vic Sorrell for the last.

In contrast to this scoring orgy, Ottawa and Americans found each other's defences too strong. George Patterson, the bulky boy from Kingston, Ont., snapped up a close-in pass from Wilf (Twinkle) Starr in the first period and bounced it into the cage off Billy Beveridge's leg-pad for the lone New York goal.

Though Cooney Weiland and Hec Kilrea did most of Ottawa's effective attacking, it was Gus Forslund who got the tying goal. Bill Brydge, American defenceman, swiped it right at the Fort William winger in attempting to clear and Gus banged it right back into the open goal.

A crowd of 10,000, out to see how the back-tracking Maroons looked, took in a tight defensive battle after the teams had each scored twice in the first two periods. Earl Robinson, who has been a recruit with Maroons longer than he cares to remember, what with moved up and then back from and to Windsor of the International League, scored both Maroon goals. He got the first on a spectacular solo effort and the second with a blazing drive for 20 feet out.

Northcott Scores

Later on he had other chances but failed to pick the corners. Baldy Northcott, rapidly becoming a headline marksman, added another notch to his stick in the third session but it was for hitting Lorne Chabot over the eye with the puck. Chabot had to retire for repairs but he came back and finished. Harvey Jackson got Toronto's first-period goal with the help of Stewart Adams and Hap Day and Andy Blair scored in the second aided by Ken Doraty and Bob Gracie.

Foe goalies, Charlie Gardiner and Tiny Thompson, carried too many sights for the sharp-shooters at Chicago. Hawks and Bruins fought hard for goals for two periods without success, then tapered off and stuck to straight defensive hockey.

The Bruins had a chance in overtime when Teddy Graham served a penalty but Gardiner who has to work harder than any other puck-stopper in the circuit for his shutouts, held on sensationally. It is the second straight scoreless game Bruins played. Tuesday night they battled Americans at Boston without either scoring.

"BIBBER" McCOY WINS THRILLER

Defeats Oklahoma Cowboy, Ronald Kirchmeyer, in Exciting Bout at Toronto.

TORONTOO, Dec. 6. (CP). Bulky Bibber McCoy, the Cambridge, Mass., wrestler and former Holy Cross football star has six straight victories in Toronto rings to his credit to-day but in scoring his sixth victory last night he ran into a one-man stampede, staged by the giant Oklahoma cowboy, Ronald Kirchmeyer.

Standing six foot, seven inches in his stocking feet, Kirchmeyer went berserk after cracking his head on the floor, knocking both McCoy and Referee Jack Forbes to the mat with his flailing fists.

The enraged wrestler had downed Forbes for the second time, when McCoy caught him with an elbow smash, and pinned him to the mat with a flying tackle for the second fall of the bout. Kirchmeyer had scored the first fall 10 minutes previously.

Even then it took five men to drag the infuriated fair-haired giant to his dressing room for the rest interval. He was still dazed when he came out for the third fall, which McCoy took with a flying tackle.

Kirchmeyer previously had essayed a flying tacqle, which missed its mark and his feet became entangled in the ropes, throwing him back into the ring head first. The crack received from this is believed to have started him on his rampage.

As Australia and England Battled On Sward of Bowl of Ashes

ENGLAND VICTORIOUS BY TEN WICKETS IN FIRST TEST.

Here is an interesting incident that occurred in the first cricket test match between England and Australia at the Sydney oval. Here you see Stanley McCabe, at silly mid-off, throwing up his hands in amazement when Herbert Sutcliffe, the English batsman, played a ball from O'Reilly, the spin bowler, into his wicket without dislodging the bails. W. A. Oldfield, the Australian wicketkeeper, is looking down at the ball and one can almost hear him say, "How did that happen?" O'Reilly is the bowler who made such a mess of England in the second half.

CITY HOCKEY LEAGUE OPENS TO-NIGHT AT NORWOOD RINK

JUNIOR SCHEDULE.

All Norwood's City Hockey League games will be played in Norwood, it was decided at a league meeting held in Duffus' last night. The Norwood team requested permission, and it was granted with the out-of-town management agreeing to assist local teams with their transportation, paying for gas and oil. The loop opens with Rotary playing in Norwood at 7.30 tonight.

Another important point brought up was that of teams losing players to the O.H.A. junior team. It was finally voted that a City League team losing a player to the Hockey Club may replace him with any player eligible for City League, or an O.H.A. player released by the Hockey Club, provided he has not played in more than one O.H.A. fixture. Such a player would then receive credit for the number of games (three are required before a City Leaguer may go into the finals) played by the boy who went to the O.H.A. team. If the later should be released back, the player who replaced him will have this credit withdrawn from him, though he may continue to play in scheduled games for that City League team.

PLAY CHECKING.

Players are not permitted to check any but the puck-carrier. The games will consist of three fifteen-minute periods, with five-minute rest periods in between. A list of referees was named to be decided upon by the league. Players will sign certificates to be turned over to the league chairman, managers being responsible for the ages of their players. Playoffs will be best two out of three games, and the Hockey Club has agreed to engrave the city trophy for the winner. Various other matters were discussed during the lengthy session. Following is the schedule as close as could be drawn with dates being uncertain, and the teams and public will be kept informed in advance of local games:

JUNIOR SCHEDULE.

Jan. 6—Rotary at Norwood at 7.30.
Jan. 9—Rangers at Norwood at 7.30.
2nd week—St. Peter's vs Normal; Rotary vs P.C.I.
Jan. 13—St. Peter's at Norwood at 7.30.
3rd week—Rotary vs Normal; Rangers vs P.C.I.
Jan. 20—P.C.I. at Norwood at 7.30.
4th week—Rangers vs Normal; Rotary vs St. Peter's.

SCHAAF HAILED AS CONTENDER

Boreda Ruled 6 to 5 Favorite to Defeat Bostonian in To-night's Duel.

SHARKEY ON VACATION.

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (A.P.)—Out of to-night's battle between Ernie Schaaf and Stanley Poreda in Madison Square Garden may come a possible contender for Jack Sharkey's heavyweight championship.

Now that Max Schmeling and Max Baer are definitely lined up in Promoter Jack Dempsey's camp, Schaaf and Poreda, along with Primo Carnera, furnish the only real material from which the Garden can draw in its hunt for a "logical" opponent for Sharkey this summer.

Poreda, who outpointed Schaaf in a 10-round match in New Jersey last summer, ruled a 6 to 5 favorite over the burly Bostonian for to-night's duel, also slated for 10 rounds. However these odds may shorten to even money by ring time in view of Schaaf's recent six-round knockout of unknown Winston, Hartford, Conn., battler. Winston, earlier in the year, had given Schaaf a beating.

The Boston heavyweight, however, will have to get along without the sage advice of his stablemate and part-owner, Sharkey, who sailed the other day for a vacation in Bermuda.

Coincidence or not, Schaaf has fought his best bouts when Sharkey was in his corner.

Heavyweights also will appear in five preliminary bouts, all at five rounds.

COBOURG CLUB WILL WITHDRAW

Formerly With Belleville.

COBOURG, Jan. 6.—Cobourg Intermediate Hockey Club have withdrawn from the O.H.A. on account of protest entered by Port Hope of two Cobourg players not being available under the resident rule. The management of Cobourg's team visited Mr. Hewitt in Toronto Wednesday, and the protest was sustained by the executive. On receipt of this information, which it regards as very unfair, Cobourg withdrew from the O.H.A.

It was locally understood that, on account of the depression and the scarcity of work for hockey players, the two players now under suspension by the O.H.A. lost their jobs at Belleville, and were unable to get anything to do there, came to Cobourg and secured a job, with the understanding that they would be eligible in the town or city where they were employed.

By the decision handed out by the O.H.A. executive in Cobourg's case it is felt that very little help is given a new club to foster this sport, and the judgment is considered to be very unfair to a town that has been without a hockey club during recent years.

CAMPBELLFORD CLUB SWAMPED AT BELLEVILLE

Experience and Better Condition Accounts for Overwhelming O.H.A. Victory.

RUNIONS-BUSH BEST.

BELLEVILLE, January 6. — Belleville Cubs, junior entrants in the O.H.A., assumed the lead in their group last night when they administered a 10-0 defeat to Campbellford at the local arena. The locals were much the better. They had too much experience, and their condition was near perfect. The locals have been practically remoulded from last year, only Carl Morgan, "Pete" Goyer, and Jimmy McGuire remaining from the old squad, but Goyer has collected a nice team, and they showed the benefit of good coaching. "Cy" Barriage, Jimmy McGuire, and Carl Morgan were the best for the homesters, with "Pete" Goyer being a close second, while Runions and Bush were much the best for the losers. The game was comparatively clean, only two penalties being meted out, both being received by the Belleville squad.

Belleville — Goal, Sinfield; defence, Rigby and Morgan; centre, Barriage; wings, Goyer and McGuire; subs., Harvey, Howie, Eckesh and Hogan.

Campbellford — Goal, Turner; defence, K. Oddie and Milne; centre, Runions; wings, Lambert and Bush; subs., H. Couch, C. Couch, Nelson, and Holmes.

Referee—Bill Green, Belleville.

ON ROBBER'S TRAIL

LONDON, Ont. — Discovery of the London car used in the Woodstock gas station hold-up at Putnam, near Ingersoll, yesterday afternoon caused search for the two bandits to centre in this district to-day and supported the belief of Provincial Police that the pair come from this city.

Predict Tighter Race in American League

Royally Bred Thoroughbreds Live High While Owner Rests in Federal Prison

CHICAGO, January 6 (C.P.). — More than two score royally bred horses, many of them of racing age, are going to waste within a few miles of Chicago and its half-dozen racing plants. The horses belong to Terry Druggan and they are eating up oats at his Sanola Farm north-west of Chicago. Druggan can't do anything about the situation, for he is in the Federal Prison at Leavenworth, Kansas, serving a term for violation of the income tax law, and no one else appears to be in a positon to do anything.

Several years ago, Druggan obtained Kentucky Cardinal, a three-year-old, bred by Desha Breckenridge of Lexington, Ky., and visioned himself as a great sportsman.

Kentucky Cardinal, a failure in the Kentucky Derby of 1926, although he had been considered as one o fthe best of hsi two-year-old season ,ran some fine races later. As matron of the farm, Druggan purchased Sanola, a sensational mare, and there is now an untried three year-old and a two-year-old by the pair, eating and wondering what it's all about.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 6 (C.P.)—It was two straight to-day for the University of Toronto team over their hockey-foemen of United States colleges.

The Varsity players out-skated and out-generalled a slow-to-start Yale team here last night to score a 3-1 win—the same score they ran up against Princeton Tigers at New York the previous night. But they did not have the fight downing the Elis that faced them in taming the Tigers.

Princeton carried the Toronto players into overtime before admitting defeat. The Yale crew did not seem able to find their ice legs and set up a sustained attack until the third period and by that time three Varsity players had foiled a harassed Eli netman for that many goals.

SPORTS Day by Day

HOCKEY—BOWLING—BOXING
BASKETBALL — OTHER SPORTS

(By C.J.P.)

The O.H.A. lid is due to be pried off at the Brock street rink this evening with a junior game. Port Hope versus the Petes—that's the way it lines up, starting at 8.30 with a flat rate of two bits all over the arena, school kids a dime. The local lads have had a new deal this year and coming out of the shuffle tonight they'll show you how good they are. It wont be as soft as picking plums off a tree, by any means, to take that Port Hope outfit into camp, and that's what makes it look like a large evening for fans this p.m.

* * * * * * *

The Peterborough intermediates journey down to Port Hope tonight for a fixture—making it a sort of Port Hope-versus-Peterborough hockey evening all around. The larger lads from here should find ice that is somewhat softer than concrete more to their advantage than the speedy Hopers. The intermediate squad down the highway has won and lost a game so far, while the Petes won an exhibition tilt, their only effort to date. We'll see what we'll see tonight.

* * * * * * *

The City Hockey League met last night, drew up a schedule and chinned over a flock of other items. They decided to give Norwood all its games down there, with the Norwood management assisting local teams with their transportation to the extent of gas and oil. Of course, if Norwood reaches the playoffs, they'll have to play at least one game up here. The Hockey Club has agreed to engrave the city loop's cup for the winner. A list of referees was named, it was decided to have all games consist of three fifteen-minute frames, five minutes' rest in between. Other matters discussed are covered elsewhere in a separate account.

* * * * * * *

One point that should be mentioned regarding this city circuit is its desire to build up players for the O.H.A. club. They decided last night that the Hockey Club juniors may take any players they wish, but naturally don't want to lose a boy unless he is really needed by the juniors. The schedule is haphazard at best, it being uncertain just what nights ice is available. However, the teams and public will be informed a few days in advance of each game if at all possible.

* * * * * * *

We've been hammering away for some time trying to get at least a couple of junior teams to round out that Southend Hockey League. Apparently the old hammer has lost none of its irrestibility—and if there isn't such a word, we'll take a copyright on this one. What we're getting at is that two teams, Bailey's Pirates and an outfit known as the Winter Gardens' team, have entered the junior section of the S.E.L. They'll battle it out (and we don't mean play it out) for the Capitol Theatre trophy.

* * * * * * *

We've always had a penchant for merry-go-rounds, tops of sky-scrapers, hard likker—in fact anything that's apt to make one dizzy. But this local O.H.A. grouping is getting just a bit too much of a head-spinner. After a lot of arguments, threats and where-have-you-been-anyway, the Ontario body finally got a grouping along the lake-shore that seemed suitable to everyone, and then it seems Cobourg rung in a couple of smart Belleville players. Well, Port Hope loses a game to 'em and squawks to the high heavens. The O.H.A. rules that Cobourg must cease using these two boys, that the Cobourg win would be thrown out, and the game replayed if it had any effect on the standing later.

* * * * * * *

And now, boys and gals, the Cobourg management ups and retaliates by withdrawing from the group, the O.H.A. and the controversy—all with the same sweeping motion. Bill Edwards, who had glad-handed the Ethier bros. into a job in Cobourg, and who it just happens is president of the Cobourg team, says he's not going to back a loser, so there! O.H.A., and how do you like them onions? We'll miss the Ferrytown fighters and hope something can be done to persuade them to come back. Why not say: All right, Cobourg, take back your Ethiers, all is forgiven? Are ya listenin'?

* * * * * * *

And now with a flip of the dial we're onto the E.P.L. Two games are billed for this e'en, Westclox in Norwood and Maple Leafs in Lakefield, both at 8.30—if there is ice. How strong this loop is may be judged by a recent game when a squad of Norwood and district players held the husky Lindsay intermediates to a 3-all tie down in Kemptville. There'll be plenty of hot hockey in the old East Peterborough League before skates, sticks and pads go back in hock, and baseball outfits are aired again.

* * * * * * *

The Church Hockey League got off to a flying start at All Saints' rink last night, three fine games being run off on good ice, before a fair crowd of fans, and with the teams going strong and evenly throughout. George Street Intermediates defaulted to All Saints, failing to show up for some reason or other. St. Paul's Juniors took a smart 5-4 tussle from Murray Street, All Saints' Juveniles got the wrong side of a 2-1 decision from St. James, and it was 3-1 for Mark Street Midgets over All Saints of this series. Classy puck-chasing for the start of the season, and the Church circuit seems in for a large winter.

* * * * * * *

Excuse our smiles: Mr. and Mrs. J. Sharkey (don't you remember, he's the heavyweight champ?) received a basket of flowers from Dempsey as they said for Bermuda—so much for ballyhoo . . . . "Babbling Babe" Didrikson says she can hold her own with any man athlete of 133 pounds; wonder if she thought of Tony Canzoneri . . . . Chicago says no more "horse play" rasslin' in that town; guess the customers in the Windy City would sooner lose their dough to home-town rackets!

White Sox Lifted Back Into First Division Class With New Strength.

CONNIE MACK CONFIDENT.

Three Deals By Senators Will Make Club Stronger Than Last Season.

By WILLIAM HARRIDGE
(President, American League)

CHICAGO, Jan. 6 (AP)—A much better balanced race is my forecast for 1933 in the American baseball League. A year ago, I predicted the Athletics would have more competition than during the previous three seasons. They did. In fact, the Yankees won the pennant by as great a margin as the Athletics had been in the habit of winning and a one-sided race was the result

Because of that one-team contest, American League clubs have made many player changes which will, to the best of my belief, result in the Yankees being provided with much stiffer competition than in 1932. If we had had a four or five club race last season, the American League probably would have played to more people than in 1931.

Better Pennant Battle

Now, with numerous changes made in the rosters of the seven clubs that finished behind New York, I cannot see anything but a better battle for the pennant and that means increased attendance.

There is no doub of the Chicago White Sox, for many years the outstanding pennant contender of our league, being restored to first division strength with the addition of outfielders Simmons and Haas, and third baseman Dykes of Philadelphia, pitcher Durham and infielder Rhyne of Boston. Chicago, also, is banking on pitcher Vic Frasier being restored to health and able to pitch winning baseball.

While Philadelphia parted with three star players, Connie Mack is confident that he has in Cramer, Coleman, Finney and Higgins four young players capable of replacing the men he sold to Chicago and keeping his team high up in the race.

A Stronger Club

Washington made three deals intended to make the Senators stronger contenders than they were last season. In Manush, Goslin and Schulte, they will have one of the hardest hitting outfields in the history of our league. President Clark Griffith and Manager Joe Cronin have also made changes in the Washington pitching staff, adding two veteran southpaws in Whitehill and Stewart in exchange for Lloyd Brown, Fred Marberry and Dick Coffman. With Crowder, Weaver, Whitehill, Stewart, Al Thomas and McAfee, Washington will be equipped with six starting pitchers.

The exchange of Whitehill for Marberry and Fischer is expected to aid Detroit as well as Washington. Both Marberry and Whitehill apparently needed a change in scenery. Stanley Harris is confident that Marberry will deliver for him in Detroit as he did in Washington. Detroit also has some sensational youngsters to be developed this year in Pitcher Rowe, Catcher Rieber and Otufielder Fox of Beaumont and Shortstop Owen of Newark.

Braves Profit

Boston will profit by the deal with Chicago. The Red Sox added four right-hand hitters, who like that short but high left field fence in Boston to drive against. Right now it looks certain as if Outfielder Seeds and Infielder Mulleavy, included in that deal, would be installed as regulars at Boston, with a chance of Hodapp, former Cleveland star, staging a comeback.

To get Goslin, Schulte and Stewart of St. Louis, Washington had to part with three stars, Outfielders Carl Reynolds and Sam West and Pitcher Lloyd Brown. In fact, the Browns believe they got the better of the deal. Incidentally, the Browns finished the year with a sensational third baseman, Art Scharein.

Cleveland has another first baseman in Charley Boss, who had a spectacular season in the Southern League last year; while from Toledo, it obtained Hale who may crowd Willie Kamm off third base, a splendid young catcher in Pytlak, and at least two promising young pitchers in Bean and Winegarner.

Brought New Players

New York made no trades but did purchase from Class AA league teams, three pitchers, Van Atta of St. Paul, D. Shong of Sacramento and Brennan of Newark.

A "New Man"

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 6 (A.P.)—Burleigh Grimes, veteran pitcher for the Chicago Cubs, says he's a "new man" now that he has separated from his trouble-making appendix.

He expects his recent trip to the operating table of a St. Louis Hospital—together with the big pitchers of milk he's drinking down on the farm—to make trouble for the sluggers who walk up to the plate when he is on the mound next season.

Grimes described that "bubbling over" feeling while in St. Louis after driving in from his farm near New Haven, Mo., to which he returned after leaving the hospital. He reported he had gained 18 pounds since the operation, and now weighs 194.

Intermediates Battle To-night Called Off

The local intermediates' game in Port Hope to-night has been called off due to poor ice, but the Port Hope juniors will play here to-night for sure. The Peterborough intermediate squad goes to Orono Monday for their first O.H.A. game, weather permitting.

INITIAL GAME HERE TO-NIGHT

Junior Petes and Port Hope to Lift Lid Off Local Hockey Season.

GAME STARTS 8.30 P.M.

The curtain is lifted on the O.H.A. locally to-night at the Brock, when Port Hope plays the Peterborough juniors at 8.30. The ice is in fair condition, the weather ideal and both teams are ready for the gun. A new 1933 edition of the Petes will take the ice, a bunch of speedy newcomers and a number of veteran O.H.A. stars, along with an ex-Brantford junior and one each from Norwood and Lakefield. Manager Frank Buckland has the boys in good shape and working together in fine order.

The goal-tending job will be taken care of by Galvin and Sanderson, the former a newcomer, with the City League last year. Cliff Cadd, of last year's squad, Castle Fenton of Norwood, and a newcomer, Bob Weir, will line up on defence. The main forward line sees three O.H.A. stars together, McGregor, Calladine and Jay. Alternates, all young and fast newcomers to O.H.A. company, are Hill, Williamson, Payne, McCulloch, Cournyea and Elmslie. An outside referee will handle the game.

The Port Hope team opened its season earlier in the week with a smart win over Cobourg. They have a speedy and tricky outfit this winter and are figuring on the group title right from the go. Cancilla is a real goalie, while Record and McTavish make a strong defence, the former being very dangerous on lone rushes. The main trio of forwards, Pillsworth and the Phillips brothers, Jim and Jack, went like a house afire in the first game. The subs include Bell, Paedon, Rowland, Douglas and Mercer. They wont be easy to take.

As it is the opening O.H.A. fixture of the winter here, a fine night, a real classy exhibition of junior hockey promised, and with a cheaper admission charged for the whole arena, a huge crowd of fans is expected to fill the arena and cheer the boys wearing the Peterborough colors.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

MR. GOSHAWK DISCOVERS HIS MISTAKE

Who to temptation once gives way
Will yield again another day.

tA least this is the way it usually works out. The first yielding makes the second yielding a great deal easier, and this in turn makes it still easier to yield the next time. Now Mr. Goshawk made a great mistake the first time he visited Farmer Brown's yard in quest of pigeons. He didn't need one of those pigeons. He wasn't starving. He was getting enough to eat in the Green Forest. But when from a long distance he saw those pigeons and knew how easy it would be to dash in among them and catch one and perhaps more he just yielded to the temptation. Perhaps he didn't try not to. Anyway he yielded, as you already know.

Reddy Fox or Old Granny Fox or Old Man Coyote, had one of them been in the place of Mr. Goshaw, would promptly have looked another way and put temptation behind. The are quite as fond of pigeon or chicken as Mr. Goshawk, but they have learned that only when no other food can be obtained anywhere should the barnyard be visited, and then not openly or boldly. You see they have learned that in no way can they make man their enemy so quickly and surely as by stealing his chickens and pigeons. And they have learned that man as an enemy is worse than all other enemies together.

But it was not so with Mr. Goshawk. Perhaps he was too sure of his own strength and boldness. Anyway he yielded to temptation as you know. That was but the beginning. The very next time he was hungry he headed straight for Farmer Brown's farmyard. It was this time that Sammy Jay so bravely gave warning from the Old Orchard and brought Farmer Brown's Boy to the door in time to frighten Mr. Goshawk away.

The Gray Terror flew back to the Green Forest, but he didn't stay there long. Hunting there was too much work compared with the easy way in which a good dinner was to be obtained in Farmer Brown's barnyard. He felt sure that Sammy Jay wouldn't be there to give the alarm a second time. He had frightened Sammy too much for Sammy to try such a thing again right away. As for Farmer Brown's Boy, what was there to fear from him? He had done nothing but shout on that last visit, and shouting harmed no one.

So it wasn't long before Mr. Goshawk winged his way high enough to look down and with his wonderful far-seeing eyes watch that barnyard. Already some pigeons were sitting on the roof of the barn and a few hens were in the barnyard. There were no signs of Farmer Brown's Boy. There were no signs of any one about. Mr. Goshawk waited a while. Then his appetite was too much for him and he flew straight for that barnyard, taking care to fly low enough to keep the barn between the hens and himself. Mr. Goshawk is a swift flier. It did take him long to reach the barn, and he swung up over it ready to drop like a thunderbolt among the pigeons and hens. But he didn't drop. No, sir, he didn't drop like a thunderbolt. He didn't for the very good reason that there just coming out of the henhouse was Farmer Brown's Boy. Mr. Goshawk had made a mistake in returning so soon.

What Today Means to YOU!

By MARY BLAKE

"CAPRICORN"

If January 6th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9.45 a.m. to 10.50 a.m., from 3 p.m. to 4.15 u.m. and from 10 p.m. to 11 p.m. The danger periods are from 11.35 a.m. to 12.50 p.m. and from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m.

You will find many opposing and conflicting forces bucking your endeavors on this January 6th. Do not let yourself feel downcast or frustarted, for your sincere and earnest efforts even if they do not pierce the mist, will bare worthwhile fruits for you in the near future. Carry on. Guard yourself against those who may on this day meddlesomely intrude into your personal or love affairs.

Born on this January 6th, the child will probably make a slow start in life, but should pick up speed as he goes along and will undoubtedly finish "in high." Do not push him too much; he is inclined to be unduly sensitive, with more than a touch of stubbornness which may, if he is not handled rightly break into open rebellion towards authority. A loving guidance should launch him well on the sea of life.

If January 6th is the date of your birth, you are the kind of person who is eternally "biting off more than he can chew." You are a person of average talent and ability, but you do have your definite limitations. This you do not seem to realize. Your opinion of your possibilities and abilities is highly magnified and more than once you will get yourself into trouble and others as well by over-selling yourself. Your personality is pleasing, that is, when you keep your ego in control. You are not what would be called a bright or unusually smart person but you do have your share of "grey matter." Yours is a sales personality, and you should succeed in any line of work where you could devote yourself to "getting something across" to the public. Promotional work would seem to be for you.

Born on January 6th, you should have great success with those of the opposite sex. You are a rather clever conversationalist and probably are much in demand for social functions. You may experience difficulty in finding someone to take you seriously when it comes to the serious question of matrimony; when love is mentioned, or sensed, you do not smack of sincerity.

A FAMOUS MAN

OVER sixty years ago Dr. Pierce, whose picture appears here, placed in all drug stores of Canada his Favorite Prescription for women suffering from weakening cramps, monthly sickness, headaches, backaches, hot flashes. Women of all ages testify to its merits. Try it now! This is one of Nature's remedies composed of roots and herbs and contains no alcohol. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is in greater demand now than ever.

Although he is but 18 years old, Linus "Benny" Frey (above), shortstop of the York Roses, in the York-Pennsylvania minor league, is hailed as the greatest baseball find in the minors of 1932. Frey's contract has been purchased by the Brooklyn Robins for 1934 delivery, his dazzling fielding, accurate throwing and prowess at bat, being regarded by big league scouts as nothing short of phenomenal.

ROBERT GRANDY HURT IN CRASH

INJURIES NOT SERIOUS.

WHITBY, Jan. 6.—Five persons were injured in a head-on collision between cars driven by Robert Grandy, rural route mail driver of Buckland, and Arthur Claxton of Lindsay. The accident occurred on the Whitby-Lindsay highway two miles north of Brooklin.

Mr. Grandy, thrown against his steering wheel by the impact of the collision, received several broken ribs and cuts about his head. He was attended by Dr. J. McLaren, of Whitby. In the other car, Mr. Claxton had cuts about the head, and Mrs. Claxton, who was sitting beside her husband, fractured leg, cuts and bruises on the head. Mrs. J. Storie, 176 Gledhill road, Toronto, was removed to the Oshawa hospital with serious internal injuries and severe cuts about the head. Mrs. G. Greece of Toronto, had a number of minor cuts.

Robert Grandy moved to Brooklin from Peterborough several years ago. He was a director of the Peterborough Exhibition Board, and had retired from his farm west of Springville to live in this city.

SEEKS SWEEP CASH.

OTTAWA, January 6 (C.P.). — James E. McBride, Carp, Ont., has opened action in the Supreme Court of Ontario to recover $41,800 from A. E. Soper, Ottawa. Soper won the money on the Irish Hospital Sweepstakes, McBride attempting to take it from him as an informer.

LOST WITHOUT WIFE.

NEW YORK. — Fritz Kreisler, violinist, doesn't feel happy. Arriving here to keep engagements, while his wife remains abroad resting from an illness, he said: "This is the first time in 35 years we have been separated like this, and I feel really lost. It supports my belief love is above all else, even the career of an artist, or a musician."

JAMES J. DORRIS IS SECRETARY OF LOCAL CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Full Time Secretary is Necessary President Marshall States.

TRIBUTE TO McKONE.

James J. Dorris, resident of this city for a number of years, has recently been appointed secretary of Peterborough Chamber of Commerce.

In making the announcement John R. Marshall, president of the Chamber told The Examiner, the work of the Chamber had increased to such a degree that the necessity of a full time secretary had been found necessary, and had resulted in the appointment of Mr. Dorris. "He has been a resident of Peterborough for many years", Mr. Marshall remarked, "and is a man of sterling character and executive ability."

During the past twelve months, Mr. Marshall explained, the Chamber had undergone a period of reorganization under the secretaryship of John A. McKone who had given to the Chamber during that time a service that was vitally necessary, and who had brought to the work an experience and judgment that had placed the Chamber in first class condition.

"The Chamber of Commerce together with the citizens of Peterborough owe a debt of gratitude to Mr. McKone for the service he has rendered during the re-organization period", Mr. Marshall stated. He explained that Mr. McKone's activities prevented him from giving full time service and he had therefore turned over the work to Mr. Dorris.

Mr. Marshall was confident that from now on the work of the Chamber would continue to increase in volume and importance, and he hoped that as a result of the new appointment that the Chamber would become of increasing value as a community centre to the citizens of Peterborough.

Duties of the appointee include those of automobile licence issuer for the City and County of Peterborough.

ST. JOHN'S AMBULANCE BRIGADE

85 Hunter street west
Peterborough, Jan. 1, 1933

To Editor Examiner:
Sir:

It was never my intention or desire to besmirch the name of the St. John's Ambulance Brigade, by plunging the local administration into the sea of public criticism, and had Mr. Berry awaited the result of my correction in the press, he would have avoided a good deal of worry and embarrassment, not only for himself, but others also. Seeing that I now find myself standing judgment in the court of public opinion on the veracity of my statements, I cannot allow the present acting administration (locally) to go unchallenged in face of their denial of my remarks relative to the grant of $100.00 issued by the civic authority of Peterborough in the year 1932, for the purchase of uniforms.

As a preliminary reply to the three denialists concerned, I must advise them that the sum granted in the year 1931, and which is claimed was rightly expended never at any time entered into any of my conversations, although the said grant was prevented from finding its way into other channels by my own persistent efforts. No doubt they will admit to their minutes substantiating this. Therefore, I suggest they are devoid of the right to use it as "polish," in an effort to establish the truth of their own statements, as against the allegations made by the writer hereof, relative to the sum granted in the year 1932. I state advisedly 1932. At this juncture, permit me to state that in their effort to correct me, they mercifully admit to substance, by adhering to my complaint; inasmuch that $25.00 was expended on goods, other than the purpose of which the grant was issued (Namely uniforms). The latter, it may be of interest, to state, was supplied in the year 1931 by Messrs. Grafton Company of this city, at a cost of $25.00 per uniform, the same price prevailing during the year 1932, if purchased under conditions similar to 1931. The crux of the situation now is this: The grant of 1932 is 25 per cent deficient, equivalent to the cost of one uniform, at the expense of the taxpayer, with $50.00 of the balance proposed by Councillor John Barnes of Monaghan, to be used in part payment of the indebtedness they have assumed in the form of a loan from higher officials to the approximate amount of $400.00, this liability having occurred previous to Mr. Berry's retirement. The balance referred to, if existent, should be in the bank for the benefit of the ratepayers and not for the advantage of any particular individual or organization, who consider it wiser to hoard the money, in violation of the principle for which same was given. I do not for one moment believe that any ratepayer would object to financial assistance being rendered to the S.J.A.B. but it is only fair and reasonable to expect their opposition to the spending of the city's money along lines other than intended. With the foregoing, it is rather amusing to me when I read of Mr Buckley and the acting superintendent, Mr. Tompkins, presenting their defence against elements that never entered discussions they have taken exception to. However, the former has the privilege now of explaining his action in conveying the information to me on Dec. 23 last, to the effect that he did not think the Division would have sufficient funds after the New Year to purchase two uniforms, the way he thought things were going on. Finally, I would appreciate the treasurer's enlightenment upon the following question, "Is the bank balance specifically the property of the uniform fund, or is it an amalgamation of other funds, the nature of which I do not propose to question through the press.

In conclusion, I wish to state most emphatically, I do not propose to enter into further controversy upon the matter through the columns of The Examiner in the interests of The St. John's Ambulance Association.

To the Editor, I tender my sincere thanks for his esteemed favor of allowing me unusual space in the columns of his valuable paper.

CURRENTS DELAY TUGS TOWING WRECKED LINER

CHERBOURG, France, January 6 (C.P.). — Eight tugs towing the wreck of the liner Atlantique towards Cherboug encountered strong adverse currents which retarded their progress to-day. They should reach here to-morrow.

Two of the men engaged in the salvage operations were injured, one of them an officer rescued from the Atlantique when she burned in the English Channel on Wednesday.

PRAYER SERVICES WELL ATTENDED

Initial Community Meet Is Held in Grace Presbyterian Church, Millbrook.

MILLBROOK, Jan. 6.—(Examiner Correspondence.)— The first of the community prayer services, arranged under the auspices of the three local churches and their respective clergymen, was held in Grace Presbyterian church on Tuesday evening, with a good attendance considering the epidemic of 'flu' in the village and countryside, the minister, Rev. H. R. Williams, B.A., being in charge. Rev. W. W. Jones, B.A. reading the lesson and Rev. William Simpson, B.A., rector of the parish of Cavan, giving the address.

A selected litany from "The Call to Worship," issued from headquarters at Toronto will be used during the opening devotions each of the three evenings during which the special services will last, and in beginning his inspiring address Rev. Mr. Simpson emphasized the fact that the talk each evening is not the great event, "but rather to give a background in our minds to our prayers, to give direction to our thoughts, and to inspire our hearts that we may pray, the burden being laid upon our hearts to use their means of spiritual power, and to bring all our problems before the throne of grace, for God has the solution."

The three assigned for Tuesday evening was "The Christian doctrine of God as revealed in our Lord Jesus Christ," the object being, as the speaker said, "that we may think, believe, practice, for we grow like unto the God we worship, and our lives reveal our basic conception of God." Developing this theme, Rev. Mr. Simpson showed that our blessed Lord's faith in God was absolute, the realest of realities, and a source of great inspiration and power. Also that Christ shared very largely the conception of God that was common to His times, but He transformed it rather than revolutionized it, putting life into it and making of Him a living, personal God.

Reverence was stressed as a necessary quality of our approach to God, "but Christ also made supreme the fatherhood that was but faintly foreshadowed in the Old Testament. Jesus taught, and lived, the fact that God loves all men, and this is the great challenge before Christians to-day—it is too high for us; it is the thought in all the international conferences—that He loves all equally and wants all to come to Him, as against the selfishness, the haggling, and bargaining; it is the challenge behind all missionary endeavor, and the central truth of the Christian gospel.

"That the Supreme is a servant was showed by our Saviour in talk, and practice, and this is the spirit in which we should try to live this new year, and pray that our leaders may be guided, and their conferences marked by the spirit that was revealed to us of God in Jesus Christ."

Obituary

DR. FREDERICK H. LINGWOOD

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 6 (Examiner Correspondence).—A large number gathered in St. John's Church on Wednesday afternoon for the funeral service of the late Dr. Frederick H. Lingwood, who died on Monday evening at his home on Queen street.

The service was impressive and was in charge of Rev. W. J. Creighton, M.A., rector of the parish. Two favorite hymns were sung, "Unto the Hills," and "When the Light Forever Shineth"; Mrs. J. M. Twist presided at the organ. The tribute paid by Mr. Creighton to the deceased was a tribute to a friend, a fellow churchman and a fellow citizen. To his church he gave unswerving loyalty and his faithful service. While not the popular conception of a sporting character, Dr. Lingwood took a keen interest in shooting and curling and was prominently identified in the management of both clubs.

His position in the parish of St. John's was that of people's warden, a most responsible post as it meant the management of the church finances, and to this position he gave his time and energy in a really wonderful degree. His loss is not only a loss to the parish but to the entire community.

The pall-bearers were G. G. Connell, T. W. B. Marling, W. A. Payne, G. H. Spence, J. W. Todd and B. Q. Dench. Interment was made in Hillside cemetery.

Dr. Lingwood was born in England almost sixty-five years ago and came to Canada as a young man; he came to Lakefield in 1890 to join his uncle, Mr. Sparham Sheldrake, who was founder of The Grove School. He attended Queen's University, Kingston, graduating with his B.A. A few years ago he was given the degree of D.Paed.

He taught in the Collegiate Institute in Kingston, Simcoe, and Malvern Collegiate, Toronto. He retired about seven years ago and removed to Lakefield with his wife (nee Emily Atwood). He was an active member of the Rifle Association and the Curling Club and enjoyed the genuine friendship of the members of both organizations. He was deeply interested in the education of the village, and was a member of both High and Public School Boards, and also was a member of the Public Library Board. He was People's Warden of St. John's Church and a member of the choir. He was also a Licensed Lay Reader and has on many occasions officiated at the services. As a churchman and citizen he ranked among the foremost, his splendid loyalty and his contructive ideas made him a man of inestimable value to his community. Modest and self-effacing, his friendship was valued by those privileged to call him friend, and his memory will remain ever green in the village where he was so well known. The words of Oliver Goldsmith well describe him as "A man there was to all the country dear."

ARSENAL FALLS TO SUNDERLAND IN FIRST GROUP

Sheffield Wednesday and Derby County Play to Scoreless Tie.

ASTON VILLA WINS 1-0.

Rangers and Motherwell Win To-day to Continue Tie in Scottish League.

LONDON, Jan. 7. (C. P. Cable) Arsenal, English Soccer League first division leaders, went down to defeat to-day before the relentless attack of Sunderland at Roker Park, the home team winning, 3-2.

Evenly matched, Sheffield Wednesday and Derby County played a scoreless tie at Sheffield while Aston Villa defeated Bolton Wanderers 1-0.

Liverpool sprang an upset by downing Newcastle United 3-0 and Leeds United took Blackburn Rovers into camp 3-1.

One Standing Change

To-day's games made only one change among the six leading teams, Leeds United vaulting over Derby County and going into a tie with Newcastle United for fourth place. The results, however, tightened up the race so that there are only seven points separating the first half dozen teams. Sheffield Wednesday gained a point on Arsenal and now are within two of the gunners, Aston Villa is third a point back, Newcastle and Leeds fourth, trailing the villans by three points, and Derby County fifth, another point back.

Bradford City went into an undisputed lead in the second division, winning from Chesterfield 4-2 while Stoke City were being beaten 3-2 by Tottenham Hotspurs and Bury were losing to Millwall 2-6. The Spurs victory put them in second place ahead of Stoke and Bury which previously had been tied with Bradford City for the lead.

Reading Gains Point

Reading gained a point on Brentford, third division southern section leaders, when they defeated Swindon Town 7-1 while Brentford were being held to a 1-1 tie by Torquay United. Brent-

RED OFFICALS STAGE CLEAN-UP

AMAZING CASES.

MOSCOW, Jan. 7 (A.P.)—First returns from the communist party "cleansing" which began on the first of the year and is now in full swing all over the country, report that 30 per cent of the membership in a few agricultural regions of the north Caucasus country have been expelled either for active or passive subversive activity, carelessness or inefficiency.

If the same ratio of expulsions were followed throughout the party organization, the membership of which is now about 2,000,000 with another 1,000,000 candidates, it would mean that approximately 1,000,000 members or candidates would feel the axe.

The majority of those expelled were described as younger members who joined within the past two years and whose offenses were maintaining contact with Kulak, or independent farmer, elements, or otherwise manifesting hostility to the party's policies.

The purging revealed amazing cases, according to the published report, of penetration into the party ranks of some who are now revealed for the first time as former officers in the Czar's army and White Guards whose very background would be sufficient to subject them to expulsion regardless of their recent record for work.

Stoke City, "Up-and-Downers" of English Soccer

Up and down, up and down, Stoke City Football Club has had its share of laughter and tears in the last 30 years. Originally members of the First division, they dropped far into the mire and even out of the league. That was before the third division was formed. Then the club had another spell up, but back they dropped and only recently regained a place in the second division. To-day Stoke is fighting tooth and nail to get back into the First division and is leading the Second division by a good margin. One of the big stars this year is John, the goalie, who is also a Welsh international. But really Stoke has few stars and the secret of the success is put down to team work. Tom Mather, the manager, probably never kicked a football in his life. His brother Harry was quite good though in his day. Tom was previously assistant secretary with Bolton Wanderers, but has been at Stoke for several years. Back row (LEFT TO RIGHT), J. Vallance, trainer; Mr. Hancock McGrory, assist. secy.; H. DYING ON ROAD VICTIM OF CRASH HAS CASH TAKEN

PART FOUND ON CLUE.

Conversion Charge to Follow —Jury Attaches No Blame in Accident.

HAMILTON, Jan. 7.—Following the motor crash on the Niagara highway at "Fifty" Road on Dec. 28, in which Allan and Mrs. MacAulay of Welland were killed and six other seriously hurt, some one robbed two of the victims, it was learned last night when a coroner's jury under Coroner Dr. B. E. Thompson of Stoney Creek heard details of the accident.

While MacAulay was dying on the roadside someone removed $40 from his clothing, Highway Traffic Officer Jess said.

James McIlroy, Sr., of Cleveland, who was injured, said his wallet containing $45 was taken.

Officer Jess informed the jury that a motorist was seen to suddenly vanish from the scene after picking up a $2 bill. A witness gave him the license number and as the result of Officer Jess' work the cash was recovered.

Last night Crown Attorney Ballard announced that the driver, whose name was not revealed, would be charged with conversion.

No Blame for Smash

The jury placed no blame for the smash which involved five cars. The first crash between machines in charge of Albert Swann and Senator Joseph Ackerman was not serious, witness said. While the autos were standing the car of H. P. Corey of Grimsby crashed into them.

A slippery highway was blamed for the second crash. Corey said he saw two men waving their arms and at first thought it was an attempt to rob him.

"We are of the opinion that the accident was unavoidable and attach no responsibility to anyone involved in the collision," the verdict read.

HUNT SAFE CRACKERS

PETROLIA — Police today are searching for safe-crackers who were evidently experienced in their trade. The burglars blew the large vault of the McColl Frontenac Oil Company plant here but their efforts netted them only $16 in cash.

The vault was thoroughly ransacked but nothing in addition to the small amount of cash was taken.

Storm and Cold Sweeping East

TORONTO, Jan. 7.—A storm of considerable intensity which developed in Ontario is moving rapidly eastward, followed by colder weather. High winds prevail throughout Eastern Canada and light snowfalls have occurred in northern districts of Ontari and Quebec. Some light snow has fallen in many parts of the west and it has become decidedly cold in Manitoba and Sasaktchewan.

HOCKEY PLAYER LOST LEFT EYE

WENT DOWN IN MIX-UP.

George Merrett, 339 Burnham street, suffered the loss of his left eye last night while playing hockey in Lakefield. He was playing for the Carters of the East Peterborough Hockey League against the Lakefield team, in his second game of the season.

Early in the third period, he went down in one of the numerous mix-ups, and someone's skate or stick caught him in the eye, cutting the upper lid and causing a rupture in the eyeball, according to Dr. N. D. Buchanan. He was taken to Dr. Fraser of Lakefield, who put four stitches in the lid and bandaged the eye up, and was then brought to Peterborough. Dr. Buchanan immediately ordered him to St. Joseph's Hospital, where it was announced the eyesight was lost.

George Merrett, about twenty-three years old, was one of the outstanding intermediate hockey players in the city. He starred as a junior O.H.A. player, and last year was the mainstay of the C.G.E. team in the East Peterborough League. He is tall, rangy, a fast skater and clever stick-handler, going best at centre. This year he was signed to play for Peterborough in the O.H.A. intermediate ranks, but in the meantime went to Lakefield to participate in the E.P.L. fixture last night with the Carters, the Petes not having a game scheduled.

BOYS PLAYING MARBLES.

DOVER, O.—It's January on the calendar, but to Police Chief Frank Havens, it's spring. Warm weather has brought out the first crop of boy marble players, he said, and a number of women have complained of boys roller skating on their sidewalks.

REDEEM BONDS TO PUT MONEY IN CIRCULATION

Government Would Issue Paper Money for Outstanding Bonds.

RE-INVEST MONEY

Would Speed Up the Wheels of Industry, J. J. Turner Asserts.

Redemption of government bonds as a means of putting more money into circulation was suggested by J. J. Turner to The Examiner today.

As one of Peterborough's former mayors, Mr. Turner was asked whether he had any proposals which might be helpful to this year's council. He declined to tender any advice to Mayor Denne and his aldermanic associates, believing that it would seem to be a presumption to comment on the problems that face the council.

"Every one agrees that we would like to speed up industry," Mr. Turner said. "To give our people employment is our major problem. Mayor Denne and the members of the council know this, and will do everything they can to get work started. Until the wheels of industry revolve to take up idle hands and put wages into circulation, business conditions will not improve, as those who require the most have no money with which to purchase the things they need.

Help Whole Dominion

What, to my mind, would help the whole Dominion of Canada would be for the Dominion Government to redeem outstanding bonds by issuing paper money, and, if investors were forced to accept currency for their bonds, they would have money which they would desire to re-invest, and it would go out to industry and agriculture. Then, those who should buy, because of their need, would buy, and money would be once more in circulation.

My suggestion raises a question whether issuing paper money for a bond would have gold reserve backing. I would say 'Yes,' for when the bond was issued there was supposed to be a gold reserve behind it. My suggestion means that you simply take the bond, which can-

Mt. Julian Hunter Bags Huge Bear

MOUNT JULIAN, Jan. 7 (Examiner Correspondence)—While in the woods on Friday, Mr. Herb. Long saw the head of a bear sticking out of a cave, where Bruin evidently had intended making his home for the winter. A couple of well-aimed shots dispatched it, and after a lot of strenuous labor Mr. Long and his young nephew, Raymond Lean, succeeded in getting the large animal out of the cave. The bear's weight was estimated at about two hundred and fifty pounds.

LINDSAY WOMAN 100 YEARS OLD

Mrs. R. Leary Will Celebrate Hundredth Birthday on Sunday.

BORN IN UNITED STATES.

LINDSAY, Ont., Jan. 7 (C.P.) — Mrs. R. Leary, Lindsay, to-morrow will be one hundred years of age.

There celebration will be a quiet one, for, although Mrs. Leary is still active for her age, it is not considered advisable to excite her unduly.

She was born at Lansingburg, U.S.A., but came to Canada when a child and has since lived at Paris, near Cobourg, and, after her marriage,, in Peterborough.

For the past half century, Mrs. Leary has lived in Lindsay and has taken a great interest in the town affairs. At the last Federal election she was the oldest voter in town.

Nova Scotia Premier Taken Seriously Ill

HALIFAX, Jan. 7 (C.P.)—Premier Gordon S. Harrington of Nova Scotia was rushed to Victoria General Hospital here to-day on arrival of a special train from Touro. Hospital authorities would give out no immediate information as to the nature of his illness.

The Premier was suddenly seized while returning from Sydney, and left the Sydney-Halifax express at Truro. A special was made up there, and at Halifax the Premier was met by his physician, Dr. H. K. Macdonald.

It was reported Premier Harrington was suffering from appendicitis and that an operation would be necessary at once, but there was no confirmation.

President Hoover Attends Funeral Of Calvin Coolidge

Hundreds of Men and Women Pass Bier of 30th President of United States As Body Rests In His Home Church.

MASSED THRONG CHOCKED THE STREETS AS SERVICE WAS BEING CONDUCTED INSIDE.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., January 7 (C.P.). — The nation he served paid its last honors to-day to Calvin Coolidge, 30th President of the United States. Friends and neighbors, the leaders in public life where he once walked, the high and lowly, joined to pay their final respects in a brief and simple funeral service, such as he would have wished.

President Hoover, who took up the burden Calvin Coolidge laid down in Washington not quite four years ago, the Vice-President, the Chief Justice of the United States, others in the national Government, and the chief executives of the States of his native New England were there.

In the congregation that filled the few hundred seats of the Jonathan Edwards Congregational Church, were also Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and James Roosevelt, the wife and son of the man who, in a few weeks will take the office Calvin Coolidge once held as President.

Great Crowd Outside Church.

Outside, in the street beneath a chill, grey sky, a crowd, unable to gain admittance to the church, stood silently, heads bowed, as the service moved to a close.

They parted, to form a lane, through which the casket was borne later to the motor hearse in which it began the 100-mile curve northward to the old homestead at Plymouth, Vt., there to be laid to rest in the family burial plot.

Mrs. Coolidge, with her only son John, and his wife at her side, sat through the service in a front pew. With her, in the same pew, were President and Mrs. Hoover.

The President's widow wore no mourning veil. She was pale, but her face was calm and serene.

Vice-President Curtis and Chief Justice Hughes occupied seats in a pew to the right of Mrs. Coolidge, and the President.

Behind Mrs. Coolidge, Mrs. Roosevelt and her son occupied a pew and nearby sat Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson and others high in the national government. In the congregation, too, were representatives of foreign governments, the French ambassador and others.

The Rev. Albert J. Penner, youthful pastor of a very old church, uttered a brief invocation and a quartette sang "Lead Kindly Light". The clergymen read the Scripture and began his prayer in which were the only references to the former president.

PLOT TO SLAY JAP GENERAL CAUSE OF WAR

Nippon Chiefs Blame Marshal Chang Himself For Financing Scheme.

MONEY RAISED IN CANADA.

Claim Next Advance Will Depend on Activities of Chinese Troops.

(By James A. Ellis, A. P. Correspondent.)

CHANGCHUN, Manchuria, Jan. 7.—(A.P.) — Activities of Chinese troops will determine how soon Japanese occupation of the Mongolian province of Jehol will begin, it was disclosed here to-day at the Japanese army headquarters.

Military leaders indicated that it was planned to begin the drive no earlier than late February but that a Chinese "offensive" may cause the Japanese to act sooner. They said Marshal Chang Hsiao-Liang, North China war lord, was continuing to mass large forces in the province former summer playground of Chinese emperors.

At the same time army headquarters made a sensational disclosure of an alleged Chinese plot to assassinate General Nobuyoshi Muto, Jaapn's supreme representative in Manchuria, which it said was responsible indirectly for the outbreak of the three-day battle this week at Shanhaikwan.

Accuses Chang.

It accused the highest Chinese authority in the north, Marshal Chang himself, of financing the scheme which allegedly included the killing of other powers in the Japanese-fostered Manchukuo gov-

JERUSALEM, Dec. 22. — The street of the old city are really mere alleys, so narrow that pedestrians must crouch in doorways or hastily seek other means of escape to avoid being crushed against the wall when colossal camels swing unexpectedly and silently from a side street. Fast-trotting donkeys, driven by screaming Arabs, bump into your stomach, and half-naked urchins cling to your coat-tails with an eternal harassing cry for "bakshish."

Picked Troops Move Towards Jap Positions

Observers Claim Fresh Hostilities Unavoidable—Youthful Marshal Chang Receives Orders From Nanking To Resist To Uttermost.

CHINESE FEAR INVADERS NEXT ADVANCE WILL BE INTO TIENTSIN-PEIPING AREA.

PEIPING, China, January 7. — Renewal of fighting in North China between Chinese and Japanese forces around Shanhaikwan, below the Great Wall, was feared imminent last night as the Chinese rushed reinforcements into the war zone.

The young Marshal Chang Hsiao-Liang, in command in the Peiping-Tientsin area, moved picked men toward the Japanese positions. The maneuver was regarded as evidence that the Chinese intend to launch a counter-offensive in an effort to recapture Shanhaikwan.

Observers in Tientsin and Peiping, nearest the Shanhaikwan battle front, feared a renewal of the conflict. They said it was almost inevitable, in view of the attitude, and troop movements on both sides.

Marshal Chang's officers admitted troops were being poured into defence lines below Shanhaikwan, not far from the Japanese outposts. They said they were acting under orders to Marshal Chang from the National Government at Nanking.

Chinese Fear Attack.

The Chinese feared the Japanese might seek a pretext to attack southward, moving toward the Tientsin-Peiping area, as a result of Nanking's order to Marshal Chang to resist further encroachments.

The positions of the defenders and the Japanese well-disciplined, modern-equipped field army along the Shi-Ho River below Shanhaikwan remained unchanged. Hostilities were expected, feeling on both ran high, but calm prevailed darkness fell.

Japanese military leaders in Tientsin threatened to extend their operations as a result of a Chinese troop movement involving 3,000 men east of Tienstin. The figure was from Chinese sources.

Chinese troops in the Shanqaikwan sector were reported becoming surly and an outbreak was feared momentarily during the day. This and the fact Marshal Chang had been ordered by Nanking to prepare for stout resistence to any southward thrusts by the Japanese complicated a tense situation.

Chiang Kai-Shek Preparing

In the south, Marshal Chiang, military leader in the Nanking regime and most powerful chieftain in China, was preparing for action, dispatches related. He sent word to the young Marshal Chang in Peiping, declaring any further encroachments into China proper should be "vigorously opposed."

At Nanking, the Chinese Government's Foreign Office issued a lengthy statement seeking to show that Japanese started both the bombing and infantry attacks which resulted in their capture of Sankaikwan earlier in the week.

YEARS PLEASURE HITS 10 BILLION

Survey Shows Half Total Spent in U.S. is Accounted for by Cars.

TASTES CHANGING.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7.—The people of the United States spend $10,165,000,000 yearly for recreation, almost half the total being accounted for by various pleasure uses of the automobile.

But, according to the three-year survey of recent social trends made by President Hoover's committee, America's pleasure tastes are changing. Professional boxing exhibits, pool rooms, cabarets, fraternal societies, and even baseball are declining in popular appeal, while golf, football, luncheon clubs and particularly, hunting, fishing and hiking are rising in popular acclaim.

Largest among all items of pleasure expense which the committee cites is the three billion two hundred million dollars which it estimates is spent annually on vacation automobile tours. Next comes a billion and a half spent annually on motion pictures, and then $1,246,000,000 spent on other pleasure uses of autos.

Motor Boats Expensive

America's cabaret and night club bill runs to $23,725,000, a mere detail compared with the $460,000,000 spent on motor boats. Motorcycles account for ten million, and bicycles for nine. Luncheon clubs eat their way through $7,500,000 worth of fruit cocktails, broiled chicken and ice cream annually, while $6,771,000 worth of fireworks are shot off each year. The nation spends almost as much—$20,000,000—on playing cards as it does on college football, which brings a $21,000,000 gate annually. It likewise spends as much—$75,000,000—for phonographs and accessories as for "youth service and similar organizations." Pool, billiards and bowling equipment stand at $12,000,000, in sharp contrast to $113,000,000 spent on toys, games and playground equipment. Half a billion dollars is spent for sporting goods, but only 25 million for travel by air and water.

TWO MEN FINED $1,244 FOR JOKE

Judge Scores Pair Who Made Torch of Montreal Boy.

PLAYING THE FOOL.

MONTREAL, Jan. 7 (C.P.)—"Just in fun," Jean Lamarche and Adrian Lamarche converted Alexandre Duperon into a living torch. Yesterday the "fun" cost them $1,244 under a Superior Court judgment.

Duperron, drenched with gasoline, to which a match was applied, was in hospital for over a month. His two ears were burned, his face and neck and his body from the throat to the abdomen, his two arm pits and his left wrist all suffered from burns.

As reviewed by the bench the defendents and other employes of Joseph Lamarche, roofer and father of the Lamarche brothers had gathered in their employer's garage as it was raining and no work could be done.

They passed the time in drinking beer and playing the fool ,the court noted. Part of the play consisted in drenching one another with water. In a corner was a bucket containing a mixture of gasoline and water. One of the defendants threw some of this over Duperron. "I think there is gasoline in it," one remarked. A match waa lit and applied to Duperron's left wrist. A flame broke out and was at once extinguished.

A little while later Duperron was drenched again by Adrien Lamarche and Jean applied a match to his coat, which immediately burst into flames. Duperron became a human torch.

McFADDEN BARN BURNED IN PERCY

Fire on Friday Night Completely Destroyed McFadden Brothers' Barn.

ORIGIN NOT KNOWN.

HASTINGS, January 7.—(Examiner Correspondent.)—Fire of undetermined origin last night caused total destruction of a large barn and the season's crop, on McFadden Brothers' farm. The loss is unestimated, but is said to be partly covered by insurance.

Thirty by seventy feet in size, the barn was situated on the McGuire homestead on the Dutch Line in Percy township. Reflection of the fire was seen in the sky by villagers at Hastings around eleven-thirty o'clock. The alarm was raised, but the fire had gained headway to such extent that efforts to check it were fruitless.

ALL-TIME PEAK IN U.S. JOBLESS

Labor Chieftain Reports 11,590,000 Out of Work in November.

IN GREATER NEED.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 (A.P.)—An "all-time peak" of unemployment in the United States was reported last night by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, who estimated that 11,590,000 were out of work in November.

Noting that this figure was greater by 130,000 than the previous high mark, reported for August, he added that work from affiliated trade unions indicated the total for early December was even greater than that for the previous month.

"Those out of work are in greater need now than ever before, for after three years of depression their resources are exhausted," Green said. "In the year ended October, 1932, unemployment increased 60 per cent, but the number of families aided increased 94.5 per cent. and the amount of relief given 88.6 per cent.

"One encouraging fact, however, is shown by the November unemployment estimate and by our trade union reports for November and December, unemployment is increasing less rapidly this Fall than in any other depression year."

SUE DOMINION ADVICE HANDED CALGARY CITY

Alberta Progressive M.P. Suggests Notes Act Has Been Violated.

GOLD REFUSED.

Ottawa Officials Decline to Take Coate's Suggestion Seriously.

CALGARY, Jan 7.—(CP)—Calgary should bring suit against the Dominion Government for failure to comply with the Dominion Notes Act when it refused the city sufficient gold to meet debentures at New York in United States funds, according to G. G. Coote, U.F.A., member in the House of Commons for Macleod.

Mr Coote referred to the recent Dominion Government refusal to tender Calgary gold in exchange for Dominion of Canada notes so the city would be able to pay in United States currency for $2,135,000 bonds due in New York this week. He pointed out the Dominion Notes Act declared: "Dominion notes shall be redeemed in gold on presentation at branch offices established, or at banks at which arrangements are made for the redemption thereof as hereinafter provided."

Mr. Coote suggested, before starting suit, the city should make certain formal refusal to supply the gold had been made by the Dominion Government. If this was ascertained, he said, Calgary should start suit against the Dominion administration "for non-compliance with a law passed by parliament."

OTTAWA, Jan. 7.—Declaring that the city of Calgary could not have the courts oblige the Government to resume gold payments, Government officials last night declined to take seriously the advice given the western city by George G. Coote, Alberta Progressive M. P., to sue the Government to enforce gold redemption of dominion currency.

TUG MEN FIGHT OVER SALVAGE

Both Dutch and French Companies Claim Reward for Burned Liner.

HULK IN PORT.

CHERBOURG, France, January 7 (Saturday). — The hulk of the burned-out liner Atlantique, all but destroyed by fire, was towed into port here at 12.30 a.m. to-day.

The huge liner was brought into the harbor as a controversy developed among French and Dutch tug companies over salvage rights. Both Dutch and French tugs aided in starting her to port, and each claimed the salvage rights, which may prove rich.

A despatch from Amsterdam intimated the Dutch intended to claim the Atlantique, contending that three Dutch sailors from the tug Lauwre Zee, owned by the Rotterdam Company, were the first aboard the blazing ship.

The commander of a French torpedo boat, however, asserted the Dutch boarded the Atlantique ten minutes after the French.

The liner had been considered a total loss, but reports now indicate if she reaches port safey, the hulk may be worth re-building.

GIRL IS SLAIN FRIEND BEATEN

KILLERS USE KNIFE.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Her throat cut and head badly battered, Rose McCloskey 19-year-old unemployed salesgirl, was found dead to day under a tree in Fairmount Park.

The girl met death after starting out for a walk with Dennis Boyle, 30, said by friends to be her fiance, who was found later staggering about a West Philadelphia Street, dazed and unable to tell what happened.

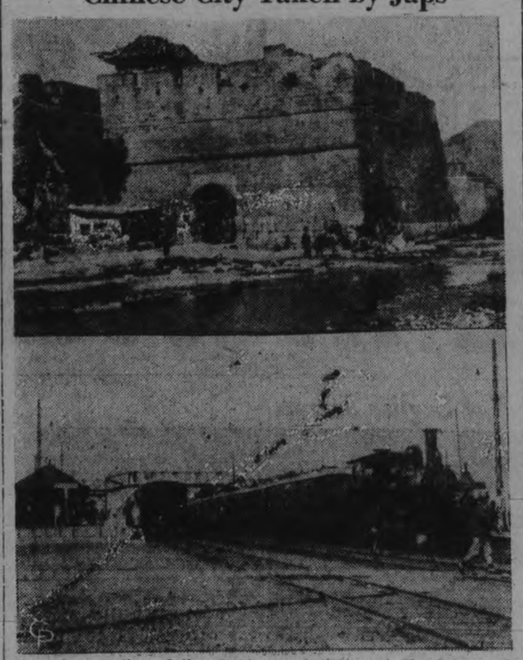
A cursory examination of the girl's body showed that she had been assailed by at least two men, battered about the head with rocks and apparently killed with knife thrusts on the throat.

Police believe that after leaving friends last night, Miss McCloskey and Boyle went to the park and sat on a bench behind a pile of gravel about 15 feet high. From footprints, detectives found that at least two persons were on top of the gravel mound, waiting until Boyle and the girl had their backs turned.

Careless Branding Damages Hides

MELBOURNE, Australia, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Careless branding of Australian cattle on the ranches has damaged their hides to the extent of $40,000,000 during the last 10 years and tanners and cat lemen hope to substitute ear-marking of some other method of identification.

Chinese City Taken by Japs



Above is a section of the Great Wall of China at Shanhaikwan, key city to the province of Jehol, now occupied by the Japanese, following a bloody battle on land, air and sea. Below is the railroad station at Shankaiwan, the center of the only rail link between China proper and Manchuria, now Manchouquo. Japanese officials demanded control of this highly important station.

ST. PAUL'S CLUB HONORS MEMBER

Rev. M. J. C. Levason is Presented With Club Bag on Eve of Departure.

MARMORA, Jan. 6 (Examiner Correspondence)—Another good attendance was seen at the regular meeting of St. Paul's Men's Club held at the White hall on Wednesday under presidency of W. R. Reynolds. After openin; exercises, the following program was rende ed:

"Rocky Glen Two-step," St. Paul's Serenaders; talk on "Budget," S. B. Cheeseman; song, "I Want to be Single Again," J. F. Baker; "Medley of Old Songs," St. Paul's Serenaders; talk on "Autographs," W. J. Cottrell; song, "Cockles and Mussels," S. B. Cheeseman; talk on "The New Year," W. R. Reynolds.

At the conclusion of the program, the presentation of a club-bag was made to the club's pianist, the Rev. M. J. C. Levason, of Bonarlaw. Mr. Levason has been appointed to the parish of Oxford Mills, with duties commencing on January 15th, and in his departure the club will lose a valued member, who joined at its inception.

The nicely worded address was read by the secretary, Dr. R. E. Lumsden, and the presentation was made by the president, W. R. Reynolds. After the recipient had ably replied, the gathering sang "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow." Rev. A. B. Caldwell then spoke a few words, stating that he felt the people of Rawdon would look back upon the term served by their present rector with pleasure and happiness. He wished Mr. Levason Godspeed and every success in his new parish. During the social hour which followed, the members took farewell of this popular cleric.

Hindenburg And Von Schleicher In Accord—Crises Bring Latent Qualities To Surface.

By H. W. L. MAHOOD

THE way of the German has been studded thick with trouble, in the negotiations which preceded the appointment of the Von Schleicher Cabinet. From Von Papen, to Hitler, to Von Schleicher was a turbulent crisis in German politics. The crisis has brought out into bold belief the sterling and noble qualities of the aged Hindenburg. Hindenburg has demonstrated by his clear policies that he is the solid bulwark of the young republic. Monarchists will never get by the personality nor the democratic ideals of Hindenburg. The President of the German Republic has settled forever the form of German government. Of few men of all the troubled history of Europe has greater statesmanship been demanded than of Hindenburg.

Hindenburg has taken the heart out of party strife by meeting it with utter coldness. This will be counted one of his great feats. Many leaders in political and social life get entangled and lose their influence by being caught in somebody's strife. This leader has the sagacity and force of character not to be involved in other folks' contentions.

His reputation as a man of tenacity is heightened by his devotion to his position as President, as long as the future of the nation is endangered. There have been rumore that Hindenburg would resign soon because of the frictions. This rumor belittles the man. The entire life of this statesman has been devoted to the service of his country. With heroic zeal he has met the gravest crisis.

It was the hope of Hindenburg that a National Concentration Cabinet might be formed. The weakness of the German people is revealed, by their inability to proceed, by parliamentary regularity. When Hitler and Von Papen were out of the picture, definitely, there was little hope anywhere in Germany that Von Schleicher could obtain a vote of confidence in the Reichstag. The rapprochement of Hindenburg came as a complete surprise to all political parties. Then when the news was out that Von Schleicher had committed himself as Chancellor to carry out the policies of the President, a wave of confidence swept over the nation. The new sentiment awakened, weakened the influence of both Hitler and Von Papen.

Von Schleicher has not alone the backing of the military forces of the nation, but also has in his pocket a decree dissolving the Reichstag, should that be necessary to carry on.

Germany has come to an unusual pass in her history of political party government. The futility of further elections is apparent. The deadlock of the German parties cannot be broken by new elections. In some way the Gordon knot must be cut, eventually, or Germany will be ruined. The latest news coming by way of the German press assert that no constitutional changes are likely to be made.

Von Schleicher is not only Chancellor, but also Minister of Defence, and Federal Commissioner for Prussia. Putting it briefly, he is in full control of the army and of the strongest police force in Germany. In addition, he has displaced the contemplative Von Gayl, Minister of the Interior, under Von Papen, by the energetic and fearless Doctor Bracht, the man who in a very few months has completely revamped the Prussian State Government and has done this despite the Supreme Court.

It is evident, therefore, that the entire Cabinet of Von Schleicher is ready for immediate and decisive action. Some have feared that the chancellorship in the hands of Von Schleicher would mean the control of Germany, in the hands of a dictator. Von Schleicher has allayed this fear by committing himself to constitutional procedure. Von Neurath has been retained as Minister of Foreign Affairs. The implication is that there will be no change in German foreign policy. The Ministry of Finance is also left in the same hands as before. This assures the world that there will be no monetary experiments. It is also reassuring to know that the socialism of Von Schleicher will be stripped of Marxian dogmas. It will draw its philosophy from the Circle of Action in which he has been a leader for many years. There is emerging in Germany a nationalistic socialism which is sure to prove most interesting to the student of government, both politically and economically.

Some feared the coming of Von Schleicher to the chancellorship would make of Germany more of an enigma than ever, because he was not as well known as could have been desired in the present cirsis. However, Von Schleicher is giving promise of being the man for the hour.

A Chat with Young Peterboro

ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON FOR JANUARY 8

ONE thing that proves that the Saviour was the Son of God was that He was a worker. You see when God made the world, He didn't just leave it to run by itself. No, sir! Man's work runs from sun to sun, but God's work is never done. The heavenly Father stayed right on in this world to keep it going and repair the damage that man's sin does. For instance, I once saw a model steam engine at an exhibition. It was all made of glass, and there it was working away. You could see clean through it, but you couldn't see what kept it going. There was steam in the cylinders. Of course, you couldn't see the steam, but there it was, the unseen power that was making the engine move. You see now, what the Saviour meant by the words of the golden text. And then, all His work on earth was to make us see that truth, and how God wants to work through us. If we are going to be like Him, we've got to help do our share of God's work. There's no unemployment with Him. He still needs workers to push along His work of making this old world better, sweeter, cleaner, and more smooth-running.

Think what a blessing these things are to the world: the Church, the School, and the Hospital. Well, the seeds of all three were in the Saviour's work on earth. The Scripture tells us that He went about preaching: that's the Church; teaching: that's the School; healing: that's the Hospital. You may not find your particular work just exactly in one of these, but if the Saviour was willing to leave the Father's glory to come down here and work, don't think that any job's too small for you. Wherever you are, you can do His work. And remember, if you want to be selfish and stand aside, you'll be the only mourner at your own funeral when the time comes for you to quit this life.—Young Canada.

Regina, capital of Saskatchewan, received its name when the steel of the Canadian Pacific railway first reached there on August 23, 1882.

Aerial "hurricane alarms" may be in vogue along the Texas gulf coast if present plans materialize. Army airplanes equipped with sirens could fly over the danger zone, and in a few minutes warn thousands to seek places of safety.

WEEKLY BIBLE LESSON

JESUS BEGINS HIS WORK.
Mark 1:12-20.

IT is a great event when anyone begins his life work. It is the start which leads to the finish, and often by the start we may guess something about the end. Looking over the lives of useful men there is generally a continued harmony right through from the opening chapter to the last.

It was so with the life of Jesus.

At the age of twelve He was in the temple seeking information and answering the Jewish doctors in such a way that they were astonished. When His mother found Him, He said, "He was about His Father's business." That was the boy Jesus. He was already taking up His life work of serving God; surely such a boy will make a great finish.

In the lesson for to-day Mark tells us that the Spirit urged Jesus out into the wilderness, where for 40 days He was tempted by the devil. The evil one tried to turn Him from following the purpose of God, and instead, to use His powers to take care of Himself, by providing Himself with food, getting easy possession of the kingdoms of the world and parading His miraculous gifts for a mere show.

He stood the test. He showed His antagonist that He saw through the temptations and that there was a better way—obedience to the Word of God.

John having been arrested by Herod, and Jesus having defeated the tempter, it was time for Jesus to begin His active work, so He began to preach, saying it was time for the coming of the Kingdom and men must repent and believe. The Kingdom was to be made up of changed men—men who would follow Jesus.

Passing along the shore of the Sea of Galilee He saw Simon Peter and Andrew casting out their net for a catch of fish and He called them to follow Him and He would make them fishers of men. Whatever there was in the call, it was tremendously effective. These men left their nets and their occupations and followed Him until death. James and John did the same.

Jesus has never lost His grip in calling men and getting them to follow. They have gone in His name into all parts of the world to tell the story of salvation and in strange lands have lived and died for Him.

To-day, all over the world, He has many faithful followers and workers who are earnestly serving Him in His church and in the places where they live and work.

Let us increase the number by enlisting every boy and girl in our Sunday schools for Him.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Jesus Begins His Work

Scripture—Mark 1:12-20.

By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell And Alfred J. Buescher

Immediately following Jesus' baptism he was led by the Holy Spirit into the wilderness for 40 days. During this time Satan tried in every possible manner to get Jesus to sin, but it was all to no avail.

Jesus remained in the southern country of Judea for about a year until John the Baptist was cast into prison by Herod. Then Jesus went north through Samaria into Galilee where his preaching aroused great popular enthusiasm.

Passing along by the sea of Galilee, he saw Simon and Andrew, brothers, casting a net into the sea; for they were fishers. He had met them down south a year before. But now he called them to follow Him as disciples.

Going a little farther, he saw James and John, also brothers. They were in a boat with their father, Zebedee, and some hired servants. These brothers, too, became his followers.

Private Branch Exchange to all Departments

SATURDAY, JANUARY 7, 1933

FRAUDULENT RELIEF RECIPIENTS.

The fact that a former resident of Picton has been sentenced to the Ontario Reformatory for obtaining relief here under false pretences, should serve as a warning.

It is impostors of this type who endeavor to take advantage of provisions made for the assistance of the genuinely needy, who prejudice the success of relief drives and consequently make the lot of those in distress all the harder.

To understand the mentality of individuals who would be guilty of such a miserable offence is beyond the comprehension of the average decent citizen, yet stories from various centres indicate that the type is by no means a rare phenomenon—in fact, there are fraudulent claims for assistance and out-and-out frauds reported in a number of cities.

All such cases should be brought to the immediate attention of the courts; there is no use wasting sympathy upon persons low enough to exploit relief agencies for their own gain.

A VALUABLE INSTITUTION.

The larger circulation of books in all departments and the much greater use of the reading-rooms, as related in the annual report of Librarian F. M. DelaFosse, carry their own proof that the facilities of the Public Library are being wisely used during these days of unusual unemployment.

It is impossible to estimate the value of such an institution at a period like this when many men are idle and time hangs heavily upon their hands.

The Library with its comfortable reading-rooms, its array of daily newspapers and magazines and its shelves lined with splendid books, has been of great help in maintaining the morale of the victims of the unemployment crisis and of their families.

It is gratifying to note the increasing use of reference books, volumes on useful arts and similar publications, indicating that many of those who are out of work are endeavoring to put their idle time to the best possible use, by informing themselves on lines likely to prove useful to them in securing employment when conditions improve.

A total circulation of well over 100,000 books in the adult department during the year, an increase of more than 14,000 books, as compared with 1931, shows how much the Public Library is being patronized and throws a light upon the service this well managed and well conducted institution is rendering the community.

THE NEW CHAIRMAN.

The election of Ernest F. Reid as chairman of the Board of Education will be approved by the citizens generally, who feel that Mr. Reid's eight years' experience as a member of the board and the keen interest he has always displayed in educational matters admirably fit him for the position to which he has been voted by his colleagues.

Mr. Reid has been a hard working and useful board member; he is familiar with every detail of the board's business and with all angles of current educational problems, and there is no doubt of his ability to supply sane and zealous leadership.

The Board of Education is one of the city's largest spending bodies; its expenditures each year represent a formidable share of the civic tax bills, and it is fortunate therefore that the chairmanship should have gone this year to a member who appreciates the burden under which many taxpayers are struggling, and who can, The Examiner feels confident, be relied upon to see that so far as his leadership is concerned the keynote of the 1933 administration of educational affairs shall be economy.

In some cities there is a persistent agitation for municipal councils to be given greater control over the expenditures of school boards.

That, The Examiner submits, cannot be entertained so long as these boards are elective, for they are on the same footing exactly as the city council, responsible to the people whose elected representatives they are.

It should, however, be possible for the two bodies to work in co-operation with a view to lifting some of the burden from the taxpayers, and Chairman Reid will undoubtedly be found responsive to any overtures along that line that may be made.

He is in a position to appreciate the hard struggle many taxpayers are making to meet their tax obligations, and will unquestionably endeavor to do what he can to relieve the situation.

THEY MUST BE PREPARED.

One of the disquieting features of the present depression is the fact that thousands of young people ready to leave school and seek places in business or industry are without much hope of establishing themselves.

These boys and girls, along with many others who have been cast adrift from their former places of employment, constitute a problem that is causing many people grave concern.

To all such young people a bit of advice recently issued by the Ottawa Journal is commended.

The Journal points out that the depression is not going to last forever, and one of these days the "Help Wanted" signs will be dusted off and eager crops of youngsters will have their names on the pay-rolls of the nation and the bad years will be charged up to experience.

The important thing to be remembered by these young people waiting to go out into the world is that they must keep themselves fit and ready for the call which is certain to come.

"A youth who spends a year or two hanging round street corners or pool-rooms, feeling sorry for himself because he can't get a job, is losing the will to work, damaging his morale, loosening his moral fibre. It is a painfully easy way through which to drift into the ranks of the unskilled, and it is a way which leads inevitably to the hopelessness of lost opportunities," says the Journal.

This is a most timely and most necessary warning that should be impressed upon every idle young man and young girl.

The course of wisdom for all such youngsters is to prepare themselves for the coming opportunities.

Educational facilities are provided at a trifling cost to the individual pupil, and if continuance at school is not possible there are courses of home instruction and the splendid facilities of the public libraries to help unemployed young people better fit themselves for life's battle.

A THING WE HATE TO BELIEVE.

People become famous for all sorts of things. A man who can paint pictures with his nose shares the honors of notoriety with the woman whose husbands number six and the statesman who has the only solution of the war debts problem.

Professor Einstein is a famous man because he formulated a scientific theory which almost nobody understands. But his associates in the newspapers and the public mind include the person with a world title for consumption of griddle cakes, the woman who hasn't had a new hat in thirty-seven years, the man about to hop off for Mars, the discoverer of a cure for colds and the novelist who persuades the police to ban his most scandalous book.

Fame is a "phantom fleeting in the mist," if you like, but it is a company of illustrious phantoms where the great writer, the eminent inventor, the beautiful screen star compete for place with fat boys and tree sitters and the fellow who hasn't shaved since Queen Victoria died.

There are all sorts and conditions of men and women in the ranks of the famous, and so it is not surprising to learn—on the indisputable authority of our own incomparable Mr. Ripley—that Mrs. Z. M. Rathbun, of Angola, Indiana, can whistle through her nose, presumably wants it known as her claim to inclusion. Now if we could whistle through the nose we shouldn't tell a soul about it. Like the rare ability to waggle the ears its possession ought to be kept the closest sort of secret, exercised in the privacy of the bath. But Mrs. Z. M. Rathbun has let it be told. She can whistle through her nose. She will be in great demand at bridge parties and church socials, no doubt the town papers will run her picture—she may even get on the radio. Fortunately the lady lives in Indiana.—Ottawa Journal.

ROOSEVELT HOLDS BACK.

President-elect Roosevelt is chided by the New York Evening Post for his failure to assume responsibility of leadership in matters now before Congress at Washington. Congressional leaders of the Democratic party, it is said, are exceedingly restive because they had received from the Democratic President-elect no sign whatever of his desires or convictions regarding action on the major issues at this and the next session.

When Congress opened, Speaker Garner, Mr. Roosevelt's running mate, forced a vote on Repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, and it was to "Repeal, repeal and again repeal" that Mr. Roosevelt pledged himself in his acceptance speech at Chicago. Yet not one word did he say for the Repeal bill. Had he said it there is little doubt that he could have brought over the three or four Democratic votes necessary for passage.

As to patronage, declares the Evening Post, it seems incredible that he would stand by and let his campaign manager, "Jim" Farley, send word to the Democratic organizations throughout the country that he would have 150,000 jobs to give to deserving Democrats. Yet stand by he did, and, without a word of objection, saw his Administration committed to what the Post calls the most colossal patronage debauch in our history. His latest inactivity is to let his party in the House jettison the sales tax. The Post cries out in protest:

We know that Mr. Roosevelt is not yet President of the United States. We are not demanding that he act as President. We even grant that he is entitled to a "honeymoon" of freedom from criticism which the press of the country has been glad to give him. But we think that Mr. Roosevelt cannot continue to let everything go by default, for his own sake and that of his party and his country. He is letting the whole situation slip out of his hands. If he doesn't assume some responsibility of leadership, it will be beyond his control after, as well as before, March ..

All of which makes Canadians wonder if what was said about Roosevelt during the election campaign is true—that he lacks decision when the time comes for action.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Evidently Canadian cattle are not going to be sent to Siberia.

The Irish Free State election campaign is already beginning to develop queer angles. It will be a short but undoubtedly a lively battle.

Apparently there is nothing to stop a Canadian syndicate from entering into a barter arrangement with Russia—provided, of course, it can finance the proposition. The trouble is the promoters want the Government to hold the bag.

That there is a heavy strain upon men who hold high places in the public service is shown by the fact that there is not a living ex-President in the United States.

It will cost Uncle Sam something to cancel war debts. But it will cost him and the whole world much more to collect.—Toronto Globe.

NEWS OF OUR OWN VILLAGE

The village elections Mon. passed off without no rioting, although some of the returning officers thought for a while they'd need a traffic cop to take care of the congestion

Ald. Fred Tuggey is still alderman, the folks refusing to give him enough votes to oust R. Denne, who has been our Mayor here for many a moon. Tough tugging, Fred, say we.

The village constabulary indulged in a dog hunt in the wee small hours of Thurs. a.m. and Bill Wigg carried off the honors as the crack shot of the squad. Bill draws a wicked bead, we're informed.

Joe Henderson was a candidate for the village council Mon., but didn't make the grade. It is up to the lads which was successful to keep the wigwam over Joe's head, we helpfully point out.

The 1st town meeting of the year will be held Mon. and R. Denne and all the lads will start in legislating. Many hopes the pruning knife is well sharpened for use on the tax rate, the same being a heavy load on all and sundry.

The coldest nite of the winter was experienced here last Sat. although many of the municipal candidates found last Mon. a pretty cold nite too.

No freak election bets is reported in these parts, at least none of the villagers has been seen rolling a peanut up Main street with a toothpick.

The village School Bd. aint exactly decided as yet whether all the lads in the schools is going to have to drill or if only the small fry will turn out for the exercises Agnes MacPhail don't like.

Bill Stewart was re-elected Mayor of Toronto, west of here, Mon., by a majority that put all the adding machines out of business. Bill may be a undertaker, but they aint nothing dead about him personally, we surmise.

Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, P.C.—Lawyer, Statesman, Prime Minister of Canada.

This is the signature of a man of forceful willpower, earnestly applied along purposeful lines. The inclination to function in the sphere of ideas and idealism is predominant, and taken together with marked literary ability, suggests that this man might have possibly been a writer. Ambition and vitality and energy of the active variety generate a resistless urge for self-expression in action. He throws himself with such ardour and unreserve into the translation of his ideas and idealism into such active form as to arouse and intoxicate those associated with him. He is the inspirational leader. He is motivated by such sincere and fiery enthusiasm for his causes that he might be inclined to act before the process of weighing and testing was fully completed. He has a brilliant and facile mind and is rigidly honest in public and private dealings.

CONCENTRATION OF WEALTH

Editor, Examiner, Peterborough.

Dear sir:

After two years of depression, seventy-five person in the United States had net incomes of over one million dollars a year. Four of these persons averaged more than $9,500,000.

At prevailing prices for wheat on the Winnipeg exchange, the total income of these four individuals would be sufficient to purchase a quarter of the Canadian wheat crop.

Over here, we are more careful in compiling our statistics on income tax. We do not say that such and such a number receives incomes of over one million dollars a year. But we do say enough to stimulate interest in what the figures might reveal.

For instance, in 1931, six hundred persons received incomes of over $50,000. Due to the complexity of the figures given, it is impossible to do more than speculate as to the graduation of incomes above that figure. Under these circumstances, we can only surmise that a fair analysis of our income tax returns would reveal the same concentration of wealth that is so eloquently revealed by the return in the United States.

In the past, such concentration of wealth has been defended on the ground that it supplied capital for productive enterprise. Since productive enterprise has now been developed beyond the point where consumption can keep pace with it, perhaps we shall hear less of this talk. It is high time for us to recognize the fact that great wealth in the hands of a few is distinctly antisocial.

Yours truly,
W. H. C. COULTHARD.

A POOR EXCUSE.

Editor Examiner.

Alderman Hamilton's explanation of leaving heavy slush on the sidewalks to improve walking conditions is even one better than the politician's excuse of being misquoted. Certainly the dozens of girls and others going to store and office have a different opinion and experience.

I have travelled Charlotte from Park to George and George from Charlotte to McDonald and wherever the slush had been removed Saturday forenoon the walking was good, and now five days after it is still wet and muddy where it was not removed.

Just south of the Y.M.C.A. on George street and the service stations at the corner of Charlotte and Stewart are locations Mr. Hamilton would do well to examine on foot and then judge if five days unnecessary walking of this and similar conditions should be imposed on the pedestrian public.

Charlotte street is a business street from Park to George with a heavy pedestrian traffic, most of the stores and residences clear their walks, it is very unfair that these service stations occupying good business corners and extra long frontage should be allowed to keep their walks in a filthy and sloppy condition.

If there is no by-law covering this section, the street department should see to getting one and then regarding snow plows what use is a plow unless they get out before traffic packs the snow on the walks.

We all know that during a sleet period it is impossible to keep streets in good condition but with snow and slush there is no excuse and the street department should be alive to the needs of numerous sections of the public who cannot afford to float around on wheels.

There are hundreds of men that would be glad to earn a few cents after a storm, and if business concerns refuse to clean their walks let the city do it and charge it to the tax bill.

Yours truly,
OBSERVER.

MURDER IN EDEN

By Charles Winfield Smith.

CHAPTER 10

The atmosphere of the room seemed charged with electricity. Lillian stood there staring open-eyed down at the other woman.

Holmes moved to Lillian Hull's side. His voice, when he spoke, was conciliatory. "Nanette," quietly, "there's no use——"

"You shut up!" she ordered. "What business is it of yours?"

Holmes shrugged and turned to Kane. His look as much as said, "what can you do with a woman like that?"

Lillian muttered something and stalked from the room. Holmes followed her. Nanette watched them go, her lips curling in contempt. Then she dropped back on her pillow with a groan.

Jere Kane was satisfied. He had wanted to witness a meeting between these two women; he had seen the open hostility between them. But what was behind it? Bailey?

If the slain director was the cause of this hostility then one of the two was lying. But which one? Both hated Bailey whole-heartedly; at least, both said they did. Nanette had nothing but contempt for him. Her every action had showed that.

But Lillian. What about her? She had sought to extend the branch of peace to Nanette and had been rebuffed, cruelly, harshly rebuffed. Why? What chasm lay between them? Professional jealousy? Hardly that. Neither had attained that goal of every actor—stardom. Nanette had not even been given her chance yet.

The puzzle, at this moment, was too much for him.

He said to Nanette, "I must go. Shall I call to see you tomorrow?"

She looked up at him. "Please," eagerly. "I'm sorry, Jere, for what has happened in here tonight."

"Just forget it," he counseled. "You will feel better tomorrow."

She smiled and he left her.

Lillian and Holmes were gone when he went into the other room. His questioning glance brought a quick reply from the chief:

"I let them go," he said brusquely. "They will be available if we want them."

Kane indicated his pleasure with this arrangement. John Lee looked tired. His eyes were pouched; his mouth drooped. Kane said, "You'd better get some sleep. You appear as though you need rest."

"I guess I'm getting old," the other grinned. "I can't stand these long hours like I used to."

"Let's go," he said. "I think I could use a little sleep myself."

A moment later they pulled away for the long drive back into Los Angeles. The chief drove slowly, apparently steeped in thought. It wasn't until they were back in Hollywood that he spoke. Then:

"What do you make of it?" he demanded.

"It's worse than a Chinese puzzle," Kane said grimly. "The problem is to make the many parts fit."

"Then you think Bailey's murder and this attack on LeRoi are related?"

"Undoubtedly."

"Any ideas as to who pulled these jobs?"

"Ideas?" Kane laughed. "Several. But they don't fit."

Both fell silent again, nor did they speak until they reached the Embassy hotel. Kane was about to leave with a "I'll see you tomorrow" when Lee stopped him.

"I'm going to be tied up in that convention tomorrow. I've got a couple of speeches to make on Los Angeles police methods. That's a laugh, prating about our success when I've got a case like this hanging fire."

"Then I'll keep busy," the amateur detective promised.

"I'll leave word at headquarters that you are to have any help you ask."

"And it will be greatly appreciated," with a light laugh. "I'll probably need it."

Whereupon John Lee drove away. Kane went to his room. But he had no intention of sleeping. He tossed his hat onto the bed, drew a chair up before the window and sat down.

But one thought was uppermost in his mind: Who killed Richard Bailey? If he could find the answer to that question he could find the solution of the lesser problem of who had attempted and failed—to take Nanette LeRoi's life.

The manner in which the director came to his end was plain enough. He could visualize the crime—but not the criminal. The attack on the actress was not so easily explained. There was one of three possibilities. She was shot through the window; someone secreted in the house had pulled the trigger and then escaped; or Holmes himself wielded the weapon.

If Holmes was guilty—but why, he asked himself bitterly, lay the blame on the actor? Wasn't he jumping at conclusions to do that? What motive could Holmes have for committing such a crime? Kill Bailey? Yes, if he was interested enough in Nanette LeRoi to be insanely jealous of the director.

But there were other characters in the drama. They must all be considered. Mentally, he wandered back over the night, from the moment they had seen the actress sweep into the dining room with all the majesty of a queen.

It must have been after nine o'clock when she arrived. She had been at Bailey's at about nine o'clock. By her own confession, she had left there and came directly to the hotel. Sh was still there at midnight, for he had been with her. And it was shortly before one o'clock that she had been shot.

Who was she next character to enter the scene? Chivington? Bailey' old house man had given an account of his movements. Kane knew that he was not the type to lie. He was too meek, his years of servitude had been too long. He had learned the le son of humility well, and, Kane thought, probably from the hands of a master in teaching such a lesso .

He recalled Weldon's unwarranted attack on Lucy Wilbur—his brazen assault on the woman in the chief's own office. Why had he done that? The Wilbur woman had done nothing to bring about such vicious action. What had she said? "Ther was someone else there when he chased us off—Nanette LeRoi."

Was Weldon trying to shield LeRoi? Or was he afraid that Lucy Wilbur would talk too much? What did he know that he was afraid she would tell, if the latter was the case?

And Lucy Wilbur. At first sullen, hen only too willing to talk, until Weldon shu her up. And after that she shut up like a clam. Not a word did she utter. Was she obeying the first law of nature, self-preservation?

Lillian Hull presented another problem. There was some wide chasm of enmity b tween her and LeRoi? What was it? Had the other woman taken Bailey away from her? It was she who revealed that Nanette had come in as they were leaving the bungalow in the hills above Hollyw od. It was she—

But it had been Lucy Wilbur who had accused Bailey of dishonesty in playing the game of love. Had she, too, been caught in Bailey's web? She must have, or how would she have known?

There was another character in this drama of tragedy and broken lives, a mysterious creature of the night. A clumsy young man who had fled from Nanette LeRoi's house when Rodolf Holmes approached. Was he one of the central figures? Or just a supernumerary whose one part was to walk on to the set, act mysterious and then disappear, just to add unintelligibility to the plot?

Thus, in his ruminations, he considered each of the six characters of his drama, six pieces of his puzzle. But it was not complete by any means. There were many missing parts which he must find.

Idly, he picked up the newspaper which he had been reading that afternoon. Casually, he turned the pages until he came to one filled with pictures. His gaze fell on one rather large one at the bottom of the page. It wa a likeness of Nanette LeRoi and another young woman snapped s they disported on the beach at Malibu.

If he had only known it—had thought of it—he would have found one of the missing pieces to his puzzle in that picture.

LIFE'S NO CRAZY QUILT

I REMEMBER women making quilts. On sunny summer afternoons in a garden where there were birds and bees and dragon flies. . . . I seem to remember the buzz of their voices mingled with the droning of the bees . . . And though it must have been long ago, as we measure time in one life, I remember bright patches of silk and satin and cotton and linen. . . . Old pieces of dresses, vests, neckties. Reds and blues and scarlets and greens and more colors than one saw in the rainbow. Many more.

Marshall Maslin

The cut them and fitted them together, side by side. And I think there was much discussion about "matching" and "contrast." Did this color go with that one Did one fight that?

How would they look side by side when the quilt was finished? Would they fit into the pattern?

Into the pattern? Yes, there was always a pattern of some kind. The quilt was never as haphazard as one thought, even though it was a crasy quilt. Always the makers of the quilt had something in mind. They were not merely putting bits of cloth together without rhyme or reason. They had a plan in mind, they were making their quilt according to that design.

They were not working toward ugliness and formlessness; they were seeking form and beauty in this quilt that grew beneath their hands.

Sometimes you read a book or you see a play that is supposed to be formless and "right out of life" without selection. And the book or the play is praised because it is so natural.

But you think about the play after you have seen it or you turn the pages of the book again you will find that neither of them was truly without form. The playwright or the novelist had an idea within his work. he selected characters. He had something in mind. He was going somewhere. And life, for him was not a crazy Quilt.

Neither is any other life a crazy quilt. There is always something behind it, always an idea in the seeming chaos always a thought a dream, a purpose. And none of our ideas or our deeds are as thoughtless as they may seem. Always we are directing them a little, matching them somewhat from the material we are working with, always working toward some design that may not be clearly understood—but which is always there.

It's as true as truth can be, that life's no Crazy Quilt.

At the annual Sunday School supper at St. John's Church, the Girls' Bible Class presented their teacher, Mrs. L. H. Deyman, with a handsome silver flower basket, in appreciation of her services. The presentation was made by Miss Isabelle Thirnbeck.

A jolly party of relatives and old-time friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Campbell of Bailieboro to celebrate there the twentieth (china) anniversary of the wedding of Mr. Campbell's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Campbell, also of Bellebore. The celebration took the form of a surprise party, arrangements being made at the home of Mr Campbell's sister, Mrs. Oscar Southwell of Oshawa, and so well were plans concealed that the affair came as a complete surprise to the guests of honor, although they live on the farm adjoining Mr. Campbell's brother. About four o'clock, a car was despatched to bring the guests of honor. A sumptuous repast was prepared by Mrs. Harry Campbell and her assistants, at which Mr. W. S Campbell, a brother of the bridegroom, acted as toastmaster. After a number of speeches of congratulation, interspersed by songs such as "For they are jolly good fellows" and "Put on your old grey bonnet," the bridegroom of twenty years thanked all the good friends for their kindness and thoughtfulness.

Here's a smart new youthful way Paris has found to widen the shoulder line. It is a narrow circular flounce placed to simulate a cape You'll agree, it is a cunning idea. The leg-o'-mutton sleeves are interesting.

The smart mouse-gray shade in rabbit's hair woolen made the original model. Fuchsia-red buttons and suede belt accented a colour note.

It is very effective too with the deep shoulder yoke as in miniature view with the flounce omitted.

THERE IS A noticeable return to white in decoration, whether it applies to furnishings, to accessories, or household linens.

* * * * * * *

This is a natural reaction from the tumult of color which has prevailed. When an apex of any fashion is reached, a change is inevitable and a radical change as instanced in the present abolition of color after the long period of gay tones.

* * * * * * *

In many instances, the riot of colors which has been sanctioned in decoration has proven far from ornamental. A certain confusion resulted, trying to a sensitive eye, and disturbing to tranquility.

* * * * * * *

In the present color scheme, or lack of color, in the incoming vogue of white, the hue is apt to be linked with the most compete contrast, which is black.

* * * * * * *

Skill and artistry are required to combine these tones without making a cold decoration or one which is not pleasing.

* * * * * * *

There are some elements in decoration which lend themselves admirably to white, while others tend to increase housework, and are impractical.

* * * * * * *

Articles which can be washed and kept immaculate without extra trouble can be included advantageously in the incoming vogue.

* * * * * * *

Articles that require frequent cleansing which the homemaker has to have done by experts, makes their upkeep expensive.

* * * * * * *

For example, white gloss painted woodwork, white vases and ornaments, white table linens, white bedspreads and bed linens and white curtains, all come under the heading of those things which are feasible to include in the white scheme.

* * * * * * *

White rugs and carpets, white coverings for upholstery or white upholstery itself, are pronounced examples of what to avoid in this scheme, if one has to consult the purse for upkeep.

* * * * * * *

The original cost of the articles may be no more than for those having color introduced, but the sum would soon be doubled by after-outlay as white must be pristine to be appealing.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell received many beautiful and useful gifts, which were brought in, in a handsomely decorated wheelbarrow. Later, after the thanks of Mr. and Mrs. Campbell had been expressed, progressive euchre was played and a guessing contest. Those present included: Mr. and Mrs. Art. Wellwood, Mrs. (Rev.) CONTRACT BRIDGE

By E. V. SHEPARD

"HE PLAYED AS IF INSPIRED"

After the hand shown below was over, an onlooker remarked of Y: "He played as if inspired." It is all right to give a player full credit for perfect strategy, but when Y took the only logical method of fulfilling a game contract that appeared impossible of execution, and Y made an extra trick through an opponent's error, why unduly eulogize? Coutract is a great game. The faster we impress players with sound principles, and show up bad strategy, the better game we will soon have. Let's cut out gush, and stick to facts. Give credit to Y for his perfect play, and blame B for a dumb play.

Contracting went: Z and A, pass; Y, 1-Spade, upon 2½ quick tricks and strength in both majors; B, Pass; Z, 3-Spades, because he held half a raise more than a single assist; A, Pass; Y, 4-Spades.

The opening lead was the 4 of hearts Dummy's singleton, A's K and Y's Ace fell. Y led back a heart and dummy trumped. The declarer led a low spade from dummy, won the trick in his own hand, and had dummy ruff Y's last heart. When dummy's Ace of spades was led it picked up the last outstanding trump.

To fulfill his game contract Y must lose no more than three tricks. Against perfect defense Y could not well fail to lose two clubs, and only perfect play on his part and some luck could prevent him from losing two diamond tricks, especially as he must lead that suit. Often it is a great advantage to have an adversary lead a suit to you, particularly when you hold a high honor in each hand.

If the declarer did not lead clubs it was possible that he might win one trick in that suit. The declarer was fortunate enough to be in dummy, ready to lead up to the only chance of taking a finesse in diamonds. He led the 2 of that suit from dummy, and finessed his own 10. If A only had put up his J on the first lead it would have greatly helped matters along for Y, but A had played his 4, leaving Y to guess where the missing Ace and J were. B looked at the 10, undecided whether or not to win the trick with his Ace. Had he not done so it would not have saved game, as the declarer could have won two diamond tricks just the same. Finally B won the trick with his Ace, and he led back his last heart. That trick was trumped by the declarer, who led his K of diamonds, dropping the unprotected J from A's hand. Then Y led the 8 of diamonds. Had B played low, the 8 would have won the trick had Y dared let it run because the J had fallen, but Y never could have gained entry to dummy to lead the good Q. But B foolishly covered the 8 with his 9, thereby allowing not only the Q to win that trick, but setting up the 7 in dummy. Of course the good 7 was led, and upon it Y discarded one of his losing clubs, giving him one trick above his contract.

At the eleventh trick the declarer had to lead a low club from dummy. A dared not pass that trick, as Y might have left the lone K of clubs A's Ace won the second and last trick for the defending side, as the last two tricks were won by the two goods trumps still held by the declarer.

CITY PRAYER WEEK BROUGHT TO CONCLUSION

Rev. David Wren Speaks at Final Session in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

LARGE CONGREGATION.

The Union Week of Prayer culminated last night in a highly inspirational service, in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, when the Rev. David Wren, of Trinity United Church, addressed a large representative congregation.

The pastor of the church, Rev. Dr. Barr was in charge of the worship period and was supported on the platform by Rev. Mr. Tyler, of Park Street Baptist Church, who read for the scripture lesson, Peter's exhortation to the people of his time.

Two delightful and appropriate sacred solos were conctributed by Miss Alma Blanchard in beautiful contralto voice. Her first selection was "That Stranger of Galilee," while the offertory number was "I'm Sure I Shall Not Pass Again This Way." The church choir led the congregation in singing, with Martin Chenhall, A.R.C.O., presiding at the organ.

In his opening remarks, Rev. Mr. Wren spoke of the enlarged fellowship brought about by this week of prayer and deemed it to be the omen of an even more fruitful comradeship in church life.

The 'Unseen Forces' was the compelling subject in which the threads of the week's study were gathered up by the speaker of the evening in an inspiring climax.

In the first Epistle general of Peter, verses eight and nine, from which Mr. Wren took his text, is found the great Apostle's reference to these "unseen forces." "Standing in the hour of crisis he is pleading with his people for the recognition of the great principle which is basic to the growth of the Kingdom of God. That principle is faith, trust and obedience in service to One whom it is not possible to see.

There is nothing quite so splendid as the sight of a great man pleading for some great principle. As we review the pages of history such characters as Lincoln, Daniel Webster and Lloyd George. In this same company we find Peter, who was striving to establish this fundamental truth—the recognition of the leadership of Jesus, even if it was not possible for them to know and understand Him.

For thousands of years there has been a deep personal attachment for Christ, filling the hearts and minds of the people. It is hard for us to understand this allegiance, but because He lived and unfolded to us a plan of living, He has commanded the sacrifice of many lives who have gone forth in devotion to His ideals.

Next to Jesus, Socrates was probably the greatest man that ever lived. He impregnated the youth of his time with high ideals and lofty principles. Yet his name belongs only to the pages of history. No disciple has fared forth for him to some unknown dangers. Of One only can this be said, and for Him disciples have gone into every land that His principles might become abiding.

Many find it difficult to believe in One whom they cannot see in a physical way. How little do they know that they are confining themselves to the most elementary way of obtaining knowledge. To-day there is a growing consciousness of unseen things. Our fathers talked of the silence of the wilderness, mountains and plains. To-day, we have but to turn a dial, and from this silence comes the voice of the orator or singer. For centuries people have talked of the clouds and darkness around the throne of God. The great spiritual realities of life have not been recognizable. To-day, the invisible has burst into view, peopled with personality and power. We have made two great discoveries, first, that man is a spiritual being, and second that he lived in a spiritual universe. How many lives bear silent testimony of unseen forces and contribute influences that are benedictions.

This is what the Apostle Peter would communicate to the people: That there are unseen forces seeking to minister to us and to enable our characters. We have an unseen Ally standing behind us with counsel, inspiration, encouragement and benediction.

The influence of the life of Christ is the greatest in all the world. Men and women who have built on His foundation, are those who have left behind records thtat time can not efface. Such are the great writers, Augustine and Bacon; the poets Dante and Milton; the artist, Angelo and Raphael; and such philanthropists as Wilberforce, Raikes and Howard. These are lives which have been touched by the unseen and into which Jesus has poured His spirit.

Peter affirms that we can believe in the Unseen and that from it comes a strange power, making mighty transformations. The most effective mark of union with the unseen, is "Joy unspeakable." We cannot tell it, we can only experience it and realize it in our daily lives. From the unseen comes glory that will light the universe and extend to the boundaries of the world.

What a positive message this is in these days of trials and tribulations to know, this New Year, that there is help coming from above—a force unseen. We can make all these things ours, declared the speaker, in closing, and thus journey through the years with the fellowship of Him, who bought us with a great price."

With prayer and the benediction Rev. Mr. Wren brought to a conclusion this memorable "Week of Prayer," held under the auspices of the Baptist, Presbyterian and United Churches of the city.

FICTION BOOKS ARE IN DEMAND AT THE LIBRARY

5,354 More Books of Fiction Borrowed in 1932 Than 1931.

CIRCULATION INCREASED

1,839 Books Were Purchased by Library Board Last Year.

Fiction heads the list of classifications in the popularity of the reading public,as shown by the returns contained in the annual report of the Librarian of Peterborough Public Library, and shows an increase in the issue of such literature of 5,354 books over the previous year, or a total of 64,264 books for the year 1932.

Works of reference take second place with a large increase in comparison to other years, with literature and travel books joggling each other in third place.

Of the thirteen classifications under which the books are listed, the report shows a falling away in the demand for books on fine art. In each of the twelve other branches a healthy increase is marked: in books on religion, biography, sociology, natural science, useful arts, travel, history, magazines, and philosophy, etc.

An actual increase in the circulation of books amounting to 7,749 is noted, while an estimated increase in the attendance in the reference room is placed at 6,264.

During the year passed, the reading rooms have been extensively patronized the men's reading room particularly. A certain amount of mutilation of magazines has been perpetrated, which causes the librarian to remark in his report, "that such a practice is in the highest degree outrageously selfish does not seem to affect the minds of some readers. That the act is criminal seems to be foreign to their consciences also."

A total of 1,839 books was purchased by the Library in the year just passed. Of these 1,240 were adult books, and 599 juvenile books.

BTEWEEN BOOK ENDS

18 years ago this Tuesday morning in a small silent Swiss village, a dark man lay on a pallet, staring with cold eyes at the white ceiling. In the book of life of that brilliant and precious young poet, James Elroy Flecker, the colophon had been printed. It is possible to uncritically associate Flecker with Rupert Brooke. These two young men were born within three years of each other into English familiesof gentile and scholarly tradition. They were fellows together at Cambridge drifting apart on Flecker's removal to the Levant. And four months of Flecker's death in January, 1915, Rupert Brooke was lying in a simple grave among "the white Aegean isles".

Flecker's dreams of the East and Greece were born with him. In early schooldays, while pouring forth verse with disconcerting ease, he sang more oft than not of the dream-painted lands of this East. And after Oxford and Cambridge the poet made these lands his own. Entering consular service, he served at Constantinople and the Near East, for some years, spending the last 18 months of his life in Switzerland vainly seeking a lost health.

Flecker's best work is all contained in the "Collected Poems", a novel, "The King of Auslander," and two plays, "Hassan" and "Don Juan". His is both classic and romantic, combining the romantic taste for the exotic, the gorgeous and the violent with a dislike for romantic egotism, looseness of structure and turgidity of phrase. He disliked the pedestrian and the wild, a passion for accurate craftsmanship driving him to scrupulously write and rewrite all his work. He claimed that we should examine the beauty and not the message of poetry, but his greatest poems are perfect consummation of all the elements which fuse to make great poetry "The Old Ships", The Ballad of Camden Town" "Oak and Olive" and "The Burial in England".

The play "Hassan" will probably live longer than anything else of Flecker's. A strong poetic drama with various aspects appealing to many people, it is full of contradictory elements — of sensuality, cruelty, and violence; of sublime beauty, tenderness, exultation of the martyr, and wistfulness of life. Rarely since Shakespeare and his fellow Elizabethans has such a fully satisfying drama been written This is the story of Hassan, the simple confectioner of the Bagdad of mighty Harounal-Rachid, and how he came to make the Golden Journey to Samarkand. Rotund Hassan is, Eywallah! smitten with an affliction of Allah, who dwells in the street of Felicity by the Fountain of the two Pigeons.

The lovelorn confectioner woos her with his sweet lute and song. But Yasmin is a determined delver of precious metals. "There is love, and love, and love" sighs the beautiful Yasmin. Rejected, Hassan passes through mighty adventure to become the favourite of the Caliph. Rafi, self-styled King of Beggars and bitter enemy of the Caliph is sentenced to death for attempting to lead an insurrection. However the Caliph gives Rafi the choice of exilement and parting forever with the divine Pervaneh, or one day of love and then cruel death for both lovers. Upon the consequent decision of Rafi hinges the climax of this play. This is one of those books readers rarely talk about; it is so precious. Flecker was never associated with any literary school or movement and was never widely known. His work, however, will always remain to delight the discriminating reader.

"Farewell Miss Julie Logan", by J. M. Barrie, 1932

This is the first story Sir James Barrie has written in almost 30 years, and it promps a quick pang of regret that he has maintained silence for so long. It is Barrie's account of how Miss Julie Logan, that "long stalk of loveliness" came to appear in the pages of the diary of Adam Yestreen, the young minister of a tiny kirk in a snow bound Scottish glen. The charming M'Connachie has overwhelmed—never a difficult thing for him to do—the worldly James Barrie, much to our immense delight. Today there is a tendency to regard Barrie as a Victorian sentimentalist. We suspect that he is not. He is one of the men, you will remember, who brought such vitality to the English stage at the turn of the century. His plays are good plays—and also good reading, surely a primary test. And the great majority of the plays 50 years before this were not. Possibly a time our feeling towards sentimentality will grow less sweeping and combative. Tenderness is not sickly if it is true and sentiment is at least as natural as cynicism.

Which all reminds us that it is related that once an enthusiastic lady met Sir James Barrie at a dinner party.

"Oh! Sir James" she exclaimed. "I do so love your plays. Are they all as successful as "Peter Pan"?

"Well," Sir James replied, "they all Peter out or they Pan out."

WM. THOMPSON IS LAID TO REST

Funeral Service Was Held Friday in St. John's Church.

CHURCH CROWDED.

Over one hundred people unable to find accommodation in St. John's Parish Church yesterday afternoon, where every available space was crowded even to the outer doors, stood in reverent silence in the churchyard while with simple, impressive dignity funeral services were held within, prior to interment of the remains of William Thompson, victim of the Stoney Lake drowning tragedy, at Fife's Cemetery, Otonabee.

In dignity and simple beauty, and in the widespread sympathy it evoked, and which was amply stressed by the attendance of people representing almost every walk of life from every part of the county and beyond it's boundaries, the funeral will remain in the memory of the community as one of the most outstanding in the history of Peterborough. Seldom, if ever, has greater tribute been paid to any resident of this district. So great was the crowd that as the cortege prepared to leave the ivy-covered church for the cemetery, traffic was held up on Hunter street for almost half an hour.

A lifelong member of the Anglican Church, Mr. Thompson had held office as warden for many years, at Holy Trinity Church, Haultain and was delegate from Stoney Lake Mission to the synod. His son W. Roy Thompson of this city, is Peoples' Warden at St. John's Church.

Services at the church and graveside were in charge of the Rev. E. C. Moore, incumbent of Stoney Lake Mission. A close personal friend of the late Mr. Thompson, the minister delivered an address that was full of comfort and sympathy for the bereaved family, and which paid striking tribute to the sterling qualities of heart and mind that had made Mr. Thompson such a widely popular and beloved personality.

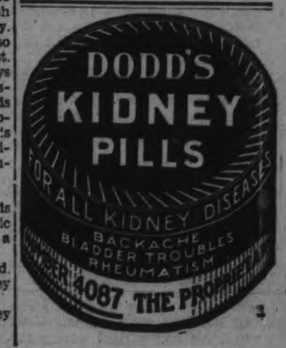
Rev. Mr. Moore referred also to the wonderful work that had been performed by the people of Mount Julian district in the days of anxiety prior to recovery of the body on Wednesday afternoon, thirty feet below the surface of Stoney Lake, and of the sympathy and love that had been freely extended to the survivors, and which he termed almost unparallelled. It was, he remarked, the love of God working through human instincts.

Venerable Archdeacon R. C. Blagrave, D.D., rector of St. John's church took charge of the service. He and Rev. Mr. Moore were accompanied in the chancel by the Rev. J. L. Hughes, rector of St. George's Church, and former incumbent of Stoney Lake Mission, who read the Psalm; by the Rev. T. J. O'Connor-Fenton of Norwood and Rev. J. F. Battersby of Hastings. Rev. Mr. Robbins of Newmarket was observed among the members of the congregation, having come a considerable distance to pay final respect to his old friend whom he had learned to regard highly, when he also held the incumbency of Stoney Lake Mission some years ago.

The service was fully choral, the surpliced choir being present under direction of Frederic G. Mann, L.Mus., who had made arrangements for the absence from school of the boy choristers.

Immediate family mourners at the funeral included Mr. Thompson' widow, who with her three grandchildren had a miraculous escape from drowning when the motor truck crashed through the ice on Monday last; an only son, W. Roy Thompson of Peterborough; and daughters, Miss Bessie Thompson of Long Island, N.Y., Mrs. Charles Blezzard of Toronto and Miss Annie Thompson of Mount Julian, and nephew Alex Thompson of Harvey Township.

The pall-bearers were: Messrs. Everett Birdsall, Major Oxley, Bruce Reid, Wellie Dunsford, Keith Lech, and George Renwick.



PROTEST MADE BY MINISTERS OF PRESBYTERY

Editorial Criticizing Oxford Group Has Harmed Church.

NOT VOICE OF CHURCH

Ministers of Peterborough Presbytery Send Protest to Dr. Creighton.

The ministerial members of Peterborough Presbytery of the United Church have protested to Rev. Dr. Creighton, Editor of the New Outlook in regard to the editorial in the church paper criticizing the work of the Oxford Group. The following is a copy of the protest which was sent to Dr. Creighton:

Lakefield, Ont., Jan. 5, 1933.

"At a meeting of the ministerial members of Peterborough Presbytery, which was attended by the entire roll of ministers in active service except the pastor of Apsley, and in addition two superannuated ministers the following resolution was drafted to be sent to you.

"It was moved by Rev. David Wren, M.A., B.D., seconded by Rev. A. H. Going, B.A. as follows:

"Following an editorial in the New Outlook, the official organ of the United Church of Canada, on the work of the Oxford Group movement and a reply to a protest offered to it by outstanding leaders of our church, we the ministerial members of the Peterborough Presbytery, regularly called and meeting in George Street Sunday School Hall, Peterborough, on Tuesday, January 3rd, offer our protest both to the editorial and to the reply.

"It is our firm conviction that the said editorial which has been copied by the secular press, and broadcast to every corner of our Dominion, and beyond, does not represent the convictions of the rank and file of our church. We further believe that a real harm has been done to Evangelical Religion and that our Great Church has been placed in a very wrong light before the peoples of our land. While we believe the editor of our paper, has certain rights, and that a free hand should be given in his work, yet we firmly believe that a church organ such as the New Outlook, ought not to become the medium for expressing certain individual opinions, which are not the expressed convictions of the whole church.

"While we may not be able to see eye to eye with all the program of the Oxford Movement, yet we have seen enough, and read enough to believe, if such can be used in the hands of God, to change the lives of men, to awaken new impulses in the hearts of others, to stir new life within the church and put the story of the Gospel on the lips of men, it should be sufficient to merit our sympathy and prayers rather than the criticism which your editorial gave it.

"In view of these facts, we the ministers of Peterborough Presbytery deeply deplore, the editorial referred to, and we also think your reply might have evinced more Christian charity, especially when we consider the type of men who have registered their protest.

The above resolution was carried unanimously.

W. R. Archer,
Secretary of the meeting.

HOLD-UP DETAILS AIRED IN COURT

EACH RECEIVED $40.

HAMILTON, Jan. 7. — (C.P.)— Electing to be tried in a higher court, Robert Kremer was committed for trial in pol ice court to-day on a charge of robbery while armed. The charge hinged on the hold-up of a group of card players at the apartment of James Woods on Dec. 17. Two Indians, Harvey Laforme and Huron Claus, pleaded guilty to the charge Wednesday and are at present awaiting sentence.

The first witness called to-day was Charles Burows, who told of receiving a telephone cal lfrom Kremer on Dec. 17. In response to the call, he went to a house occupied by Joe Oberman, witness said, taking a hack saw with him. On of drinks of wine and then was his arrival, he was given a couple taken to the cellar where he sawed off part of the barrel of a shotgun. Accused arived at the house later. Present in the house were Kremer, Dave Oberman, witness and two Indians, said Burrows. About midnight a sum of money was divided among the five, each getting a little more than $40, he testified. Questioned regarding a revolver, witness said he did not remember having handled the gun.

Planed Evening Before.

Harvey Leforme told the court the robbery had been planedn on the preceding evening. When the time came for Huron Claus to be sworn it was found necessary to look the Indian Act regarding the way to swear in a non-Christian Indian. Claus was questioned closely by the magistrate regarding his religious beliefs, and then repeated that "he solemnly affirmed and declared the evidence he would give to the court in the case would be the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth."

After a further caution regarding perjury, Claus took the stand and identified the automatic pistol which he had carried during the robbery.

F. REMINGTON IS HONORED BY CHEESEMAKERS

HOLD SOCIAL EVENING.

CAMPBELLFORD, January 7 (Examiner Staff Correspondence).—The winner of three cups and a cash award, all of which were presented to him last evening, Fred Remington, cheesemaker at Hoards, Seymour Township, brought credit to the Campbellford district, and was fittingly honored last evening at the annual social evening of the Campbellford Cheesemakers' Association held in Campbellford, and presided over by W. V. Drewry of Warkworth.

Having one of the highest scores for cheese in the Province, Mr. Remington received the Mills Trophy, emblematic of the maker holding the highest score shipping through the U.D.C. This was presented to him by J. L. Joss of Belleville, who stated that the cup, which came into open competition in 1927, has been held for four previous years by Campbellford makers. He also tstated that out of fifteen highest scoring factories in the Province, six of them were located in the Campbellford district. Mr. Remington's score was 93.986 per cent.

Other Awards.

Other awards received by this maker were th eM. E. Maybee Cup presented by J. L. Irwin, Dominion grader; the Bank of Montreal Cup, presented by J. R. Smith, manager of the Campbellford branch of that bank, and a cash award from the Norwood Box Factory, presented by S. H. Neale of Campbellford.

Other prize awards were won by W. V. Drewry, who received a silver cake dish from W .A. Fraser, M.P., for high score and a cash prize from the Norwood Box Company, presented by J. A. Murray; and Douglas Turney, who was presented by G. A. Kingston with a silver platter. A prize from F. J. McArthur, M.P.P., and won by L. Shillinglaw, was not presented owing to the unavoidable absence of the donor through illness and the fact that the recipient was not present.

The evening's entertainment consisted of cards, addresses, and the presentations, a musical program, and lunch served by the Campbellford Rebekah Lodge. The function was largely attended by the makers and their wives and those interested in the dairy industry.

Opening the session Mayor H. N. Carr of Campbellford gave the association a civic welcome expressing his pleasure at the success of the association and its activities during the past season.

Stirring Appeal

In a very stirring appeal to the audience to fight hard the present conditions Major J. F. B. Belford pointed out that whatever one does it was impossible to get away from the idea of depression. He did not think its causes were from the Great War or the international debt situation but were the outcome of living too fast and high in past years and being too extravagant when times were good. Saving the odd dollar did not occur to people then, every one had to have every luxury and many of these were obtained on credit with the result that people lived beyond their means.

"We have to get down to work he said "and save. We have behind us the resources of the country and the strength and vigor of the Canadian people were as strong to-day as one hundred years ago when our forefathers hewed their homes from the bush country of this land" He thought he said, that the depression had taught us a good lesson, to work and to save. In the past we had all been suckers for we had bitten the golden bait of the big business men who had speculative schemes to offer. That had ruined many people.

Of the cures for the present conditions Major Belford thought that retrenchment was one way out, the cutting down of family, municipal and governmental expenses, and a revision of the rates, pointing out in regard to the latter that despite the fact that local bankers were very fine people seven per cent was too much for the farmers to pay on short term loans and with the falling prices of the farmers products he was paying what amounted to fourteen per cent on these loans to-day as compared with a few years ago. Only by inate strength, energy and grit could people to-day become prosperous he declared. It was a matter of sticking to the job we are in with a stiff uper lip.

"We can only come out of the present condition by a more even distribution of wealth and a more easy exchange of commodities," declared Mr. Fraser, giving a general review of the present situation. It was true he said that certain people wanted a nationalized credit, but he did not believe that those behind this movement knew what it would bring about and he could see only an adverse condition for Canada in the same scheme. He did not believe the cause of the depression rested with the people.

During the past twenty-five years the three major industries had built up business, the movies, automobiles and the electrical industry, and these had been the basis of the peoples' livelihood. The present developments in these lines of science had been based on the work of our forefathers. What was needed was a higher standard of living which would enable the people to obtain these so called luxuries and thus create a demand for them which would create work. This was where a more even distribution of the wealth of the country would assist in solving the difficulty. The surplus of labor he said could only be used by an increased purchasing power of the people to make a larger demand for the products.

"Produce lots of milk to make good butter and cheese, this was the best way to fight the depression," was the advice given by J. A. Murray, group cheese instructor, who briefly reviewed the record of the past year in the Campbellford district and expressed pleasure at the success of the factory meetings which had been so ably and successfully arranged by President Drewry.

Doing Their Best

The Campbellford cheesemakers were doing their job in a little better way than the average maker he stated, as was seen by the prizes won by Fred Remington and Hector Arnold, the latter gaining the first award in the Hera Competition for Central Ontario. Both these men had brought honor to the district and had shown what could be done both by the maker and the patron.

J. L. Irwin, Dominion grader, briefly addressed the gathering congratulating the winners on their success and stressing the need during the coming season of a tightening up on the cleanliness of the utensils used for milk.

Other speakers were: Reeve Wm. J. Duncan of Seymour; Reeve C. H. Curtis, of Percy; J. R. Smith, of Campbellford and Alred Merrills of Warkworth. The program consisted of a vocal solo by E. H. Lewis, Mrs. Lewis accompanying; vocal and instrumental selections by the Misses Susie Atkinson and Hazel and Dorothy Watson; readings by J. D. McEachern and Reeve Curtis, and vocal and instrumental selections by Malcolm and Harold Hutcheon.

PAYNE'S TIES LAKEFIELD 2-2

FEW PENALTIES.

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 7. (Examiner Correspondence). — Stenner, on a long shot from the blue line that beat Foley cleanly tied the count at 2-all in last night's East Peterborough league fixture between Paynes' hockey club and Lakefield in the latter town. On a whole the game was clean and replete with many spectacular plays despite the sloppy condition of ice.

Maudsley scored the opening goal for the visitors, four minutes after start of play in the first frame, the Petes holding the lead until well into the second canto, Stuart tieing the count. Hatton placed the Petes one up in the third, only to have the score evened by Stenner 4 minutes later. No overtime was played, there were few penalties.

50 YEARS WED SUNDAY, JAN. 6

Mr. and Mrs. Ranceler Clark, Warkworth, Married in Hastings 50 Years Ago.

PLAN CELEBRATION

Mr. and Mrs. Ranceler Clark of Warkworth will be fifty years married on Sunday, January 8, but the familiy's celebration of the happy event will be postponed until next summer.

After their wedding at Hastings on January 8, 1883, Mr. and Mrs. Clark lived in Percy township for some years, and then moved to Warkworth where they have resided during the last thirty years. Mr. Clark was born in Prince Edward county, and Mrs. Clark (nee Annie Ireland) was born in Percy township, at what was known as the Ireland settlement. Of their nine children five are living, Mrs. Emma Zufelt and Mrs. Percy Lewin of Toronto, Mrs. Frank Weatherson of Percy, and Charles and Harry Clark of Peterborough.

not be spent or circulated, and replace it with currency."

Mr. Turner was reluctant about expressing this idea for publication, but was finally persuaded to do so in the possibility that it might be helpful.

Reduce Interest Charges

"If the suggestion is feasible," he said, "then millions of dollars would go into circulation bringing down interest charges, and with easier money agriculture and industry would benefit."

Mr. Turner pointed out that the policy of the banks in urging payment of notes was due to the fact that they regarded the supporting assets as frozen. Payment of notes provided money which could be lent out to others, with a resulting circulation of money.

Adopting the same policy, the Federal Government could use its power to issue one and two dollar currency to take up government bonds, thereby putting money into circulation as a fluid substitute for the frozen asset of the bonds.

Obituary

MRS. HARRIET McLAUGHLIN

TRENT RIVER, Jan. 7 (Examiner Correspondence).—The death occurred Thursday, January 5, of Harriet Ellis, beloved wife of the late James McLaughlin, after a lengthy illness, and failing health for some time; the news of her death came as a shock to her many friends. Shortly before Christmas the deceased went to the home of her sister, Mr. James Johnston, Havelock Road, where death came peacefully shortly after the noon hour Thursday. Daughter of the late Luke and Sarah Ellis, she was united in Marriage to James McLaughlin, whose death took place some years ago and since that time the late Mrs. McLaughlin resided at her home with her only son, William. There are left to mourn the loss of a loving mother, seven daughters and one son: Mrs. R. Illingworth (Violet); Myrtle; Mrs. Frank Berry (Nell); Mrs. Will. Forbes (Elva); Mrs. Leonard Watts (Inez); all of Toronto; Mrs. J. Pritchard (Pearl) of Florida; Ida of Buffalo, N.Y., and one son, William of Trent River. There also survive one sister, Mrs. James Johnston of Havelock Road; four brothers: William of Belmont, David of Hastings, Samuel of Havelock, and George of Trent River.

The late Mrs. McLaughlin possessed many fine qualities—a kind, sympathetic neighbor, highly esteemed for her many excellent qualities of mind and heart and her early passing will be mourned by a large circle of sympathetic friends and neighbors. The funeral was held Saturday, leaving the residence of James Johnston at half-past one for Trent River United Church, where service was conducted by Rev. S. A. Kemp. Interment at Centre Church Cemetery.

MRS. ROBERT WRIGHTLY

HAVELOCK, Jan. 7. (Examiner Correspondence).—The funeral of the late Mrs. Robert Wrightly of Havelock whose death occurred on Tuesday, Jan. 2nd, was held from the family residence of Ottawa St. on Thursday afternoon and was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends. Mrs. Wrightly died after only a week's illness of pneumonia, but had been in rather poor health for the past two years. She was in her forty-eighth year.

The deceased lady who was formerly Emmeline Spinks, was a daughter of the late Mr. John Spinks and Mrs. Spinks who survives. She leaves to mourn her loss besides her husband and mother, two sisters, Mrs. Allan Hubble and Mrs. Frank Elmhirst near Blairton station.

A member of the United Church here, and a Past Worthy Matron of the L.O.B.A. Mrs. Wrightly was well known and highly esteemed alike by friends and neighbors.

The funeral, which was under auspices of the L.O.B.A. Lady McGill Lodge was held on Thursday at one-thirty to the United Church, where the service was conduced by Rev. S. A. Kemp.

Many beautiful floral tributes were silent testimony of the esteem in which the late Mrs. Wrightly was held. Her many friends extend sincere sympathy to her bereaved husband and family.

Prof. E. E. Slosson reports that the Orion stars are the most massive and hottest of all the stars. Their surface temperatures are believed to be at least as high as 20,000 degrees.

IN MEMORIAM

HARRISON.—In loving memory of my dear Wife, who passed away Jan. 5th, 1923.

Ten years have slowly passed away,
But still I do not forget;
For in the heart that loved her best,
Her memory lingers yet.

She oftimes said I would miss her;
Those words have proved too true.
I lost my best and dearest friend,
Dear Wife, when I lost you.

—Sadly missed by her Husband, Stephen Harrison, Lakefield.

Trinity Ladies Decide to Continue Usual Custom of Systematic Giving.

OMEMEE, Jan. 7 (Examiner Correspondence).—Mrs. William Earle, King street, entertained the Women's Missionary Society of Trinity United Church for its January meeting at her home at 3 o'clock on Thursday afternoon; the president, Mrs. Vaughan, taking the chair. The attendance numbered twenty.

A number of fees for the New Year were paid and the members decided that the usual custom of systematic giving be carried out. Instead of using the tree-cards for the Associate Helpers, the mite-box system will be used.

Correspondence read by the secretary included a letter of thanks from Mrs. P. McGaughty. Reports were given of the money raised during the past year. Mrs. Reddick reporting from the Mission Band.

The devotional leaflet, "The Public-spirited Woman, Deborah," was given by Mrs. Lamb. An appropriate reading "Abou Ben Adam" was enjoyed and was followed by a fine paper on "The Making of the Prairie Provinces," by Miss Lily Race.

The meeting closed with prayer offered by Mrs. Earle and the Benediction.

HAVING LIQUOR COSTS FINE, JAIL

Lindsay Court Adds 6 Months to Victoria Road Man's Term if $200 Not Paid.

DAMAGE CASE SETTLED.

LINDSAY, Jan. 7 (Examiner Correspondence) — Gordon Ashby, of Victoria Road was given a month in jail with a fine of $200 or an additional six months if fine is not paid. He was charged with illegal possession of illicit spirits, following his arrest by Constable Jack Woods, R.C.M.P. on Friday on the road in a car. He had two bottles of illicit liquor in his possession and was under the influence of liquor.

William McDonald, of Cardiff Township, Haliburton, was committed for trial in the county court after a preliminary hearing on a serious charge involving two young children. The evidence in the case was heard in closed court.

J. W. Pointon, investigator for the Fire Marshall's Department, Toronto, held a court of inquiry here into the fire in the Sunkist fruit store, on the main street, Monday night. He announced that the fire was of suspicious origin, tending to incendiarism on the part of some person or persons unknown. No evidence was adduced to connect any person with the fire. The court was adjourned sine die.

His Honor Judge Ponton delivered jugdment in a case of interest to drivers of cars whom have trouble with cows on the highway. D. Embury, of Lindsay, sought damages totalling $57 from A. Beavis, of Verulam Township, following an accident in which the former's car and a number of the latter's cattle were involved. Embury was returning to his home in Lindsay when he suddenly came upon a number of cattle in charge of a man with two horses on halter. The cattle turned out in front of the car with the resulting collision. The plaintiff charged that defendant's cattle were not under proper control. In dismissing the case Judge Ponton held that the farmer is not obliged to have every animal under control, while driving them on the highway, but rather that it was up to the driver of the car to see what is happening on the road in front, and, if necessary, to stop until able to proceed safely.

Murray McLeish, of Sebright, suffered a severe accident on Tuesday. He was helping his father to cut wood in the bush when he was felled by a falling limb. He suffered a broken leg.

OMEMEE LODGE INSTALLS OFFICERS

Visitors From Lindsay, Campbellford Attend Ceremony and Program.

OMEMEE, Jan. 7 (Examiner Correspondence).—Lorne Lodge 375, A. F. & A. M., Omemee, held a very successful installation of officers, Saturday evening, in their lodge rooms. Rt. Wor. Bro. Begg, of Lindsay, was in charge of the installation, and was ably assisted by Rt. Wor. Bro. Fulton, and Wor. Bro. Warriner, also of Lindsay. A large attendance was present, including visitors from Lindsay and Campbellford.

After the ceremony of installation was completed, the members sat down to a hot goose supper, kindly donated by the S. W., Bro. K. Thorne. The newly installed Master, Wor. Bro. Greig acted as toastmaster, and a very pleasant hour was spent, which was enlivened by speeches by the newly installed officers, and by most of the visiting brethren.

The newly installed officers are as follows: W.M., W. Greig; S.W., K. Thorne; J.W., Dr. McPhee; Chaplain, T. C. Ivory; treasurer, C. Hart; secretary, W. Thorne; S.D., C. Best; J.D., A. Bland; I.G., E. McLean; S.S., S. Carew; J.S., H. Murray; D.C., J. Magee.

Play Presented.

The Coronation hall was well filled on Monday evening for the play, "Oh Kay," presented by the young people of Christ Church. Music was supplied by J. Marshall's orchestra of Peterborough during the time of gathering and between the story sections.

Every character was impersonated with marked success., as follows:

'Edith Whitman,' Mabel Thorn; 'Evelyn Whitman,' Patricia Hunt; 'Arthur Whitman,' George Stephenson; 'Capt. Whitman,' Harry Burgess; 'Gram. Pembroke,' Mrs. S. Nurse; 'Gramp. Pembroke,' Horace Hill; 'Jim Hayes,' Howard Bent; 'Kay Millis,' Ethel Stephenson; 'Fred Alden,' Charlie Weir. Others in the cast were Phyllis Morton and Cecil Reeds.

Following the play, a dance was enjoyed, J. Marshall's orchestra supplying the music.

District Notes.

Mrs. White, of Toronto, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. C. Ivory for a few days this week.

Mrs. Faulkner has returned to her home after spending a week with her daughter, Mrs. Halligan, at Bewdley.

Mr. White, of Cavan, was a busines visitor here on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie, of Campbellford, visited friends here on Friday.

Mr. Prince, of the Bank of Toronto, spent New Year's at his home in Toronto.

Miss Jane Earl has returned to the university to resume her studies, after spending the holidays with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. McPhee.

NEW PONTIAC FOR 1933 IS A BIG IMPRESSIVE STRAIGHT EIGHT

DRIVING IS EASIER.

Pontiac for 1933, introduced to the public today by General Motors Products of Canada, Limited, is a big impressive Straight Eight. The new Pontiac is brilliantly styled with windstream body design and deeply skirted fenders; is equipped with the Fisher No-Draft Ventilation individually controlled; and has in the new Straight Eight power plant the best engine ever carried under the Pontiac hood. Dealers at whose showrooms it is on display declare the Pontiac Eight, with its 77-horsepower motor, has put an altogether new complexion on the low-priced field.

The new Pontiac is distinctly a style car. Stream-lining has curved and smoothed the entire structure. The smart grilled V-radiator tilts back gracefully and leads into the long straight line of hood and cowl. Fenders dip low in front, and the modern side skirts conceal the whole under-carriage and protect the car from road splash. Slanting hood louvres help maintain the effect; lamps and all detailed units are beautifully designed. The Pontiac Eight has a wheelbase of 115 inches

Speedy of course, the new car accelerates rapidly without the slightest bucking, labor or hesitation. Performance is smooth and brilliant, on hills or in traffic. From a standing start it picks up to sixty miles per hour in 26 seconds. It burns ordinary grades or fuel under high compression and the preheating of the fuel mixture to a proper temperature in all seasons is automatically controlled by a built-in thermostat.

Fisher No-Draft Ventilation, individually controlled, lets every Pontiac passenger have fresh air as he wants it, yet be protected from unwelcome drafts and discomfort. Driving is pleasant and healthful in any weather. Traditional Pontiac stamina is guarded by over-building every vital part of motor and chassis.

On the road, Pontiac, with its low centre of gravity, sure traction of wide tire areas, and ease of steering, shifting and braking, creates a distinct impression of "big car" stability. And the new Straight Eight motor, with "something left" even at high road speeds, raises Pontiac performance to new peaks of brilliance.

Driving Becomes Easier

The ease with which the Pontiac is handled is very noticeable. In the addition of new mechanical features, the arrangement of the controls and other details, the comfort of the driver has been given first consideration.

All instruments are grouped on the left in a half oval panel visible through the sector of the 17-inch three-spoke wheel.

The taper roller bearing steering gear, with a ratio of 14 to one, permits effortless control even on rough roads. The car can be turned around in a 40-foot street. Shifting also is extremely easy due to the action of the Syncromesh transmission with quiet helical constant-mesh second speed.

Brake and clutch pedals are mounted on the frame. They are not effected by engine movement. Both pedals are covered by rubber pads. The accelerator is of the full treadle type, rubber-covered.

Twelve-inch mechanical brakes, of the two-shoe servo type, which multiplies the pressure applied by the toe of the driver, provide sure control at all speeds. The parking brake with concealed pawl rod is mounted on the floor board and is connected to the regular service brakes on all four wheels.

Riding comfort is guarded, first of all, by the ample weight and wheelbase of the new Pontiac, and by the big 5.50 inch tires. Springs are of chrome vanadium steel, 1¾ inches wide. The front springs are 36 inches long and the rear are 54 inches. Spring action is softened and restricted by Lovejoy hydraulic shock absorbers with rubber-bushed attaching links which require no lubrication. The rear axle also is insulated by rubber from the springs.

An Efficient Motor

The motor, of "L" head design, provides an almost "square" cylinder ratio with bore of 3-3/16 inches and stroke of 3½ inches, which gives a displacement of 223.4 cubic inches.

The new Pontiac Straight Eight is exceptionally smooth, there being no noticeable torque reaction within the driving range. The big motor block is cast integral with the crankcase and ribbed for both vertical and lateral rigidity. The crankcase extends 2.5 inches below the centreline of the crankshaft. The motor is supported at four points on massive cushions of steel-reinforced rubber compound, with a fifth cushion under the transmission housing.

LOITERER HELD FOLLOWING FIRE

LOSS UNESTIMATED.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—(AP)—An unestimated amount of damage was done to the administration building of Catholic university before a fire which broke into the early morning quietude of the campus today was extinguished by fire-fighting apparatus responding to a multiple-alarm.

Justin Harrison, about 48 years old, was held on investigation charges after his arrest when a night watchman, turning in the second fire alarm, found him loitering in the hall way of a nearby dormitory. Pending questioning of the man and further investigation of the third-story hallway and partitions where the blaze broke out, no explanation of the fire's origin was advanced.

Many volumes of books were damaged by fire and water, but valuable laboratory equipment and other furnishings were removed to vaults in the basement.

LILACS IN BUD.

Not to be outdone by cities in Western Ontario, that are reporting the presence of robins, wild geese and ducks and other nature signs usually associated with Spring, a sprig of lilac bush in full bud was plucked in Peterborough to-day. The lilac bush in the garden of Dr. J. D. Deyell, 265 Park street, and the sprig with its healthy-looking buds was brought to The Examiner office.

LEGION LADIES RE-ELECT HEAD

Mrs. F. Millard is Re-elected as President of Legion Auxiliary.

ANNUAL MEETING.

Mrs. F. Millard was re-elected president of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion, at the annual meeting held on Friday evening at the Legion Hall.

Mrs. Joseph Mills is honorary president, and honorary vice-presidents are Mrs. R. Bugg and Mrs. W. Hughes. Other officers for the year will be Mrs. E. Houghton, first vice-president; Mrs. P. J. Walton, second vice-president; Mrs. A. Kent, secretary ;Mrs. A. E. Paterson, treasurer: Mrs. J. W. Devall, Social convenor; Mrs. J. Mills, Relief convenor; Mrs. Stillwell, Sewing convenor; Mrs. Gyanne, Telephone convenor. Mrs. R. Bugg and Mrs. Budd will represent the society at the Local Council of Women meeting, and auditors will be Mrs. A. Mackness and Mrs. W. H. Peryer.

The business meeting was preceded by the annual banquet at which the special guest of the evening, A. Everitt, president of the Legion, spoke briefly on the work of the local branch and the pleasant relations existing between it and the Ladies' Auxiliary.

The work of the Peterborough Relief Association formed the subject of a brief address by Mrs. W. R. Morris.

Mrs. J. Mills referred to the large amount of relief work and visiting done by the Auxiliary for needy veterans and their families. During the past year, 945 articles of clothing and food were given out and 1,022 calls were made.

The taost to The King was proposed by Mrs. Millard. A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the ladies who prepared and served dinner.

Later, the business session was held, with election of officers and also the draw for sheets and pillow cases, which were won by Mrs. Robinson of Crawford Grove, with ticket No. 56.

TWO PROMISES BEFORE IRISH

INDEPENDENTS DIVIDED.

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Jan. 7.—(C P Cable)—The first week of the Free State election campaign closed today and left voters with two promises—one concerning their pockets, the other their pride. Former President William T. Cosgrave, leader of the National Party, promised an end of economic warfare with Britain, an Anglo-Irish trade treaty and an attempt to secure revision of the nation's debt to the United Kingdom.

President Eamon de Valera, champion of Republicanism, promised adherence to the principle of not paying land annuities to Britain, abolition of the oath of allegiance to the king and an attempt to promote national self-sufficiency.

Both promised reductions in taxation.

Mr. Cosgrave's greatest hope for increasing the strength of his party was believed to lie in the farmer vote. His programme promised restoration of the British market which agriculture lost through high tariff walls built by the United Kingdom after Mr. de Valera definitely refused to continue remittance of the land annuities.

Stakes Hopes on Youths

Mr. de Valera was expected to gain strength among the nation's youth through his patriotic appeal.

Mr. Cosgrave looked for support from the National Farmers League and the Ratepayers League, while the Labor party was pledged to the cause of Mr. de Valera. Independents were thought to be divided in their allegiance.

The Cosgrave party and its allies were expected to field about 20 more candidates than the Republicans and the Independents hoped to have 25 candidates.

Nominations were expected to be complete tomorrow night, leaving just over two weeks for a whirlwind campaign.

RELIEF OF MAKEKING, MAY 1900 CELEBRATED IN PETERBOROUGH

Bruce Patterson Finds Old Examiner Which Tells About Celebration.

CANON CRACKERS USED.

A faded copy of The Examiner dated May 19, 1900, featuring a report of Peterborough's celebration of the relief of Mafeking was found by Bruce Patterson this week in removing his barber shop equipment to the Capitol Theatre building after nineteen years' occupancy of his old stand a few doors north of The Examiner office. Mr. Patterson has been in business here twenty-six years.

Advertisers in that issue who are still using the medium of The Examiner include Routley's and William Lech and Sons on George street, The Toronto Savings and Loan Company of which Hon. George A. Cox was then president and W. G. Morrow, manager; Jordan Brothers, Neill's shoe store, Hall's drygoods store, and the advertising columns also included the old proprietary medicines, Scott's Emulsion and Carter's Little Liver Pills.

James Kendry was Mayor of Peterborough in 1900, and the Aldermen were Adam Dawson, T. H. G. Denne, G. M. Roger, John Corkery, J. B. Oke, John Sawers, C. B. Robertson, Robert Weir and Robt. Clinkscale.

S. R. Armstrong was city clerk; Felix Brownscombe, city treasurer; E. B. Edwards, solicitor; Dr. Bingham, medical health officer; T. A. S. Hay, city engineer, and George I. Roszel, chief of police.

"Cannon crackers" were used by the crowd uptown during the evening of May 18, and a reporter of that day included in his story the comment that "the power of these large crackers was demonstrated by one that was put on the iron letter box in front of Salisbury's store. The force of the explosion broke the iron box. Knowing this, people will in future, if they have any sense, be more careful where they throw these bombs in a crowd."

Dr. T. W. H. Young Hurt

One of the cannon crackers exploded against Dr. T. W. H. Young's leg, "dropping him to the sidewalk as if he had been shot. He was taken into Edmison's drug store (now Knox's jewelry store), and, after the wound was dressed and the shock to the limb had subsided, he was able to walk home. Scarred faces, damaged fingers and burned clothing were quite common. R. B. McKee had the sleeve torn out of his coat and his arm injured by another bomb. James Russell, janitor of George Street school, had his leg badly lacerated by one of the dynamite crackers and had to be conveyed to his home and have the wound attended to. W. Savigny also had his leg injured. Chief Roszel said he would prosecute parties using these large dynamite crackers on the streets again."

And while the excitement was at its height Rev. Mr. Geil., conducting evangelistic services at St. Paul's Church, addressed a large congregation on the "Resurrection."

The Salvation Army was conducting self-denial week. Campbellford's assessor reported a population of 2,640, John Kincaid was erecting a large addtiion to D. Breeze's "Glenwood" at Stoney Lake. Fred Davidson was selling Gendron bicycles, but the automobile wasn't mentioned. In fact those were the "pre-gas" days of what the highbrows call the "fin de siecle," the close of the century.

Police Court

Suspended sentence was granted to-day by Magistrate Langley to a youth who pleaded guilty to the theft of the use of a car. He admitted taking the car at midnight December 24 without the consent of its owner, F. J. Driscoll. Later in driving north on Armour Road he drove the car into collision with a car driven by J. T. Braund. The court was informed that he had pledged himself to pay fully for the repairs to both vehicles made necessary by the crash.

A Harvey farmer was fined $20 and costs when he pleaded guilty to shooting a deer out of season, and a local man was fined the like amount when he admitted the purchase of some of the meat.

Evangelists To Visit Bethany Tabernacle

A series of revival meetings beginning on Sunday are to be held at Bethany Tabernacle by the Rev. and Mrs. Gordon Wishart of Toronto.

They were here a year ago and their efforts were very highly appreciated by the large audiences which packed the Tabernacle almost every night. Since then they have ministered in their unique and powerful way from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Mrs. Wishart was known as the "girl evangelist of Ohio" a few years ago, preaching the gospel with great power at the age of fifteen and through the past years being used of God in a marked way.

She has a unique and pointed method of delivering her message so that it carries a pungent conviction into the hearts of her hearers.

Rev. Mr. Wishart was engaged until recent years in the Canadian west as a m issionary to the new Canadians of those provinces, having a fruitful ministry among them. Later, in the evangelistic field, his success has been even more pronounced, having the seal of God's approval in bringing many to a personal knowledge of Christ. Their message is safe, sane and scriptural.

An Atlantic Crossing

On a bright and sunny day
In the middle of July
I'm going to cross the Atlantic ocean,
And enjoy the trip, says I.

I boarded the train not far distant,
All excited and ready to go;
Nor did I need a friend or assistant
For I was used to travelling alone.

The train she blew her whistle,
The conductor shouted 'All aboard,'
I'm now on my way, to myself I said,
And into the distance we roared.

For seven long hours I sat there,
Looking from my window near by,
As we swiftly sped on past
The trees, hills and rivers,
Which were all in great contrast.

Our stopping place was Montreal,
And here I disembarked;
My way I made to the nearest hotel
By now it was getting dark.

After a night's deep slumber,
I awoke with a feeling of mirth,
And boarded a bus with a number,
Which above were the words:

"Jump in lads, all of you,
Who wish to the docks to go:
The conductor he will see you through,
And which is the cheapest you know."

So to the dockside I climbed,
The large liner I did see;
Sure enough I was there on time,
To board it and cross the sea.

The crew hoisted all her anchors,
Her cargo all on board;
Slowly she drifted outward,
And I was soon viewing the Canadian shore.

Down the St. Lawrence we sailed,
The sky overhead so blue,
That I stood on deck in wonder, amazement
At the new and scenic view.

For seven full days we rolled and tossed,
Enjoying the salt sea air,
Out on the wild rough ocean,
Gave you the feeling that you were lost.

But at last our journey ended,
To the shores of England came,
I could have sailed forever on that ship
With no longing for land again.

PLOT TO SLAY JAP GENERAL CAUSE OF WAR

ernment in Manchuria.

The Jaapnese headquarters asserted a Korean, Kigyo Son, member of the alleged terrorist oragnization commissioned to carry out the plot, was captured at Tientsin and was being transported to Changchun just before the Shanhaikwan battle started Sunday.

Chinese tried to rescue him at Changli, south-west of Shanhaikwan, the Japanese said, and failing in this later threw nine bombs in the Japanese police headquarters at Shanhaikwan on the Manchurian border. This provoked the Shanhaikwan battle. (Chinese military leaders accused the Japanese of placing the bombs themselves).

The Japanese said money raised in Canada, the United States and other countries where Chinese were residents was forwarded to Marshal Chang and used to finance the scheme| Russians and Japanese Communists were reported among the conspirators.

War Imminent

SHANGHAI, China, Jan. 7 (A.P.)—Spread of an unofficial war between Japan and China in northern China was regarded in foreign circles to-day as an imminent possibility.

It was estimated that least 6,000 Japanese troops now were concentrated at Shanhaikwan, China's northern railway terminal which the Japanese captured early this week and Chinese were reported rushing reinforcements to Chinwangtao, the port of the Yellow Sea, 10 miles westward.

Telegrams were pouring in on the Nationalist Government at Nanking from various war lords throughout China asking for orders to march against the Japanese. Among these were Tcai Ting-Kai who commanded the 19th route army which defended Shanghai against the Japanese last February.

Chinese leaders here declared they were determined to defend the Province of Jehol against the anticipated Japanese drive to bring that territory within the Machukuo boundary. They said a further Japanese advance either nothwestward in that direction from Shanhaikwan or further southward toward Tientsin and Peiping would be resisted.

Continue in Tie

GLASGOW, Jan. 7. (C. P. Cable) Rangers and Motherwell, leaders of the Scottish League first division, continued their tie to-day as both chalked up victories. Rangers won from Airdrienonians 5-2 while Motherwell beat Clyde 3-2.

Celtic, in second place, kept pace with the leaders with a 1-0 win over Morton but Hearts, in third position, dropped back a point when they played a scoreless tie with St. Mirren. Only five points separate the quartet of leaders.

Hibernians increased their lead in the second division, winning easily from East Fife 5-0 while Queen of the South dropped their game to Dunfermline 1-4. The "Hibs" now are seven points ahead of the Queens.

Dundee United and Leith Athletic staged two upsets in the division. Dundee defeated Raith Rovers 2-1 while Leith took Syenhousemuir, third place team, by the same count.

Transient Without Cent In His Pocket Finds Watch And Turns It Over To Police

Diogenes went about with a lamp in the ancient days of Greece seeking an honest man. One made himself known in Peterborough on Thursday, and as a result H. Lloyd Bath, 365 Leslie avenue, is again wearing his $50 gold wrist watch.

This honest man was a transient. A rough-clad, grimy, hungry youth who had just climbed off a freight car with not a cent in his pocket.

He visited the police station in the hope of securing a meal and was sent to the Red Cross Hostel where he was given a meal ticket. With the ticket clutched in his hand he was hurrying hungrily along George Street on his way to the restaurant, when he found a gold wrist watch on the street.

Without a moment's delay he hastened to the police station and handed the watch over to the sergeant so that it could be returned to its owner. The Examiner announced in its lost column last evening that the watch had been lost by Mr. Bath and it was returned to him.

The transient gave his name as Harold White and his home, Norwood. He looked as though he had been "riding the rods" for many months.

RICKARD'S FIRST FIGHT

WHAT WITH the recent ballyhoo regarding the heavyweight situation that is being thrown around the major boxing camps of late days and the fourth anniversary of the death of the late Tex Rickard (Prince of Ballyhoo Promoters) being observed this week, Dan Parker, New York Mirror columnist comes forward with rather an interesting item.

IT'S A FUNNY thing that Rickard, probably the greatest figure boxing has produced, knew less about the fistic end of the business than any man connected with it. His connection with boxing was purely accidental and the chances are he would have achieved fame in some other branch of promoting had he not stumbled in'o the fight game.

NELSON LOOKING FOR BOUT

THE STORY OF his start revolves around the fact that Battling Nelson, one of the claimants for the world's lightweight championship was in Salt Lake City, Utah, to box an exhibition bout with a Mormon clergyman by name of Willard Bean in the summer of 1906.

READING IN A newspaper paper that one Jack Gifford who had just breezed in'o Goldfield was looking for a bout on Labour Day, the Battler wired the Sports Editor of the Goldfield Sun that he would accept Clifford's challenge if the terms were acceptable. Within an hour, Nelson received a reply, asking his terms, to which he wire back: "Guarantee of $5,000, side bet of $5,000, fight to a finish."

RICKARD TAKES UP CNE.

UP TO THIS point the sports editor of the Sun had conducted negotiations but when the Battler started talking in thousands, he must have naturally scared the scrivener off. At any rate, the next wire Nelson received was signed by one Tex Rickard.

IT READ: "YOUR proposition of $5,000 guarantee and $3,000 side bet accepted, but would prefer a meeting between yourself and Gans. We will pay $15,000 for same. (Signed) Tex Rickard. The promoter was then unknown, except to his mining camp gambling associates. He ran a gambling hall in wide-open Goldfield. Naturally Nelson mistrusted a fellow who spoke so recklessly of thousands, so, half in jest and half in earnest, wired back: "Raise bid to $30,000 and match accepted."

EITHER A WONDER OR NUT

HE DIDN'T HAVE long to wait for an answer. It read: "Your proposition is accepted. Money posted, J. S. Cook and Co. Bank; will forward to Salt Lake or any place you name. (Signed) Tex Rickard. That stumped Bat. He was still suspicious, though, and wired $500 expense money be sent to him at once. Rickard wired it so fast that Bat decided the guy on the other end of the wire was either a wonder or a nut who wanted to get rid of his money.

A FEW DAYS later, Gans and Nelson, accompanied by their retinues, arrived in Reno to sign articles and in due course the fight was run off with Gans, as you all know, gaining the decision in the 42nd round of the match on a foul blow

HIGHEST GATE IN BOXING HISTORY

BUT, RICKARD, the young promoter, wasn't much concerned over the outcome. He was in the counting house counting out his money. The fight had attracted 7,285 paying guests and about 500 deadheads. The gate receipts totalled $69,715, the largest in boxing history up to then, leaving the promoter a profit of $20,000. The box office statement for the fight is an interesting fragment of pulistica. Here it is, showing that the $25 ringside seats was not a product of the prosperous era after the war: 927 were sold at $25; 130 at $20; 400 at $15; 4,062 at $5.

IT WAS FOUR years before Tex promoted a fight again and even though this venture was more successful than the first, it was over five years more before he decided to take up fight promotion as a career.

William P. Kyne, California sportsman, says that state will have legalized horse racing and betting next year.

SUPERIOR DEFENSIVE WORK ENABLES JUNIORS TO HOLD ATTACKS OF THE ONTARIOS

VISITORS OUTSPEED AND OUTSHOOT PETES; PLAY HANDICAPPED BY CONDITION OF ICE

Making their 1933 O.H.A. debut at the Brock last night, the junior Petes splashed through a 2-1 win over Port Hope. A large crowd saw a close, fairly exciting fixture run off on a heavy and spongy sheet of ice—play being very even but ragged most of the way. It was anybody's game in the dying moments with the speedy Ontarios driving forward on a five-man attack, but the local lads held the fort.

The count read 2-0 at the finish of the first frame, and the gallant visitors got one of them back in the middle session to wind up the scoring for the evening. They outspeeded and outshot the Petes in every period, but superior defensive work on the part of the locals, and the fine all-around play of Bill Calladine turned the balance.

Calladine, centre ice star, scored both the homesters' goals early in the first period, getting an assist from Fenton on the second one. He showed up fine throughout, putting the punch in the forward line. Jay and McGregor worked hard, and the second line looked real good the first half the game, with Williamson turning in some smart checking. Cadd was the bulwark of the Petes' defence, breaking up rush after rush, while taking time out to pull off several classy sorties up the ice himself. Fenton and Weir checked hard, the former's stiff bodychecks shaking up every Port Hoper that came near him. Sanderson in goal was hard to beat, having a great evening with the exception of the one shot that beat him. He had twice as many as his opponent to stop, and saved spectacularly on numerous occasions.

Counts for Porters

Jack Phillips countered for Port Hope to start the second chapter, and that was all they could get, despite fast skating, fair combination and plenty of shots dead on. The Phillips' brothers and Record on defense was the pick of the team, their goalie also making quite a few smart saves. The team as a whole showed up well, being fast and game.

Alderman Bob Cotton officially opened the contest with the face-off, and play started fast on the slushy ice. Four minutes from the go, Calladine tore up alone, skimmed around right defense in on the goalie and scored. A minute later he took a pass from Fenton at the defense-line and picked a corner for the second marker. Play was fast and even then, with plenty of over-skating the puck and combination that didn't click so well on the poor ice. Several times Sanderson went down flat to make a save, the others piling up around the goal. Both Petes' front walls worked hard, but with Cadd off for tripping, the Ontarios had an edge toward the last. They were whistling in shot after shot, and taking some hard bodying at the bell.

Second Opens Fast

The second stanza opened at a good clip again, but the visitors tallied early, Jack Phillips' hard shot from defence getting away from Sanderson. Calladine almost scored twice in a row, the second time fooling the goalie when he was through, but missing the net. They dashed up and down furiously, with the crowd yelling and play getting rougher. Hill and Williamson looked good for a space. The gong sounded but it was a false alarm (followed by a fight in the penalty box, but no players were in it) and play resumed. McCulloch left the game hurt, and there was plenty of piling up and ragged checking around centre at the close.

A rolling puck made for more sloppy playing in the third, and the heavy going had the boys slowing up at times for a rest. The visitors soon opened up a driving offensive using first four men up and toward the end five. The Petes had lots of work just holding them as they bored in repeatedly and blazed away at the home citadel. Sandy was right there, and the defence men shook them up unmercifully with body-checks, the local forwards also backchecking their heads off. Sanderson made one lucky save with his skate while lying at full length on the ice. Rowland took a trip off for tripping, and later Williamson dittoed for the same thing.

Play Opens Up

The boys opened up for a while and made plenty of fun, the Petes doing a bit of rushing, but mostly playing carefully. They shot the rubber down the ice and their stiff checking finally had the Hopers shooting from outside the defense. Play was slower, but still hard and pretty well balanced at the final gong.

The teams:

Port Hope—Goal, Cancilla; defence, Record and McTavish; centre, Pillsworth; wings, Jim Phillips and Jack Phillips; alternates, Rowland, Bell, Douglas, Paeden and Mercer.

Petes—Goal, Sanderson; deefnce, Cadd and Fenton; centre, Calladine; wings, McGregor and Jay; alternates, Williamson, Hill, Weir, McCulloch and Galvin.

Inside Sportin' Dope—By A. Wise Cracker

Mister Sporting Editor:

Another tough week for local sports. Old man cold weather did blow in over the week-end, but didn't linger long, and these mild spells, while easy on the coal pile, is mean on hockey schedules and such. The local lads got away to a flying start in their training, and then all at once had to quit, and now they'll hafta start all over again. If it keeps this way all through the season they'll be a merry old time getting the group races decided. Some thinks the winters is changing or something, but anyway the towns without artificial ice is having a tough time trying to develop hockey players.

Ain't been much doing anywhere along the sport front in the past week, old-timer. The pro race ain't developing anything sensational, and the only thing worthy of note is that old-time stars like Howie Morenz and the Cook Bros. is asserting themselves near the top of the scoring ladder. New players flash across the sky and then fade out again, but them old boys keep in there season after season, potting the old boot-heel regularly and looking like they can go on forever. When you get players like them on the pay-roll, neighbor, you got something.

Out in Australia, Mac, our English and Australian chums hooked up in the 2nd match of the Test series, and this time the Aussies come through with a win. Mister Don Bradman, the Babe Ruth of cricket, showed that a good man may be down and yet not out. Mister Bradman, who was out of the 1st Test match, walked out to the wicket in the 1st inning of the 2nd game, took a swing at the 1st ball sent down to him, and found his wicket gone, a nice brake for the Australian Frank Merriwell. However, Mister Bradman ain't the kind to curl up and die over a thing like that. Back he comes in the 2nd inning, scores himself a mess of 103 runs and defied the English bowlers to get him out. Mister Bradburn's century and the tricky trundling of a trio of young Aussie bowlers spelled disaster for the English eleven. Outside of the Bradman score the batting was mighty tame for Test cricket.

Well, old-timer, outside of them few rambling remarks they ain't nothing to bother the customers with this week, so I might as well ball out right now.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

SCHAAF SCORES TECHNICAL KNOCKOUT OVER STAN POREDA

Floors Jerseyite Four Times Before Referee Halts Hostilities in 6th.

STAGING COMEBACK.

The Burley Boston heavyweight, apparently sliding clear out of the picture a few months ago, advanced another big step in his comeback campaign when he stopped Stanley Poreda, youthful Jersey City puncher, last night in the sixth round of a 10-round bout in Madison Square Garden.

Once more the invincible slugger of 1931 and early 1932, Schaff floored Poreda four times before referee Arthur Donovan halted hostilities after 28 seconds of the sixth.

The pulsating feature fight brought Schaaf face to face with the man who started him on his slump early last summer. After Poreda had given him a beating in 10 rounds, the Boston star was trounced by Max Baer and then beaten by Unknown Winston, darked skinned Bostonian. Only the Baer defeat now remains unavenged, for Schaaf recently knocked out Winston in six rounds.

After the first round last night Poreda never had a chance with the husky New Englander. Early in the second round, Schaaf caught the Jerseyman flush on the chin with a smashing right and Poreda went down. Instead of taking a count of nine, the groggy Poreda came up at four, took a fearful lacing and went down once more just as the bell came to his rescue.

Down in Fourth

Stanley got through the third with a minimum of difficulty, but two solid rights to the head sent him down for nine in the fourth round. Through the fifth round Schaaf belabored his opponent lustily and then floored him with a savage right cross early in the sixth round. That was the final punch for the referee stepped in and halted the uneven struggle.

Sixty-Six Horses In Aintree Event

NEW YORK, Jan. 6 (C.P.)—The forthcoming Grand National, famous steeplechase, which will be run at Aintree on March 24, will have a stronger international aspect than in many years says the New York Times to-day in a special cable from London.

Entries closed with 66 nominations, eight more than last year. Apart from the cream of the English stables there will be challengers from the United States, Ireland, France and Germany.

Curiously, there are two entries with the same name, Remus, one owned by A. Berry and the other owned by A. Toncelles of Germany.

New Golf Star

Shattering the course record by seven strokes, Johnny Revolta, 21-year-old pro of Menominee, Mich., won first money in the Miami open golf tournament. Revolta's record succeeds that established by Tommy Armour a year ago of 285 strokes.

Joe Judge Signs Brooklyn Contract

NEW YORK, Jan. 7 (A.P.)—The Sun says Joe Judge veteran first baseman of the Washington Senators, has come to terms with the Brooklyn Dodgers of the National League and will sign a contract for $11,000 as soon as he receives his formal release from Clark Griffith.

Confirmation was lacking at the Dodger offices but neither was there an outright denial.

CALLADINE AND WEBB SCORE FOR HOMESTERS

Epps And Don Wood Give Best Performance For Visitors—Norwood Team Holds Margin On the Play.

AMENDED RULES FAIL TO GAIN APPROVAL.

NORWOOD, Jan. 7—The revamped champions of the East Peterborough League started the new campaign last night by trouncing Pat Hayden's Westclox entry 3-0 here before a fairly large crowd, and on ice that was surprisingly good after the long stretch of mild weather.

One goal in the first, and two in the third were the focal points of interest, with a couple of minor scraps thrown in as added diversions.

Pat Calladine got the first and last goals and Roddy Webb sandwiched in the third. Bill and Fred Cripps of Peterborough also stepped out in Alex Kempt's regular line, and this trio added obvious strength both offensively and on the defense for the local team.

Calladine breezed through his performance, favoring a lack of condition, but getting away fast when he had to, and taking advantage of the odd break that came his way. He got the first counter after eighteen minutes of play in the opening session. Stan Stevenson went down the right wing and passed the puck from the corner out in front of the Big Ben goal where Calladine was camped, and on a quick flip sizzled the puck into the net before Doxsee could get a pad near it.

Scores Second Goal.

Webb scored the second after a dash down the right side, recovering the rubber when checked and going in close. And while that action was under way at one end, Bill Cripps and Red Creighton had gone to the mat, or rather the ice, up near the Norwood goal.

Stevenson and Calladine with Fred Cripps all had a hand in the last goal, with Calladine making sure of the shot from Stevenson's pass.

The teams were as follows:

Westclox—Goal, Doxsee; defense, Don Wood and Harold White; center, H. Epps; left wing, Creighton; right wing, Denison; alternates, Millkan, Bob Allen, Ken Carroll and Driscoll.

Referee—Ray Rose.

Epps looked the best of the Westclox, and only the smart work of Beavis in the home net kept the long center man off the score sheet. Don Wood missed a promising chance near the Norwood goal, but on the whole Norwood had the bigger margin of play.

Rugged Defence.

Bill Cripps and Webb with Scriver as alternate comprising a rugged defense that left few openings for the Peterborough marksmen. At the other end Wood, Whatley and White handed out just as many bodychecks, but did not cover up the attacks as closely.

A first impression of the amended rules as applied in this league left an opinion that the East Peterborough officials might be well advised to revert to last season's regulations.

To-Night's Line-Ups

The line-up for to-night's game at the Gardens are as follows:

Maple Leafs		Detroit
Chabot	goal	Roach
Day	r. defence	Evans
Levinsky	l. defence	Young
Thomas	centre	Voss
Bailey	right	Wiseman

Maple Leaf subs — King Clancy, Red Horner, Andy Blair, Ken Doraty, Bob Gracie, Joe Primeau, Stewart Adams and Harvey Jackson.

Detroit subs—Walter Buswell, Johnny Gallagher, Ebbie Goodfellow, Frank Carson, Happy Emms, Johnny Sorrell, George Hay and Larry Aurie.

VARSITY TO MEET HARVARD TO-NIGHT

Latter Team Looked on as Season's Best American College Sextet.

NEW YORK, Jan. 7 (C.P.)—As fine a record as Canadian University hockey teams have ever run up over United States colleges will receive another barrage of pucks tonight when Harvard, looked on as the season's best American college sextette collides with University of Toronto.

The Varsity boys are confident, after whipping two other American college clubs during the week, that they can defeat the John Harvards and maintain the unbroken string of victories the Dominion's collegians have scored over those of the united States this winter.

Two Games Listed On Saturday's Bill

TORONTO, January 7 (C.P.). — Like Ernie Schaaf and quite a few other sporting headliners, Montreal Maroons are on the comeback trail, and like the Boston Sailorman and a bare handful of others, they seem to be making progress. If the burly Redmen can get past Chicago Black Hawks on Sunday night, they will have—well, at least pulled up even with the romancing ringman.

Fresh after beating Rangers and tieing Toronto Leafs, efforts that shattered a disastrous five-game losing streak, Maroons must whip a few past Charlie Gardiner to keep pace with the group-leading Leafs, who stand three full games in front of their division in the National Hockey League.

Chicago As Site Up To Legislation

NEW YORK, Jan. 7 (A.P.) — Chicago's chances of playing host to the Max Schmelling-Max Baer heavyweight bout depend upon legislation to provide for 15-round matches, says Promoter Jack Dempsey.

Dempsey conferred at some length yesterday with George P. Getz, Chicago sportsman and head of the Athletic Committee for the World's Fair. Getz is anxious to stage the match in Chicago, Dempsey said, and assured him that the Illinois legislature would amend the law limiting non-championship bouts to ten rounds. Schmelling declines to fight less than 15 rounds.

ROTARY DEFEATS NORWOOD 5 TO 1

Burley, Hickey and Padgett Score Goals in City League Fixture.

NORWOOD, Jan. 7.—In the first game of the Peterborough junior city league Norwood was defeated last night by the Peterborough Rotary youngsters by the score of 5-1.

The line-ups were:

Referee—Cliff McConnell.

Use Metric System First Time To-night

NEW YORK, Jan. 7 (A.P.)—The first test of how U. S. track fans will take to the use of the metric system comes to-night as the seventh annual indoor meet of the Columbus Council, Knights of Columbus, opens the 1933 season of competition on the board floors.

All but one or two events are listed to be run at metric distances in the first meet to make the shift from yards, feet and inches in a big way. The feature of the meet, the Columbus 500, remains a 500-yard race, but the distance event is at 5,000 cetres; the sprints at 60, 80 and 100 metres and the relays at 1,600 metres.

One Olympic champion, Leo Sexton, who holds the world's record for the shot put as well, heads the big entry list with another former George town athlete, Dave Adelam, as his chief rival.

Bobcaygeon Juniors Lose Game To Falls

FENELON FALLS, Jan. 7.—Fenelon Falls juniors defeated Bobcaygeon by 4 to 1 in an O.H.A. game here last night, the contest producing interesting play despite the evident superiority of the locals.

Bobcaygeon opened the scoring through Gordon, but Littlejohn evened the score, and Henderson, with two goals, and Deyman with one completed the scoring. Pentland passed for Henderson's first goal. The teams:

Fenelon Falls—Goal, Smith; defense, Robertson and Littleton; centre, Pentland; wings, Warren and Henderson; alternates, Graham, Townley, Daymen and Jewell.

Referee—Martin, Lindsay.

OLYMPICS GAIN FOURTH PLACE

International League Standings Shift as Detroit Beats Bulldogs 3-2.

REFEREE HIT BY ROCK.

TORONTO, Jan. 7 (C.P.) — A switch in places had taken place today following Detroit Olympics' 3-2 victory over their "neighborly" enemies, Windsor Bulldogs in an International Hockey League battle at Windsor last night. Olympics moved into fourth place as a result of the win, while Windsor dropped back into fifth position.

Watched by a crowd of 3,000 antagonistic fans, the Olympics scored a goal in each session to mark up their second win of the season on Windsor ice. Johnny Newman, Leo Goldsworthy and Deacon White were the marksmen for the winners.

Windsor's counters were notched in the second and third periods on thrusts by Stan Brown and Al Huggins.

The officiating of referee Jerry Laflamme aroused the ire of the crowd to such an extent that they littered the ice with refuse, the climax coming in the third period when someone potted him with a stone opening a wound in his head. The game was delayed while he received medical attention.

The homesters played strenuous hockey as attested by the 10 penalties meted out to them. Harvey Rockburn, bouncing defenceman, a former Detroit player, led the parade to the penalty bench with a major and two minors.

Teuton Team Makes Fast Time In Grind

DORTMUND, Germany, January 7 (C.P. Cable). — Six hours after the start of the six-day bicycle race here, the German team of Schoen and Buschenhagen had negotiated 150 miles and collected 102 sprint points to lead the long grind to nowhere. Goebel of Germany and Pijnenburg, Holland, had 74 points, and the same mileage, while in the third position was the French team of Brocardo and Guimbretiere with 51 points.

Canada's entry, the gigantic "Torchy" Peden of Victoria, B.C., with his partner Bernhard Stubecke, German sprint champion, was in seventh position and had collected only four points. They were one lap behind the leaders.

RECOMMENDS ROCK PILE

WIN RESTORES CONFIDENCE TO TORONTO CLUB

DUKES COP 3-1 WIN.

(By The Canadian Press)

Their string of five successive losses snapped, National Sea Fleas of Toronto to-day faced the remaining campaign in the Ontario Hockey Association, Senior "A" series, determined to show their true worth as Allan Cup holders.

The 4-3 victory scored by the Sea Fleas over Niagara Falls Cataracts at Toronto last night, has restored that confidence, which was strained to the breaking point by a successive run of player losses and injuries, and the patched-up remnants of the Canadian champions can be counted as strictly in the battle from now on.

Chisholm Leads Team

Led by Cliff Chisholm, a player who stepped from junior ranks to a regular place on an Allan Cup team, the Sea Fleas rapped in three goals in the latter part of the last period to earn their victory.

The Cataracts had scored one in the second and two in the third, and were leading 3-1 when the Sea Fleas began to find the twine behind Essaltine, Falls' goalie, the winning goal being notched by Gordie Kerr in the last minute.

Winning Marksmen

George Hastie, Gordie Peterkin nd Maxie Kaminsky were the marksmen for the Cataracts, who gave a speedy display, while Chisholm with two and Harvey McClelland and Kerr one each, notched the winning team's markers.

The "Indian Sign" which Toronto Marlboros seem to hold over Port Colborne Sailors was still in evidence when the two teams met at Port Colborne last night. Battling through 80 minutes of torrid hockey, the Dukes scored two goals in the second overtime session to earn a 3-1 victory.

It was the third straight time Marlboros have finished in front of the Ports, but as usual it was a nip-and-tuck battle throughout. A goal by Bob Davidson gave the winners a lead which they held until shortly after the third period opened. Chick Hudson then tied it up on a lone effort.

Johnny McNeill notched the winning goal shortly after the second overtime period started and Teddy Olliver made it safe when he scored on a pass from Whitey Farrant a minute or so later.

The players forgot their past feuds and attended strictly to hockey. As a result the Port fans were treated to one of the fastest displays since the season opened.

Hockey Schedule

JUNIORS PUT UP GOOD GAME

THIS DOGGONE California weather we're having lately can put a crimp in hockey circles but it can't keep us off the ice forever. Though that ice up at the Brock last night was a mile and a quarter from being good, yet they ran off a junior O.H.A. tussle and do you know it wasn't a bag game at all? Quite a crowd sashayed up there, in fact a huge crowd under the circs, and they must have liked the exhibition put up by the kids, or else they were yelling their heads off just to hear themselves. We've seen lots worse hockey affairs dished up on lots better ice.

* * * * * *

THE PETES got off to the right sort of start by taking the game from Port Hope, 2 to 1, though the boys broke down afterward and admitted it wasn't anything like a pie-social. They had to fight from the start to the finish, with the smart little Port Hope crew showing more speed afoot and showering more shots at the goalie than the locals could do. At that, the Petes weren't in as good shape, having had just one workout in close to three weeks and this being their first game of the year.

* * * * * *

PLENTY OF HOCKEY BRAINS

MANAGER FRANK Buckland's squad is husky, full of fight, and with a lot of hockey brains sprinkled throughout it. And there's quite a little bit of natural hockey ability there too. They have a good goalie in Sanderson, a hard-checking defence, and two hard-working front lines. While some of the boys didn't look so hot last night, give 'em another game or two on decent ice and you'll see a classy junior O.H.A. outfit—one that should reach the top of the heap around this district. In our estimation, Calladine, Cadd and Sanderson were outstanding last night.

* * * * * *

WHEN BILL Calladine is going right, he's a severe pain in the neck to the whole opposing team. And he passes the puck and backchecks well, also A good hockey player to have on a team. Cliff Cadd should make a real defenceman this season. He has size and knows how to use it, is a fine skater, a good stickhandler and uses his head all the time. Sanderson doesn't let many soft ones by him during a season in goal. He works hard, takes chances on getting hurt, in fact does everything to keep that rubber away from his net.

* * * * * *

JUNIORS SHOW PLENTY OF PROMISE

LOCAL FANS always support a battling team, and junior outfits here have generally been just that. This one shows plenty of promise, and we hope they continue to get good support. Those Port Hopers looked good, too, and may be the team to beat out yet. Incidentally, Bobbie Mercer, who coaches the Ontarios, played goal for the Petes 'way back twenty-five or so years ago. He later played for Brantford and other pro teams, and is staying in Port Hope for the winter. His son is sub-goalie for the junior team.

* * * * * *

DOWN IN NORWOOD the boys lifted the lid with a merry old battle, the two E.P.L. squads, Westclox and Combines, staging a hard fight on fair ice. Alex Kempt's champs took the heavy side of a 3-0 count, but the smart white-sweatered Alarm lads trotted out a team that looked surprisingly good. They actually had more of the play but lacked the condition and breaks of the other side. The game was enlivened by laying on the gad with right good will and few flashes of S. A. (short for socks' appeal). Pat Calladine used the old bean to star despite the fact that he was all tired out shortly after the start. The Cripps' boys, Webb, Whatley, Epps, Creighton and both goalies deserve a cheer, as well, for their work.

* * * * * *

LAKEFIELD GAME ENDS IN 2-ALL TIE

THE OTHER E.P.L. fixture was in Lakefield, Payne's Carters going up there and holding their own in a 2-all no overtime game. The Carters have a smart outfit lined up, but may lose several of their players when the intermediate O.H.A. schedule opens. Lakefield iced a fast, youthful team that will be tough enough to take after a couple more games. Oh, we were forgetting to explain that the Carters were granted an eleventh-hour entry yesterday, with Maple Leafs dropping out. The Payne outfit, run by Herb Payne, used to be known as the Canucks of the Southend League last year. They wanted in, and Charlie Curtis stepped aside with his Leafs, saying they would re-enter anytime the league was short-handed again.

* * * * * *

ROTARY OF THE City League opened down in Norwood last night before the other game with a neat victory to start them off on the road back toward another championship. The Norwood team wasn't going its best, but will give 'em all a headache before long, or we're screwy, which wouldn't be the first time for us. The Rangers go down to Norwood Monday in the second City loop tilt, and right after their 7.30 game, there'll be another East Peterborough League one between the Carters and the Combines. Wednesday Norwood plays in Lakefield.

* * * * * *

INTERMEDIATES PLAY ORONO ON MONDAY

OUR INTERMEDIATE O.H.A. squad hits the trail to Orono Monday if there is ice and they entertain the Ramblers back here next Friday unless the schedule is revamped—as it certainly should be, what with Cobourg dropping out and games being postponed, and so on down the line. The Bowmanville juniors are scheduled to play the youthful Petes here on Tuesday, giving the local lads a break having two tough first fixtures dashed off on the home stamping grounds. They are listed to play in Port Hope the 17th.

* * * * * *

CONDENSED HOCKEY PILLS

THAT TWO-BIT charge at the Brock last night seemed popular, why not stick to it? . . . The second junior line could be called the "kid line" without a doubt . . . . We hear George Merrett may lose an eye over an injury suffered while playing for the Carters in Lakefield last night . . . . Church loop games Monday are: At six, Knox midgets vs. Trinity; at seven, St. Paul juvenile vs. St. John's; at eight, Knox junior vs. All Saints; at nine, George Street intermediates vs. All Saints.

Donnybrook Ends Toronto Cage Tilt

TORONTO, Jan. 7 (C.P.)—Basketball teams of University of Toronto and Toronto Lizzies to-day nursed bruises, aftermath of their free-for-all fight that wound up their Big Five scheduled game won in the last minute 30-28 by Varsity.

Played as the second of a double-header the game was a brilliant affair until the final gong when, just after Phil Gold dropped in the winning basket, Ian Allison and Yank Sheanahan, former Windsor rival basketeers, swung furious fists that started the small riot.

Police quelled the general melee at the end of the second game in which some of the spectators joined, and hustled the teams to their dressing rooms. From their adjoining rooms the players used the same shower and there Shanahan and Allison again renewed the battle until overworked policemen separated them.

WARNE TEAM PRACTISE.

Warne Bros. Bnatams will have their final practice on Monday night at the Sacred Heart Rink from six to seven. The team will be picked for Friday's game, and sweaters given out. Players should bring a dime to pay for the rink. The following players are asked to attend, with others under sixteen who wish a tryout: W. Wright, Brady, Scully, Pulkinghorn, Watson, Heal, Courtnyes, Shaughnessy, Connolly, White, Creighton, Leith, Thornton, and McDougall.

ALBANY CLUB FRANCHISE ON SALE MARKET

Status of Jersey City and Albany Clubs is Big Question for Conclave

ON THURSDAY NEXT.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 7 (A.P.) — Whether Jersey City and Albany will remain in the International Baseball League this year or have their franchises transferred to some other cities will confront the league officials when the meet in New York Thursday.

Charles H. Knapp of Baltimore, President of the International League, believes the status of the two clubs and the probable limiting of the players' salaries will have an important effect on the survival of the league.

The Jersey City team finished a poor financial season last year, while the franchise of the Albany team, held on an option by Clarence H. Rowland, has been returned to the Chicago club of the National League.

Sam Colavucio, who owned a majority interest of the Jersey City outfit, and William Veeck, president of the Chicago team, have informed Knapp they will attend the New York meeting and present the positions of their respective organizations.

Veeck has announced the Albany franchise is for sale at a "bargain" but if neither interests can be disposed of and the present owners do not care to continue, the franchises will revert to the league for disposal.

Late last fall the Toronto club was in financial difficulties, but Knapp said the owners reorganized and will be represented in the league this summer.

ELECTRICS TIE WESTCLOX 2-2

Four Close Games Played in City Ladies' Basketball League Last Night.

"Y" SENIORS WIN 10-6.

Before a large crowd of enthusiastic fans the city ladies' basketball league opened its schedule last night by staging four sensational games at the Y.W.C.A. with C.G.E. Senior and Westclox Seniors playing first. G. Mortimer of Westclox caged first basket in the first quarter and at half time the score was 2-0 for Westclox. C.G.E. girls worked the ball through nicely and in the third quarter H. Peryer scored a basket for a full time score of 2-2.

One minute rest and the girls played three more minutes of headlong speed and desperate rushes but without a change.

The line-up:

C.G.E.—Forwards, M. Hodson, H. Peryer, L. Coursey; centre, M. Amyott; defense, B. Cappizoli, M. Burnley, M. Hallihan.

Westclox—Forwards, B. Thirnbeck, T. Robinson and G. Mortimer; center, M. Mortimer, G. Hardill; defense, D. Webb, H. Joyce.

A Fine Contest

St. Paul's started well with T. Paterson scoring first basket in the second game. This lead was short lived when O. Elcombe scored for Seniors to even the count. Helen Cole scored another for Seniors in second quarter. Half time, Seniors 4, St. Paul's 3. O. Elcombe scored for Seniors in the third. C. Legon and J. Howson caged two for St. Paul's to even score. J. Allan put Seniors in lead again by scoring. E. Armstrong made the victory certain for "Y" Senior by scoring in last quarter. Final score, Seniors 10, St. Paul's 6.

The line-ups:

"Y" Seniors—Forwards, I. Harvey, E. Armstrong; centre, H. Cole; defense, I. Allin, H. Jackson, O. Elcombe, S. Levine.

St. Paul's—Forwards, T. Paterson, S. Jackson, R. Millard; centre, J. Howson; defense, E. Morrow, C. Legon.

Westclox Jrs. Meet C.G.E. Jrs.

D. Routley scored in first quarter for Westclox. From a foul off D. Seabrook, M. Terrace scored for Westclox. D. Routley scored again for Westclox in second quarter.

B. Blade scored two baskets in a row for Westclox shortly after the whistle blew to start the second period. Full time, Westclox 9, C. G. E. 0.

The line-ups:

Westclox — Forwards, B. Blade; D. Routley, M. Terrace; centre, M. Blade; defense, A. Crary, G. Brand, P. Davis, L. Chartren.

C.G.E.—Forwards, D. Seabrook, N. Pearson, L. Waldie, E. Thomas; centre, W. Walwork; defense, D. Gibson, H. Bosley, L. Giardino.

"Y" Intermediates Win

"Y" Intermediates played Blue Petes for the last game with no score in first half. Pat McClellan scored in latter half for Blue Petes. Dot Patterson evened the score for Intermediates from a face-off A. Thompson, Verna Huffman scored for Blue Petes to put them in the lead at the end of third quarter.

In the last quarter Intermediates broke away and scored two baskets. D. Patterson sinking the first and B. Simson the second. Full time "Y" Intermediates 6, Blue Petes 3.

The line-up:

"Y" Intermediate—Forwards, Sybil Ecobichon, D. Patterson, B. Simpson, A. Johnson; centre, L. Magee, E. Lynch; defense, J. Dawson, J. Maconomy, A. Thompson.

Blue Petes—Forwards, P. McClellan, H. Bradley, B. Hopwood; center, M. Brooks; defense, V. Huffman, R. Allen, Alice Davies.

If Murray Street repeats, there will be no play-off, but if another team wins the second half, there will be a final series on Feb. 11 and 18 total points to count for the junior championship now held by Mark Street.

Cricket Results

BENDIGO, Victoria, Australia, Jan. 7. (C. P. Cable)—In a cricket match against a Victorian County team here to-day the visiting English test team held a "bowling practice."

The Victorian team was finally dismissed for 115 runs, including Rattten's 8, but not until after the English bowling had proved most disappointing. Lacking guile, venom and length the English Trundlers were only exhibiting mediocre skill and it was not until Harold Larwood was brought into the bowl as 12th man that the wickets began to fall.

D. R. Jardine, the English Captain, obtained permission of the rival captain to play 12 men in order to get practice for the coming crucial third test match.

Jardine and Sutcliffe opened the English batting. The score totalled 30 for one wicket when play was closed for the day.

Canucks Make Poor Showing At Ski Meet

ST. MORITZ, Switzerland, Jan. 7. (C. P. Cable).—Harry Pangman and George Jost, Canadian skiers, were unable to get better than fourth and ninth places yesterday in a dangerous two-and-one-half mile down hill ski race of the International University ski meet.

A long drop of 600 metres covered with fresh snow made the second part of the course very treacherous and Prince Frederick of Prussia, the fourth youngest son of the ex-Crown Prince of Germany broke his leg above the knee when his ski caught in soft snow and he catapulted forward.

GRAFTON'S CLEAR WINTER GOODS

Overstocks Drastically Cut For Quick Turnover.

In order to reduce their unusually large stock of men's and boys' clothing, Grafton & Co., Ltd., are offering at this time their entire stock of winter merchandise at greatly reduced prices. It was not previously anticipated, but the lack of selling together with the unbusiness like weather has brought it about.

Reductions range from 15 to 33 1-3% off former prices. Men, young men, boys and kiddies share alike in the ridiculously low figures asked for late styled good quality needs, the majority of which is manufactured right in their own factory, consequently assuring the lowest maker to wearer prices possible. This colossal clearance will continue for a number of days.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

FARMER BROWN'S BOY DOES SOME THINKING

"This has certainly got to be looked into," muttered Farmer Brown's Boy as he watched Mr. Goshawk disappear in the Green Forest. "This makes twice this morning that that fellow has tried for a chicken or a pigeon. I've never seen such boldness. I can't keep my hens and pigeons shut up all the time just because of him. He needs to be taught a lesson. He needs to learn to respect the rights of others."

Farmer Brown's Boy saw to it that the hens were shut in and likewise the pigeons, that they might be safe. Then he went to the house where it was warm. He wanted to do some thinking and he wanted to be comfortable while he was doing it. With the hens and the pigeons shut up he had nothing to worry about so far as they were concerned, and he could put all his thoughts on the problem of what to do about Mr. Goshawk.

"I suppose I ought to kill him," thought Farmer Brown's Boy. "To do that would be, I suppose, the greatest kindness I could do for my little friends in feathers and fur. They must be in constant terror while that fellow is around. Yet, somehow I don't like the idea of killing Mr. Goshaw. If some one else would kill him I wouldn't feel badly at all, but I don't like to have to do it myself. I think I'll find out all I can about him first and then decide what to do."

So Farmer Brown's Boy got out a book about birds and looked up Mrs. Goshawk

So Farmer Brown's Boy got out a book about birds and looked up Mr. Goshawk. As he read he frowned. In fact he scowled.

"He's a bad neighbor to have about any way you look at it," said he. "Some hawks take a chicken now and then when temptation is too strong, but they pay for it by the destruction of rats and mice. This fellow seems to live almost wholly on birds, with an occasional rabbit or squirrel. And the birds he is most fond of are the one we most want in the Green Forest—the Grouse. Furthermore, this fellow kills more than he can eat. He kills just for the pleasure of killing. He is a regular butcher. If he ever finds those turkeys over in the Green Forest he'll kill every one. When it comes to a choice of killing Mr. Goshawk or having Big Tom Gobbler and all his family killed, not to mention Mrs. Grouse and Bob White, there is just one thing to do and that is to shoot Mr. Goshaw. The question is how will I go about it?"

Farmer Brown's Boy sat in a brown study, which you know means thinking very hard. At last his face cleared.

"I have it," said he. "I've got one old hen almost too old to keep any longer; I'll fasten her out in the barnyard and then I'll hide in the barn with the door open enough for me to watch. When he tries to catch her I'll shoot him. If she should be killed it won't matter much because she is so old. That's a simple plan and it ought to work. I won't try it until tomorrow morning. He will be more likely to come then than again today. I'll keep the hens and pigeons shut up until after I have tried my little plan and so not lose any more of them.

Meanwhile Mr. Goshaw over in the Green Forest was provoked with himself that he hadn't seized a chicken in spite of Farmer Brown's Boy.

"I will next time," he said fiercely, "I will next time. I'm not afraid of him. I'll take one of those chickens from right under his very nose."

Mr. Goshaw wasn't idly boasting. He meant just what he said. He had done such things before. He had no fear.

What Today Means to YOU

by MARY BLAKE

"CAPRICORN"

If January 7th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7 a.m. to 8 a.m., from 2.30 p.m. to 3.30 p.m. and from 6.20 p.m. to 7.50 p.m. The danger hours are from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. and from 9 p.m. to 9.45 p.m.

Emotional outbursts will seem to be the order of the day: envy, anger, hate, etc., will be motivating forces on the [illegible] in the seas of matrimony and love will be turbulent. In the business world things in all probability will be very dull. A good day to finish up matters that have been dragging for some time.

The child born on this January 7th, will quite probably have a very happy life. Things will come easily to him; he will not have to work terribly hard for what he wants. Susceptible to flattery. From its early years, the little one will be attracted to and will attract those of the opposite sex.

If January 7th is the date of your birth, you have an extremely strong will power. Yours is a strong character. You dominate all those with whom you come in contact; you number among your friends only those whom you can subject to your will. Rightly directed, this power of yours will take you far. However, you are all too human and cause a great deal of trouble for yourself as well as for others. You have no fear and face your problems with a determination to bring them to a successful finish and a firm conviction that nothing can occur to prevent this. You have great energy and are an untiring worker. You have the ability to get more work out of your employees than have most employers.

Born on January 7th, you are a person who can be trusted greatly. You have a strong sense of loyalty, and you would go to any length to help a friend. When it comes to affairs of the heart, you are a bit "stand-offish." You hesitate to give in to any one, and marriage you are afraid would involve certain compromises which you are not sure you would want to make. If you marry, it will no doubt be late in life at an age when you have begun to mellow a bit and to become a little more understanding. You will make a good husband or wife, as the case may be.

"CAPRICORN"

If January 8th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are, from 11.30 a.m. to 12.50 p.m., from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m. and from 10 p.m. to 11.15 p.m. The danger periods are from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. and from 3.15 p.m. to 4 p.m.

A general feeling of contentment should pervade the atmosphere on this January 8th. The outdoors and country side will call and much satisfaction will come and exhilarating exercise taken in the open air. Social gatherings and functions should "go off" smoothly.

The child born on this January 8th will have a decided aptitude for the study of languages; encourage him along this line. He will mix well with all kinds of people and should prove himself a great student of human nature. He will be modest, but at the same time forceful. He will be very kind, but he will never allow himself to be taken advantage of. Look for him to "get there"

If January 8th is your birthday, you are a person of great vitality and vigor. You are always active, and your mere presence in a group is sufficient to stir all out of their lethargy. You are the type of person who gets things done. You are not an extremely popular person because of this ability of yours to "stir things up." In business you are all that is signified by the term "go-getter." You know how to organize, and probably you could do work along promotional lines. You know people; you know how to analyze them and where to put them to work so as to get the best out of them. Personnel work would prove lucrative and interesting to you. Do not worry if you seem to have a particular bent; you will manage somehow to find your right place and when you do you will have clear sailing.

Born on January 8th, your home is orderly and clean. You take great pride in it. It is not a place, however, for peaceful meditation or quiet study. There is great activity apparent in it and you are the source of that activity. You enjoy going out socially and you love to entertain your friends in your home. There is, therefore, always something going on. When there are no friends about you see to it that your family is marshalled about you, definitely under your supervision.

Doge was he name of the chief magistrate in the former republic of Venice and Genca.

Potatoes Sell From 65-75 Cents Per Bag

Potatoes were 65 to 75 cents a bag this morning, on the farmers' market. Eggs were priced from 20 to 27 cents a dozen, a much lower quotation than has prevailed for some weeks back. Butter was 20 to 23 cents a pound, chickens 13 to 15 cents a pound, ducks 15 cents a pound.

Pork was 5 and 8 cents a pound, and beef 8 cents. Honey was 15 cents a pound and sections 20 and 25 cents a piece.

PRESIDENT HOOVER ATTENDS FUNERAL

nation which bows before Thee," the prayer said. It is a thankful nation as well.

"We thank Thee for the life of him whose death we now mourn. . .

"We thank Thee for the service he rendered the commonwealth, and, above all, do we bless Thee for the consecration with which he served his country in the highest office within the gift of the people. He kept the faith which the people placed in him."

As he rose to begin his prayer, the congregation, at the request of the clergyman, sat for a moment in silence, with bowed heads.

Softly, the choir sang, "O Love That Will Not Let Me Go."

A moment later President and Mrs. Hoover left the church. Rain pattered gently down as they passed through the waiting crowd and entered their automobile to drive to "The Beeches" to convey their message of personal sympathy to Mrs. Coolidge.

The funeral cortege moved slowly out of Northampton a few minutes after noon in the direction of Greenfield and the Vermont state line.

Policemen Were Bearers

Six policement of the Northampton Police Department were chosen for active pallbearers, while the honorary bearers were all old friends of the dead President. They were William F. Whiting of Holyoke, former Secretary of Commerce; Frank W. Sterns, Boston business man who was the former President's closest adviser; Clifford H. Lyman, Northampton book dealer; Judge Thomas J. Hammond of the Superior Court; Rueben B. Hills, manufacturer; Walter L. Stevens of Northampton, attorney; R. W. Hemenway, former law partner of Mr. Coolidge's; William M. Butler, former U. S. Senator; Homer C. Bliss, Mayor of Northampton; John H. Trumbull, former Governor of Connecticut and Charles E. Andrews, Treasurer of Amherst College.

HENRY H. DAVIS APPEAL JUDGE

NATIVE OF BELLEVILLE.

OTTAWA, Jan. 7 (C.P.)—Henry Hague Davis, K.C. of Toronto has been appointed a judge of the Court of Appeal in Ontario, in succession to the late Mr. Justice Grant who died recently. Mr. Davis is senior member of the legal firm of Kilmer, Irving and Davis, of Toronto. He is 47 years old, and a native of Brockville, Ont.

Created K.C. in 1928

TORONTO, Jan. 7 (C.P.)—Henry Hague Davis, K.C., appointed judge of the Court of Appeal in Ontario, was called to the bar in 1911 and created King's Counsel in 1928. He is a member of the board of trustees and council of Wycliffe College and a lay delegate to the Anglican Synod. He was a gold medallist in political science at University of Toronto.

Mr. Davis is a graduate of Toronto University and Osgoode Hall. He has had a distinguished legal career. He is a member of a prominent Brockville family which in former years conducted one of the leading dry goods stores of that city.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

STANDARD EXCHANGE

TORONTO, Jan. 7 (C.P.)—The Standard Mining Market wound up the week without any fireworks, the quietness of the trading being partly due to the closing of the New York Market for the funeral of former President Coolidge. Outside of the business in Eldorado, Siscoe and Barry Hollinger, sales were light, but the price range held firm and a few gains were registered.

Active buying of Eldorado put the price up three notches to 1.54, but it closed at 1.50, while Siscoe, given a new spurt on reports of rich discoveries on the property, closed at 1.41 for a net gain of 5 points.

High-priced gold shares were steady. Teck closed unchanged and Wright Hargreaves steady. Lake Shore was a few cents stronger at 33.60, Dome up about 20 to 14.20, McIntyre stronger at about 23.75.

There was action in the base metal shares with Noranda holding at 20.50, up 5, and Hudson Bay, Sherritt and Ventures unchanged.

TORONTO EXCHANGE

TORONTO, Jan. 7.—(CP)—Bell Telephone came in for active buying today on the Toronto Stock Exchange and the price stiffened to 95. There was also a good turnover in Massey Harris, Nickel and C.P.R. while quietness was fairly general over the rest of the board. The closing of the Wall Street market today put a damper on operations to some extent.

Interlisted shares moved within a narrow range, and closed practically unchanged. C. P. R. lost ¼ and Ford A added a similar fraction while Brazilian and Nickel were unchanged.

Oil shares maintained a firm tone and Imperial picked up a fraction to 9⅛ and British American was also stronger. Canadian Oil traded at 9⅞, off a fraction and the preferred issues lost two points to 96.

Attempt Is Made To Burn School

ALEXANDRIA, Ont., Jan. 7 (CP)—Pine knots and oil soaked rags, allegedly discovered in a schoolhouse fire near here yesterday have set Provincial Police on the alert for a fire-bug. Edward O'Brien, passing Public School No. 8, Kenyon Township, early to-day, noticed smoke pouring from the windows. Summoning aid he succeeded in saving the building before any great damage had been caused. The incendiary material was found scattered about the floor, according to the police report.

Premier Henry Mum On Mortgage Action

TORONTO, Jan. 7 (C.P.)—Representatives of the Ontario Mortgage Association conferred with Premier George S. Henry to-day on the Government's proposed amendment to the present Mortgage Moratorium Act.

Following the session, the Premier explained consideration had been given to the various changes which are now under advisement, but was unable to make known further details of what is proposed, and had nothing to say on the attitude of the Mortgage Association.

Robert Baker, London, President of the Association, refused to make any explanation of the views which had been expressed, but other members attending said a very satisfactory meeting had been held.

MEANEST THIEF.

GUELPH. — Guelph has produced an entry for the "meanest thief" title. While the Unemployed Association Christmas tree activities were in progress last night, some persons stole three parcels of presents intended for children of the jobless

A covered wagon typical of 1889 was used as a sound truck during the filming of the Zane Grey story, "The Mysterious Rider," starring Kent Taylor. Ordinarily a sound truck consists of an especially built automobile chassis equipped with elaborate shock absorbing equipment and balloon tires. Outwardly the covered wagon sound truck presents the true appearance of the vehicles used in the early days of the West and the shocks of the heavy wheels are absorbed inside the wagon. The vehicle appears in the picture as well as carrying the sound equipment.

Perc Westmore, one of the most prominent make-up and coiffure artists in Hollywood, has never owned a comb, pair of scissors or any other implement of his profession. He considers it back luck to own them and always insists upon them being furnished by the studio. Westmore, in designing a new coiffure for a star, always makes a charcoal sketch first in working out his ideas.

One of the many interesting instruments to be seen in sound equipment is a small meter upon which a needle travels about a mile a day upon a dial about the size of a dollar. The needle registers the volume of sound and, as sounds are recorded varying in intensity from low to loud, it is estimated the needle moves two inches a second.

Old-Timers Engage In Boxing Tourney

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Jan. 7 (C.P.)—Four of the "boys" of the Three Quarter of a Century Club which has as members only those more than 75 years old are going right ahead with some plain and fancy boxing they planned for to-night, regardless of protests.

Corporal Jubb, 91, gave away 11 years to his opponent, George Washington Brown, 80, in the main event. The two are bantamweights. A couple of comparative youngsters are semi-finalists, George Hesberger, 77, and M. H. Emory, 78.

The bouts will be four rounds each.

COAL PROBE CONTINUES

MONTREAL.— The investigation being conducted by the Dominion Department of Labor into the price of British anthracite coal in Canada is under way again in unobtrusive fashion. Sittings were resumed yesterday after a lengthy adjournment, it was disclosed today. The hearing is going on behind closed doors and the nature of the testimony heard by F. A. MacGregor, registrar under the Combines Investigation Act, was not made known.

Nurse's cloth, a rather coarse, striped cotton in the London market, is being used by a prominent miller for hat and scarf sets for cruising.

WOMEN'S INSTITUTE WEEKLY COLUMN

A goodly thing it is to meet
In Friendship's circle bright
Where nothing stains the pleasure sweet
Or dims the radiant light
No unkind word our lips shall pass
No envy sour the mind;
But each shall seek the common weal—
The good of all mankind

LIFFORD LINE

Few Women's Institute members have families so fortunate as to escape on or more cases of minor illness during the winter months. It is true that proper food is one of the greatest factors in maintaining health, and a well-fed person is much better able to resist the attack of disease germs than one who is undernourished. Nevertheless, fatigue, chill and exposure to extremes of weather may break down strong defences and illness may enter even the home where food is dispensed with intelligent care. When this happens, special attention must, of course, be given to the selection and preparation of the diet for the unfortunate member of the family.

If a physician is in attendance, he will give advice concerning the diet and his directions should be carried out with exactness. He is apt, however, to use such general terms as "fluid," "semi-solid" and "light" diet and it behooves the home nurse to acquaint herself with the meaning of these terms.

In a fluid diet the following foods may be included: (1) broths and clear soups; (2) cereal gruels; (3), beef juice and beef tea; (4) milk, plain or modified; (5) raw eggs in combination with milk, fruit juice or other liquids; (6) cream soups. It should be remembered in using this type of diet that clear soups and beef juice have little or no food value, but are of importance because they are agreeable to taste, refreshing when cold and comforting when hot. They also stimulate the flow of gastric juice and thus aid in digestion. Since liquids leave the stomach and enter the circulation quickly, fluid diet is administered in small amount at frequent intervals. Even on fluid diet, one need not be deprived entirely of variety, as the following suggested schedule shows:

7 a.m.—One cup hot milk, flavored with coffee or cocoa.
9 a.m.—One cup beef tea.
11 a.m.—Albumized lemonade, orangeade or grape juice.
1 p.m.—Cream soup.
3 p.m.—One cup gruel made with milk.
5 p.m.—Egg-nog.
7 p.m.—Albuminized fruit juice.
9 p.m.—Koumis.
11 p.m.—One cup malted milk.

A semi-fluid diet may include in addition to liquids, milk or cream toast, well-cooked cereals, soups of all kinds, eggs, custards, cornstarch, rice or tapioca puddings.

For light or convalescent diet cooked or uncooked fruit (excepting bananas), vegetable purees, baked potatoes, fish, chicken, rare beefsteak, or any food unlikely to disturb digestion.

Diversions of the sick room are limited and the tray is a real event to the patient; therefore too much care cannot be taken in its preparation. Punctuality of service is important since delay may result in loss of appetite for the patient. Noise and odor in preparation of food are to be avoided. The finest linen, the most attractive silver, the daintiest china available should be used in arranging the tray and a single flower or a bit of green adds to the attractiveness and thus to the ease of digestion of the food. Only small quantities of each kind of food should be served. It is much better to allow the patient to ask for a second serving than to allow the sight to too much food to destroy hisappetite. Foods to be served hot should be hot, and foods which should be served cold, should be cold when they reach the patient.

If a patient may sit up only a few hours, use this time for serving meals; in any case, serve the food in a form easy for the patient to handle.

MILLBROOK

"It pays to write out results from the year's activities," said a speaker at an inaugural gathering of the new year, including two or more church organizations, as well as the members of the local Institute branch; "put it down in black and white what you have actually done, and then compare what you have written with what you planned to accomplish at the very start of 1932, and see where you have attained, and where you have failed, and what mistakes might have been avoided. Then, as you plan for the new year, make an actual sketch of what your organization wants to accomplish, what ideals you should individually and collectively strive for, and once and awhile check up, and see how progress is developing."

"Quite rightly, we often use the opening days of the new year for retrospect, but do not make the mistake of living in the past, either rejoicing in its good things, or sitting down disconsolate under its failures; we always seem to have among us some who love to exalt the past at the expense of the present—as someone has pertinently said, they recall the words of the Psalmist, "We have heard with our ears, O Lord, our fathers have told us, what work Thou didst in their days, in the times of old."

"But as women of action in home, church and community, I ask of you is it not important to concern ourselves with the present, and the future, even more than with the past? Truly we need faith for this year which opens with so many problems to be solved, and so many difficulties affecting our homes, our organizations, and our country, as well as the world at large. But faith does more than look backward though that look is vital since it brings assurance that the Unfailing One who brought Israel through the Red Sea, and 'that great and terrible wilderness,' and us through the world war, will unquestionably bring us through these troubled times, too, and 'set our feet in a large place.' His blessing is as much a matter of the time that now is, as it was of the times that are gone, since God is 'the same yesterday, to-day and forever, and knows no variableness, neither shadow of turning."

Perhaps we are inclined to look at the past with rose-colored glasses—with a glamor that blots out the dark places, and thereby a false perspective is given. The miller cannot grind his corn with the water that has gone by, as the old saying goes, so we need, in the throes of the conflict that surrounds us to-day, present resources for present duties, and fears and discouragements must be vanquished by a living, present confidence in Him who is a very present help in time of troubles.

To us as true women, anxious and willing to bear our share in carrying on no matter what dangers and difficulties must be faced in 1933, the present looks big and bright with splendid opportunities because we are firmly grounded in the upward look that bids us go forward, 'enlarging the place of our tent, and stretching forth the curtains of our habitation.' The revelation we have had of divine grace and truth nerves our souls to further and sustained endeavor, gives us a strong confidence, and braces us with a courageous attitude toward all life's problems and perils.

As Browning says, "the best is yet to be," and the present is only a prelude of what is to come—to-day is the preparation for to-morrow—to-day's joys but a foretaste of to-morrow's eternal bliss. Spurgeon once noticed when driving with a friend, a weather vane bearing in wrought iron, "God is Love." He remarked to his companion that it was an inappropriate motto, since God's love is not changeable like a weather-vane. His friend replied that Spurgeon had mininterpreted it, the real meaning being that "God is love whichever way the winds blow."

So as women with big responsibilities and big opportunities before us, let us become fully possessed of this assurance, and we will find, as a minister said on Sunday, "illumination for any darkness, consolation for any sorrow, and a stimulus to endeavor that nothing on earth can equal."

The speaker was warmly thanked for her inspiring talk, and during the pleasant social hour which followed, the conversation was tinged with a new determination to make the new year count as never before for high ideals and achievement in hearts, homes, churches and community.

Best Remedy for Cough Is Easily Mixed at Home

Saves $2. So Easy! No Cooking!

You'll never know how quickly a stubborn cough can be conquered, until you try this famous recipe. It is used in more homes than any other cough remedy, because it gives more prompt, positive relief. It's no trouble at all to mix and costs but a trifle.

Into a 16 oz. bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. Syrup is easily made with 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. This saves two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough medicine, and gives you a purer, better remedy. It never spoils, and tastes fine.

Instantly you feel its penetrating effect. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm, clears the air passages, and soothes and heals the inflamed membranes. This three-fold action explains why it brings such quick relief in severe coughs.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, used for generations for its healing effect on throat membranes. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

INDIAN JAILED, THEFTS STOPPED

Prisoner Admits Series of Robberies to Get Food for Wife, Children.

CHURH COLLECTION TAKEN

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 7 (C.P.) — Royal Canadian Mounted Police believe they have broken a crime wave which recently swept over the Muncey Indian Reserve. One man has been arrested, Stafford Smith, reserve Indian, being remanded to jail for sentence. One store, two house robberies and an automobile theft are the latest in a series of robberies. While attending the funeral of his son, Rev. F. D. Dodson, preacher on the reserve, was victimized by house breakers. Ransacking the home, the burglars took the church collections. The other house robbed was that of George Rumbal, school teacher, but little of value was taken.

Solution of the store robbery came to-day when Smith admitted entering Wood's general store at Kerwood village and stealing clothing, cigars and cigarettes.

The Indian claims he had been without work and without money. In desperation, he said, he broke inbroke into the store to get food and clothing for his wife and two small children.

IRISH LABORITE CAMPAIGN OPENS

Norton Raps Alleged Coalition of Cosgrave and British Policies.

PARTY POLICY SAME.

NAAS, County Kildare, Irish Free State, Jan 7 (C.P. Cable)—The Labor party opened its election campaign yesterday with a reaffirmation of policy and a rap at the alleged coalition of the policies of William T. Cosgrave with those of the British Government.

"Every vote for Cosgrave is a vote for J. H. Thomas and his economic black-and-tannery," declared William Norton, party leader in a speech here. (J. H. Thomas is the secretary for the dominions of the British government with whom President Eamon de Valera was unable to come to settlement last year on the land annuities question.)

The Labor party, said Mr. Norton, was coming before the electorate with the same economic and national policy as it held last year. "It is at least as advanced as that of de Valera's," he added.

The Labor party was proud, he continued, of its stand with respect to the removal of the oath of allegiance to the British sovereign which it held was a useless relic of feudalism. The Labor party, however, would welcome a settlement with England of the economic and financial disputes but it must be an honorable one. The national honor and the interests of the workers would be safest in the hands of the Labor party, he concluded.

CROWD ATTACKS JOBLESS CHIEF

BUILDING WRECKED.

HALIFAX, Jan. 7. — (C.P.) — Status of the National Unemployed Workers' Association in this city was rather uncertain to-day as the local organizer, Victor Benoit, nursed a black eye, cut lip and numerous bruises.

Benoit was rescued by police last night when a mob of about 200 raided the association headquarters on Water street, pounded Benoit and wrecked the building.

On a previous night a crowd had burst into a meeting being addressed by Benoit and warned him to get out of the city within 24 hours or "be put out." Last night they attempted to carry out their threat.

Benoit was addressing another meeting last night, believed to have been called to plan for a demonstration later in the month. The mob burst in the door, seized him by the hair and dragged him out the door.

After smashing benches and tables in the room, they forced Benoit up to Barrington street. The crowd dispersed when police arrived.

MOUNT PLEASANT INSTITUTE MEETS

January Meeting is Held at the Home of Mrs. H. Rutherford.

MOUNT PLEASANT, Jan. 5. — (Examiner Correspondence.)— The Mount Pleasant Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. H. Rutherford on Wednesday afternoon for the January meeting with a good attendance. The president was in the chair and Miss K. Sisson, assistant secretary, acted in the absence of the secretary, Miss Mabel Eggleston. Arising from the minutes of the previous meeting committees reported regarding making up of quilt tops which were donated. Mrs. W. H. Lowes, convenor, reported that there were already three quilts on hand and until they were called for there was no immediate need for making more.

Regarding play committee two more names were added, the Misses Ruth Tully and Kathleen Sisson.

Mrs. M. Handley and Mrs. I. Lowe reported inquiries made regarding the printing of programs for the coming year and it was decided unanimously to have the printed programs for the year. Each member is expected to send in subjects to be chosen by committee in charge on or before Jan. 11th.

Correspondence was read from the department regarding annual report. Membership lists and demonstration lecture courses, and a "lesson on nutrition" was passed around the members and a similar copy will be sent for the February meeting.

Mrs. W. H. Lowes and Mrs. Ira Lowe were in charge of the program, the former gave a reading, entitled "Golden Gates of Opportunity," the latter a paper, "The Cultural Use of Spare Moments."

Mrs. C. Morden gave a reading, "Two Kinds of People," after which a social time was enjoyed, while the hostess assisted, by Mrs. W. H. Lowes and Mrs. Ira Lowe served refreshments.

Those present included Mrs. Thos. Graham, Mrs. A. Tully, Mrs. Norman Fee, Miss K. Sisson, Miss Ruth Tully, Mrs. C. Morden, Mrs. H. Gardiner, Mrs. E. Windrem, Mrs. W. H. Lowes, Mrs. J. Mitchell, Mrs. Ira Lowe, Mrs. H. Rutherford and Miss S. Easton.

SHARPE DENIES HE IS TO BLAME

Machray's Partner Says He Knew Nothing of Firm's Use of Clients' Money.

INQUIRY CONTINUES.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 7 (C.P.)—Requesting permission to make a statement, F. J. Sharpe, partner in the defunct investment firm of Machray and Sharpe, disclaimed before a board of inquiry to-day any responsibility for the loss of $1,000,000 in University of Manitoba trusts.

He knew nothing of the use by the firm of clients' funds and declared he was not guilty of any negligence unless through his failure to inquire whether investments shown in the company's statements were genuine. If this constituted negligence, he said, then "I must admit it was negligent."

Overdrawals from his account were believed by Sharpe to be his share of earnings, he told the board. He was always assured by firm accountants that he was entitled to these funds, Sharpe said, and he was not aware until recently of the transfer of almost $100,000 from the investment to the legal branch of the firm.

The League of Nations now has a membership of 56 countries.

Libel!

MADISON, Wis., Jan. 7—(AP)—Edwin J. Helmicks contends than an epitaph on a tombstone libelled him, and he asks $15,000 damages. Helmicks formerly was cashier of the Deerfield bank. On Hallowe'en a tombstone bearing the inscription "died Oct. 17, 1932" appeared in front of the bank. Beside the stone was a placard on which was written "bank loaned to death." Both phrases are untrue and actionable, Helmicks alleged in a suit against an official of the bank.

raise the dead. The goatherds yell, the merchants howl curses in answer, and topple from their holes in the walls to protect the stalls threatened by the bucking stampede. Brown men and black men, dressed in veriest rags, mill about you and push you along. In the bazaar of Jerusalem you seen to walk in a huge cellar, like the crypt of some gigantic fortress or castle. Only here and there in the semi-darkness stands a ray of light, like a column of gold, reaching downward from an aperture in the roof. In fact, a part of the bazaar is located in what is known as the stables of Solomon, deep caverns these, and on which to-day rest the immense gardens which surround the mosque of Omar.

Blind Have Right of Way.

To demonstrate the possibility that still more living creatures can be packed and kept moving in these half-lit passages, khaki-clad mounted policemen canter through the dense crowds. They are Arabs in British uniforms. By that token they represent one of the two classes of people who seem to have undisputed right of way here. The others accorded this privilege are the blind. Everybody else is practically forced to fight his way through.

There are Bedouins from across the Jordan with tight-fitting, circular strands of horse-hair to hold their head-cloths in shape, and fez-bearing Turkish dandies in enormous and clownesque pantalooons, who carry a rose in the corner of their mouths, while winding and unwinding fancy amber rosaries around their pink manicured fingers, as they stroll about. Women are gowned totally in black. Some affect flowing white garments. But the latter, as well as the former, completely conceal the grace and rhythm of their bodies. And all are veiled here. In Egypt the Moslem women at least show provoking gazelle-eyes about half veils, and so they do in Syria, conveying the pleasant illusion that all women are beautiful. Not so in Jerusalem. The bazaar may be picturesque, it offers little charm.

At the rate you penetrate into these tenebrous depths, the noise and confusion increases. Lemonade vendors rattle their brass drinking cups to attract attention. Merchants yell praise of their wares and quarrel with their customers. The maxim of modern commerce that the customer is always right seems completely reversed. Judging by the angry gesticulation of the traders and their rowdy voices, it's the customer here who is always in the wrong. In the east if you want to make an impression, you must either shout, yell or scream, with some fantastic pirouetting and vaulting thrown into the bargain. The practice is so general that the natives, inured to noise from their earliest youth, pay not the slightest attention to the clatter going on about them. Only the man who can command some new, unheard and unrecognised yell, can expect to draw a crowd. Hence, every Arab merchant, it seems, is constantly practising to discover this master cry.

Arabs Deteriorate

Coffee houses are to be found at small intervals. All are crowded with mobs of disputing and gesticulating Arabs. It has been remarked that wherever the Turk has passed in the east, there intellectual life has crooped and withered away. The Arabs certainly have lost their love for mathematics, philosophy and letters after their contact with the Ottoman. No contribution of any significance to civilization has come from the Arab world for centuries. And as they crouch there in their malordorous coffee shops, sucking their gurgling nargilehs, it is difficult to credit men such as these with the building of graceful mosques and palaces that dot the cities of the near east, north Africa, reaching even into Spain. You wonder what disastrous circumstances caused Arab creative imagination to dry up till no vestige of it remains and only ruins attest the passing of a better day. Was it contact with the west? Has the white man's civilization also here been the rotting blight that destroys indigenous culture, as it has been the case in Africa?

Instead of their love for the fine arts and science, the Arabs have acquired a passion for checkers. This futile game is played from morn till night in the cafes. To a certain extent this pastime has its good points, for as the players must spend some time in meditation upon further moves on the board, they are at least silent for a little while. Not that a few voices more or less matter a great deal. Whatever the cacophony lacks in human noise is fully made up in the mechanical fracas of the gramophones, of which every refreshment station, coffee house and ice cream parlor boasts a stentorian sample. This American contribution to the bazaar's pandemonium is of the old nasal screeching and unimproved variety. It still has the immense yawning megaphones of early years. The The records are in Arabic and the music that they emit varies from quavering shouts, not unlike the Muezzin's call, to American hot-jazz; while other records give quite successful imitations of the pandemonium in the street outside.

86 P.C. STOLEN GOODS RECOVERED IN SUDBURY

SUDBURY, Ont., Jan. 7. (CP) Goods valued at $19,006 were stolen in Sudbury during 1932, Chief Constable David Louden states in his annual report to the Sudbury Police Commission. Of this $15,827 or 86 percent was recovered. During 1931 thefts totalled $8,383 and 52 percent was recovered

Prosecutions for offences of all nature showed a marked decline from 2,346 in 1931 to 1,555 in 1932 when 1,325 convictions were secured. Breeches of the Liquor Control Act are exactly one half what they were last year.

Former Girl Prodigy May Wed 4th Time

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Jan. 7 (A.P.)—Coincident with the revelation she had obtained a divorce from her third husband, Winifred Sackville Stoner Harrison, former child prodigy, announced to-day she was considering a fourth marriage. She declined to name the man.

Mrs. Harrison, who at the age of 12 had written several books and mastered several languages, said she was divorced in Las Vegas, Nevada, last July 26, from Earl Winston Harrison. They were married in Yuma, Ariz., in August, 1931, and separated last summer. Cruelty was the grounds on which the divorce was granted, she said.

Chairmen Named For Committees Of City Council

Brief But Sharp Cross-Fire Flared Up In Committee Of Whole Between Mayor And Ald. Tuggey At Inaugural Meeting.

ALDERMAN TUGGEY ASKS TO BE LEFT OFF STANDING COMMITTEES OF THE CITY COUNCIL

A flash of temper by Mayor Denne and Alderman Tuggey at the conclusion of the appointment of the standing committees for this year struck a discordant note this morning in the inaugural meeting of the city council.

The brief, sharp cross-fire flared up in committee of the whole, following the council's adjournment and Mayor Denne's felicitations and his expression of the hope that the new year would be productive of municipal progress and co-operation.

In the appointment of chairmen, Alderman Tuggey, who had been chairman of the Property Committee last year, was left out in the shuffle of honors, following Alderman McIntyre's insistence that the number of committees should be reduced. The amalgamations he suggested naturally eliminated several of the chairmanships, but the council finally agreed to combine the Legal and Reception Committee.

Last year Alderman Fitzpatrick was chairman of the Legal Committee and also of the Claims committee, which is practically an adjunct of the Legal. Alderman Holland was chairman of the Reception Committee, and Alderman Tuggey chairman of the Property.

In this morning's minor shake-up, Ald. Fitzpatrick was appointed chairman of the combined Legal, Reception and Legislation Committee, Ald. Holland was made chairman of the Property Committee, the other chairmen of last year were returned to their posts, and Ald. Tuggey was left in the free position which Nagle Phelan, in referring to himself and Mel Turner a year ago, characterized as "Ministers without portfolios".

Asked To Be Left Off

Then, as the new chairmen nominated members for their respective committees, Alderman Tuggey several times asked to be left off.

"I'm no goat for nobody," he declared, but, as all the members of the council constitute the Board of Works and Finance Committee, he was included in these two, and also named on the Legal and Reception Committee.

Ald. Tuggey's broad implication of collusion in regard to the chairmanships, was resented by Alderman Fitzpatrick, who said, "If I'm included in anything I'll have it out right here."

"I said it," was Ald. Tuggey's abrupt reply.

Alderman Holland declared that he had not discussed the committees with anyone. Ald. Sloan said he was a new member and had not

WM. BENNETT IS SERIOUSLY HURT

Car Skids at Bewdley Turn and Strikes Tree.

DRIVER WAS ARRESTED.

William Bennett, son of Lews Bennett, of Port Hope, lies in the Port Hope Hospital in a serious condition as a result of grievous injuries received yesterday afternoon when the car in which he was a passenger skidded in making the turn at Bewdley, crashed into a tree, and was completely wrecked.

Norman Deremo, aged 40, of Port Hope, driver of the car, was placed under arrest by Highway Patrol Officer A. E. Hornick, and to-day was charged with criminal negligence.

Police allege that after Bennett had been placed in an ambulance to be rushed to hospital in Port Hope, Deremo left the scene of the accident without reporting to police. He was found in bed at his home at 3.45 yesterday afternoon by Officer Hornick.

Deremo was driving a coupe, owned by Lewis Bennett, with William Bennett as passenger. Rounding the southern curve at Bewdley, as he travelled north, Deremo failed to make the curve. His car left the road, skidded 116 feet, and crashed into a tree.

Bennett's injuries include: Ribs broken away from his breast bone on his right side, and severe lacerations on his right side. Deremo was but slightly injured.

FOUR ARE SLAIN OVER TWO GIRLS

Battle Starts in House Next to Taxi Stand as Drivers Get in Dispute.

INQUEST ORDERED.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Jan 9 (A.P.)—Four taxi drivers were shot to death last night in a dispute which police quoted Elvira Munoz as started over two girls.

The shooting took the lives of Ramon Garcia, 24; Martin Ramirez, 26; Dan Villareal, 27, and Arturo Hernandez, 27.

The woman told police the shooting began in her home which adjoins the taxi stand. Officers said Villareal clutched a pistol which had been fired four times when they found him and near Ramirez' body was a pistol which had been discharged five times. Villareal died as he was being taken to a hospital. No weapons were found near the bodies of the other two.

All Ills Laid to England By De Valera's Men—200 Candidates in Field.

DUBLIN, Jan. 9 (C.P. Cable) — Over the wide front of the Irish Free State 200 candidates are already in the field battling for control of the next Dail Eireann.

Battered heads and bloodshed in Dublin and Sligo mark the opening round of the general election which culminates in polling Jan. 24. Thirty were injured in Dublin alone when Republican sympathizers battled with police and members of the "White Army" at a National Party meeting.

And it is not the ordinary struggle for party victory. The Republican platforms ring with the old battle-cry of no domination by England.

KIRKLAND LAKE JEALOUS LOVER SLAYS EX-GIRL

Foreigner Running Amok in Downtown Section Wounds Second Woman, 2 Men.

DISAPPEARS IN BUSH.

KIRKLAND LAKE, Ont., Jan. 9. (CP) — Running amuck in the down town section of the town at noon to-day, William Antonivich is alleged to have killed one woman and grievously injured three other persons.

A manhunt is now on for the alleged slayer who has taken to the nearby woods and is understood to be prepared to sell his liberty only at great cost.

The local chief of police believes that jealousy is the motive which caused the shooting of the four persons. Besides the woman who was fatally injured there are also two men and a second woman who are in hospital in serious conditions from bullet wounds.

HAVELOCK MEN FACE CHARGES

Informations Are Laid by Constable Following Fight After Dance.

FREE-FOR-ALL SCRAP.

As aftermath to the small riot that concluded a dance on Friday night in the Havelock Town Hall, Constable Chris Roberts to-day swore out information before Police Magistrate Langley against seven participants in the melee.

Five were charges of intoxication and two charged interference with a police officer in the discharge of his duties.

A free-for-all fight developed in front of the hall soon after the conclusion of the dance, according to information secured by The Examiner. The constable was called, but had great difficulty in curbing the fighters.

The trials of the seven young men charged as a result of the affray will be heard in Havelock at 2.30 on Thursday.

JAPS RENEWING DRIVE AGAINST CHINESE LINES

Feared Bombing of Jehol Towns May Be Preliminary to Major Offensive.

CHANG TO GO SOUTH.

Will Confer With Genefal at Head of Nanking Armies.

TOKIO, Japan, Jan. 9.—Japanese airplanes at dawn yesterday began a heavy aerial bombardment of the Chinese positions in various towns in Jehol province, despatches reaching here said.

The air squadrons flew low over the villages, dropping scores of bombs, the reports said.

Major Offensive Feared

PEIPING, Jan. 9.—Japanese military leaders attached to the headquarters unit at Tientsin, near here, declared their air corps would launch an aerial bombardment of Chinese concentrations along the border of Jehol province, directly north of Peiping.

The announcement caused speculation as to whether the Japanese plan presages immediate start of another major offensive with the rich lands of Jehol as the goal. It also brought nearer the possibility that their thrust southward into China proper would reach Peiping.

Young Marshal Chang Hsiao-Liang, in command in the Peiping-Tientsin area, meanwhile continued to rush reinforcements into the Jehol war zone. He was expected to proceed by airplane in a day or so, southward toward Hankow, in Central China, for a conference with Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek, head of Nanking's armies.

So far, General Chiang has insisted that any further encroachments by Japan into Chinese territory below the Great Wall be met with forcible resistance. It was expected this policy would be affirmed at the parley of these two leaders, in an unnamed spot midway between Peiping and Hankow.

Princess Is Rumored Ousted From France

PARIS, January 9 (C.P.). — The newspaper Quotidien published today an unconfirmed rumor that the Hungarian Princess Stephanie of Hohenlohe-Waldenburg-Schillingsfuert has been expelled from France for mixing in international affairs.

The newspaper said rumors from Biarritz declared she was an intimate friend of Lord Rothermere, the British publisher, and that she had been promised money if she succeeded in obtaining publication of anti-Polish articles in Lord Rothermere's newspaper.

The Quotidien recalled the recent rumor that the 36-year-old Princess had been arrested and expelled from France on a charge of espionage, which was officially denied.

CENSUS REVEALS SPINSTERS HAVE WIDE CHOICE IN CANADA

Bachelors by Million if 100,000 Extra Widows Are Outclassed.

NO SIGN OF HAREM VOGUE.

TORONTO, January 9. — Ontario has over twice as many widows as widowers. According to the 1931 census returns there are 118 640 widows as against only 52,225 widowers. To offset this divergence and despite the tradition that wodows find it easier to marry than women who have never entered the bonds, the same set of statistics show that there are only 859,594 unmarried women as compared with 962,790 bachelors. By some strange quip of fate there are 731,191 married men and only 703 232 married women, suggesting that the harem system is not in vogue in this province. Divorced men and women are almost equal, there being 1,071 men and 1,015 women in that postmarital state.

Canada's total number of single men is 3,179,445 and of spinsters she had 2,771,968. There are 388 641 widows and 148 954 widowers. Bachelors abound in rural districts and most spinsters are in the urban sections. Urban sections have it over the rural when it comes to married folk, the urban numbering 2,221,587 and the rural 1,749 831. Divorcees are almost twice as numerous in town as in country the urban population leading with 4,796 as against the country's 2,645.

Harry F. Gerguson, former pants presser who has got himself great gobs of publicity by posing as "Prince Michael Romanoff," learns with indignation that an imposter passed himself off as "Prince Michael" at a Broadway party. "Of course, I'm flattered a bit," said his inimitable nibs, "but I resent the imposition."

MERRICKVILLE YOUTHS FREE JAILED TRANSIENTS

MERRICKVILLE, Ont., Jan. 9.—(C.P.)—Tearing the lock off the town hall cell, a group of local young men over the week-end released two transients who had been locked up for causing a disturbance. One of the guards was out for a meal when the "jail delivery" occurred, the other was instructed to leave the town hall while the prisoners were released. An investigation into the matter is being held, and the town is considering the advisability of employing a regular constable. The two offenders were to have been released after one nights' incarceration.

Five Rioters Shot Two Guards Hurt In 6-Hour Battle

Besieged Warden And Handful Of Aides Resort To Arms As 300 Yelling Prisoners Tear Cell Fittings Loose And Hurl Them As Missiles.

ONLY ADVANCE TIP SAVES SERIOUS BREAK; WOUNDED LIKELY TO LIVE—BLOCK WRECKED

By David B. Rogers, C. P. Correspondent

DORCHESTER, N.B., Jan. 9.—(CP)—The inviolate code of the penitentiary to protect the tip-off man and shroud the cause with a shrug held sway at the maritime penitentiary here today as 471 convicts settled back into prison routine following the worst riot in maritime penal history.

There were 476 prisoners in the grey walled old institution when the rebellion broke loose Saturday afternoon, but five of them took no part in the resumption of today's routine because they are locked in hospital cells with bullets in body and limb.

One of these five is a burly Negro with arms like the connecting rods of a locomotive—arms which enabled him at the height of Saturday's outbreak to rip loose prison plumbing equipment and heave heavy basins, toilet bowls, lockers, cupboards and chairs as if they had been flimsy objects of bric-a-brac.

This wild man of African strain, who, with a smaller croney, also colored, was one of the last to be overcome by the guards, loomed today as the most conspicuous figure among the rebels.

Take 2 Fye Rioters

Played Leading Part.

Warden Goad would not say that this man had been a ringleader in the revolt, but there is no doubt as to the leading part which he played in that fierce three hour struggle in the main dome of the cell block, when 300 criminals ran riot with blood in their eyes and potential deaths in their depredations.

The pathetically small group of guards led by courageous and cool-headed Deputy Warden Cummings withstood the onslaught of the invaders and licked them to a standstill with the help of only 20 rifle and revolver shots.

When these guards were forced to resort to gun fire they did not shoot the riot-crazed negro to kill. They merely winged him to render him powerless and the same applied to the other four wounded men.

One outstanding question concerned the "tip-off" and how it happened that the prison staff were prepared. Warden Goad was pressed at great length on this point, but always he came back with the same answer, "We don't tell how such information reaches us. If we did we would destroy one of our most valuable allies, the confidence and protection of the informant."

The prisoners had been orderly

FREE LOVE NEST MADE OF HOME

Married Couples Shared Husbands and Wives Indiscriminately Widow Admits.

READY TO AID POLICE.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9 (C.P.)—Attorney James M. Burke to-day told police investigating the slaying of Edwin Schildhauer that the bandmaster's widow had decided to "reveal that their home became a free love nest where married couples shared husbands and wives indiscriminately."

Mrs. Frances Schildhauer would come from seclusion in the home of friends and tell Captain John Stege "the whole history of her life," Burke said.

"If she was unfaithful so was her husband, and so were all the others," he said. "Frances is anxious to co-operate with authorities and assist in bringing to justice the murderers of her husband."

Mrs. Schildhauer, comely young widow of the music instructor of Austin High School, made herself inaccessible to police after questioning last week. She has insisted she saw two men force her husband into an automobile on the night of Decemer 10. He was found shot to death later that night.

Capt. Stege said he would question any persons named by Mrs. Schildhauer in her story, but that he was most interested in events just preceding the slaying.

JERUSALEM, Dec. 23.—In the streets of the Old Quarter there is no trace of cleanliness. Blood of slaughtered animals gushes out of butcher shops down the steps and into the alleys. I saw a holy man who was rolling through filth and blood and dust, and of whom I was told by the amiable editor of a local Arab journal that he intended to proceed in that peculiar mode of locomotion till he arrived at Mecca, hundreds of miles away. The Book Worm

CHICAGO, Jan. 6. (AP) — The police said Jose Revarientos and Eantiago Alcayaga put power into their reading matter. Two policemen saw them walking down the street, one carrying a book.

"Ah," surmised the officers, "a couple of book worms."

Seizing the volume Carrigan opened it to find that in the centre was a carefully cut out space in which a pistol was concealed. And therein the police said, lay the explanation for three holdups.

ALL QUIET AT PRISON.

OTTAWA, Jan. 9.—(C.P.)—Hon. Hugh Guthrie, Minister of Justice, stated this morning that he expected to receive to-morrow, the report of Warden G. T. Goad, on the disturbance at Dorchester penitentiary, N.B. When the report has been carefully perused by the Minister decision will be made on the question as to whether or not an inquiry will be held into the outbreak among some of the prisoners.

All was quiet at the Dorchester institution this morning, Mr. Guthrie said.

SPLENDID WORK IS BEING DONE FOR CHILDREN

Rotarian R. W. Hopper Tells of 3,500 Crippled Youngsters Being Taken Care of in Ontario.

LOCAL EXAMPLES.

Rotarians See For Themselves What Has Been Accomplished for Peterborough Children.

That some 3,500 out of the known 8,000 crippled children in the Province of Ontario had been taken care of was one of the many interesting statements made to the Peterborough Rotary Club to-day by Rotarian R. W. Hopper of Toronto, secretary of the Ontario Society for Crippled Children, during an address on the work of that organization.

Crippled children's work was strongly to the fore at to-day's luncheon, for Rotarian Dr. A. Moir, chairman of the Crippled Children's Committee of the local club, had arranged to have present as guests of Rotary four of the local children who have been assisted by the Peterborough Rotarians. Three of these boys were shown to have been practically cured of club feet, while the fourth, who was injured in an accident, had been provided with an artificial leg.

In commenting on these cases, Dr. Moir expressed hearty appreciation of the assistance rendered by Rotarians Andrew Brown and R. J. Kidd. "I have never called upon them for any service that was not cheerfully performed," said the chairman.

Introduced by Dr. Moir, Rotarian Hopper referred to the organization of the Ontario Society for Crippled Children some ten years ago, and stressed the fact that it was not a Rotary movement alone but included many other service clubs who were doing a great work for crippled children. He remarked that many Kiwanis and Lions Clubs, and in the eastern part of the province too "One Hundred" Clubs were playing a splendid part. Rotarian Hopper also eulogized the Mystic Shriners and the Junior Red Cross Society for their splendid contribution towards the curing of crippled children.

During the past year reports received by the society showed that 1,744 crippled children had been taken care of and that 62 service clubs and some 146 such organizations had been active in the work.

INJURIES FATAL TO DAN O'BRIEN

Aged Man Knocked Down By Car on December 3 Passes Away.

INQUEST IS ORDERED.

Injuries received on December 3 when he was struck down while crossing Hunter street by a car driven by V. J. Eastwood, Sr., resulted last evening in the death of Daniel O'Brien, aged 71, in St. Joseph's Hospital. The aged man suffered a fracture of the right hip and lacerations were not deemed serious, they together with his weakened condition and shock caused his steady decline.

An inquest has been ordered by Coroner Dr. T. W. H. Young, but no date has been set for the hearing.

Mr. O'Brien was crossing Hunter street from Lynch's drug store to Lewis' barber shop, and stepped from behind a car into the path of Mr. Eastwood's car, police say.

He had been a resident of this city for many years, residing at 821 George street.

POLICE PURSUE ELOPING COUPLE OVER 3 STATES

Senator Hardy's Son and 16-Year Toronto Girl Caught at Detroit.

HAD ALREADY BEEN WED.

Forced to Drive to Indianna Before Getting Knot Tied in 4 a.m. Ceremony.

TORONTO, Jan. 9.—Fired with the matchless determination of love-stricken youth, two young Torontonians braved the disapproval of their parents, eluded the watch of police officers throughout Ontario and Michigan and after a speedy trip from Detroit, through Ohio and on to Indiana, finally found an official who joined them as man and wife at 4 o'clock Saturday morning in Crown Point, Indiana.

The groom is Fulford Hardy, aged 21, son of Senator A. C. Hardy of Brockville, Ontario.

Back home in Toronto after two days packed with adventure they say the will never forget, the youthful pair found reconciled parents and assurances for a happy future.

They are planning to pick up the broken thread of their honeymoon to-day when they set out for points east.

Not Strict Secret

Hardy and Miss Hill decided on action on Friday, but did not keep their intention to elope a strict secret. It became known that they were headed for Detroit in a coupe.

Then the excitement began. Anxious parents, hoping against hope that they could get in touch with their children to again press for a delay in the marriage, enlisted the help of Toronto police. Officers at Windsor and Detroit were notified to stop them at the border.

Detroit's detective bureau flashed out on the air descriptions of the car, and of the two young occupans. But too late.

The pair had crossed the border by then and were not worried so much by police interference as by the marriage laws of the State of Michigan. They discovered to their discomfiture that they had to wait five days for their license.

Nothing daunted, Hardy headed his car away from Detroit, across the State line to Ohio and on to Toledo.

There again, the five-day bogey awaited them.

Indiana Brings Victory

But there was the whole United States to be tried yet. On they went through the night to Indiana and Crown Point, where they found victory.

Just a brief ceremony and they were on their way back.

Happy in the success of their venture, they drove back to Detroit on Saturday and there found their first wedding reception awaiting them.

A bluecoated officer of the law held up a detaining hand,

"You are wanted by the Toronto police," he said.

At the detective bureau, they faced a barrage of questions.

At every step, it seemed, up popped a newspaperman and his camera. Eyes already heavily lidded by the lack of sleep, blinked in discomfort as the camera bulbs flashed.

But from here on, the young couple found the breaks coming their way. The Detroit detectives decided and declared firmly that they were "nice people." They facilitated their trip across the border and back in the bosom of the young girl's family.

Satisfied With Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. Hill, while admitting that they would naturally have preferred to have their daughter with them for a few more years, stated emphatically that both families were quite satisfied with the marriage, now that it had taken place.

SEEK TO ROUSE SLEEPING BEAUTY.

CHICAGO.—Science is going to make another effort this week to arouse Oak Park's 'sleeping beauty.'

Physicians announced they planned to give a blood transfusion to Miss Patricia McGuire, 27, who has been in a stupor at her home in the suburb since last February—the victim of sleeping sickness.

The blood is to be given by her stepfather, Peter Miley.

Hockey, the national sport of Canada, is said to have more than 25,000 active participants among school, college, professional and "kid" teams.

Sick Skin

Pimples are brought to a head without squeezing, Itching stopped, Soreness relieved, Chapped Skin and Cold Sores healed, and the skin left gloriously smooth and healthy. No matter whether you have obstinate Eczema, Pimples, Rashes, Acne, Boils, or Open Sores—one 50c box of PETERSON'S OINTMENT will convince you that here at last is the supreme healer.

And remember this: If you have Athlete's Foot—itching, burning feet, cracks between the toes—this powerful antiseptic kills the ringworm, and presto! the trouble is over. There is only one PETERSON'S OINTMENT. Get it at any drug store.

John Bull's Bullion Arrives

Just a few men stood around and watched the S.S. Lancastria unload exactly £1,468,120 of English gold and take it to vaults of Federal Reserve Bank of the United States. It was part of the British war debt payment to Uncle Sam about which there was so much talk a few weeks ago. There were 146 boxes necessary to hold the gold. The shipment was made on several liners. Now all the United States would like to see are a few shipments of gold from France who defaulted her $19,000,000 payment.

Seeding Record Set in Hastings

BELLEVILLE, January 9. — Believed to constitute a record for either early or late seeding in this province, David Ray, of B rd's Creek, North Hast'ngs, relates that on December 26 he seeded four acres of land to rye. Mr. Ray stated that the land worked nicely, and it being a sandy loam, the excessive rains of the past month did not hinder the work to any extent. Not even the oldest residents of the county can recall seeding in the month of December.

REPORT SHOWS LONDON CRIMES FEWER IN 1932

Out of 21 Murders in 75 Mile Metropolitan Police Area, Only 2 Unsolved.

MORE YOUTHS INVOLVED.

(By Thos. T. Champion, Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, Jan. 9.—(C. P. Cable.)—The enterprising burglar and the cutthroat occupied in crime appear to have had a leaner 12 months than usual in the year which has just closed.

In the 75 mile area of the Metropolitan police district only two of 21 murders remain unsolved. In the much smaller area of the city of London, which has its own police force, there was a total of only two murders, both of which were solved within 48 hours, the perpetrators being executed.

Smash and grab raids have been fewer. What excitement there was in the detection of crime in and around London was afforded principally in the hunt for escaped prisoners.

The police are inclined to believe that the absence of serious crime is due rather to changes in police methods than to a decreased inclination towards criminal activities. Many youngsters are unfortunately taking to crime—probably because of the depressed state of legitimate industry—but their inexperience brings about their quick detection.

8,000 MILE TRIP MADE IN SKIFF

Year's Voyage on Pacific is Result of Australian Being Jilted by Girl.

"GREEN" NAVIGATOR.

SAN PEDRO, Calif., Jan. 9. — (C.P.)—Sailing alone in an 18-foot skiff, Fred Rebell, Australia's "height of folly" navigator, had put in here to-day after a year-long 8,000-mile voyage from Sydney.

He is going home to spend the rest of his life with his parents in his native Latvia. Travelling overland to New York, he will take a steamer to Windau.

Rebell, a Sydney building contractor for 20 years, was 66 days on the trip here from Honolulu, and that last 800 miles were the hardest. Within that distance from California shores he was beset by northerly gales.

"Three times I thought I was going to lose the boat," he naively recounted, not seeming to think what might have happened to himself. He said his skiff, the Elaine, was named "after the girl who turned me down."

"I wanted to show her," he said, "that I have real stuff in me."

Never before at sea in a small boat, he said, Rebell learned navigation in a Sydney library in three weeks.

U. S. WHEAT PLAN NOT FOR CANADA

Bracken Claims Dominion's Big Export Would Offset Benefits.

DISCUSSES DEBTS.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 9.—(CP)— The domestic allotment plan, advocted in the United States as an aid to agriculture and for the reduction of wheat acreage, would have little effect in Canada, in the opinion of Premier John Bracken, who recently returned from an Economic Conference held at Cincinnati.

Such a plan, which provides for a tax on domestic consumed grain in order to bonus growers who voluntarily reduce wheat acreage, would accomplish a very great increase in United States values, Mr. Bracken believes, but would have only a fraction of the same effect here because such a large proportion of the Canadian crop is exported.

Mr. Bracken, who has been ill, suffering an influenza attack, since his return from Cincinnati, granted an interview to newspaper men last night at which he outlined some of the subjects discussed.

International debts played a large part in the conference discussions, The Manitoba premier is of the opinion international debts may be used by the United States to reduce trade barriers against the products of that country.

"The general feeling among economists at the conference was that international debts have to be reduced," said Mr. Bracken. "I gathered that the electorate was not of that view. I would not be surprised, however, if the official attitude would develop along lines of using the debt position of the United States for trading purposes in two directions:

"(1) To reduce trade barriers against United States products, particularly agricultural products; and (2) to force reduction in armaments."

LOST RADIUM FOUND.

KINGSTON.—The lost tube of radium, valued at $650, and no bigger than a phonograph needle, was found in the fire pit at the city incinerator to-day by Stewart Marshall, graduate of Queen's University, doing post graduate work. Marshall located the radium with an electroscope. It had been lost from the general hospital last week.

Nova Scotia's record of tourist travel for the summer season of 1932 shows an increase of 13 per cent. over 1931 in the number of visiting automobiles bearing Ontario and Quebec licenses.

BAD ATTACKS OF FLU

E. M. Ward Finds Wonderful Pick-Me-Up in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Brings Wonderful Vitality.

"I have had attacks of the 'flu' frequently since 1919, and sometimes very bad attacks, but always when on the road to recovery I take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I find them a wonderful pick-me-up."

So writes E. M. Ward, Saskatoon, Sask., who further states: "I would recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to all sufferers from that rundown, listless feeling. I have taken the Pills on many occasions, and they seem to tone up my blood wonderfully. I have been anaemic for years, and find that, when I get rundown, after taking several boxes of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills the color comes back to my cheeks and I have wonderful vitality."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills rebuild health by creating new blood and increasing the red blood cells which restore the wasted tissues and revitalize the exhausted system. They remove the cause of rundown or nervous conditions. Try them. At your druggist's. 50c a package.

PERCY POGUE IS CANDIDATE LIBERAL PARTY

HEPBURN SPEAKS

LINDSAY, Ont., Jan. 9 (Special to The Examiner).—Percy Pogue, Deputy Reeve of Lindsay, and a former prominent U.F.O. supporter, was Saturday nominated the standard bearer of the Liberal-Progressive party in South Victoria at a convention in the Armouries. There were 142 delegates and several hundred people present. Dr. W. T. Rich, town, president of the Liberal Association, presided. Five candidates nominated expressed their willingness to contest the riding if they became the choice of the convention. They were: Derry Fulton, town; James Carroll, Sommerville; Reeve J. Begg, town; F. G. Sandy, ex-M.L.A., Omemee, and P. Pogue, town. All were eliminated in the voting save the latter.

Fireworks for the afternoon were provided by Mitchell Hepburn Provincial Liberal leader, who was hailed by the convention as the next Premier of Ontario. He charged maladministration by both Federal and Provincial Governments and expressed the desire that either Government would go to the people this year.

Flays System Abuse

Although declaring himself in favor of the capitalistic system for this country, he flayed abuses of it and charged that the Economic Conference was more "eye-wash," "humbug," and "balderdash," and that prices for farm commodities instead of going up, were falling. As a result of the Conference, he said, the price of cream separators, and other things needed on farms has been raised. Bennett's refusal to barter Canadian cattle for Russian oil was not acting for the farmer, he said.

Turning to the Provincial administration, he criticized the six per cent interest rate on bonds, the additional tax on school children's papers, the giving Mr. Finlayson millions of dollars to spend in the north, and the blocking of Provincial banking in the province. "If the Liberal party gets into power there's going to be the greatest house cleaning that this Province ever witnessed," he said. In closing, he said that Provincial deficits are carefully covered up in the present system of bookkeeping and stated that great extravagance has been shown in buying power that will not be needed for years. Addresses were also delivered by Wm. Newman, M.L.A., North Victoria, and R. H. Halbert, ex-M.P., Uxbridge.

ORILLIA PLANS RELIEF CHECK

Mayor Hints Officer to be Named, After Complaints of Concealed Resources.

HOPE TO ECONOMIZE.

ORILLIA, Ont., Jan. 9 (C.P.) - Appointment of an officer to investigate the financial status of applicants for relief may be made shortly, it was announced to-day by Mayor John Good, who is in receipt of complaints that persons receiving assistance from the Public Welfare Board are, in some instances, at least in possession of concealed resources.

"While there is no doubt that the majority of those who apply for relief are genuinely in want, there are other instances in which the authenticity of their claims seems a trifle doubtful, and it appears as if it might be an economy to employ someone to make investigations," Mayor Good stated.

Alderman Wilbur M. Cramp, representative of council on the Welfare Board, also advocates investigation of the claims of future applicants, as well as a survey of many who have been in receipt of help for months. At the next meeting of the board, Alderman Cramp will introduce a motion which would require all recipients of and applicants for relief to sign a certificate empowering an appointee of the board to make enquiries into their financial standing at banks, insurance companies, and similar institutions.

FINAL SESSION COBOURG TO-DAY

Inaugural Meeting of 1933 Council Will Be Held This Evening.

COBOURG, Jan. 9 (Examiner Correspondence)—The 1932 Council will meet for the last time this forenoon with Mayor George Thompson presiding, after which the Mayor will officially vacate office. The members of the 1933 Council will take the oath of office and later hold their inaugural session this evening, with Mayor-elect John Delanty presiding. At this meeting it is expected that a writ will be issued for the holding of nominations to fill the four vacancies on the Council Board. The Council as it now stands constitutes a quorum, and if all members are present can do business legally.

TRAIN WRECKED 12 ARE INJURED

Three C. P. R. Passenger Coaches Roll Down 75 Foot Embankment.

HIT BROKEN RAIL.

HAWKESBURY, Jan. 9. (CP)—Three passenger cars of a Canadian Pacific Railway train rolled down a 75-foot embankment between Calumet, Que., and Pointe aux Chenes, Sunday afternoon, causing minor injuries to 12 persons, who were brought to Hawkesbury hospitals for treatment.

Heading for Montreal, the Montebello train ran into a broken rail just before reaching a railway bridge over the Rouge River. While the locomotive, tender and baggage car of the train remained on the track, the three passenger cars, containing 17 persons, rolled down the bank and were wrecked on trees and rocks. The cars were reported as having turned over two or three times in the fall.

All 17 passengers were shaken up and more or less bruised, 12 of them being brought here for observation.

Six children of Mrs. Emile Gaston, 36, of Verdun, were among those brought to hospital here. They were suffering from shock and general bruises but their condition was regarded as favorable. Others included Miss Denise Jette, 16, St. Hyacinthe, Que., broken arm and bruises; Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Thomas, Montreal, shock; Josephat Jette, St. Hyacinthe, and Alphonse Gibeault, Hawkesbury.

Doctors stated all injuries were superficial and not more than five of the injured were expected to stay in hospital over night.

DIED

Funeral from the family residence, Reid Street, Lakefield, on Tuesday, January 10, at 2.30 p.m. Interment in Lakefield Cemetery.

As Others See Us

It is quite a common experience for us to be told verbally how satisfied advertisers are with the results from their advertising in The Examiner — not forgetting also their appreciation of the service rendered by the advertising department. And not infrequently are we in receipt of letters of appreciation similar to the following from The Roy Studio, Peterborough's Artist-Photographers.

Results Tell the Story

December 30th, 1932.

MR. R. M. GLOVER,
The Peterborough Examiner Limited,
CITY.

Dear Mr. Glover:

In sending you the enclosed cheque balancing amount of account to date, we wish to express our appreciation of the results secured from our recent advertising in The Examiner. A very large percentage of the business which we did previous to Christmas can be credited to this advertising. We placed a definite check on the results secured from the first large display ad. and we are pleased to tell you that these results are exceedingly satisfactory.

As a consequence we have discontinued all other forms of advertising in favour of newspaper space.

Yours sincerely,
THE ROY STUDIO,

because they have discovered that it saves time, energy, and most important of all—money. In the realm of home management and in individual buying in general the advertisements act as a market guide — a guide not only as to where to buy, and what price to pay, but often as a guide as to what to buy. Many things that make life more enjoyable and comfortable are first discovered in the ads and then later repurchased through the ads. Many things that make life more enjoyable and comfortable are first discovered when the home-maker has learned to find the news of what's new by watching the advertisements. FILET CROCHET EMBROIDERY is a smart new-style of initialing household linen, and the method of doing this work is extremely simple.

* * * * * * *

The filet crochet consists of plain square mesh made in the size and shape wanted for the article to be lettered. On this the initials are run in a weaving or darning stitch, following a filet or cross-stitch pattern.

* * * * * * *

Each square in the design occupies one square of the filet. The work progresses by counted stitches.

* * * * * * *

The crocheted piece is positioned and basted on the linen, care being taken to have the squares exactly even.

* * * * * * *

Buttonhole along all edges, taking stitches through the linen and over the outside row of crochet stitches.

* * * * * * *

Put two or three of these stitches between bars of the work. The linen back of the crochet can be cut away after the embroidery is done or before.

* * * * * * *

Start the working medium with a buttonhole stitch over the bar marking the outside limit of the weaving stitch. Leave a short length of the medium and work over it in the running stitches, thus further securing the thread end.

* * * * * * *

* * * * * * *

The charm of this embroidery consists not alone in the even flow of the embroidery medium over and under the bars of the crocheted mesh, but in the color work permissible.

* * * * * * *

For example, on a towel the filet can be in the color of the border and the working medium be mercerized white cotton, making the initialing and background carry out the scheme of the towel and border.

* * * * * * *

To get the full decorative value of filet embroidery, the working medium for the embroidery should be in contrast to the color of the filet.

That Body of Yours

GETTING A VIEW OF ABDOMINAL ORGANS

Our older physicians must sometimes pause and wonder just how far medicine is going to advance in the examination of patients with disturbances in the abdomen.

Some time ago all that could be done was to learn the symptoms as told by the patient and the physician tried to discover the condition and position of the underlying organs with his hands on the abdomen.

If it were deemed necessary, the surgeon then made an opening in the abdomen and the organs were examined.

A little later by means of the X ray the condition and position of certain organs—gall bladder, stomach, intestines—were disclosed and operation performed when necessary.

And now another forward step has been made. Dr. Kalk, Berlin, recently gave an account of the method he employs which enables him to get picture of the abdominal organs of a living person. Air is first injected into the abdomen through a small pointed tube, and then the contents of the abdomen are examined by means of the same type of little instrument that is used to examine the kidneys. The little instrument, carrying a lamp, introduced through the small tube along with small instruments used by eye specialists and the examiner gets a view of the organs in that particular part of the abdomen. Dr. Kalk was able to exhibit a number of pictures which were so clear that the organs were actually lifelike.

This method of examination will be of value in diseases of the gall bladder, stomach, spleen, the small and large intestine, and tumors in the abdomen

If a local anaesthetic be used on the part to be examined, the method is entirely painless and without danger.

The method is particularly valuable in cases of adhesions—where the outer walls of two parts of the intestine have become joined together—in deciding whether or not an operation is necessary.

Remember the usual methods—dye tests, examination of contents of stomach and intestine, the X-rays—are usually employed before this new method is undertaken.

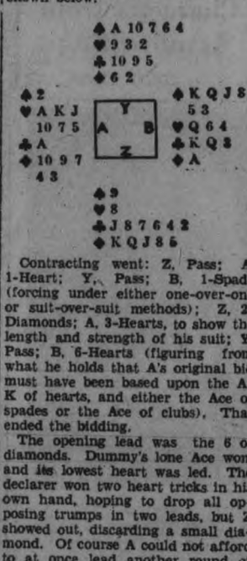
CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS

By E. V. SHEPARD

BIDDING A SMALL SLAM

Grand slam bids almost never should be made unless partners employ feature showing, or cue bidding, as the latter term is sometimes employed by those who scorn to make use of the regulation expressions. In many cases small slams may be reached safely and intelligently by ordinary forcing means, as was done with the hand shown below.



Contracting went: Z, Pass; A, 1-Heart; Y, Pass; B, 1-Spade (forcing under either one-over-one or suit-over-suit methods); Z, 2-Diamonds; A, 3-Hearts, to show the length and strength of his suit; Y, Pass; B, 6-Hearts (figuring from what he holds that A's original bid must have been based upon the A-K of hearts, and either the Ace of spades or the Ace of clubs). That ended the bidding.

The opening lead was the 6 of diamonds. Dummy's lone Ace won, and its lowest heart was led. The declarer won two heart tricks in his own hand, hoping to drop all opposing trumps in two leads, but Z showed out, discarding a small diamond. Of course A could not afford to at once lead another round of hearts; first he had to lead his lone Ace of clubs, and then he led his only spade; both leads being intended to establish in dummy high honors in the two black suits upon which the declarer could discard his losing diamonds.

Y won the first lead of spades. The declarer hoped that Y had no more diamonds to lead, as that would insure the success of the contract, as Y would then have to put dummy in, by leading either a spade, a trump or a club. If either a spade or a club were led, dummy's top trump would pull Y's last heart and prevent all chance that Y might ruff a spade. Clubs held by A-B were too few in number to make it seem dangerous for dummy to lead off his K and Q.

Y held another diamond and led it, so that dummy's last trump had to be used to ruff. Upon leads of dummy's two good clubs the declarer discarded his third and fourth diamonds, leaving him only one of his original five of that suit. A's lead of dummy's K of spades enabled the declarer to discard his last diamond, and A felt relieved, although it was improbable that Y did not hold at least two spades. Having no losers left in his hand, the declarer led a small spade, ruffed with his J for safety's sake, then pulled the last outstanding heart with his 10, and spread his cards, claiming fulfilment of his contract.

Half-baked comments are not uncommon at the conclusion of a hand, and such a comment was made after A had claimed his small slam. Z said: "Partner, if you had refused to win the first spade lead a small slam never could have been made. Why didn't you pass the first trick?"

Suppose Y passes the first lead of spades. Dummy will win the one trick that Y saved by at once taking his Ace. Two club leads from dummy will enable A to discard his second and third diamonds. Then dummy's K of spades must be led, and upon it will go the declarer's fourth diamond. Y can count just what A holds. Y can win that trick, and no matter what he leads back the small slam will be made. Passing the first spade trick would have no effect upon results.

BE BEAUTIFUL

By GLADYS GLAD

Despite the fact that a good many women seem to think so, depilatories really did not originate in this modern age of ours. They were used by women centuries and centuries ago. The Egyptian dancers especially, who had to appear and dance in the nude in all religious festivals, made extensive use of them.

The depilatories of today, of course, are much more effective than those used in the time of the Pharaohs. And it is my opinion that a good depilatory provides the quickest and easiest manner of temporarily removing superfluous hair from the body. Such a preparation is especially effective for removing hair from the arm-pits. And when any woman who is not afflicted with some skin abnormality complains that a reliable depilatory makes her under-arms sore and inflamed, she can depend upon it that she is using the preparation incorrectly.

One of the commonest abuses of this hair-removing medium is the use of a deodorant immediately after the removal of the depilatory. And any woman who applies a deodorant right after she has removed a depilatory should not wonder that her under-arm skin becomes sore. Deodorants and depilatories are both astringent in action, you see. Most depilatories contain sulphur and slaked lime, and tend to dry and pucker the skin. And it is a risky business to apply a deodorant under the arms right after such a depilatory has been sponged from the skin. the least bit sensitive, and a deodorant that is extentremely astringent is then applied, soreness and inflammation are bound to result.

Always permit as much time as possible to elapse before using a deodorant after you have removed a depilatory from under your arms. You should wait for an hour, at least. It's a good plan to appy a soothing lotion or cream to the skin after the depilatory has been washed off, and after at least an hour has passed, to apply the deodorant. And always, when there is any irritation after the use of a depilatory, the deodorant should not be applied until the irritation has entirely disappeared.

Fenella

On Sunday, Jan. 1 at the evening service in Fenella United church, F. Talling and W. Sandercocks presented the new Hymnaries to the pulpit and organ. The Rev. R. W. Palan, M. A. Toronto read the dedication.

On Wednesday, January 4, the regular monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society was held at home of Mrs. James Curtis with the new president, Miss Florence Mackin in the chair.

Miss Florence Macklin gave a vote of thanks to the members for appointing her the president. The devotional leaflet was read by Mrs. G. Montgomery. The minutes were read by the new secretary, Miss Muriel Macklin.

The duties of each of the officers were then read by Mrs. F. Talling, first vice president. The election of officers which were omitted at the last December meeting then took place. Mrs. N. C. Leach was appointed organist; auditors, Messrs M. Barker and L. Jibb; hymn book committee, Mrs. C. W. Macklin, Mrs. James Curtis; Good Cheer committee, convenor, Mrs. J. H. Mouncey, Mrs. C. W. Macklin, Mrs. Montgomery; heralds—China, Mrs. J. Knox; Japan, Mrs. Hugh Sherwin; India, Miss M. Barker; Korea, Mrs. Howard Macklin.

The program leader for the February meeting will be Mrs. F. Talling and will take place at the home of Mrs. C. W. Macklin. A letter was next read dealing with the "In Memoriam" certificate for the late Life Member.

Miss M. Barker was appointed secretary of literature on the resignation of Mrs. Clark Jewell. Mrs. S. Leach then took charge of the program. Mrs. Falling gave a reading entitled "1933" which was very appropriate and a series of leaflets introducing the new study book. "His Dominion of Canada" written by Dr. Oliver, former moderator of the United Church of Canada were enjoyed. Miss Muriel Macklin tendered a vote of thanks to the hostess and a "social half hour" was enjoyed by all.

SERVANT GIRLS LOSE SAVINGS IN ROMEO RING

1,000 SWINDLED.

(By Ione Quinby, Central Press Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—About six years ago hundreds of immigrant girls from Germany and Austria gazed with awe upon the Statue of Liberty, as their various ships neared New York's harbor.

Brought here through negotiations with women's clubs, which sought to solve America's servant problem, the girls speedily found work in the western domestic world. What has occurred to these immigrant girls, and how they are faring to date, is a second problem which American club women now are facing, following New York's current expose of the mulcting of many of the girls through fake real estate operations.

Six men have been held in the Tombs, pending prosecution of a ring that is alleged to have swindled nearly 1,000 servant girls out of $500,000. This fortune in American money represents dowry savings which the girls lost through the high pressure real estate racket.

While 400 of these girls went on to Chicago and other cities and towns, many remained in New York. How adaptable and thrifty they have been in the years that have elapsed is best illustrated by stories of several of the girls who have joined hands with the district attorney's office in connection with the "Romeo Ring," which duped the fair aliens out of their bank accounts.

How Ring Works

"I worked steadily in one place for five years," said one of these fraulein, a capable second maid. "A few months ago I met a man who gave his name as Emil Schmitz. He could speak German, and while I have been here six years I still do not talk English as I should. It was wonderful to have someone who could talk to me in German. I went to Coney Island with him and to the movies. He told me all about his parents in Stuttgart.

"He told me he had money in the East River bank, and I frankly told him I also had $1,000 there," she continued. "He danced beautifully, all the old waltzes, and often told me that though he expected to go on living in this country, because there were more opportunities here, he would never take for his wife any but a German girl.

"We went one night to an amusement palace, and while there another man, who also spoke German, came up and joined us. The two men, while we had some sandwiches, talked business. Soon my friend said: 'I will take my money out tomorrow and give it to you for those lots. Then when they have doubled their value in a few months I will sell them and marry Clara here. We can then start a nest egg for our home. If I just had $1,000 more, we could buy it in six months.'

Disillusioned

"Well, I thought I loved him. He was so kind and good-looking. So I thought happily of my $1,000, which was just what he needed, and told him he could invest it for me. Now, my dowry is gone, and Emil, I have found, is only a crook."

In a dramatic scene in the district attorney's office, a dozen of the alleged victims identified one man as the particular "Romeo" in their experience. One of the girls lost $1,800, another $1,500 and another $1,100 to the same real estate romancer.

If Milady's Blue She Buys a Hat

Nothing cheers a woman like a new hat. In fact, it's the rule which milady always would like to follow, that when she's blue she should go out and buy a new and becoming hat.

Molynenx used only to make clothes—now he makes hats also. The second chapeau is his, another black velvet with flattering brimline and tallored bow at the side front.

WHAT A GIFT!

Had we power to give the average city or town one gift, this New Year's season, we would give it freedom from gossip, says an editorial in the Rotarian Magazine. That gift would mean more for human happiness in homes and community than a million-dollar factory or a bumper wheat crop on a dollar market.

Gossip, plain devil-tongued talking about other people, is an outstanding social curse of our day. More homes are broken, more happiness is ruined, more careers are downcast, more banks are closed by the careless repetition of guesses, rumors, scandals, half-truths and untruths than by any other one cause.

Any community which substitutes true neighborliness for gossip, sincere helpfulness and friendship for scandal-monging is on a good, smooth road to happiness and success.

GOOD BUSINESS.

The formation by the Ontario Department of Mines of a class for instruction in prospecting sounds like good business, and it is not surprising to find that over 400 men of all ages are availing themselves of the opportunity and have enrolled for the course.

Obviously it will be possible to teach these embryo prospectors only the fundamentals of the subject, but the lessons should put the pupils in possession of sufficient accurate information to enable them to give a good account of themselves when they hit the trail to the north.

After all some of the richest finds in Ontario have been made by "green horns" who knew little or nothing about the science of prospecting.

If it is true, as stated, that experienced prospectors can finance a season's operations for $200, the training of 400 men for work in Canada's northland at something that may add many millions to the nation's wealth is an operation decidedly worth while.

It is generally agreed that the northern portions of the province are rich in mineral possibilities, waiting to be discovered, and it might well be that some of those who are to be trained by Ontario's Department of Mines may prove to be the discoverers of this hidden wealth, in which case the information of such a class at this time would most certainly have been fully justified.

As the Globe puts it, "One rich gold discovery in Canada would change the whole international picture overnight. Discovery of a few pounds of radium would cause real history to be made."

UNAVOIDABLE?

Coroners' juries are still at it.

Investigating a smash-up near Winona in which three cars were involved, two persons were killed and seven others injured, a jury, empanelled by Coroner B. E. Thompson, of Stoney Creek, brought in a verdict that the accident was "unavoidable."

What happened was two automobiles skidded into each on an icy highway, and while the passengers were extricating themselves and examining the damaged machines, along came another automobile which crashed into the wreckage, killed one man, fatally injured his wife and caused injuries to seven more persons.

The driver of this car admitted that he was travelling at the rate of 34 miles an hour on a very slippery road, that he saw men on the highway signalling to him to stop, that he thought the first of these was a "hitch-hiker" and the second a hold-up man, and that he ignored their warnings and drove squarely into the wrecked cars with terrible results.

How any jury having this set of facts before them could arrive at the conclusion that the whole affair was "unavoidable" will puzzle a great many people.

It will not surely be maintained that 34 miles an hour was a safe speed, having regard to the state of the highway, or that what happened in this tragic affair would have happened if the third car had been properly under control and the driver prepared for emergencies, as all motorists under the law are expected to be prepared.

SUDBURY'S RETRENCHMENT PLAN.

It is not too much to say that for the present year chairmen of the Council committees are likely to receive a great deal more credit for what they save rather than for what they spend.

There are services that must be kept up; it would be false economy, for example, to allow municipal roads to fall to pieces for lack of repairs, but beyond these there are items of civic expenditure that may be perfectly legitimate in normal times, but that can be and should be eliminated during a period when the tax-paying ability of the community is at a low ebb.

A special committee studying the financial conditions in Sudbury has recommended to the Council a drastic program of retrenchment by which the sum of $70,000 will be saved. The police force and fire departments are to be materially reduced in size, with volunteers from the Canadian Legion to fill in when needed; all civic salaries are to be slashed, and all special grants to non-charitable organizations eliminated.

That drastic program is a sign of the times, an indication of a marked change in municipal policy made necessary by unusual conditions.

It is to be hoped that it will not be found necessary to go to such lengths in Peterborough, and the Sudbury report is quoted only as an example of what is going on in other centres.

The very nature of that report, however, should serve to remind all civic legislators that the situation calls for serious and persistent efforts to economize along business-like lines—the frills must be discarded and unnecessary expenditures eliminated.

THEY LAUGHED IT OFF.

Last week the President of Turkey gave a state banquet to which was invited the Egyptian ambassador.

Now Mustafa Kemel Pasha has abolished the fez, the Mohammedan's little red cap, along with harems, veils and the Turkish alphabet. But in Egypt the fez is still almost a sacred bit of apparel.

So when the Turkish ambassador turned up at the banquet in his red fez, Mustafa Kemel, a bit rosy with wine and brandy as he often is, stared at it rudely and made some insulting remark.

The ambassador hauled off his fez; but two days later the Egyptian Government demanded an apology for the affront.

Replied the Turkish foreign minister:

"The banquet hall was overheated and President Kemel merely invited His Excellency to remove his fez for his own comfort."

The excuse was so preposterously suave, so outrageously bland, that both Turks and Egyptians began to chuckle at the naive gall of the foreign minister. Shortly the insult was forgotten in mutual smiles.

Times have changed.

In cave days such an affront would have been avenged with clubs.

In tribal days it would have resulted in a murderous raid.

Up until a few years ago, whole armies would have been called into the field to settle it.

Recently we have found that such things can be handled through the League of Nations.

Now we are learning to laugh them off.

Civilization progresses along with our sense of humor.—Vancouver Sun.

MR. ROOSEVELT ON THE SPOT.

On Saturday last Franklin D. Roosevelt ceased to be Governor of the State of New York, two months hence will replace Mr. Hoover in Washington's White House. Already, indeed, he is virtually the President of the United States, the responsibilities and problems of the office squarely upon his shoulders. Mr. Hoover, showing a fine spirit in defeat, sought to make his last months in office usefully active, made numerous suggestions and proposals, asked Roosevelt's co-operation. But Congress, which never liked Hoover and rarely worked well with him, rebuffed his plans, whereupon the defeated President, who could not even secure a minimum of help from his successor, washed his hands of everything, including the balancing of the budget and war debts, went fishing in Georgia. Thus it is from Roosevelt's New York City home, 49 East Fifty-Sixth street, that the United States is now being governed.

It is doubtful whether any President of the United States ever faced office with a greater legacy of trouble. Unemployment on a vast scale, a collapse of foreign trade, an impoverished agriculture, a threatened $2,000,000,000 deficit—these plus war debts, world exchange tariffs and the challenge of the coming World Economic Conference make up a governmental task of unprecedented difficulty. It was one thing for Mr. Roosevelt to solve these questions—on the platform. He could talk eloquently about the "forgotten man," promise "happy days," voice glittering generalities about his hopes to improve the "common lot." It is a different thing, now that he faces office, to translate these eloquent promises into effective and practical acts, to remember his "forgotten man" with a job and a full dinner-pail. The honeymoon of victory is over.

The balancing of the budget alone, involving the wiping out of a deficit which threatens to ten figures, will be a colossal task. Mr. Hoover hoped to do it by consolidating Washington departments, abolishing commissions and bureaus; by a policy of rigid economy on all fronts, plus a 2½ per cent. sales tax that would bring in from $300,000,000 to $500,000,000. Mr. Roosevelt, however has let it be known that he is against a sales tax that he is hostile to any new taxation, except a tax on beer. In this he is already running counter to some of his most powerful supporters, including the newspapers of William Randolph Hearst, which have the sales tax nailed to their masthead. Also against supporters in Congress.

Already, indeed, signs are not wanting of grave disquiet among Roosevelt's strongest friends. Powerful newspapers like the New York Times and Baltimore Sun have expressed frank disappointment over his alleged failure to co-operate with Mr. Hoover in devising some plan for the settleme nt of war debts; many others have begun to chafe under his delay in giving Democratic leaders light and leading upon a half score of other matters, all pressing for action. Questions such as farm relief, economy, unemployment. They complain that he is too vague, too prone to generalize.

There is the large crop of external problems. No one knows precisely where Roosevelt stands regarding war debts, or what he has in mind about the coming World Economic Conference, or about disarmament. Three months after Mr. Roosevelt takes office—on June 15—Britain and France will be due to pay further war debt instalments. Yet notwithstanding that France is still in default with her December 15 payment, and that Britain has served notice that she will not pay on June 15 without some new deal, Mr. Roosevelt has yet to indicate what he thinks ought to be done.

Meanwhile, United States foreign trade continues to diminish. A London cable to the New York Times tells that European representatives of American firms find it all but impossible to place orders for goods, that since the wrangle over the last debt payments British and French importers have practically closed down on American products.

This being the picture, the eyes of the whole world these coming months will be upon Franklin Roosevelt. Few statesmen in this generation have had greater opportunity to make and change history, to bring good to the world; few have faced greater responsibility or more desperate danger of a blasted reputation through failure.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

According to the latest figures, nearly 12,000,000 people are unemployed in the United States. Mr. Roosevelt is coming into the White House at an unfortunate time.

According to Chief Coroner Dr. M. M. Crawford, sixty of the sixty-one deaths from automobile accidents in Toronto last year could have been avoided if the parties involved had exercised common sense.

And now they're talking of making De Valera king of Ireland. Apparently the Republican movement is skidding badly.

It is apparent that a good many people are talking about the Russian barter deal without knowing a great deal about the details of the proposition.

ALL OF US

By MARSHALL MASLIN

ARE YOU WICKED?

I HEARD what you said!
You said, "I'm the meanest, the most selfish, the most wicked, the most—"

Marshall Maslin

And then you turned the corner and I didn't hear the rest of your proclamation, your boast.

Your boast? Yes, your boast—because you couldn't possibly be so wicked. It isn't in you. You couldn't be so mean, so selfish, so wicked.

You're just pretending. You couldn't be so foolish, so stupid, so unimaginative. You're boasting. It's just a pose.

I've known a few people who thought they were wicked. All of them had a hangdog look about them. A miserable, defeated look that was lined with smirking complacency. They were proud of being such monstrous fellows.

They looked around and couldn't find anybody else that was half as tough, half as degraded, as they were, and they made a spurious happiness for themselves out of that knowledge.

But they weren't wicked. They were merely foolish children who were playing at being evil, fooling nobody.

I've known a few others whom the world calls wicked. . . . A burglar. . . . A pickpocket. . . . A dope addict . . . . A murderer . . . .A soldier who ran away. . . . An embezzler. . . . . A liar. . . . . A woman who "didn't count". . . . A rum runner. . . . And none of these people considered themselves wicked.

You talk to any of them for half an hour and you learned that every one of them had a Code. They were all "good" in the sense that for all of them there were right things and there were wrong things.

They had self-respect and an honesty that was peculiarly their own and which they proudly protected. And in their own, sometimes twisted, way they were all trying to be good!

So you needn't be pretending that you're so wicked. . . . You wouldn't boast so lightly of your charm, your beauty, your popularity, your intelligence, would you?

So don't think you're fooling anybody when you boast of your "wickedness." You're just putting on airs, that's all you're doing. Because the real truth is that you are just like all the rest of us—you are trying to be GOOD!

SCREAMING FANATICS SWAYED HUGE CROWDS INTO HYSTERIA

rotating career to tell the world in a hoarse and hysterical shout that Allah is God and Mohammed His prophet.

A small boy who accompanied the dervish took care of the collection. Not for a single minute did the dervish in the midst of his remarkable revolutions lose sight of his assistant's success among the passers-by.

The holy man was soon swallowed up in the milling crowd. Two steps farther a baker was rending the air with piercing wails, stamping the ground and tearing his hair. This grotesque performance was directed at a camel driver of particularly evil countenance, an impression heightened no doubt by the fact that he had his hair closely cropped like a convict. The camel driver did not utter a word, but stared guiltily at the ground where the baker's flat round loaves lay spread out to tempt prospective customers. The cause of the baker's excitement was plain and unmistakable. In the course of a very natural function the camel had befouled the fresh and cracking loaves, and this to the immense delight of a throng of onlookers.

Wiped Off the Bread.

After the driver had moved off with a shrugging of shoulders and the beast with that half majestic and half ridiculous serenity of all camels, the business man's instinct of the baker overcame his fit of anger, and he coolly began to wipe the bread with the tail of his trailing long garment, that seemed patched to resemble the map of Europe.

Back and forth I wondered through the bazaar, listening to the babel of voices and scanning the faces of its clusters of picturesque and ragged old beggars and haggling salesmen. A demon of perverse curiosity tempted me to enter an Arab barber shop.

Lord, what a racket of conversation and gossip did my entrance stir up! Europeans have their own, better-appointed hairdressing salons in Jerusalem. My arrival in the little native shop produced nothing short of a sensation. A crowd gathered outside. Neighbors dropped in and whispered to the barber.

Here, I fancy they said, is a Frank gone stark crazy. They snickered and babbled and looked, while the barber did his duty, that is to say, he cut a little hair and talked a great deal. An old Arabic saying has it that God alone can make the grass grow, but that only Hussein the Barber knows how it is done. I know now that this is no exaggeration. That fellow knew everything.

On my way back to the hotel I observed a coal-black Abyssinian, squatting in the Jaffa Gate, who was garbed as John the Baptist of yore, in a cloak of camel hair. This man was slowly working himself into an ecstasy of religious hysteria. A million green-gold flies, attracted by a different odor than that of sanctity, you may be sure, were buzzing around his oil-smeared face, invading nostrils, eyes and ears and covering his saintly garment with a brilliant layer of quivering verdigris. He treated the verminous host, seemingly, as so many djins stunt by the Evil One to keep a righteous man from praising Allah.

Attracts the Crowd.

Satan may have spared himself the trouble. The Abyssinian did not permit even one shooting gesture to interrupt the rhythmic nodding of his upper body, but stuck the more doggedly to his droning incantations as the swarm of flies thickened. From time to time he punctuated his monotonous mumble with a startling unearthly yell. This scream had the effect of arresting passers-by and collecting some spectators. But even then the mullah remained, to all appearance, quite oblivious to his surroundings and completely immersed in prayer. He ceased his rhythmic exercise only when he judged the crowd of spectators large enough to invite everybody with a sweeping gesture to sit down around him. A dozen Arabs, youths and old men, accepted his invitation. They dropped a coin in a tin cup and ranged themselves in a semi-circle around the dusky saint.

Within two minutes that negro had his audience so profoundly absorbed in his words that they were all leaning forward, mouths agape and eyes dilated with fascination. It looked little short of hypnotism. The story-teller accompanied his words with gestures and mimicry, which caused me to infer that he was relating some particularly horrible episode. He would crook his thin, emaciated fingers as if suggesting the approach of some hideous and gruesome monster. Then again he would glance frightenedly over his shoulder with a most realistic portrayal of horror stamped on his features. All the while he pursued his story in a hoarse, awed whisper.

Never did Scheherezade entertain the Grand Vizier with a more breathless adventure. The holy man's listeners literally hung on his lips. They followed the eloquent gestures of his hands. Terror, surprise, lust and cupidity alternately, and swiftly, followed in the expression of their faces.

Impatiently they glowered as an intrigued newcomer took his place in the half-circled audience, while the story-teller promptly pushed forward the tin cup for a clinking contribution. This aside gesture did not cause him to break the thread of his narrative in the least. In another moment he had completely regained everybody's attention. But again the spell was broken suddenly. Catching sight of me leaning against the crescent-painted door of the town-gate, the coal-black spinner of yarns broke in a delightful broad smile, revealing a set of marvellously white teeth. Jumping to his feet, he moved toward me, rattling the coins in the tin cup. He got my contribution just in time. As I handed him a piastre, a khaki-clad policeman appeared on the scene and booted him unceremoniously begone. The listeners scattered in all directions.

MURDER IN EDEN

By Charles Winfield Smith.

CHAPTER 11

Jere Kane gazed at the picture for a moment in fascination. He had never before realized what a voluptuous young creature she was. Her bath suit, daringly cut and more revealing than concealing, accentuated the lissomeness of her slender, well-formed body. It was designed to give the impression of a huge leaf.

The caption under the photograph explained that she was introducing to the California beach one of the latest creations from the Riviera of her homeland. Sardonically, he muttered that it more resembled a creation from Eden.

So alluring was Nanette in the picture that he scarcely noticed the young woman clinging to her. If he had he would have sensed something vaguely familiar about her. He would have told himself that he had seen that face somewhere before and would have fought with his memory until he had placed her.

She was a young woman, extremely blonde, passingly comely, with soft, even features and a delicately-lined form, lending the impression of frailty. There was even a hint of impetuous frivolity in her very posture.

But even as he looked at the picture drowsiness overcame him. The paper slipped from his grasp and presently he was steeped in much needed sleep.

Possibly he would not have slept so soundly if he could have known something of what had been going on at Richard Bailey's home that night, while he had been at police headquarters and then at the LeRoi home in Beverly Hills.

When Kane and Chief Lee left the murder scene shortly before eleven o'clock Detective Sergeant James was placed in charge. But he accepted the assignment with a grimace. He did not relish long watches—and especially long watches at night—in a house where murder had been committed.

Chivington did his best to make the officer feel at home. He sat and talked with him. At midnight, he brewed some coffee and brought sandwiches. But, strangely, not once did the old houseman allow the conversation to touch upon what had happened there that night.

It was while they were enjoying their refreshments that Sergeant James caught Chivington unawares and brought their talk around to Bailey and his affaires d'armour. At last, bitterly, the servant remarked:

"The French have a saying 'cherchez la femme'!"

"Yeah," the detective growled, "there's always a woman in the case, especially in cases like these. From what gossip I hear this Bailey fellow was pretty much of a ladies' man."

Chivington winced. "My master," he said haughtily, "had the soul of an artist. His every work reflected that. What artist is not interested in woman?"

"Uh, huh," the officer grinned. "But in this case it was women, it seems to me."

The old man consulted his watch. It was a little after twelve. "If you don't object," he said, "I shall retire."

James looked at him in mock popeyed surprise. "You—you say you're going to bed?" he demanded, seemingly unable to believe his ears.

Chivington nodded.

"I didn't figure on you sleepin' tonight, Chivington. I guess I sort of figured that you would—er—well, that you'd feel kind of sleepless in view of what happened here tonight."

He kep a keen watch on the houseman, but the old man's features were inscrutable. He said, "I have had a very hard day, and I am tired. I know I shan't sleep—how could I?—but I can relax."

"Well," disappointed, "I guess you better turn in then."

"If you wish to retire," Chivington suggested, but the detective shook his head.

"I may catch a bit of sleep here," he said. "This chair is pretty comfortable."

"I shall be available if you wish anything," and with that the old man withdrew.

Left alone, Sergeant James listened to the padded footfalls as Chivington climbed to his room at the rear of the house. The servant's quarters were on the second floor over the kitchen, indicating that he held more of a place in this household than that of mere servant.

Presently, the detective heard a key turn in a lock. Then all was still.

He sat there for a moment doing nothing more entertaining nor intellectual than twiddling his thumbs. But he soon grew tired of that. What would be the harm, he asked himself, in finding something to read? The thought was father to the action, for he scrambled to his feet, gazed about the room and then, finding nothing, went in search of a book.

Finally, he found himself at the closed door of Bailey's den. Quietly, he opened the door, almost as if he was afraid he might disturb the murdered man's ghost. He stood there staring in at the scene of wild disorder.

He went to the bookcase and, like the sailor who went rowing while on shore leave, chose a detective story from among the fiction on the lower shelf, turned off the light and returned to his seat in the drawing room, where he merged himself into the chief characters and lost consciousness of all that went on about him.

How long he read he didn't know. It could not have been very long. He started and reached for his book. It was on the floor. Silently, he cursed himself; he had been asleep.

He heard someone trying the knob of the front door. At first thought he decided to investigate. But as the door was quietly pushed open he dropped back and feigned sleep.

Presently, he heard some one in the room, walking on tiptoe. Through barely opened eyes he saw Chivington stealing toward the servant's stairs at the rear. The old man's coat collar was turned up about his throat. He was hatless and perspiring.

The detective sprang to his feet. The servant jumped as though he had been shot. He gazed wildly about just as he had earlier that night, while Kane and Chief Lee were questioning him.

"I thought you went to bed," James snapped.

"I—I did, sir," haltingly. "But I was restless. I couldn't sleep. I thought a little walk would do me good."

"Where did you walk to?"

"Just down the street, sir."

"Why didn't you awaken me and let me walk with you?"

"You—you were sleeping so soundly. I—I didn't want to disturb you."

"Where's your hat?" James asked suspiciously.

The houseman swayed until the detective thought he was going to crumple up on the floor. As he did some hard object crashed to the floor.

Chivington reached to pick it up but the officer was too quick for him. His hand closed upon the cold steel of a revolver.

"What are you doing with that?" he demanded brutally.

The other's eyes fastened themselves upon the shiny gun. He stared at it trance-like.

"What are you doing with that?" James repeated.

Still there was no answer.

The detective grasped him by the shoulder and shook him roughly. "You better answer me," he growled, "before I make you."

Chivington looked uncomprehendingly at him. His eyes were dull and listless. His lips twitched nervously. Then:

"I took it with me," slowly. "It was the master's gun."

James broke the gun and looked at the shells. One had been exploded. Closing it, he smelled the barrel. It reeked with the odor of burnt powder and smoke.

Somewhere in the house a clock chimed off a half hour. The officer looked at his watch.

It was one-thirty!

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Jan. 9 (C.P.)—Influenced by strength at Liverpool, prices scored gains of ½c to ¾c in the opening minutes of trading today. At the start some outstanding buying was in evidence, and at the high points moderate profit-taking was encountered and prices declined to levels about ¾c under Saturday's close.

At midsession prices were ⅝ lower. May was quoted at 47⅛, July at 48, and October at 49½.

When the May future touched the 47c mark, fair support was uncovered and further losses were checked. The source of this late support was hard to determine. Trading for the most part was fairly active. Early reports indicate only a very small export business was worked in Canadian wheat over the week-end, but a fair demand was reported on the decline this morning.

Liverpool wheat prices displayed firmness from the start and quotations near the close were ¾d higher per 100 lbs. Buenos Aires wheat opened ⅝c to ¾c higher per bushel.

World wheat shipments for the past week totalled 11,500,000 bushels, of which slightly less than 4,000,000 bushels was of North American origin, the smallest shipment from North America in any one week since last September. Supplies of wheat on passage decreased 1,500,000 bushels for the same period.

FLU EPIDEMIC CHECKED.

LONDON.—A spread of influenza, which for the past three weeks has threatened to develop into an epidemic, has apparently been checked. Two of the sufferers are the Lord Mayor and the Lady Mayoress of London. Several members of their official household are also gripped with the malady.

Check

NEW YORK, January 9 (C. P.). — After preaching a sermon on 'Technocracy's Electric Dollars," Dr. Charles Francis Potter received one of them in the collection plate on Sunday.

It was a little slip of paper, torn from a notebook, reading:

"My contribution (I have no money), 20 kilowatts of my energy in working for humanism.—Valeska Becker."

Miss Becker, who is a student at Antioch College, Yellow Springs, Colo., later told Dr. Potter she was sincere about it.

And so he said he would have her come into his office some day this week and work out 20 kilowatts of energy on some typing.

He May Be Right

MONTREAL, Jan. 9 (C.P.).—Prediction that the whole world would be insane within a quarter of a century was made 10 years ago by Dr. A. H. Desloges, general medical director of hospitals for the insane, industrial and reformatory schools and chief of the division of social hygiene for the Province of Quebec.

To-day Dr. Desloges is of the same opinion—only he believes the degeneration has proceeded more rapidly than he expected. In an interview to-day, he stated it has not taken 25 years—the world had already reached that point.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (C.P.).—The Stock Market turned irregular in the later trading to-day, after several attempts to rally under the leadership of the rails had failed. Industrial and utility stocks dipped from fractions to a point, with the rails holding generally steady. United States Steel and American Telephone encountered considerable selling, each declining about a point. Allied Chemical, Westinghouse Electric, Case, Consolidated Gas and Woolworth were down a point or so. Tobaccos eased fractionally. Santa Fe, New York Central and Union Pacific were slightly higher. Transfers totalled about 900,000 shares.

STANDARD EXCHANGE.

TORONTO, Jan. 9.—(C.P.) After a show of weakness in the early afternoon the standard mining market turned strong again in the late trading and the close was around the best prices for the day. One of the day's features was Mining Corporation which controls the Ashley property now reported to be making good progress. Mining Corp. moved up to 1.47, a gain of 13.

Among the high-priced gold shares, Teck, Granada and Sicoe scored substantial gains. Teck closed at 4.25, up 7, Granada at 1.43, up 9, and Siscoe at 1.47, up 6. Lake Shore, McIntyre and Dome closed from 10 to 25.

The base metal shares made no demonstration of strength but held their ground fairly well. Both Noranda and Nickel were off a few cents in light trading and Ventures held unchanged.

TORONTO EXCHANGE

TORONTO, Jan. 9. — (CP) — A show of strength in Imperial Oil and Consolidated Smelters was the best the Toronto Stock Exchange could do today. Imperial gained a fraction in fair buying to 9⅛ and Smelters picked up a half a point to 65½ on the switching of the ex-dividend date to Jan. 12. On the whole losses and gains were about even and volume was low.

In the interlisted group both C. P. R. and Nickel surrendered fractions to 16 and 9¼ respectively while Ford A and Brazilian held unchanged at 7⅛ and 9⅝. Walkers slumped to 5 while Canada Bud breweries picked up a fraction.

The Utilities were all strong in the early trading but the rains were lost before the close except in the case of Shawinigan which held a small advance. Bell Telephone closed at 94½ after selling at 95.

MONTREAL EXCHANGE

MONTREAL, Jan. 9.—(CP)—The stock market closed irregular today with gains and losses about evenly divided. Weakness in inter-listed stocks and the utilities was more than offset by strength in railway equipment and bank stocks and one or two others. Turnover was moderate.

Canadian Pacific was sluggish throughout the day in face of the good showing of the rails in New York, closing down¼ at 16. Brazilian was off ¼ at 9⅝ while International Nickel yielded ⅛ to 9⅛.

Among the utilities B. C. Power was off ½ at 15½ and Montreal Power ¼ at 31½. Shawinigan lost its initial advance to finish unchanged at 11¼. Dominion Bridge was ¼ lower t 17¼ and McColl Frontenac ⅛ at 8⅞.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9 (C.P.).—Wheat prices here tended upward early today, influenced by strength of securities at New York and by firmness of wheat quotations at Liverpool. There were also reports of irreparable drought injury to domestic winter wheat over important areas south-west. Opening unchanged to 3-8 up, Chicago wheat futures scored an all-around advance later. Corn started ¼ off to 1-8 advance and subsequently held near the initial limits.

MINING MEN BUSY.

NORTH BAY.—Indicative of the continued staking activity in Swayze and Denyee townships, an average of 15 reports of mining claims staked in this gold area are received daily at the drafting office of the Ontario Department of Mines here, where the claims staked are noted on maps for the convenience of both the department and the mining companies and prospectors.

VICTIM OF SHOOTING DIES.

SAULT STE. MARIE.— Antonio Piromelli, 30, wounded after a pool room altercation, died early to-day. Piromelli was shot in the jaw after he had been threatened. Police are still seeking Frank Venain connection with the shooting. No date has been set for the inquest as yet.

NEWS IN BRIEF

SHORT ITEMS RECEIVED OVER C. P WIRE.

EMPLOYEES ON THEFT CHARGE

LONDON, Ont.—Three veteran employees of the Martin Fuel Company appeared in court here to-day charged with theft from the firm. The men, George Gunn, foreman; William Mathews and William Johnston, were remanded for a week on bail of $1,000, no plea being taken. Manipulation of coal orders by the men is alleged by the Crown.

$908,021 IN RELIEF

WANT £300 AND MANSE

LONDON.—The Church of Scotland is making a special endeavor to secure for each minister the mininmum stipend of £300 and a manse.

"It is not as if the people of the Church of Scotland were being asked to impoverish themselves in order that it should be achieved, writes Professor H. R. Mackintosh, Moderator of the General Assembly.

HARRINGTON IMPROVED

HALIFAX.—Premier Gordon S. Harrington, operated on Saturday for acute appendicitis, to-day was reported as much improved. He had a satisfactory night and said he was feeling better.

BLACK HAND IN TORONTO

TORONTO.—"Operations of an allegedly Black Hand gang are reported to have been directed recently towards a prominent Toronto business man in which a request for $3,000 was reported to have been made by the gang, but not complied with," said The Toronto Telegram to-day. "The refusal has left the operations at a standstill and may result in police investigation."

LIQUOR TRUCKER FINED

BURLINGTON, Ont.—Arrested by Provincial Police at Kirkland Lake and brought here for trial, Vincenso Moneleone was fined $700 and costs and one month in jail to-day on breaches of the Excise Act and Liquor Control Act.

According to evidence, Monteleone was driving through Burlington with a truck carrying 137 gallons of alcohol in September, 1931. A wheel of the truck broke and Monteleone disappared.

GOING TO WORK.

CHICAGO.—Miss Elizabeth Bunting, socially prominent and 1932 debutante, is going to see if it can't be "like father like daughter."

She announced she was entering her father's publishing establishment to punch the clock just as other working girls do.

PINCHED.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — Municipal Judge D. Boone Dawson, in calling his docket to-day will find thereon: "One elephont, blocking traffic."

While parading the streets doing advertising, Jumbo suddenly turned himself crosswise and stopped, tieing up a long line of cars. His owner got a ticket.

OTTAWA FEELS 'QUAKE

OTTAWA.—A slight, local earthquake was registered at the Dominion Observatory here Sunday afternoon. The tremor, which began at 3.19.06 E.S.T., lasted for five seconds. No reports of damage were reported.

The disturbance was felt at Kingsmere, in the Gatineau Hills, 15 miles north of Ottawa, and also in the Glebe district of Ottawa.

MINISTER RESIGNS.

ATHENS, Greece, January 9 (C. P.). — M. Angelopoulos, Minister of Finance in the Tsaldaris Cabinet, resigned to-day because he opposed insertion in the Budget of the equivalent of $2,631,000 for payment to foreign creditors instead of the abolition of certain taxes.

THE THIRD TRY.

MEAFORD. — New nominations for Mayor and councillors have been called for Wednesday, January 11. This is a third effort to get men to fill municipal offices, both other times those nominated having failed to qualify. After the second attempt, the Town Clerk ruled that legally the 1932 Mayor and Council must carry on till new officials were appointed.

REMANDED.

HAMILTON. — Mrs. Ada Evans and her husband Harry, found guilty of contributing to juvenile delinquency, were remanded for a week when they appeared in Police Court to-day. The pair were accused after it was found their young daughter had been taken on a shoplifting tour of stores in principal cities of the province.

YOUNG WIFE MISSING

THOROLD, Ont.—Mrs. Mary Fox, 19, is missing and police to-day were looking for her. Mrs. Fox left home Saturday to pay a bill, and later disappeared. She has a child sixteen months old.

CHAIRMEN NAMED FOR COMMITTEES

consulted any of the other aldermen.

Never Mentioned Question

Ald. McIntyre said he wanted it understood that he had not mentioned the question of appointing chairman to Ald. Tuggey or anyone else.

Ald. Macdonald: No one mentioned committees to me except Ald. McIntyre, and the only thing we mentioned was the number we should have this year.

After other similar statements around the board, Mayor Denne, in a form of summary, said that no one had mentioned committees.

"We've all come here with open minds to do the city's business," he remarked.

To Ald. Tuggey's comment of doubt, Mayor Denne said, "As far as I'm concerned I wouldn't ask you to be on a committee after the way you went out from the meetings last year and hammered us behind our backs."

Verbal Exchange

"After all the reports, and false ones, that you passed out up and down the street before the election, you ought to be ashamed of yourself," Mayor Denne further added to the verbal exchange. "If you had done the sporting thing, you wouldn't be here. You'd have resigned."

Ald. Tuggey denied that he had circulated false statements about the Council.

"You did," Mayor Denne replied.

"I did not," Ald. Tuggey retorted.

"I can prove you did," the Mayor continued.

"I'll bet you a thousand dollars I can," Mayor Denne asserted.

"Keep your money. You'll need it," was Ald. Tuggey's reort.

"I wont' need it any more than you," said the Mayor.

"I got you thinking anyway," Ald. Tuggey said in a reference to the election.

"Yes, you did," was the Mayor's derisive reply; and Ald. Stocker, exercising a sort of pre-emptive privilege from so many other meetings, broke up the acerbities with his customary: "I move we adjourn. There's no other business."

The first regular meeting of the council will be held to-night at 7.30 o'clock.

The Claims Committee.

In the discussion of Ald. McIntyre's proposal to combine some of the committees, Ald. Macdonald said that the Claims Committee was practically part of the Legal Committee. The Council had found from experience that it was advisable to make an auxiliary committee for handling claims composed of the chairman of the Legal Committee, and the clerk and treasurer.

Ald. McIntyre contended that the chairmanships should be passed around.

"Is there no one in the Council who can act with the clerk and treasurer except Ald. Fitzpatrick?" Ald. McIntyre asked.

Ald. Fitzpatrick remarked that he was quite willing to forego the chairmanship of the Legal and Reception Committee to Ald. McIntyre

Ald. Macdonald said that he was chairman of the Legal and Claims Committees when Ald. McIntyre was in the Council, and Ald. McIntyre did not object at that time.

Ald. Stocker, McNabb, and Hamilton supported Ald. Macdonald's contention, and it was decided to continue the Claims Committee as it has been constituted, that is, with the chairman of the Legal Committee and City Clerk Armstrong and City Treasurer Adams the three members.

Committees For 1933

Board of Works—Alderman Hamilton, chairman, and all the members of the council.

Finance —Alderman Macdonald, chairman, and all the other members of the council.

Manufacturers' —Alderman Cotton, chairman, Aldermen Stocker, Macdonald, Fitzpatrick, McIntyre and Hamilton.

Legal, Reception and Legislation —Alderman Fitzpatrick, chairman, and Aldermen McIntyre, Hamilton, Stocker, Sloan and Tuggey.

Railways and Parks—Alderman Stocker, chairman, and Aldermen Cotton, Sloan, Holland, McNabb and Fitzpatrick.

Mayor Denne's Address

In addressing the council, the old customary formality of the inaugural meeting, Mayor Denne welcomed back the members of last year's council, expressed his appreciation of the co-operation that had prevailed in 1932, and said that the results of the election indicated the citizens' approval of the council's policy of giving work for the unemployed instead of charity.

"I also welcome Alderman McIntyre back to the council" Mayor Denne said, "and hope that he will give the same helpful service as in the past.

I also wish to congratulate Alderman Sloan on heading the polls. He will benefit from the education he will receive here and also from the information regarding municipal affairs. We have to make a special effort for economy this year, keeping in mind the necessity of efficiency. There are some things that might be cut off that seem to be frills, for instance we might think of doing away with

Soft Hearted

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (A.P.)—Two little pigs, presented to an encampment of the unemployed last November, have become big pigs now, and what a problem they are.

"What are we going to do?" asked John B. Clark, camp commander. "They're eating what's left of our food. But they've become our pets; if we killed them the boys couldn't eat them. If we sell them, someone else will eat them. I ask you."

olling the streets. But, you know what would happen. Along about May or June the people would be looking for it, and the housewives especially. There are some things we can do and still keep up the efficiency we have had.

We should also make a special effort to see if we can land some of the industries that are offering from the United States and England. If we can, we know that they will be like the others that have located here, satisfied with Peterborough and the conditions here. Our sidewalks, sewers, storm drains, gas and light services are nearly at the end of extensions, and some of the overhead might be cut down there. There is no question but that some economy might be made, but other boards are elected the same as we are, and with their own responsibility they don't expect much in the way of suggestions from us. I hope that by the end of this year the clouds will have lifted and we will all be in a better position than we are now."

men was a former sweetheard of Antonivich and that he had temporarily become demented as she is stated to have latterly transferred her affections to another resident of the town.

Antonivich is single and has been unemployed for some time and is stated to have been brooding over his love affair. Shortly after the shooting to-day he is stated to have hastened away from the town and to have taken to the nearby bush.

A posse of armed residents was immediately rounded up and they followed all available clues with the hopes of having their man under custody this afternoon. It is rumored that the hunted man is prepared to fight it out with any would-be captors and town residents to-day feared that further shootings might result before he is captured.

YOUNG ROBBER GETS 15 YEARS

Three Years Included in Term for Wounding North Bay Constable.

ESCAPES LASHES.

NORTH BAY, Ont., Jan. 9 (C.P.) —Sam Essa Ayoub, youthful Kirkland Lake bank bandit, was to-day sentenced to 15 years in Portsmouth Penitentiary for robbing the local branch of the Bank of Montreal on Nov. 26, and to three years for wounding Constable J. Belanger. The sentences will run concurrently.

Ayoub elected for speedy trial on the robbery count and after evidence was given by D. T. McGuire, bank manager, Ayoub pleaded guilty.

Bullet wounds received at the time of his capture just ten hours after the daring holdup when he engaged in a gun fight with Belanger and Constable John Pilgrim saved Ayoub from the additional penalty of the lash, the Magistrate declared he had been "punished enough physically."

SPRING FLOWERS AT BROCTON

BROCTON, N.Y.—This hamlet, located where Lake Erie's Winter gales usually strike with their worst force, has had such Springlike weather last week that violets and danedelions have been found blooming and hollyhocks in sheltered spots are budding.

$12.00 CONSCIENCE MONEY

OTTAWA.—The Department of National Revenue was enriched today to the extent of $12.00 "conscience money," sent from Toronto. In a communication accompanying the cheque the individual concerned declared that he had been guided to remit the money to the Department as a consequence of having come in contact with the "Oxford Group."

PRISON APPEAL FAILS

TORONTO. — Neil Armstrong, Fergus, failed in his appeal to the Court of Appeal of Ontario to-day against his conviction by a jury on a charge of criminal negligence arising out of a highway accident near Guelph in which Neil Maltant was killed. Armstrong was sentenced by Mr. Justice W. A. Logie to six months' imprisonment determinate and one year indeterminate at the Ontario Reformatory.

PLEADS ROBBERY GUILT

WOODSTOCK Ont. — Charles Sharpe, Ingersoll, to-day pleaded guilty to robbing a service station here last week. Alvin Phillips, Ingersoll, pleaded not guilty to the same charge, while Charles Swick and Robert Johnson, both of London, did not elect or plead. All four were remanded until Jan. 16. Kenneth West, Ingersoll, fifth member of the party, answered charges of breaking and entering a West Oxford garage, and was remanded until Jan. 16 also.

SLAYER OF TWO SHOT BY POSSE

Farm Hand Overtaken After Beating Employer, Housekeeper to Death.

DIES ON WAY TO HOSPITAL.

OREGON, Ill., Jan. 9 (A.P.)—Of four persons who sat down to breakfast at the farm home of Daniel W. Fisher near here Sunday only one was left to-day to tell of the double slaying and shooting that claimed the lives of the other three.

Fisher, 53, and his housekeeper, Mrs. Bessie Meade, 35, a former Chicagoan, were beaten to death by the third, John Bellarques, a farm hand employed on the place. Several hours later Bellarques was shot down by a member of a posse after he had been cornered at a nearby farm.

The survivor of the "breakfast for four," Peter Kuturich, said he left to do an errand immediately after breakfast and that when he returned he discovered the bodies of Fisher and Mrs. Meade lying in the house—with heads crushed.

Bellarques was absent. Kuturich went to a neighbor's and informed authorities. When he returned, he said, the bodies had been moved and covered with canvas.

A hastily-organized posse of farmers took up the slayer's trail and came upon him at an adjacent farm yard. Trapped, Bellarques lunged at Harold Swanson, member of the posse, with an iron crowbar. Swanson shot him down.

Authorities could assign no definite motive for Bellarques' act, but Bellarques apparently had a reason.

"They were no good," he muttered just before he died as he was being taken to a hospital.

OLD AGE PENSIONS ARE INVESTIGATED

Government Investigator Well Pleased With Work of County Board.

Undertaking a survey of the entire Province, Mr. Vaughan, investigator for the Old Age Pension Commission of Ontario, found little to complain of in the way old age pensions were being administered in Peterborough County.

According to County Clerk and Treasurer Ed. M. Elliott, the investigator remarked that so far as his investigations had gone at present, he believed the Old Age Pensions Board of Peterborough County to be one of the best administered in the whole Province.

Such a state of affairs reflects credit not only upon Ernest Leeson of Havelock, the present chairman and his Board, but upon predecessors in office, Mr. Elliott explained. H. B. Rye of North Monaghan was chairman of the Board before it was re-organized at the January meeting of the 1932 Council.

THE other day a friend gave my wife a recipe for a new Frozen Orange Pudding. We had it last night for dessert.

"This is something new," I said. "Where did you get it?"

"Mae gave me the recipe yesterday. She clipped it from an advertisement."

My wife didn't read that advertisement. If her friend hadn't read it what a treat we would have missed.

Do you read the advertisements? It will pay you many times over to do so. From them you may learn about all sorts of new things. New foods, new ways to use them, new recipes that will add variety to the daily menu.

Right in the advertisements in this paper there are countless things to interest you, to save you money, to bring you the most value for what you spend. And now as a reward for reading this advertisement here is the recipe that inspired it.

Recipe for Frozen Orange Pudding

Ingredients. 2 egg yolks (beaten); 1 cup orange juice; 1 cup cream (light cream or top milk will do); 4 teaspoonfuls flour; 1/8 teaspoonful salt; 1/3 cup sugar; 1 teaspoonful grated orange rind.

Blend thoroughly egg yolks, sugar, flour, salt and add orange juice and cream. Put in double boiler until thick. Add orange rind, cool and pour into freezing tray of refrigerator—or three or four hours on ice. When ready to serve, top each dish with meringue made by beating two egg whites stiff and adding 1/4 cup sugar. Garnish with orange segments.

CAMPBELLFORD STANDS FOURTH IN THIS SECTION OF PROVINCE

INCREASE IN FIRSTS 2%.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 9 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent).—The Campbellford district of cheese factories over which J. A. Murray is the group cheese instructor has had an exceptionally fine season during 1932 and stands fourth place by groups in the Province of Ontario with an average score of 92.713 per cent. During the season a total of 31,265 boxes of cheese were graded, out of which 997.4 per cent. were first grade; 2.2 were second grade and no third grades registered. During the year there was an increase over 1931 in first-grade cheese of 2.0 per cent.

The highest average score in Eastern Ontario to any cheesemaker went to Fred Remington of Hoards, Seymour Township, who not only won the Mills Trophy, the Bank of Montreal Cup, the M. E. Maybee Trophy, and a cash award from the Norwood Box Company, which were presented to him on riday evening in Campbellford, but two other cash donations, a cheque for $15 from the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association and $12 from the Canadian Laboratories; a cabinet of silver from J. B. Ford and Co. of Michigan, and a supply of salt from the Western Salt Co. The three highest makers in the eastern section of the province were: Fred Remington, with an average score of 93.986 per cent.; Alex. Johnson of Madoc, with an average score of 93.703 per cent, and W. V. Drewry of Warkworth, who scored 93.396 per cent.

PRESS ADVERTISING MEETS TRADE TEST

Newspapers Produce Results, Busy Kellogg Plants Report.

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 9.—Having proved that volume in business could be obtained throughout 1932, the Kellogg Company of Canada, Limited, London, has completed plans to make 1933 another satisfactory year, according to W. K. Kellogg, founder and president of the cereal manufacturing firm.

"Early in 1933," said Mr. Kellogg, "we determined upon an aggressive merchandising and advertising effort on a nation-wide scale to keep our plants in full operation. To this end we undertook the largest advertising campaign in the company's history. As a result, our plants have operated full time throughout most of the year, with employment at the highest peak ever recorded.

Hope for Larger Sales.

"We are now entering 1933 with all our plans made to carry on with our merchandising and advertising activities upon the same scope and basis. Again we hope to give the retailer every possible assistance in increasing his sales of Kellogg products. Again we hope to keep all of our people employed.

"We have proved that, in our line of business, the aggressive use of newspaper advertising is a most effective means of producing results—even in times like these.

"So, for 1933, our plans are to continue with newspapers as the backbone of our promotional efforts. Newspapers not only give intensive, aggressive coverage we need, but their flexibility and splendid co-operation with our men in the field enable us to take full advantage of every local possibility. This is a factor of great importance."

Six-Hour System Tried.

The year just ended marked the second anniversary of the adoption by the Kellogg Company of Battle Creek of the six-hour-day working shift. The change from three shifts of eight hours each to four shifts of six hours was made on Dec. 1, 1930. More than 400 permanent new jobs were created. Hourly wage rates were increased to give employees the same purchasing power as in 1928.

At the present time the Kellogg six-hour system is being closely studied as an instance of what the shorter working day in industry can be expected to contribute toward the solution of the current unemployment problem.

ROBERT BARLOW QUITS HIS POST

Popular C.P.R. Conductor Retires After 45 Years of Service.

EX-HAVELOCK RESIDENT.

HAVELOCK, January 9 (Examiner Correspondence). — Stepping off train No. 33, Ottawa to Toronto, at the Union Station on Sunday morning, January 1, Robert Barlow, popular C.P.R. conductor terminated a service of forty-five years in the employ of that company, first as a trainman and later as a conductor.

Mr. Barlow was for many years a resident of Havelock, where his brother John, retired conductor, still resides. A brother, James Barlow, formerly of this village but now at Kingston, is an engineer in the service of the C.P.R.

Mr. Barlow is well known to the travelling public between Montreal and Toronto, and has many friends at Peterborough. He was ever courteous and was popular alike with passengers, fellow-employees, and the executive of the great railway company which he served so long and so well. Of a jovial disposition, he made many friends among those whom he met in a business way, and was one of the company's most faithful and valued employees.

Though working in the hazardous days of the hand brake and drop pins, and in a few rather bad wrecks, he left the service without a scar or other disfigurement relics of the danger through which he passed.

About seven weeks ago his train left the track at Woodrow, on the main line, due to a broken wheel, but though it travelled for some distance before coming to a stop, and tore up a part of the roadbed, it did not overturn.

While missing the genial Mr. Barlow from his usual run, his many friends will wish for him many years of health and happiness, with the leisure now at his disposal to enjoy the sunset years of life.

Help Needed

CHICAGO, Jan. 9 (C.P.). — Policeman Peter Hayes walked into a police station and said:

"I came to work in my new car. Last night I tried to turn on the lights to drive it home, but they were gone. Then I decided to go to a garage but found I couldn't. The wheels had been stolen."

He asked the police to please try to do something.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

ONTARIO GRAIN.

TORONTO, Jan. 9. — Ontario grain, approximate prices track shipping point—Wheat, 40c to 43c; oats, 20c to 22c; barley, 33c to 35c; corn, 34c to 38c; rye, 30c to 32c; buckwheat, 26c to 28c.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—Sweeping impetuously forward, wheat Saturday scored persistent gains in the face of big selling to realize profits.

General speculative buying, dormant to a great extent of late, appeared to have been aroused. Spokesmen for houses most conspicuous on the buying side of the market said purchases were largely because of belief that the climax of low prices had been passed.

Wheat closed strong at but little below the day's top, ½ to ⅞ above yesterday's finish, corn unchanged to ⅞ higher, oats ¼ advance, and provisions varying from 5 cents decline to an equal gain.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, Jan. 9.—Prices were unchanged on the local produce market at the week-end as trade in butter, cheese and eggs continued draggy. Local brokers did not make many sales of creamery solids and though new makes of cheese were not plentiful the demand was not strong. Fresh eggs were fairly plentiful and prices on graded lots, and to country shippers, were steady.

Regraded butter was offered by brokers at the steady level of 21½ cents, while fresh made Ontario solids were quoted at 21 to 21¼ cents, with No. 2 at 20¾ cents. Western makes were offered at 21½ cents, while fresh make Ontario solids were quoted at 21 to 21¼ cents, with No. 2 at 20¾ cents. Western makes were offered at 21½ cents, delivered at Toronto. Wholesalers' prices to the trade were steady at 24½ cents for No. 1 and 24 cents for No. 2, creamery prints.

Cheese

Light supplies of new cheese held prices steady with the recent firmer levels at 10 cents for new large, 10¼ cents for new twins, and 10½ cents for new triplets. Prices to retailers were steady, but there were indications of an increase of ¼-cent for the coming week, on new makes.

Eggs

Quotations to country shippers on fresh eggs were firm. The lower levels quoted during the later days last week were still in effect on Saturday, at 27c for extras, 24c for firsts, 20c for pullet extras, and 18c for seconds, delivered, ungraded, cases returned. Prices to retailers were unchanged at 34c for extras in cartons, 32c for extras loose, 28c for firsts loose, 26c for pullet extras loose and 22c for seconds loose. Brokers offered fresh extras at 29c to 30c, firsts at 25c, pullet extras at 23c, and seconds at 19c to 20c, graded and in free cases.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Jan. 9.—Declines in egg and butter prices featured the produce and dairy market here last week.

While receipts showed no increase, the mild weather suggested the probability of increased offerings, coupled with the quiet demand, caused the price of fresh eggs in carlots or less to ease one to two cents a dozen. Extras were quoted at 32 to 33 cents, firsts at 27 to 28 cents, and pullets at 26 to 27 cents a dozen. Storage eggs in carlots or less were firm, extras selling at 21½ to 22 cents, firsts at 19½ to 20 cents, and seconds at 18½ to 19 cents a dozen. Last week's receipts were 3,121 cases.

Continued light demand sent No. 1 finest grass-make butter down a quarter of a cent to 21¼ cents a pound. Receipts for the week were 625 boxes.

On the cheese market, current Ontaro white was quoted at 8¼ to 8½ cents, current Ontario colored 9½ to 9¾ cents, and early Ontario make 10½ to 11 cents a pound. Receipts last week were 279 boxes.

New Brunswick or Prince Edward Island Green Mountain potatoes, per 80 pound bag, were 85 to 90 cents, and Prince Edward Island Green Mountains, per 80 pound bag 95 cents to $1.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, January 9. — From an indifferent start, wheat prices made further headway during the short week-end session on the Grain Exchange on Saturday to close ½c to ¾c higher.

May closed at 47¾c, July at 48⅝c, and October at 50⅛c.

Selling from Chicago which brought May there back to a premium over Winnipeg May held prices here in check, but after the Southern market closed early because of the former President's funeral, a rally took place here. Export at 250,000 bushels was disappointing, but good buying by investors developed.

Liverpool and Chicago both scored advances, while Buenos Aires remained closed for the second day to open again to-day.

Some demand was reported for Durums, but in general interest in cash wheat and coarse grains was dull.

URGE DROP IN PRICE OF MANUFACTURES

Must Come Nearer Level of Raw Materials, Say A. Hamilton Institute.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Downward readjustment of the prices of manufactured goods, of government and public services and of transportation rates, plus deflation of government and railroad debts, are prescribed as the two basic economic problems facing the new year by the current weekly of the Alexander Hamilton Institute.

Progress in price readjustment is cited. Raw commodities are believed to have dropped to a lower level than warranted. Further adjustments are expected to be limited to manufactured goods and to services.

"The deflation of these items from now on should be accompanied by an increase in business activity. This is explained by the fact that such deflation will increase the purchasing power of farmers and of other producers of raw materials. Any increase in business will naturally increase the demand and raise the prices of raw materials and thus further enhance the purchasing power of raw material purchasers."

For the deflation of taxes no hope is in immediate prospect. With regard to freight rates the institute says:

"Even if freight rates were reduced in 1933 commensurate with the reduction in wages as should be done in accordance with sound economic principles, the reduction could not be sufficient to alleviate greatly the troubles of the railroads. As long as business is required to pay the railroads a third more than it can afford, it is obvious that there can be no great expansion of business activity.

"The payment of principal, interest and dividends on foreign loans, despite the fact that some are in default and others will probably be before the year is over, will leave foreign countries with little funds to purchase American goods. This is especially true because of the present high tariff walls which prevents the importation of any great amount of foreign goods into the United States. A downward revision of the war debts promises some relief in 1933, but it is probable that the necessary adjustment of the tariff will be postponed until some later date."

FIVE RIOTERS

all through the Christmas and New Year's season.

Few Complaints

Prior to that, the Warden said, there had been occasional complaints about food, but no more than the average number of complaints which are nearly always encountered in prisons and institutions.

When the riot first got under way there had been cries of: "We want more food!" but there was no real indication that this was at the bottom of the trouble, because the food was better and more varied than allowed in many such penal institutions, said the Warden.

The menace of fire loomed up at the height of the outbreak when an attempt was made to start a blaze in the laundry building, but it was extinguished before it really got started, and so an even more serious situation was averted.

Two guards were injured in the outbreaks, but neither seriously. All five of the prisoner who were wounded will recover, in the opinion of Dr. J. F. Ted, the staff doctor.

The worst wounded is a gigantic negro. He was moaning in his hospital cell as the press representative was shown through the prison plant last night. Although the ringleaders of the outbreak have not yet been identified definitely, it is known that this muscular colored man was prominent among those who were tossing heavy missiles at the guards on the floor of the dome in the prison block. He and other prisoners tore loose heavy basins, toilet, lockers, chairs, and anything else that could be ripped from the cells and rained them down on the guards.

Deafening Din.

At the height of the conflict the din was deafening. It reached to the highway 200 yards below the brow of the hill from which the penitentiary overlooks the Memramcook River. People from Dorchester gathered here when word of the trouble reached them. An atmosphere of uneasiness and excitement reigned all over the immediate countryside.

CAMPBELLFORD

NEWS ITEMS FOR THE TRENT TOWN DISTRICT

CAMPBELLFORD

J. L. Irwin, Dominion cheese grader of Belleville and Alfred Merrills of Warkworth both attended the annual convention of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association held at Perth last week.

Colonel F. D. Boggs, K.C., was a business visitor to town on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Sweet were the week-end guests of friends in Hastings.

Messrs. Stuart Anderson and W. J. Callaghan were week-end visitors to Warkworth.

Cavan

Cavan United Church W. A. met in the church on Thursday afternoon. The new president, Mrs. James Douglas, presided. There were fourteen members present.

Mrs. J. E. Whithame was in charge of the devotional period. She read a scripture lesson from the Book of John, and afterwards gave a fine talk on the New Year.

During the business session, relief work was discussed, especially appeals for help made by the Salvation Army of Peterborough.

Mrs. Harry Tinney donated the top for a quilt, Miss Frances Hunter the batting, and Miss A. Tinney the lining.

It was decided to purchase flannelette to make garments and also to quilt the quilt; anyone having secondhand garments in good repair are asked to contribute them for the same purpose.

It was decided to have a series of Pot Luck dinners. Miss Tinney and Mrs. Whithame drew names and will be hostesses in January.

There was also discussion concerning a play which a neighboring church would like to present in Cavan on a fifty-fifty basis. No decision was made. Prayer closed the meeting.

Westwood

The first meeting of the year of the Women's Missionary Society of St. Andrew's United Church was held on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. David Brackenridge when the president, Miss J. Davidson, presided.

A reading, entitled "The Public-Spirited Woman Deborah," was read by Mrs. Charles Brackenridge and was a challenge to the women of our day to stand firm in public matters, such as women's franchise, that matters of great moment may be influenced thereby.

The financial report for the year ending Dec. 31, 1932, was given by the treasurer, Mrs. Don Cameron, and was most encouraging.

A special reading, "At the Crossroads," was given by Miss J. Davidson; also readings from the Study Book on "Early Missions," by Miss Elizabeth Davidson; "Congregational Missions," by Mrs. E. W. Sargent; "Methodist Missions," Mrs. Stephen Elmhirst, and "Presbyterian Missions," by Mrs. Melville Scott.

At the close of the meeting a dainty lunch was served by the hostess.

Marmora

A miscellaneous shower was tendered Mrs. S. T. Matthews (formerly Miss Grace Davidson) on Friday evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Davidson.

Mr. R. M. Fee, of Toronto, spent Tuesday in the village.

Officers of Marmora L.O.L. No. 34 were installed at the regular meeting held in the Orange Hall on Friday evening.

Mrs. R. Parker, of Picton, is visiting her sister, Mrs. P. Sopha.

Obituary

MRS. HARRIET McLAUGHLIN

TRENT RIVER, Jan. 9. (Examiner Correspondence)—The funeral of the late Mrs. Harriet McLaughlin, who passed away Thursday, January 5th in her 64th year, was held Saturday afternoon at half past one from the residence of Mr. James Johnston, Havelock Road. The remains were taken to Trent River United Church where service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. S. A. Kemp who chose his sermon text from Isaiah 25:8 "He will swallow up death in victory." The hymns, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul" and "What a Friend We Have in Jesus". The choir rendered an appropriate selection, "Does Jesus Care". Mrs. V. Chaplin supplied as pianist for the occasion. At the close of the service the procession of cars followed the remains to Centre Church cemetery, Seymour, where interment was made. The pallbearers were Messrs. Thos. J. Brown, Fred Scott, H. Revoir, Thos. Tyler, Harry Mann and Isaac Lawson.

Maintaining A Long-Established Position in Canadian Banking

When the Dominion of Canada was established in 1867, the Bank of Montreal, then already half a century old, had nearly a fourth of the total paid-up banking capital of Quebec and Ontario, and more than a fourth of the banking assets of those two provinces.

Today it has the same proportion of the capital and assets of the banking structure of the entire Dominion.

Today, as yesterday, it employs its resources and facilities for the upbuilding of the soundest elements of Canadian business.

15 FAMILIES ARE HOMELESS

Firemen Fight Kirkland Lake Blaze for Eight and Half Hours.

FRIGID WEATHER.

KIRKLAND LAKE, Jan. 9.—Fifteen families were homeless last night, their possessions wiped out in a fire Saturday that destroyed the Perrin Apartment Building here, with damage estimated at between $5,000 and $10,000. Firemen fought hard for 8½ hours in 20 below zero weather to prevent the fire spreading to adjoining buildings.
The fire broke out about 2.30 Saturday afternoon, and had progressed to such an extent before the alarm was turned in that the firemen confined their efforts to prevent its spread. Handicapped by the frigid temperature, it was 11 o'clock at night before the flames were subdued.
Fifteen families, totalling 45 persons, occupied the frame structure, and they all had to flee as the fire, believed to have started in one of the upper chimneys, spread with such rapidity that the occupants had no chance to save their belongings.
Nine lines of hose were laid by the fire brigade under Chief Matheson, but despite the steady streams of water from these and the assistance of a score of volunteer firefighters little impression could be made on the fire, the most spectacular here in the last three years. Adjoining buildings were served.

CHEMONG COTTAGES ARE BEING ENTERED

Locks on Doors Are Forced and Parties Held.

Several cottages at Chemong Park have been broken into recently by parties of youth from Peterborough and have served as quarters for wild petting parties, is the information secured by The Examiner to-day.
Locks on the doors have been forced and the parties have taken full possession of the cottages. Owners have found cigarette butts, whisky and beer bottles and other evidences that the cottages have been used since they were closed in the fall. In some cases fires have been lighted in stoves, indicating that the unknown guests have made themselves comfortably at home.
It is understood that Provincial Police will investigate the complaints of the cottagers.

Hanging At Ottawa First In 60 Years

OTTAWA, Jan. 9 (C.P.).—The law will take its course in the case of William G. Seabrooke, sentenced to be hanged at Ottawa to-morrow. Seabrooke was twice convicted by the courts for the murder of Paul Lavigne, Ottawa gasoline station attendant, on December 12, 1931.
Carrying out of the execution will mark the first hanging in Ottawa in more than 60 years. A man named Patrick James Whelan was hanged for the murder of Thomas D'Arcy McGee, Canadian statesman, in 1869. The murder occurred in front of the building of a leading Ottawa newspaper.

Join Gym. Campaign Is Well Under Way

"Join the Gym" campaign which was launched last week at the Y.W.C.A. has already new gymnasium and dancing members responding. The Intermediate Tap Dancing Class, captained by P. Buller is heading the campaign with Monday Business Girls, captained by A. Dymond; Junior Tap, captained by E. Pammett and Babes' Gym, captained by B. Bell, following closely.
If you have good health hold fast to it, if you lack it go after it. You will find it and keep it in a Y.W.C.A. Gym or Dancing Class. Join now—an ounce of action is worth two pounds of "think-it-over". Help the "Join the Gym" campaign.
The large poster in the front hall is recording the new members who "Join the Gym". Four ski runners, representing the classes who have brought in new members, are already started down the slide. The poster with its big slide, snow capped mountain ranges, evergreen trees and bright red house roofs and church spires and clever skiers is attracting much attention.

The coal mines at Nanaimo, Vancouver Island, have been producing since 1847.

Transmits Power Without Wires

A new invention by a Canadian with which its inventor claims he will transmit power through the air without the means of wires has given its first public demonstration at Mildmay this week, when Ted Hesch (LEFT) and Frank Fedy assembled their little power plant on the roof of a store in that town and succeeded in lighting the electric lights inside the store. Fedy is the actual inventor of the set, but he received much assistance from Hesch during his earlier experiments. Fedy claims that his instrument will pick energy from the air, transmit it without aid of wires, and receive it for distribution. If the invention proves successful, as its inventors claim it will, it will revolutionize power transmission and make it possible to send electric power almost anywhere.

Prison Rioters Spend Cold Days In Cells

DORCHESTER, N.B., Jan. 9. — (C.P.).—Chilled to the marrow from two nights and a day spent morosely in cell blocks, made cold by a bitter wind which crept through hundreds of shattered window panes, the 476 inmates of the Maritime Penitentiary here remained in their cells to-day. Warden T. G. Goad said that everything was proceeding smoothly. Occasional shouts from the cells marked the displeasure of some men.
Five prisoners were recovering from gunshot wounds they sustained Saturday afternoon when some 300 convicts engaged in the worst riot in Maritime Province prison history. Two guards also were slightly hurt.
Debris resulting from the conflict has been cleared away and temporary repairs are being made to the windows, Warden Goad said. The men are being fed 25 at a time, lining up in the usual cafeteria style and returning with the food to their cells.

SPLENDID WORK IS BEING DONE

he said, planned to do as much preventive work as possible. It was recognized that only some 15 per cent. of the crippled children in the province were congenital cases; the rest had developed as a result of sickness or accident. Similarly it was known that some 40 per cent of the deformities were the result of infantile paralysis.
It was hoped during the present year to make it possible for expert advice to be given the attending physician in all cases where symptoms of paralysis developed, so that the worst effects could be averted. This advice would be available without cost to the physician or his patient.
As regards tuberculosis, it was felt that something could be done to prevent that disease which was the result of direct contact with adults suffering from tuberculosis or from drinking milk which contained the germs. In the latter case a safe milk supply furnished by the pasteurization of the milk was a sure preventive.
Similarly the society felt that rickets, a disease quite common among children, could be prevented by use of the proper diet.
Rotarian Hopper, pointing out that the number of crippled children was being added to at the rate of some 500 a year, remarked that there was still a great deal of work for the society and the service clubs to perform. Several pictures of typical cases were displayed by the speaker.
In voicing thanks to the speaker, Rotarian A. L. Killaly eulogized Rotarian Dr. Moir for the great work done for local crippled children, and Rotarian Andrew Brown spoke of the great interest shown and the large amount of time given by Dr. Moir to this most worthy activity.
The sympathy of the Rotary Club will be sent to Adjutant Wallace Bunton of Toronto, whose mother died in that city on Friday.

STARTLING TURN IN JEWEL THEFT

Police Claims Arrest of "Man About Town" Will Startle Film Colony.

POLICE CHASE ACTRESS.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 9 (C.P.).—A sensational turn in the investigation of the $37,500 Betty Compson jewelry robbery was forecast to-day by Chief of Detectives Joseph F. Taylor, who said a Hollywood "man about town" is under surveillance for the crime, as well as for other recent film colony robberies.
Chief Taylor said the man has served as intermediary for victims and robbers in the past, locating the jewelry, collecting the money for its return and supposedly giving the money to the bandits.
The arrest of the individual, Taylor said, will astound the film colony.
Mystery was added to the case when it was learned Miss Compson and her manager, Irving Weinberg, had made an alleged 70-mile-an-hour dash along the coast highway near Newport Beach late Saturday night.
Weinberg was arrested for speeding in Miss Compson's automobile after a 10-mile chase. The actress and Weinberg refused to make any statement after his arrest.

EMILY RESIDENT DIES ON SATURDAY

James C. O'Leary Passes in 83rd Year—Mild Smallpox Outbreak at Lindsay.

(Special to The Examiner)
LINDSAY, Jan. 9.—Owing to an outbreak of smallpox locally, Dr. Blanchard, M.O.H., has advised parents to take precautions in having their children vaccinated. He points out that there is no cause for alarm at present.

Mrs. Richard Leary, town, celebrated her one hundredth birthday on Sunday. She is a first cousin of the late J. R. Booth, of Ottawa.

Mary Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McGillivray, of Cardiff, Haliburton County, died a few days ago after being severely scalded at her home.

James C O'Leary, an old resident of Emily Township, died at his home at King's Wharf on Saturday night in his eighty-third year. The deceased was a member of St. Luke's parish, Downeyville and for a number of years filled the position of fish and game overseer.

CUTS OWN PAY TO $40,000
CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—Acting in accord with the general economic trend of the game, Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, has voluntarily reduced his salary to $40,000 for 1933, a drop of $25,000 from the terms of the contract he signed in 1928, it was learned Saturday. This new figure was arrived at when he accepted a cut of $10,000 after having previously reduced his salary for 1932 by $15,000.

STUDY RELIEF METHODS.
TORONTO — A complete study of present and proposed methods of distribution of relief supplies to needy citizens will be carried out before any change is made from existing methods, Mayor W. J Stewart said in his third inaugural address at to-day's first meeting of Council.

Detroit Wings Humble Cripplea Leafs 6-1

WINGMEN TIE RANGERS FOR SECTION LEAD

SENATORS LOSE 1-0.

Maroons Unable to Overcome Three-goal Margin and Hawks Win 4-3.

TORONTO, Jan. 9.—(CP)—Happy days have arrived for Jack Adams, the Detroit Red Wings and—just incidentally, of course — the boys who invested in Olympia, pretentious ice house beside the border.

The Red Wings were in full flight today, joint holders of first place in the National League's United States section with New York Rangers. Only the Blueshirts of Lester Patrick remained to disturb the Detroit peace of mind.

Close on 60,000 fans watched five week-end hockey games in the major circuit but the 23,500 who sat in at the twin triumphs of the Wings —one at Toronto, the other at Detroit—saw the freshest sensation-makers of 1933 bowl over opposition with more power and flourish than they had seen on display this season.

The Wings knocked over Toronto's Maple Leafs 6-1, Saturday night, crushing the world champions as thoroughly as they have been crushed in many a day. This ride to victory was helped along by the fact Joe Primeau and Charlie Conacher were absentees from the Leaf line-up and the only occasional presence of Andy Blair, stricken with 'flu. Primeau had tonsilites and Conacher a banged-up shoulder.

There was nothing physically the matter with the hefty Boston Bruins on Sunday night, however, and the Wings left them stranded in third place with a 3-1 defeat that hoisted the Adams speedboys up to a deadlock with the Rangers. An aroused crowd of 13,000 saw this battle at the border, cheering a Detroit team that seems pointed at last toward the title ways.

In each game the Wings snatched victory with a second-period spurt. Ebbie Goodfellow, Eddie Wiseman, Happy Emms and Larry Aurie banged in goals against Toronto in the mid-session and the Wings had no need for the added tallies Herbie Lewis and Carl Voss rang up in the third.

Goodfellow, Voss and Frank Carson scored in the second period against Boston and the Bruins got only one back, that by Obs Hexiмer.

It has taken Detroit 23 games in which to pile up the same number of points Rangers compiled in 19 so the Patrickmen see no immediate cause to worry, though they were one of the Wing victims during a stampede for points that started back on Dec. 18.

A Notable Record

Since that date Detroit has lost only one game out of 11, tied two and won the rest. They have scored 35 goals and had 19 scored against them.

Rangers had to fight last night for the single point that allowed them to share first place with the wings. Fifteen thousand Gotham fans watched the two New York teams fight it out over a 70-minute stretch without reaching a decision. The final score was 2-2.

Bill Cook put Rangers in front with a goal early in the second period but Red Jackson tied it up. In the third Ching Johnson got one for the Blueshirts and Johnny Sheppard matched this one. Neither could score in overtime.

Canadiens, before an unusually meagre gathering of 9,000 followers at Montreal, managed to beat out a 1-0 decision over Ottawa Senators and creep to within two points of the second-last-place Americans in the International division. Leo Gaudreault scored midway through the second period with the help of Battleship Leduc and Art Giroux.

Montreal's higher-rating contender, the Maroons, battled vainly to pull out a win over Chicago last night after the Black Hawks had run in four in the second period. They lost 4-3. Earl Robinson scored for Maroons in the first period and Jimmy Ward and Baldy Northcott in the third but these fell short. In the second Doc Romnes went on a netting spree and put in two for himself and aided Johnny Gottselig with another. Paul Thompson got the other.

LONDON SQUAD DROPS DOUBLE OVER WEEK-END

Lloyd Cross Leads Bisons on Scoring Rampage for 7-0 Victory.

BULLDOGS WIN 4-2.

Syracuse Defeats Tecumsehs on Two Well-earned Counters for 2-1 Win.

TORONTO, Jan. 9. (CP)—Unable to score a goal against London Tecumsehs on London ice in more than a year, Buffalo Bisons are not lacking in this respect when they play the Tecs at Fort Erie. In an International Hockey League fixture Saturday against London, the Bisons indulged in one of the most prolific scoring orgies of the current schedule, bouncing six pucks past goalie Herbie Stuart in the final frame to win out 7-0.

After this rout, London travelled on to Syracuse Sunday and were subjected to further humiliation. The Stars eked out a 2-1 decision and drew up into a tie with Tecs for first place.

Windsor Bulldogs smarting from three defeats in one week, turned on the luckless Cleveland Indians Saturday and downed the tallenders by a 4-2 score.

Gross Leads Rampage

The largest turncut of the season, watched the Bisons, led by Lloyd Gross, break up a tight game and go on a rampage in the last session. After a scoreless first period, Gross notched a goal to give the Bisons a lead going into the final frame.

This same player started the fireworks two minutes after the frame opened. Before it was ended, Gross had counted another one, while Godin, Lederman, Carr and Jarvis also took turns at poking the puck into the London net.

The win kept Bisons' home record unblemished.

Two Well-Earned Goals

Syracuse had a harder time eking out their victory over the Tecs. Herbie Stuart recovered his eye and the two goals, the Stars counted were well earned.

Jack Markle teamed up with Harold Darragh for one in the first period and Dave Downie snared Whitey Fields' pass to backhand one into the London net.

Freddy Robertson, Syracuse defenceman was chased a few minutes later for holding and London massed inside their opponents' blue line, finally scoring when Gillie banged one past Benny Grant.

Despite the heavy body-checking, the game was comparatively clean.

Monopolizing Scoring

Three players monopolized the scoring honors in the Cleveland-Windsor clash. Al Huggins and Johnny Proudlock divided Windsor's four goals between them while Riley notched both Cleveland tallies.

Huggins counted both his goals in the first period and Proudlock dented the twine twice in the third. Riley got one in the second and his other in a last minute drive by the losers.

HOWARD MORENZ is just about the best centre player in the history of ice hockey. He started out as a goalie. The task proved too hard for him, 21 goals being scored on him in rapid succession. He transferred to offensive then.

THEATRES

TOM MIX IN "THE FOURTH HORSEMAN."

The shadow of this dandy actor never grows less, evidently. There were splendid crowds at the Regent on Saturday for one of Tom Mix's real, honest to goodness thrilling western stories.

In "The Fourth Horseman," he is Tom Martin, the hard-riding, honest hero who comes to the rescue of a maiden in distress and foils the plots of a band of thieves. They steal a town, this time, and are making plenty of money out of evil activities when Tom and the lady break up their schemes.

There is nothing in a Tom Mix him that has to be censored. It is clean entertainment from first to last, and the tall man with the broad shoulders gives every bit that's in him to make the picture vital. Western films had a habit formerly of being rather cheap, but these modern talkies have nothing mediocre about them. They are the real thing when it comes to fast and furious encounters, hard riding and thrilling stunts that are dangerous and spectacular.

Fred Kohler almost steals the picture from Tom, in the unlikeable role of a real villain, "Honest Ben" Jones, leader of a gang of train bandits and cutthroats. Margaret Lindsay is Molly O'Rourke from Medicine Hat, Alberta, the dark-haired heroine, and Raymond Hatton provides a bit of comedy as "Gabby."

For real entertainment and plenty of honest and thrilling excitement, and superb and daring horsemanship, Tom Mix provides the goods in "The Fourth Horseman."

There are also the usual short reels, with the animated "Woodland" cartoon in a hunting scene, with hunting music, and a comedy featuring the fat Gleasons.

—Jeanette.

MAX SCHMELING TO MARRY? ENGAGEMENT REPORT REVIVED

Rumor Links Name With Blonde Czech Film Actress of Berlin.

MAY BUY CASTLE

By ERIC G. BOY
(Special to The Examiner.)

BERLIN, Jan. 9.—Reports that Max Schmeling is engaged to Anny Ondra, beautiful blonde Czech film star, have been revived when the ex-champion of the heavyweights, made an automobile trip to Prague with her to attend the premiere of her latest movie comedy.

During his stay in Prague Schmeling frequently was seen driving around town with Miss Ondra, but when questioned about it he merly remarked he had been attracted "by the beauties of old Prague."

Schmeling tried to remain strictly incognito during his visit to Prague, but boxing fans soon recognized him at a tea dance in a hotel.

ANNY ONDRA

Max's unwillingness to discuss Miss Ondra may be attributed to his backwardness. He firmly believes in keeping out of the public eye as much as possible, except where ring engagements force him to do othewise. He would rather stay in the background and let somebody else take the bows and applause. His tastes are simple, he admits, has no great love for public functions or festivities.

The German battler spends most of his time hunting. Since he returned from the United States after beating Mickey Walker, Max has turned all of his enthusiasm to tramping through the woods for game. He says he find genuine pleasure in hunting and plans to keep it up until he leaves for the United States on his next invasion of American rings and for his recently signed bout with Max Baer of California, which will be held under the promotion of Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight titleholder, some time next June.

Anxious to continue his hunting, Schmeling has been reported as trying to purchase Wettrin Castle in Pommerani, which is famous for its game preserve. The ex-champion is said to have bid close to $250,000 for the castle.

VARSITY CLAN RETURNS AFTER TRIUMPHANT TOUR

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (C.P.). — A faultless record for their United States invasion packed in with their hockey equipment, the speedy band of puck-men who wear the blue and white of University of Toronto had returned to Canada to-day. They left behind them a sadly wrecked Harvard machine.

The Varsity engaged the John Harvards Saturday night and completely scuttled their hockey ship to the tune of eight goals to one. Previously the Torontonians had beaten Yale and Princeton, each by 3-1.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9 (C.P.). — Miss Johanna Kolstead of Norway, holder of numerous women's ski jumping titles, will make her American debut against America's best male jumpers at the central championship meet at Carb, Ill., January 22.

Miss Kolstead has performed creditably against men in Norway, but banning of mixed contests there caused her to come to the United States for competition.

Simmons Gets New Sox Uniform

Al Simmons, one of the heavy hitters of the American League, you will remember, was purchased by the Chicago White Sox last year from the Philadelphia Athletics. When the new dates went into the calendar, Mr. Lou Comiskey, who owns the Windy City American League team, sent his protege this brand new uniform as a present. Al couldn't wait until he could get to the diamond, and he tried it on in his milwaukee home.

SON OF "OLD ROMAN" MAKES MANY CHANGES IN WHITE SOX ROSTER

Lou Comiskey to Take Charge of Team Actively With Assistance of Hary Grabiner.

ABOLISH COACHES.

New Striped Stockings of Club Are Replaced by Old Pale Hose.

(By Paul Mickelson, Associated Press Sports Writer).

CHICAGO, Jan. 9. — (A.P.) — Babe Ruth and other big shots of baseball are getting the "play" these days as they train for the spring training trips, but don't overlook the biggest giant of them all.

Lou Comiskey, carrying on the White Sox fortunes for the late "old Roman," is warming up for the 1933 campaign too, with the thunder of determiantion in his eye. He's licking his weight problem, a matter of something like 340 pounds, and is out to haul the club back to its spot in the baseball sun.

When Lou's father, Charles A. Comiskey, died in October, 1931, the son's first impulse was to pick up the reins dropped by the "old Roman" and run the ball club as he saw fit. Later, he decided to abolish "any front office" interference and let Manager Lew Fonseca run the show. It didn't work. Beefore the season no less than 50 players wore the White Sox regimentals along the firing line an the story went around that even Fonseca failed to recognise many of the incoming recruits after days of service.

Takes Over Team.

As the season ended with the White Sox floundering in seventh place despite a great pitching staff, Comiskey made up his mind to take charge of the team actively with the able assistance of his chief lieutenant, Harry Grabiner. These are some of the results of their activities:

Purchase of three stars from the Philadelphia Athletics, Al Simmons, Jimmy Dykes and Mule Haas, who should steady the young team and give it enough punch and defence to make it a hard team to beat.

Abolish coaches. It's Comiskey's idea that he wil have enough good players on the team to coach the side-lines, including Urban "Red" Faber, Teddy Lyons, Dykes, Haas, Simmons and others.

Back to Pale Hose.

The new striped stockings were tossed out the window or handed to charity and the old white ones restored. The superstitious had said pale hose brought bad luck; others that they formed an optical illusion, made the players look bowlegged and gave them an inferirity complex. "Bunk" shouted Comiskey.

Front office direction restored. In 1933, a starting line-up will be named and retained until some chosen player demonstrates he can't keep up the required pace.

King Jack Pays $821 for Deuce

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex., January 9. — King Jack, 10-year-old campaigner, owned by F. Schultz, galoped home in the last race at the Agua Caliente track on Sunday to reward his backers at odds of $409.50 to 1.

The price, a record for the current meeting and among the all-time high odds in Western racing, paid $2 mutuel holders $821 to win, $73.80 to place, and $15.60 to show. It was the highest price quoted any horse of the day. Wee drop, favorite at $2.10 to one, was out of the money.

MIDDLE TITLE BOUT FEATURES

Battaglia and Jeby Meet on Friday for Walker Vacated Throne.

THIL ELIMINATIONS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9 (C.P.)—Quest for the world's middleweight championship, a rather doubtful matter ever since Mickey Walker abandoned the crown to compete in the heavier division, holds the top place on the United States fistic program this week.

Frankie Battaglia, Canadian slugger from Winnipeg, and Ben Jeby, rugged New Yorker, survivors of an elimination series, are the contestants in Friday's 15-round battle at Madison Square Garden. The New York State Athletic Commission has agreed to recognize the winner as the titleholder.

However, regardless of who wins he will likely be signed by the Garden to meet the winner of a bout planned between crafty Dave Shade of Los Angeles, and Vince Dundee, former titlist. It i sthen proposed to pit the winner against Marcel Thil, clever Parisian, recognized by the National Boxing Association as the king of the class.

Winnipegger Willing

Battaglia has announced his willingness to meet Thil and probably would have no objection to cornering some extra coin beforehand by meeting either Dundee or Shade, providing of course he bells Jeby into submission.

The New Yorker is pinning all his title hopes on the bout with the terrific punching Winnipeg youth, just turned 22.

The latter defeated Jeby in Chicago last march with one punch in the first round. But Jeby has improved since then and is confident he can give the Canadian a stout argument over the long route. Jeby passed up an opportunity to meet Thil in an overweight match in France in order to try and wipe out the stigma of his Chicago trouncing at the Garden on Friday.

Both boxers are training well for the joust. Battaglia looks a little fine but has not lost his punch as his sparring partners ruefully testify.

BENEFIT GAME FOR MERRETT

Manager Eddie Wright Challenges All-Star E.P.L. Team to Game.

PETES AWAY TO-NIGHT.

A reduction in prices over that of other years was decided upon for all O.H.A. games at the Brock this season, outside of possible play-offs, by the Hockey Club at their meeting over the week-end. General admission to the east side will be twenty-five cents. Reserved seats will be thirty-five cents. Standing room on the west side will be thirty-five for men and twenty-five for ladies. Children will be admitted for ten cents, but must stay on the east side unless accompanied by an adult. These prices are the lowest in many years if not in the entire history of the Brock, the reason being to permit as many local fans as possible to see good hockey, despite the business depression.

Manager Eddie Wright of the intermediates issued a challenge to an all-star East Peterborough League team to an exhibition benefit game to be held in the Brock within the near future for George Merrett, popular star local player who lost the sight of his left eye in a hockey accident last Friday.

He also reported a stiff workout Saturday by his team in preparation for their game in Orono this evening. He will have both Miller and Gillespie for goal, Weir, Howe and LeBarr on defence, the first line of Ellis, Dundas and Dallin, with Creighton, Hatton and Jarvis alternating. Following various other matters of minor importance being discussed, the meeting adjourned.

SPORTS Day by Day

HOCKEY—BOWLING—BOXING
BASKETBALL — OTHER SPORTS

(By C. J. P.)

There's another junior O.H.A. game here tomorrow (Tuesday) night at the Brock, Bowmanville meeting the young Petes. And the latter bunch goes back to Bowmanville Friday night. Following the junior affair here last week, the youthful local puck-chasers came in for a lot of praise by hockey followers around town. The general feeling is that the Petes are a brainy bunch and have a good chance of copping the group honors and going some place, as long as they get good ice.

The Petes are slated to go to Orono for an intermediate game this evening, as far as can be ascertained from a balled-up schedule, with Port Hope at Bowmanville. Then on Friday, the Ramblers tackle the Petes here, it being the initial O.H.A. fixture for this group at the Brock. Looks like Cobourg will be left out in the cold since their announced withdrawal last week because they were not permitted to use the Ethier brothers of Belleville. The group schedule will have to be revamped shortly, in that case.

• • • • • • •

In the E.P.L. there are three games booked for the week, but none of them to be played in Peterborough. Tonight, Herb Payne's Carters go to Norwood; Wednesday eve, it's the Combines in Lakefield; while on Friday, Westclox plays their home game against Kemp's crew in Norwood. City Hockey League games in Norwood this week are: Monday, Rangers vs. Norwood at 7.30; Friday, St. Peter's vs Norwood at 7.30 also. You might call it "Hockey Week" in the home of the Combines. A few city loop fixtures may be run off here during the week, too.

• • • • • • •

Southend League and West End Intermdiate loop both open this week—adding to the medley of ice music breaking upon us all at once. In the S.E.L., these games will be run off at the Sacred Heart Monday night: Warne Bros. vs. Canuck Bantams at six, Maple Leaf bantams vs. Empire Cubs at seven, Albion Knitting vs. Rangers' juveniles at eight, Northenders vs. Pirate intermediates at nine, and Canuck intermediates vs. Park Hill at ten. There'll be four more tussles run off in this circuit again on Thursday p.m.

• • • • • • •

West-end games at All Saints' Rink Wednesday are: Peterborough Canoe vs. All Saints at seven, Keene vs. Bruins at eight, and Maroons vs. George Street Church at nine. On Friday, it's All Saints vs. Keene at eight. And by the way, there'll be a meeting at All Saints' rink at 7.30 Thursday night to organize a gals' hockey loop, provided enough entries are assured. Any local or district bunch interested in ice a squad made up of the fair ones should attend this session Thursday. Remember the time and place.

• • • • • • •

We received word from Cobourg, after the above was written, but it failed to shed any more light on the matter. It was just an inside explanation of the reason for the club dropping out of the O.H.A., the same thing we had in four days ago. They crave sympathy for their action in ringing in two Quinte town players on the grounds of the depression, but we can't feel sorry for President Edwards who stated he would not back a loser. In striking contrast is Orme Gamsby's remark that his Orono team would be in there if they never won a game.

• • • • • • •

It seems to us that Cobourg can put a pretty fair squad on the ice without using their imports, although naturally a club likes to ice as strong a team as possible. But, since the O.H.A. ruled otherwise and since the club must have gone to considerable expense with equipment, etc., and wishes to get some hockey out of it, why not use the line-up they figured upon originally? There was McCourvey in goal with Elliott a sub, Baker and Gibson on defence, Campbell at centre, M. Geraldi and Ibey on the wings, with Shane, Howard, F. Geraldi, Henderson and Freeman as alternates. That's not a bad intermediate outfit in this grouping.

• • • • • • •

The local Hockey Club held a meeting Saturday evening and it was voted to maintain lower admission charges at the Brock for all O.H.A. games this winter. Prices decided upon are: East side, twenty-five cents, reserved seats thirty-five, men's standing room on the west side thirty-five, ladies' standing room twenty-five, and ten cents for children. The latter must stay on the east side unless accompanied by an adult. The reason the standing groom charge is such for men on the west side is to give the ladies who come in for two bits good accommodation. Such prices should go over big in these times.

• • • • •

Besides the two City League games mentioned above, both out of town, there will be two games played at the Brock during the week, both following the O.H.A. contests. After the junior game tomorrow night, St. Peter's will play Normal an inter-scholastic loop fixture that should keep some of the crowd. And Rotary meets P.C.I. on Friday night, following the intermediate game. Some smart hockey should be dished up with the other five teams after the crown now worn by Rotary. And that team has been strengthened this season, too, having a boy from Belleville who has a lot of hockey ability and who almost single-handedly won the opening game last week against Norwood.

• • • • • • •

The sympathy of this Sports' Department, as well as hockey players and fans in general here and through the district, will be with George Merrett, star intermediate E.P.L. player, former junior O.H.A. star, who lost the sight of his left eye in a game in Lakefield Friday, the result of an accident. The local intermediate have challenged an all-star E.P.L. team to a benefit game at the Brock within the next two weeks for the unfortunate player.

• • • • • • •

One thing and another: Jack Purcell, former Canadian badminton champ and one of the outstanding exponents of that game in the world to-day, will give an exhibition at the Armouries Wednesday with the local Military Badminton Club . . . . Church Hockey League games are Mondays and Thursdays at All Saints, eighteen teams playing in all . . . . Those Detroit Red Wings shot up from the cellar so fast lately to the top of the loop, other clubs still think it was a comet . . . . There's enough hockey on the books here this week to give any fan all he can handle; now Mr. Arthur Mometer, don't go getting a rush of mercury to the head!

Studio lots in Hollywood are so large that it is quite possible for persons to work there for years without becoming acquainted unless their duties bring them together. Such was the case when Claudette Colbert and Elissa Landi worked in "The Sign of the Cross." They did not appear in the same scenes and it so happened that their paths never crossed during the three months their parts in the picture were being filmed.

MURRAY STREET JUNIORS DROP FIRST CAGE GAME OF SEASON

Mark Street Scores Close Victory by Taking 17 to 16 Decision.

CHURCH BASKETBALL.

Murray Street Juniors lost their first Church Basketball League game of the season at the "Y" on Saturday, Mark Street winning a great 17-16 battle. It was 12-3 for the losers starting the second half of the schedule, but the Ashburnham lads came through to win out toward the end.

Mel Hunter played a fine game at centre, with J. Smith and Sagar also going good. It was the best game of the season, neither side scoring in the last three minutes and the tussle being marked with hard checking. George Hunter was high scorer for Mark Street, with eight points. A. Holmes, who scored ten points, and Galley went best for Murray Street, with Millar and Lasenby being fair. Vince Holmes marred the affair by being temperamental, while Galley was missed after he left in the second period.

Mark Street — Sagar, Pearse, G. Hunter, M. Hunter, Reynolds, Ferguson, Mackay, and Smith.

Referee—Russ Kitchen.

Scorer—Don Charlton.

George Street A Wins 22-0.

The first juvenile game went to George Street A, 22-0, over Knox, the latter being outplayed but not outgamed. They missed ten free throws, poor shooting being noticeable. Watson tried hard for them The victors, last year's winners, showed their usual high-class form, with Kingdon going real good. The teams:

Knox—LeClair, Johnston, Watson, and Smythe.

George Street — Fair, Kingdon, George Street — Fair, Kingdon, Wright, Heard, Roberts, L. Galley.

Referee—V. Holmes.

Scorer—Art Stinson.

St. Paul's Juveniles took a 6-5 win from George Street B, it being another smart contest. The losers nearly tied it up at the end, Ash sinking a free throw but stepping over the line too soon. Stinson, Gunsolus, and Weese showed good combination, with Ash turning in effective defensive work. The winners lacked combination with Al. Clark being absent. Latimer went well on defence. The teams:

George Street B—Stinson, Gunsolus, Weese, Henry, and Ash.

St. Paul's — G. Clark, Pulkinghorn, Barr, Anderson, Latimer.

Referees — V. Holmes and Max Swarts. Scorer—Doug. McPherson.

Vancouver Woman Sets Bowling Mark

VANCOUVER, January 9 (C.P.). — Mrs. Marie Gerrard, local ten-pin exponent, hung up what is claimed to be a world's record for endurance during the week-end when she rolled 136 continuous games, making the creditable average of 165 10-12.

The previous mark was 130 games established in Detroit several years ago by a woman who averaged 168.

Mrs. Gerrard commenced her record-breaking performance at 10 o'clock taking 16 hours, with two five-minute intervals for meals, to complete the 135 games.

54 hours of the affair gone, Scheer and Buschenhagen of Germany were leading the ride to nowhere, with 898 miles behind them. They had collected 299 sprint points Rausch and Hurtgen were in second place with 167 points and the same distance, while one lap behind were Goebel and Pijnenburg. Brass-Penning and Wals were slightly behind Peden and Stubecke in points

Torchy had a nasty spill during the night, but was uninjured.

Rice exports from the Philippines this winter are expected to reach 1,000,000 tons.

Hack is Still Looking for a Home; He's One of Hockey's Saddest Cases

By WILBIS ENTWISTLE

TORONTO, Jan. 9.—Hack Simpson, former amateur hockey star, is one of the tragedies of modern professional hockey.

Hack Simpson

Bought by the Montreal Maroons after his successful career with the world champion Winnipeg Olympic squad, Simpson failed to make the grade with Eddie Gerard's team and was farmed out to the Windsor Bulldogs of the International League. But when the players rule was put on the International League clubs and teams had to cut down their rosters, Windsor decided Simpson wasn't quite the equal of others on the squad and so he was returned to Montreal, who soon found that nobody had room for Simpson. The upshot is that the player may find himself in the new Western Canada league.

Prairie folk say Simpson is a slow starter, and it gets around Christmas before he is able to produce his best form. Unfortunately, the big professional clubs cannot wait that long for exponents of the rugged ice game to round into shape.

Simpson has always been considered a great defence man as far as stopping the other fellow was concerned, but never was known as an attacker of strength.

In fact, the whole of the Winnipeg Olympic team was considered notoriously poor in goal-scoring sense and won most of their games by the 1-0 route.

MR. GOSHAWK'S WARM RECEPTION

Mr. Goshaw, the Gray Terror, was impatient. He was almost too impatient to sit stilll. Here it was daylight and it had been daylight for some time, and yet though he had twice flown high enough in the air to see Farmer Brown's barnyard there had been no sign of the hens or the pigeons he had expected to see there. It was provoking. It was worse than provoking. You see he had set his heart on a breakfast of chicken or pigeon, he didn't care which. He had set his heart (or should I say stomach?) on that breakfast and he was hungry and growing hungrier every minute. Yet there was no breakfast in sight. He didn't understand it.

But the reason was very simple. Farmer Brown's Boy had shut the pigeons and the hens in the day previous and he had not let them out yet. Nor did he intend to let them out right away. You see he suspected that Mr. Goshawk would seek his breakfast in the barnyard if the chickens and the pigeons were allowed out, and so, for their own good he kept them shut up. That is, he kept all but one shut up.

That one was an old hen who had nearly outlived her usefulness. Some time after he had finished his own breakfast and done his morning work he took this particular biddy in his arms and carried her out in the barnyard. With a short piece of string he fastened her by a leg to the fence, threw a handful of corn in front of her to keep her contented and then went into the barn, the door of which he left open a little way. Just inside he sat down on a box and with his terrible gun in his hands prepared to wait. He was prepared to be very, very patient and to wait a long, long time if necessary. You see he had fully made up his mind that he must shoot Mr. Goshawk. He didn't want to do it, but he felt that he must in order to save his pigeons and his chickens and his little friends of the Green Meadows and the Green Forest. Mr. Goshaw had become a Pest and Pests must be got rid of.

She looked up and then with a frightened shriek started to run

But Farmer Brown's Boy didn't have very long to wait. Mr. Goshawk discovered that poor biddy before she had picked up more than half the corn scattered for her. He wondered where the other hens and the pigeons were. He was disappointed because he had thought to kill more than one. But one would make a breakfast for him and perhaps later he would have another chance. So Mr. Goshawk headed straight for the barnyard. Not a living thing was in sight but that old hen picking up corn. There was no sign of Farmer Brown's Boy. Mr. Goshawk set his wings and shot down.

Something warned Mrs. Biddy. She looked up and then with a frightened shriek started to run. Of course, the string by which she was tied brought her up short and she fell in a fluttering heap. The great cruel claws of Mr. Goshawk were already set to seize her when suddenly there was a flash of fire from a doorway of the barn. It was followed by another. Bang! bang! roared a terrible gun. Something that stung hit Mr. Goshawk. This and the sudden fright caused by the flashes and the noise made him miss Mrs. Biddy altogether. In great haste he set his big wings in motion and hurried to get away. He didn't like such a warm reception.

What Today Means to YOU

By MARY BLAKE

"CAPRICORN"

If January 9th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 11.15 a.m. to 12.30 p.m., from 3 p.m. to 4 p.m. and again from 7.30 p.m. to 8.15 p.m. The danger periods are from 8 a.m. to 9.30 a.m. and from 5.30 p.m. to 6.30 p.m.

Influences on this day will be of a disturbing nature. You will find yourself on "pins and needles" and extremely restless. Conflicting forces will seem to make it difficult to make decisions, and even after you have made up your mind on a set course of actions, you will be hesitant about following it. A proposal of marriage is uncertain of outcome.

Born on this January 9th, the child will be rather difficult to handle. Strong tempered and inclined to be wilful it will always strive to have its own way. This child cannot be handled with "kid-gloves." To "spare the rod" early in life may lead to difficulties at an older age. The child should show marked leanings towards things mathematical and mechanical.

If January 9th is the date of your birthday, you are inclined to be one of the many "leaners" of the world. In other words, you are not a self-sufficient person. Constantly you turn to another or to others for support, both moral and physical. You are lacking in originality; you are not a person of ideas. If you are a woman, you are the so-called "clinging-vine" type. To men and women born on this date: take care that you do not smother and destroy those to whom you cling. Learn to stand on your own feet, to do your own thinking, and to provide for your own moral and physical welfare.

Born on January 9th, though you have a strong negative side to your character, you are not lacking in many fine qualities. You are gentle and kind and understanding. You are spiritually minded; and you can help many to find their winding way through the mists of material existence. People turn to you readily for help and sympathy which you are always ready to give. You are naturally a good person; you have little of evil in your own make-up and you do not see or look for evil in others.

When there is a heavy frost cold enough to blacken growing vegetation it is called a "black frost."

Rupert Nicol Is Re-Elected Trustee

Much Business Done at Annual Meeting for Roseneath School Section.

ROSENEATH, Jan. 9. (Examiner Correspondence).—The Roseneath school house was well filled on Wednesday afternoon for the annual school meeting, and general business. Harry Mouncey was appointed chairman and Lewis Roberts secretary for the meeting.

On motion by H Coyle, seconded by G. Turner, that Andrew Brown be section auditor.—Carried.

By ballot Rupert Nichol was re-elected trustee for a term of three years, having already served the section for the past seven years. C. W. Varcoe and William Mouncey are the remaining trustees.

Several items of business were left for the trustees to attend to re the school fair, purchasing lumber for platform, etc.

Harry Coyle was given the contract of supplying six cords of 2-foot wood, beech and maple, at $4.90 a cord, same to be delivered at school and piled outside for inspection of trustees and piled inside the shed by June 1st, 1933.

Andrew Brown was given the contract of 2 cords of cedar at $2.40 per cord. Same to be split and piled in wood-shed at the school.

During the past year there has been many improvements done in connection with the school. The senior room was repainted in the summer holidays and looks 100 P.C. better, being clean and sanitary. The junior room was thoroughly washed that the interior was amply as clean as the senior.

Chemical toilets have been installed for each room which is a great health protector for the children. These were purchased from the T.G. Engineering Co. and cost $425.00; work and material including nails, lumber, tile, etc., cost $187.45, making a total of $612.45; Government grant, $400; leaving a balance of $212.45 to the section. In considering the expenses, to the benefit the children will derive from these sanitary closets, it is hoped that every ratepayer of the section is thoroughly satisfied with such a convenience.

Rupert Nichol was appointed secretary-treasurer for S.S. No. 2 Ainwick at a salary of $15 for his service.

Warsaw

There was a good attendance at the first meeting of the Warsaw United W.M.S. on Thursday afternoon in the Sunday School Room. Encouraging reports on the work of the past year were given by the secretary and treasurer. Thirteen meetings were held, including special Temperance Day, Missionary Monthly Day, Easter, and Christmas meetings. Systematic envelopes for 1933 were distributed. Mrs. Charlotte Cooper, for Group A, took charge of the program, Mrs. Roland read a poem, "God is Working His Purpose Out." Mrs. Arthur Payne and Mrs. Charlotte Cooper gave readings on China and Japan. Lunch was served by the members of Group A, and a social half-hour was enjoyed.

On returned to her home in Toronto, Miss Velma Payne found the prize she won for getting the highest marks in the judging class in Toronto in 1931. She did not know she had earned it until she received the book, "Flowers for the Living," and the note from Mr. Putnam.

Mrs. Malt and Gardner (formerly Lyall Miller), of Norwood, isivisiting her father, Mr. Stuart Miller.

MOUNT JULIAN.

The many friends of Mr. William Shewen will be glad to know he is making favorable progress toward recovery at his home at Burleigh Falls, where he returned on Christmas Eve from St. Joseph's Hospital.

A euchre party was held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Lean, when Mr. Jack McFadden won the gent's first prize, while lady's first went to Mrs. Jack Matthews, with consolation awards going to Mr. Herb Tucker and Mrs. Ernie Lean.

The congregation of Holy Trinity Anglican Church presented Miss Matilda Moore with a purse of money at the Christmas season in appreciation of her services as organist in the church.

Miss Bessie Thompson, of Long Island, N. Y., and Mrs. Charles Blezard, of Toronto, are at Mount Julian, called here owing to the sudden and tragic death of their father, the late Mr. William Thompson.

Harvard-Princeton Football Feud Ends

CAMBRIDGE, Mass, Jan. 9 (AP) One of the United States classic and most colorful athletic relationships stood renewed to-day as Hardvard and Princeton scheduled home-and-home football games with each other'

The gridiron rivalry began in 1877, was shattered in 1926 with unofficial charges of "rough play" against Princeton and recriminations on both sides. Last night the feud was officially ended with a joint statement by William J. Bingham, director of athletics at Harvard, and Thurston J. Davies, supervisor of sports at Princeton.

FIRE CHIEF'S CAR IS IN COLLISION

Two Cars Collided at Corner of Water and McDonnel Street.

ANSWERING ALARM.

Speeding to a fire with siren screeching at 11 o'clock Saturday night, Fire Chief Gimblett's car met in collision at the corner of Water and McDonnel streets with a car driven by Andrew Rutter, 554 Downie street. Both cars were damaged, the two wheels on the right side of Rutter's vehicle being broken and the right front wheel on the Chief's car.

Rutter was making a left hand turn off Water street to go west on McDonnel street, when struck by Chief Gimblett's car which was proceeding north on Water street. Marks on the pavement indicated that the brakes on the Fire Chief's car had been applied 80 feet back from the point of impact.

The cars crashed together, and then skidded north against the sidewalk and over the curb. It was in skidding against the curb that the wheels were broken.

Officers Elected For St. James' L.A.

The Ladies' Aid of St. James' United Church, held their annual meeting and election of officers for 1933, on Thursday afternoon.

The president, Mrs. W. D. Sargent, presided over the devotional period and while the year's work was being reported by the various officers and convenors of the many active departments of the society.

The reports were of a most encouraging nature for an admittedly difficult year. For the election of officers, the pastor, Rev. A. E. Moorhouse officiated and the following executive was elected to carry on this very important part of church work.

Hon. President, Mrs. A. Wilson; President, Mrs. W. D. Sargent; 1st Vice-President, Mrs. H. J. Davidson; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. Frank Pratt; Rec. Sec., Mrs. M. Stokes; Assistant Sec., Mrs. J. Roberts; Treasurer, Mrs. J. A. Fry; Assistant Treasurer, Mrs. M. H. Drysdale; Pianist, Mrs. A. Brumwell; Assistant Pianist, Mrs. William Atkinson. Committee Convenors: Devotional, Mrs. George Ingham; Flower, Mrs. Norman Dunbar; Social, Mrs. Frank Pratt; Parsonage, Mrs. A. Wilson; Visiting, Mrs. J. Roberts; Program, Mrs. A. Brumwell Press Secretary, Mrs. Wagar; Representative to Local Council of Women, Mrs. A. Cripps.

A hymn, and the Benediction by Rev. Mr. Moorhouse concluded an interesting annual meeting, with a very hopeful outlook into the New Year.

A Question Of Identity

It looks very much as if Billie Burke, widow of the great stage impresario, Florenz Ziegfeld, succeeded where Ponce de Leon failed and has found the "Fountain of Youth." This picture, made when Miss Burke, now in films, lunched with her daughter, Patricia Ziegfeld, in Los Angeles, recently, provides an interesting problem for anyone not personally acquainted with the charming subjects; for it is almost impossible to tell which is mother and which daughter. But for your information Miss Burke is left.

GRAND-DAUGHTER OF SELFRIDGE RUNS NEWSPAPER—ONLY TWELVE

ADVICE TO BRITAIN

By MARY HACKER
Central Press Canadian Correspondent

LONDON, January 9 — London's youngest editor is little dark-haired Princess Tatiana Wiasemsky, granddaughter of H. Gordon Selfridge, London's American department store king.

At the age of twelve she runs a monthly newspaper for contemporaries of her own age called the "Will-O-the-Wisp," with all the proper newspaper equipment such as a financial editor, a competition column, a free insurance and editorials full of advice to the country.

Here is the princess' own statement about her paper:

"We stand for clean journalism, and will always be found on the side of an upright policy.

"We are an independent journal with independent ideas."

The independent journal has now been before the public for eleven months. It has already a public of five hundred and its insurance claims roll in.

I asked the princess the nature of most of such insurance claims.

"Oh, chicken pox, and having tonsils out," she answered, and pointed out to me an acknowledgement for a check of half a dollar sent to a reader who has recently been bereft of her tonsils.

"Have you a legal adviser?"

"Oh, no, we just get cerificates from their parents, or their guardians."

Dressed in a plain white blouse and a neat dark skirt, this enterprising young woman comes home from school to invade the offices of advertising managers. Her very first subscriber, in the day when the paper was only founded in her hopes, was a bus-conductor to whom she began to talk on her way to school.

To the 'Will-O-the Wisp" the Bank of England apparently looks for advice. In April the editorial commented:

"We have been watching with a good deal of interest what the directors of the Bank of England are doing about the bank rate, and if they will take another half per cent off, and I don't know why not a whole per cent. Why take two bites at a cherry?

"The Will-O-the-Wisp is always for cheap money."

A month later came the headline: "Bank of England takes our advice."

Mr. Montagu Norman, is to be supposed, rushed to read the following paragraph, which remarked:

"In our April number we pointed out that the bank rate was too high, and advised its reduction, and we are happy to announce that hardly did the ink have time to dry on the sheets of our paper when the directors of the Bank of England met, and decided to take our advice and lower the bank rate.

"We congratulate them on the wisdom of their action, and cannot help feeling very much gratified. We may say we have received many congratulations on the courageous way we put forward our advice.

"We propose from time to time to make suggestions by which the great empire will benefit, such as unifying the currency within the empire, and we even hope that we may succeed in convincing the Houses of Parliament of the advantages which would accrue from such far-sighted action."

"What is your financial policy?" I asked with considerable interest.

The princess passed a hand through the editorial hair.

"We are independent," she pointed out, "we want to give people real advice."

She stroked an editorial lovingly.

"The paper is something of a family institution, isn't it?"

"Oh, yes," she answered, "my grandfather had one. He called it by the same name. That was a long time ago—fifty years."

This paper circulates on the continent and in America, as well as in England. Its stories, fashion notes, and features are drawn from both sides of the Atlantic; and some of them are extremely good. Here is a paragraph entitled: "America will come back."

"At the present moment," it begins, "America is arousing great interest in Europe. We read that al lost a lot of money, they are really though many people there have much happier than when they were millionaires."

Oh, sweet content! But there is better to follow.

"The country is just passing through a bad phase, out of which it will soon emerge, and once more become one of the richest nations in the world.

"We feel confident of this, because we are sure the splendid citizens will use their ingenuity, for which they are famous.

With her bright eyes, round face, and pretty dark hair, the writer looks as if optimism has specially favored her.

"What a lot of work this must make!" I said.

"Yes, I'm terribly busy, but you see I only have school in the mornings except on Tuesdays, so I can spent my afternoons canvassing for advertisements and interviewing people."

She marks a column, and hands it to me. It summarizes her outlook.

"One day soon, we hope the big banks and business companies will realize what a valuable medium the Will-O-the Wisp is, and what a lot of influence our paper has, and that they will try to get space in our advertising columns, to public their balance sheets because, yu know, in twenty years or so we children will be helping to run things, and it is just as well for them to establish business friendships with us now, even though we're still very young."

DON CRAWFORD HEADS Y'S MEN

Y's Men's Club Had Six 100 Per Cent. Meetings in 1932.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

Don Crawford was elected president of the Y's Men's Club at a recent meeting of the club held in the Y.M.C.A. Other officers were elected as follows: First vice-president, Percy Johnson; second vice-president, Fred Shaw; secretary, Hugh Morton; treasurer, Bill Jeffries; pianist, George Nicholls.

Six 100-percent meetings were reported by the secretary for 1932, and the average attendance was 90 percent. During the year the club donated $100 to the "Y" building fund, $25 to the "Y" financial campaign, $14 to the Boys' Work Board conference, advanced $15 to a local man to secure employment out of town, and donated tools to the Boys' Department of the "Y".

By gaining fifth place in the Buckingham contest, the club secured a prize of 100 toys, bags of candy and nuts, which were distributed to needy children at Christmas.

military force," exclaims President Eamon de Valera in his own constituency of Clare. "If there was highway robbery who was the highway robber—the highway robber is the country which seeks to extract from us that which is properly our own.

"Show Thomas," Mr. De Valera added in reference to the British Secretary for the Dominions, while cheers rang out, "that you are not to be intimiated or frightened."

"The fight with England is in its last phase," declared James Geoghegan, Minister of Justice, at Athlone.

Show The World.

"De Valera decided on the election," says Gerald Botand, Republican election director, "because he is going to make the whole world, and England in particular, realize that Ireland meant what she said at the polls 12 months ago."

"This is a fight between England and Ireland," were the opening words at a great open air Republican demonstration at Cork. "Are we going to strike the flag of Ireland to the Union Jack?" rang the chairman's voice through the amplifiers.

T. P. Dowdall, one of the Republican candidates, echoed the British Government was "trying to put the halter round the neck of the nation and haul it after the chariot wheels of John Bull."

All of which, of course, is mainly inspired by the dispute over the land annuities, but it goes deeper than that.

Occasionally the stress of the campaign reveals what happened—or is alleged to have happened — during Mr. Thomas's diverting bridge game with the Free State delegation at the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa.

Secret Service

"I have reason to know" Sean Lemass, Minister of Industry and Commerce, informed Tipperary electors, "that Britain maintains an extensive secret service in the Free State. I learned it while attending the Ottawa Conference where my colleagues and I were shown reports received from Ireland by Mr. Thomas."

The Sinn Fein, not satisfied with the pace of the Republican Party, declares it will not participate in the election. The Sinn Fein statement declares: "The words of the proclamation dissolving the late parliament and announcing its successor 'in the name of His Majesty the King' should be enough for any respecting Republican. The usurpation known as Irish Free State has been a lie since it was established by force and corruption. It is a lie to-day. It will be a disgrace to the living and an insult to the dead until it is swept out of existence by the courage and determination of the majority or minority of the Irish people." Only a Republican will satisfy the Sinn Fein.

Another side of the economic war with Great Britain appears in the emergence of the Independent Farmer candidates and candidates of the recently formed National Farmers and Ratepayers' League.

Pay in Treble.

W. R. Kent has left the Republicans to run as a Farmer candidate in East Cork. James Coburn, Independent candidate in Kilbarry, complains the farmers "now have to pay their annuities in treble."

"We have the extraordinary spectacle," Mr. Coburn continued, "of De Valera shouting defiance at the greatest Empire in the world and quailing before William Norton — a man of five feet five." Norton is leader of the Labor Party whose support kept De Valera in power.

To-day the Republican Party makes a special appeal to the farmer vote with half-page advertisements announcing that all land annuities will be reduced by one-half. This follows previous announcements of the impending concession. It is designed to meet the complaint that the farmer is still having to pay the land annuities which De Valera is withholding from Great Britain.

FOUR FIRE ALARMS OVER WEEK-END

Fire Breaks Out at 800 Water Street Under Open Fireplace.

Four small outbreaks of fire occurred over the week-end, the most serious being that which caused an alarm shortly after ten-thirty Sunday night at 800 Water street, where damage which will probably exceed $100 was caused.

The fire had its origin in the woodwork beneath the hearth of an an open fireplace. Chief Gimblett desires to call the attention of householders to the possible danger of fire in homes that have open fireplaces, particularly if the brick hearth is not in good repair.

It was while proceeding north on Water street to this fire, that the Chief's car was in collision with another automobile at the intersection of McDonnel street.

On Saturday night there were two chimney fires, one at 273 McDonnel street and the other at St. Luke's Church. The other alarm yesterday was occasioned by overheated stovepipes at 285 Romaine street.

CHURCH SESSION AT FRASERVILLE

Pot Luck Supper is Followed By Reports From Various Organizations.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

FRASERVILLE, Jan. 9.—(Examiner Correspondence).—The congregational meeting of Fraserville United Church and Sunday School was held on Thursday evening in the Orange Hall in the form of a pot luck supper, when after all had partaken of supper provided by the ladies, Rev. E. M. Cook acted as chairman and reports of the various organizations were heard.

In the absence of the secretary Willard Waterman was appointed to that position for the evening. Miss Jean Holden, Miss B. Ressor, president, and Stan. Church, past president, reported a very successful year for the Young People's League, which was organized in January, 1932, and continued all through the summer months.

The Ladies' Aid report was given by the secretary, Mrs. W. Johnson, who reported a good year for the society, and after all bills were paid a balance on hand of $18.55.

Robert Delahaye, treasurer, reported a creditable year for the church, with all outstanding accounts paid.

New Officers.

The following were elected for 1933: Secretary, Mrs. W. G. Waterman; treasurer, R. Delahaye; stewards, Arthur Wood, James Lackey, Williard Waterman, Ray Finlay, Stewart Hogg; elders, Fred. Lewers, James Lackey and Robert Delahaye; pianist, Mrs. Will. Hambidge; assistant, Mrs. W. A. Kidd; fuel committee, Will. Hambidge and Stewart Hogg; parsonage committee, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Finlay, Mrs. Willard Waterman and Arthur Wood; ushers, Frank Lackey and Ray Bothwell; assistants, Harry Cunningham and Clifton Carl.

Ray Finlay, superintendent of the Sunday School, said the past year had been a very happy one working in the Sunday School, as he had received full co-operation and support from the teachers, officers and scholars. He then called on Ralph Hambidge, secretary of the Sunday School, who gave a very full report. The highest attendance of the year was 112, with an average attendance of 90. Total money raised was $169.83, $20 being given to missions, with a balance on hand of $29.40.

S.S. Officers.

The officers of the Sunday School for the year 1933 are as follows: Superintendent, Ray Finlay; assistant, Stan. Church; secretary, Ralph Hambidge; assistant, Ray Bothwell; treasurer, Frank Lackey; pianist, Miss Mildred Moncrief; assistant, Miss Mary Wood; superintendent of temperance, Ray Finlay's class and Frank Lackey's class; missionary superintendent, Mrs. W. A. Kidd; assistant, Mrs. Ray Finlay; superintendent of cradle roll, Mrs. Arthur Hewitt; Bible class teacher, Miss B. Reesor; assistant, Mrs. W. A. Kidd; young men's class, Mrs. Ray Finlay; intermediate boys, Frank Lackey; intermediate girls, Mrs. W. A. Wood; primary, Mrs. Richard Moncrief; beginners, Miss Roberta Holden.

Strength Failed

Hamilton, Ont.—"When one of my babies was four months old my strength failed. I was not able to eat anything, had dizzy sick-headaches, developed quinsy sore throat and felt miserable all over—was confined to bed," said Mrs. J. Dunsmuir of 294 Beach Road. "I started using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and after a few doses there was a big improvement in my condition and when I had completed the third bottle I certainly felt fine and strong again."

HEPBURN IN WEST YORK

TORONTO, Jan. 10.—(C.P.) — Mitchell F. Hepburn, M.P., Ontario Liberal leader, will address delegates to the West York Provincial Liberal Association convention to be held here Saturday. This announcement was made at a meeting of the Association last night when t was decided 10 delegates would be allowed to represent each polling division at the convention.

WOULD UNSEAT REEVE.

COBOURG. — Legal proceedings have been launched by W. J. Corbett, candidate for Reeve in the recent municipal elections, to unseat Reeve W. E. Cooper. Corbett contends that Reeve Cooper is in arrears with his tax payments for the years 1931 1932. The case will be heard before Judge L. V. O'Connor on January 19.

FIRST MEETING.

TORONTO, — Graduates, now resident in Toronto, of the Catholic congregation of the Notre Dame Sisters of Montreal held their first meeting in this city last night. The Notre Dame congregation has recently established a branch in Toronto. About 40 former pupils of the congregation's establishments at Montreal and Kingston attended the re-union.

SUGGEST CIVIC ABBATOIR.

SAULT STE MARIE, Ont. — A butter and cheese factory and civic abbatoir as a stimulant to the agricultural industry in the Algoma District featured discussions at the first meeting of Council this year. While no definite action was taken, the Council supported both propositions, and early action was indicated.

BOYS LOSE FATHER.

TORONTO, Jan. 10—(C.P.) — Motherless for years, 16 year old Ray Nelson and his 14 year old brother were orphaned to-day following the finding of their father's body, a victim of carbon monoxide fumes, in the garage at the rear of their home.

B. A. Nelson, 38, local contractor, was discovered seated in his car by his son Ray. The engine of the car was still running when the boy, worried over his father's failure to come home, made the discovery.

SHOTS ARE FIRED AT CONTRACTOR

Shooting Follows Blackhand Letters Sent to Wealthy Toronto Italian.

POLICE GUARD HOME.

TORONTO, Jan. 10.—(CP)—"Two shots, ringing out in the night, crashed through the bedroom window of James Franceschini's palatial home near Mimico. They followed a Blackhand demand for $3,000 directed at this wealthy Italian contractor who, 26 years ago, landed in this country penniless, utterly ignored by everyone and unable to speak a word of English", said the Toronto Telegram today.

"The shots, about which police claim to know nothing, mark another thrilling chapter in the life story of this Italian immigrant that reads like fiction but is utter, startling truth," the newspaper continued.

"A digger of ditches 26 years ago. Then a man of no account, a man with few friends but no enemies.

"But now, reputed a millionaire, Franceschini has power, friends and all that life offers. But strangely, now, he faces the loss of life itself at the hands of unkown extortionists."

Franceschini, the newspaper says, was asked to pay $3,000. When he failed to do so, two shots shattered the window of his bedroom and stirred provincial and municipal police to action. The home is now reported under guard.

These are charactertic camera studies of Mahatma M. K. Gandhi, leader of the Indian independence movement, who now reposes in jail in India. Gandhi is still the spiritual leader of the country. India Is Near Revolt Gandhi Lost His Hold On Younger Classes

Gathering Revolt in India Against Religion, Poverty, Ignorance and Backwardness — Students Feel Violence is Only Recourse.

ALMOST HALF OF 40,000 STUDENTS OF BENGAL ARE CLASSED AS SOCIAL REVOLUTIONISTS

(By Frazier Hunt—Written Expressly for Central Press Canadian and The Examiner.)

Great and awe-inspiring as is India's political revolution, it is probably neither as important nor as deep-rooted as India's gathering revolt against religion, poverty, ignorance, and backwardness.

Not long ago in Calcutta I talked for three hours with a young post-graduate student of Calcutta University, who only the evening before had been released from prison after serving a six months' sentence for civil disobedience.

The crime he had committed was to preside at a great student protest meeting that had been forbidden by a special ordinance.

"Almost half of the 40,000 students of Bengal Province are Social Revolutionists," he said to me.

"Altogether there have been some 5,000 of us in prison—both boys and girls.

Sees Need of Revolt.

"We know that India needs more than a political revolution — more than the mere driving out of the British. That must come first, of course, but a great social overhauling of the whole of Indian life must march along with it. India's political revolution can only succeed if the peasants who make up some 85 per cent. of the entire population are completely won over.

"And the peasant, wallowing in the ignorance and religious bigotry of the past, debt-ridden and half-fed, can only be won if his material condition can be helped. And that means social revolution."

I used the word Communist and asked how red his fellow-students were.

"There are very few real Bolsheviks now," he answered. "Students here in Belgal turn rather to the philosophy of terrorism. For the past six months there has been on an average of two attempted murders of officials each month. The terrorist students feel that violence is their only recourse — their only effective method of protest."

"But Gandhi preaches non-violence," I argued.

Still Follow Gandhi.

"Gandhi has lost his hold on the most extreme students and young men," he answered. "Most of us however, still follow him as long as he does not make too great a compromise with the British. Eventually he will be forced to choose

250 CANDIDATES IRISH ELECTION

De Valera Leads With 93, Cosgrave 83 and Labor Next With 20.

SIX WOMEN OUT.

(By George Hambleton, C.P. Staff Writer.)

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Jan. 10.—(C.P. Cable). — Two hundred and fifty candidates are expected to be in the field for the elections when the nominations close to-morrow.

The total number of seats in the Dail is 153.

Party conventions have already chosen 231 candidates, as follows:

Fianna Fail, (De Valera's party) 93.
Cumann na nGaedheal (Cosgrave's party) 83.
Labor 20.
Farmers' and Ratepayers' League 19.
Independent Farmers 6.
Independent Labor 1.
Independents 8.
Communists 1.

Six women are included in this total of candidates, they being evenly divided between the Fianna Fail and the Cumann na n Gaedheal. Miss Margaret Pearse is running for the Fianna Fail in Dublin county.

Unless there is a rush at the last minute before nominations close there will be less candidates this year than at the general elections last year. The number of candidates nominated then was 278, of which the Fianna Fail had 104, Cumann na n Gaedheal 100, Independents 34, Labor 31 Farmers 9.

Labor this year does not expect to have more than 21 candidates in the field.

567 CITY HOMES BEEN INSPECTED BY RELIEF MEN

Great Need For Clothing is Found By Relief Investigators.

CREDIT LIMIT CUT.

Three Aldermen Are Appointed as Members of Board of Health.

Only three irregularities were found in 537 inspections made by the four investigators appointed under the city's special Relief Committee, Ald. Tuggey reported to the council last night.

Because beer was being brewed in these three homes, relief was suspended. No other irregularities were discovered.

"In fourteen places it was recommended that windows and doors be made weather proof" the report continued. "Provision of clothing was recommended in 182 families. Three children in one family were found going to school without underwear."

One child in another family was found in similar need. About 160 families have yet to be visited.

Ald. Tuggey asked the council whether they wished to retain the four inspectors in view of the extent of the general investigation that had been completed.

Mayor Denne suggested that this detail might be left to the Relief Committee to submit a report if they did not need the inspectors any longer.

Appeal to Citizens

"The Committee has asked me," Mayor Denne said, "to appeal to the citizens for used clothing. There is a great need in this respect.

Dorchester Convicts Still Held In Cells

DORCHESTER, N.B., Jan. 10.—(C.P.)—Most of the convicts in the Maritime penitentiary here were still confined to their cells to-day as a result of rioting last Saturday, but the stable, farm, bakery and kitchen gangs had resumed their routine. Warden George T. Goad thought the workshops would be in operation later this week.

Five prisoners were recovering from bullet wounds sustained when guards were forced to fire during the conflict.

The prison staff continued repairing windows and fixtures broken by the rioters. Temporary tarpaulin coverings are being used to help keep out the cold, but until final repairs are made, or the weather becomes milder, the cell blocks will remain far from warm.

HOUSE - SENATE BREACH LIKELY TO STAY REPEAL

Speaker Garner, Holding Whip Hand, is Outspoken in Criticism of Plan.

DIFFERS FROM PLATFORM.

Informs Press He Will Not Allow it to be Taken Up in House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (A.P.) — A wide breach between United States Senate and House of Representative Democrats on the form a prohibition repeal resolution should take to-day threatened to kill off any chances of Congressional approval this session.

Speaker John N. Garner, who holds the whip hand, was outspoken in his criticism of the proposal reported to the Senate yesterday, which provides protection for Dry States, gives Congress power to ban the saloon and calls for ratification by State legislatures.

He asserted it did not conform to the Democratic platform and told newspapermen he would not allow it to be taken up in the House under suspension of rules, as was done the first day of Congress, when an outright repeal resolution was beaten by six votes.

Senate Democrats, on the other hand, apparently have decided to accept the resolution approved yesterday by the Judiciary Committee and did not press for an outright repeal as their platform calls for.

Man Slips On Steps Fractures Hip Bone

Treacherous footing due to the slippery ice caused a serious injury yesterday afternoon to A. R. Moore, of 283 King street. Mr. Moore was leaving a house on Barnardo avenue when he slipped on the ice coating the steps. His fall resulted in a bad fracture of his right hip bone. He was removed to Nicholls Hospital where he is being attended by Dr. A. Moir.

Air Liner Passengers Robbed By 3 Bandits

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—(A.P.)—Police had a distinctly new type of robbery on their records to-day as a result of the kidnapping and hold-up of six airline passengers en route from the municipal airport to the loop in a bus.

The daring and well executed robbery occurred last night a few minutes after the planes' arrival from St. Louis and intermediate points an dresulted in a loss of more than $3,000 in cash and jewellery to the half dozen victims and all their luggage.

FLAMES BLOCK EXIT

Victims Awaken in Time, But Suffocate Before Reaching Windows.

STAIRWAY BARRED.

Woman Boarder, Only One to Escape, is Injured in Leap to Safety.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 10 (A.P.) — Trapped by flames that swept through a three-storey brick dwelling, five members of a family lost their lives here early to-day. The dead are:

Cecil Hewitt, 53 years old.
Mrs. Maude Hewitt, 45, his wife.
Cecil, Jr., 20, his son.
Evelyn, 16, his daughter.
Corinda Bowen, 25, Mrs. Hewitt's sister.

A boarder at the Hewitt home, Miss Nettie Young, 50, saved herself by jumping from a second-storey window. She was taken to a hospital suffering from a broken leg and minor burns.

Starts on First Floor

The fire broke out on the first floor and crept up the stirway, apparently shutting off escape from the sleeping inmates of the house.

All apparently had awakened, but had failed to reach safety. Mr. and Mrs. Hewitt, Cecil and Miss Bowen were discovered by firemen huddled together on the floor of the front, third-floor bedroom. They appeared to have tried to get to the window before they were suffocated.

Evelyn's body was found on the floor of the second-storey bedroom. She was the only one of the five whose body was badly burned.

Firemen expressed the opinion that all died of suffocation.

Boncour In Peril On Financial Steps

PARIS, Jan. 10 (C.P.).—Premier Paul Boncour's Cabinet was in peril as the new Parliamentary session opened to-day, as a result of reported hostility by its Socialist supporters toward the Government's financial measures, which are expected to be stringent in an effort to balance the budget.

It was understood that Finance Minister Cheron had reported to the Cabinet that his committee of experts figures the 1933 budget deficit, which has been accumulating since July 17, at 10,541,000,000 francs ($421,640,000) which he plans to offset by 5,326,000,000 francs in economies and 5,453,000,000 francs in fiscal changes, meaning new taxes, allowing a surplus of 238,000,000 francs.

An Odd Will

HAMILTON, Jan. 10 (C.P.)— An unusual will probated by Judge Carpenter in Surrogate Court to-day, provides for two maiden ladies receiving a home with their brother, cows and a horse and buggy, cutter and harness and poultry and the "produce from one row of apple trees next to the lane so long as they live on the said lands."

The part of the home assigned to them to live in is to be theirs so long as they remain unmarried and they are to be allowed feed, pasture and stabling accommodation for one horse and two cows.

The will is that of the late Elizabeth A. Harbottle, Galt. The estate is valued at $4,299.

SERIOUS SITUATION

SASKATOON. — Mobilization of all resources, both Provincial and Federal, to meet the existing crisis, "just as serious as the Great War" and evolve a solution is advocated by Prof. Swanson, Professor of Economics at the Saskatchewan Universty.

Crying Statues

DOOMED WOMAN GETS LIFE TERM

Petitions Pleading for Expectant Mother Influence Carolina Governor.

KILLED POLICEMAN.

COLUMBIA, S.C., Jan. 10 (C.P.). —Governor Blackwood to-day commuted to life imprisonment the death sentence of Mrs. Beatrice Ferguson Snipes, expectant mother, convicted of the murder of Elliott Harris, York rural policeman.

The Governor's action came suddenly less than 24 hours after he had reiterated he would wait until the State Supreme Court acts on an appeal in the case before considering petitions asking executive clemency.

Mrs. Snipes, 29-year-old mother of one child, expects the birth of another January 20. Petitions presented to the Governor yesterday urged that he commute her sentence before the child's birth in order that Mrs. Snipes might not have "the penalty of electrocution hanging over her augmented by the prospective anguish of child birth."

JAPANESE SEIZE STRATEGIC PASS

Move Blocks Chinese Troops From Gateway Into Jehol Province.

MAJOR BATTLE LOOMS.

TOKYO, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Japanese cavalry and infantry units occupied Chiumenkow Pass in the Great Wall of China today, blocking a further pouring of Chinese troops through that famous gate into Jehol.

It was the second strategic position taken by the Japanese in a week to block off China from the rich Mongolian province and frustrate Chinese attempts to defend it against impending invasion by Japanese military commanders.

Occupation of the Chinese city of Shanhaikwan just a week ago by Japanese shut off the eastern gate, only a short distance from where the wall comes down to the sea. Chiumenkow is 12 miles north of Shanhaikwan and near where the 2,000-year old barrier turns westward.

A communique from the Chinchow, Manchuria, headquarters of the Nishi divisions said a Japanese column, mostly cavalry, left Shanhaikwan early in the morning and occupied Chiumenkow at 9.15 a.m. this confirmed a Rengo (Japanese) New Agency dispatch which said cavalry and infantry had taken over the fortification.

Ordered To Fight

PEIPING, China, Jan. 10.—(AP) —Ho Chi-Kuo, Chinese commander in the Shanhaikwan sector, reported today that he had ordered his troops to resist any further Japanese offensive at the Chiumenkow pass through the Great Wall 14 miles north of Shanhaikwan.

It appeared likely there would be a major battle there soon. The Japanese were reported to be in possession of the northern end of the pass, through which Chang Hsiao-Liang was said to have dispatched three brigades of Chinese into Jehol, but Ho Chi-Kuo said his men still held the southern end.

RIFT REPAIRED BETWEEN MAYOR AND ALD. TUGGEY

Mayor Denne and Alderman Tuggey Shake Hands and Pledge Co-operation.

BOTH IN ACCORD.

Ask For Change in Act Concerning Alderman Running for Mayor.

The morning's rift in the civic lute was repaired last night, and the muse of harmony was restored to its niche in the council chamber as Mayor Denne and Alderman Tuggey, remembering an old injunction not to let the day descend upon its anger, shook hands as a pledge of co-operation.

Mayor Denne paved the way to the renewal of amenity when he took Ald. McIntyre's seat beside Ald. Tuggey during the second reading of one of the by-laws.

In tones that reached the press table nearby Mayor Denne leaned towards Ald. Tuggey and said he was sorry he had lost his temper in the morning, or words to that effect, and apparently both regretted the incident. Later, as the council was about to adjourn, Ald. Tuggey made his amends in a little speech to the council.

In Accordance With Mayor

"Maybe both of us were hot under the collar" he remarked in his reference to the unpleasantness of the morning. "Maybe both of us were wrong, but at any rate the press report might give a misleading impression to the ratepayers about our first meeing of 1933. To show the public and the council that I am in accord with all the Mayor has done in the city's interests, that I am in accord with him, although I'm not going to say that I'll always agree with him, but to show that I want to work with him, and to make this a successful year I am prepared to——".

Ald. Tuggey completed his remarks with the act of going up to

POSSES COMBING BUSH AT SAULT

Seek Two Killers Who Fatally Shot Three and Wounded Two.

SNOW COVERS TRAIL.

(By The Canadian Press)

Sweeping through the northern woods, with the temperature hovering at zero and lower, posses today are searching for two men wanted in connection with fatal shootings. The men are Elli Antonovitch of Kirkland Lake, who yesterday is alleged to have killed Mrs. Annie Munda and Mrs. F. Banashuik, and wounded two men, while the second man is Frank Vena, Sault Ste. Marie, who is alleged to have shot Tony Piromelli, inflicting wounds from which Pircmelli died yesterday.

Piromelli was shot following a pool-room altercation during which, it is alleged, he was threatened by Vena.

Shortly after Piromelli was shot, Vena disappeared and despite an intensive search has not been found. Police of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., joined with fellow-officers from the Canadian city to spread a dragnet over the district.

Anonovitch allegedly ran amok on a Kirkland Lake business sreet yesterday, killing Mrs. Munda and wounding her husband, and then shooting Mrs. Banashuik and wounding Fred Cunningham, a boarder at Banashuik home.

Antonovitch, immediately after the shooting at the Banashuik home, disappeared into the bush and despite the wide search he too has disappeared in the dense forest. A light snowfall during the night had completely obliterated his trail. Police were confident, however, they would soon find the man, since he was but lightly dressed.

Inmates of 16 McCamus street, where the Banashuik family lived, rested uneasily last night following rumors Antonovitch was returning to "finish the job." The house was closely watched but the alleged murderer failed to appear.

Fred Cunningham and Munda are still in a dangerous condition. Cunningham, suffering from a bullet wound in the abdomen, is fighting for life. Munda, wounded in the head, stands the best chance of recovery, hospital attendants believed.

Reinforcements Rushed to Assist Valencia Guards

Over One Hundred Wounded During 2-Day Uprising By Extremists Against Government—Scattered Firing Is Reported In Barcelona And Cadiz.

MADRID, January 10. — A battle between Communists and a large force of civil guards was under way last night at the Village of Bugarra, in the Province of Valencia.

The Communists had been driven out of the near-by town of Pedralba, where earlier in the day there was a sanguinary fight, in which ten rebels and two members of the guard were killed.

Firing Continues.

All told, the Extremist movement against the Government which has affected many parts of Spain, has resulted in the killing of more than 100 in the past two days. Government officials announced last night that they believed the movement had been quashed, although late reports showed scattered firing and clashes in Barcelona and Cadiz.

Machine gun units were en route to Bugarra to reinforce the civil guard. The Communists had fortified themselves there. Only a few details of the conflict could be learned, but it was reported that at least one guard had been killed, as well as several other persons.

Police, civil guards, and troops were held in readiness to deal with any fresh outbursts.

Two bombs were found in a Madrid theatre.

At Melilla, in Morocco, soldiers were held in their barracks in order that they might be ready to move against any native outbreak.

Authorities Jailed

Communists succeeded for a while in gaining control of the Town of Repollet, near Sabadell, in Catalonia, where they placed the authorities and civil guards in jail and raised a red and black flag over the City Hall.

Reinforcements of civil guards and assault guards recaptured Repollet, after a battle in which one civil guardsman and a townsman were wounded. Premier Miguel Azana announced last night that the authorities had succeeded in remaining in control at Pedralbes, where the Communists also were in charge of the insurrection.

A general strike threatens the Province of Valencia to-day, the Premier said.

He announced that the authorities in Barcelona had discovered quashed extremist efforts to paralyse the electric light and power distribution lines, last evening. While Premier Azana was talking, the gas lights of the Puerta del Sol, Madrid's main square, and of the

SEABROOKE DIES FOR HIS CRIME

Found Guilty of Murdering Young Service Station Attendant.

CONVICTED TWICE.

OTTAWA, Jan. 10 (C.P.)—Facing death without a whimper, William G. Seabrooke was hanged at the Carleton County Jail early to-day for a murder committed a year ago last December. The trap was sprung just before one o'clock and death was instantaneous.

As he walked on to the scaffold the condemned man said, "Don't worry. I'm all right" to the sheriff and the governor of the jail. His spiritual advisers were with him to the end.

Not since 1869 had a man been executed in Ottawa and the hanging to-day shattered a widely-held belief that the death penalty would never be imposed in the Capital City.

James Patrick Whelan, fanatical Irish patriot, who shot Hon. Thomas d'Arcy McGee in 1869, was the last murdered hanged here. It took mechanics two days to get the old gallows, out of use since that time, again in working order.

The murder for which Seabrooke hanged was committed on the night of December 12, 1931. Paul Lavigne, young service station attendant, was found shot in his gasoline station, the victim of a hold-up man. The arrest of Seabrooke followed and he was found guilty. On appeal he secured a new trial but was again convicted.

Catarrhal Deafness And Head Noises

If you have catarrhal deafness, or head noises, caused by catarrh, or if phlegm drops in your throat, secure proper treatment at once. Sprays, salves, and inhalers may bring you a temporary relief, but permanent results can only come from a constitutional treatment that will expel the catarrhal poison from your system.

Get from your druggist 1 oz. of Parmint (Double Strength). Take this home and add ¼ pint hot water and a little sugar. Take a tablespoonful four times a day: Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy, mucous stop dropping. All sufferers from catarrhal deafness or head noises need the simple, pleasant, inexpensive Parmint treatment.

and persons having clothing to give are requested to send it to the Relief Committee's headquarters in the Toronto Savings and Loan building. I have called a meeting for Thursday night at 7.30 o'clock in the council chamber of the council and the committee and of citizens and farmers. We may appeal to the farmers for vegetables, and to the citizens for money. However, that will be discussed next Thursday evening."

E. M. Turner Resigns

Ex-Alderman E. M. Turner's resignation from the Relief Committee was accepted, and Ald. McIntyre was appointed in his place, on Ald. Fitzpatrick's resolution, seconded by Ald. Cotton.

In his letter of resignation Ald. Turner wrote: "I wish to express my sincere thanks to Your Worship and all the members of the city council and the city officials for the splendid co-operation and assistance given me while I have been serving my fellow citizens, and I wish you all the success you so justly deserve in the fulfillment of your endeavors this year and in the years to come. And, I wish to assure you that I shall be pleased to render what assistance I am capable of to you in any way possible at any time."

Council Is Responsible

In regard to the cost of direct relief, Ald. Tuggey stated that the government placed the responsibility on the council.

"I just want to point out," he continued, "that if the council is to be held responsible for relief costs we should have control. How can we be held responsible when there are only two members of the council on the committee and they can be outvoted. It might be advisable for us to have more representatives on the relief committee."

Aldermen Stocker and Macdonald remarked that as a principle Ald. Tuggey's point was well taken.

"The Relief Committee has only got started," Mayor Denne observed. I wouldn't want to go over the heads of those citizens. I am sure they will not waste anything. Let us see how they get along for a while."

A significant letter from W. W. Pope, secretary of the Hydro-Electric Commission, informed the council last night that the question of the charges for Peterborough's street lighting has not been indefinitely deferred, "but will be taken up again with the Utilities Commission and the council after the annual adjustment for 1932 is completed, and all costs regarding street lighting have been definitely determined."

"They've changed their minds," was Mayor Denne's brief comment, and the communication was simply received until further notification has been received from the Hydro-Electric Commission.

Mr. Pope's letter affirmed that the Hydro concurred with the Utilities Commission, and gives sanction to the confidence expressed by Gordon S. Matthews, chairman of the Utilities Commission, several weeks ago when he remarked "we still have the whip hand."

It will be recalled that Mayor Denne and Alderman Cotton interviewed the Hydro-Electric Commission, reporting back that there would be no increase in the street lighting charges, and that the Council might consider this question definitely, and thereby satisfactorily settled.

The present letter from the Hydro-Electric Commission, however, indicates that the outlook for the council in this controversy is not so favorable as they expected a month ago.

Credit Limit Cut.

In line with the restrictive policy of the financial powers, the city's borrowing limit has been reduced by the Bank of Montreal from 90 per cent. to 70 per cent. of the amount of the taxes collected last year. The by-law authorizing the council to draw on its credit for current expenses until the 1933 taxes are collected sets the minimum at $630,000 as compared with last year's total credit of $800,000. These sums are not actually used, but a considerable part of the yearly credit is required in meeting the treasury calls.

Old Age Pensions Board

The members of the city's Old Age Pensions Board were re-appointed for this year as follows: F. A. Adams, Frank Fairen, George Stenton, Jas. Abraham and A. G. Metheral.

Ald. Fitzpatrick was named as successor to ex-Ald. Phelan as a trustee of the Elmira Grover Foley fund which was bequeathed for charitable purposes.

Another by-law approved plans of a proposed subdivision of the LaPlante estate at the corner of George and Romaine streets. The blue print showed that lots would average 100 feet in depth and 35 feet frontage.

Mr. Kenner Re-appointed.

H. R. H. Kenner was re-appointed for three years as a member of the Public Library Board.

Board of Health

The council's appointees to the Board of Health were Aldermen Stocker, Holland and McIntyre.

The members last year were Aldermen Stocker, Dr. Justin M. O'Brien and J. J. Turner.

Ald. Tuggey reminded the council of their opportunity to appoint members of the aldermanic company if it was their wish to make a change from precedent.

Ald. Macdonald urged that the chairman of the Property Committee be a member of the Board of Health because of certain interlocking interests.

The council implemented these suggestions.

Application for interim payments of $2,000 a month for January and February was received from J. E. Sullivan, secretary of the Separate School Board.

Department Reports

December's fire loss was $229.70 of which $145.70 was on buildings, Chief Gimblett reported. Another slender report was the information from City Engineer Parsons that four building permits were issued in December for the total of $555.

M. O. H. Resolution Passed at Inaugural Meeting of Campbelford Council.

OTHER OFFICIALS NAMED.

Relief Will Be One of Big Problems for 1933 Council, States Mayor H. N. Carr.

CAMPBELLFORD, January 10 (Examiner Staff Correspondence) — "There is a growing demand for relief this year, and we must work with one end in view, to curb any possible undue expenditure," declared Mayor H. N. Carr, presiding over the inaugural meeting of the Campbellford Town Council yesterday. He pointed out that with the lack of employment through depressed conditions and the severe tax situation, relief would be one of the big problems of the Council this year, and expressed himself glad at having the 1933 Council with him in its entirety this year.

After the oaths of office had been taken by Clerk J. F. McGregor, the Rve. L. M. Smith opened the 1933 deliberations of the Council, briefly addressing the members relative to the words of David, "He who ruleth over men must be just."

There was a great need to-day, he pointed out, that all those who rule should be God-fearing men, their whole lives shou'd be motivated and controlled by God, and above all they must be just, for

JINX FOLLOWS FRENCH LINERS

One Damaged By Fire at Le Havre, Other Loses Propeller at Saigon.

ATLANTIQUE PROBE ON.

PARIS, Jan. 10 (C.P.).—Two more French ocean passenger ships were reported damaged to-day, one by fire, as preparations were made to drydock the burned Atlantique at Cherbourg.

An investigation into the mysterious fire which broke out on the Atlantique last Wednesday and which took lives of 18 members of its crew, already are under way. An inspection awaited drydocking of the ruined 41,000-ton liner. Two fires were reported still smoldering, which was expected to delay drydocking until to-morrow.

The 23-000-ton trans-Atlantic liner France was damaged yesterday by a fire at Le Havre, where she had been docked for the past few months. Firemen and a skeleton crew put it out. Officials said it apparently was caused by a short circuit.

The French passenger ship Angkor, in the Mediterranean and Far EaEst service, was reported held up to-day at Saigon as the result of the breaking of a propellor blade. Marseilles steamship officials, who were sending new parts to the ship, denied a rumor that the accident was the result of sabotage.

Toronto Man Found Victim Gas Fumes

TORONTO, January 10 (C.P.).—David Milne, 54, is dead as a result of inhaling gas fumes. Milne was found in the kitchen of his home last night by his wife, Ena, when she returned home from visiting friends. It appears a draft from an oven door of a gas range being slammed blew out the light of the oven burner, causing the kitchen to fill rapidly with the deadly fumes. No inquest will be held.

Lesson in Hunting Costs Indian $7.50

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 9.—(C.P.)— With Magistrate C. W. Hawkshaw in the role of teacher, Dan Elijah, Muncey Indian, received a lesson in nature study in police court. It cost Elijah $7.50 to learn raccoons do not live in burrows.

It seems Dan was industriously digging up the hole of a fur-bearing animal when a deputy game warden found him in Delaware township the other day. Dan explained he was hunting coons That's where he made his mistake, because as the deputy pointed out to the court, coons live in trees

Convicted of destroying the den of fur-bearing animals, Elijah's sentence was suspended on payment of the $7.50.

REPUBLICANS DEMAND SPLIT WITH EMPIRE

Army Members Abandon Stand of Non Participation in Free State Election.

BACK DE VALERA.

Want Treaty Scrapped and Call for Union of North and South.

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, an. 10.—(C.P. Cable).—The Irish Republican Army last night abandoned its stand of non-participation in the Free State general election and issued a manifesto urging its members to support the Republican party of President Eamon de Valera.

The manifesto said a convention of elected delegates of all volunteer units of the organizations had decided to release all members from restrictions that prevented their taking part in the election.

It recommended members and "the national opinion that looks to them for leadership" to work for a vote against former President William T. Cosgrave's National party and its "so-called Independent allies."

The manifesto added this means the Republican party should be assisted back into office though the Irish Republican Army did not commit itself in any way to acceptance of the Republican policy.

"We demand scrapping of the treaty, abolition of partition and complete severance from the British Empire," it said.

The change of face on the part of the Republican Army was thought to have been brought about by the prospect of abolition of the oath of allegiance to the King if the Republican Government is returned.

Concern Over Disorders.

Meanwhile leaders of both major factions in the campaign expressed deep concern over disorders and fighting which marked week-end meetings here and at Sligo.

President Eamon de Valera's Irish Press published an editorial denouncing roundly rowdies responsible for Sunday's disturbances in which more than 30 persons were injured at National Party meetings.

"Sunday's scenes," the editorial said, "achieved nothing but the dishonor of Irishmen in the sight of every fair-minded person at home and every nation abroad."

There appeared no suggestion here that the Republican party did anything to promote the disturbances, both of which occurred at meetings addressed by Former President William T. Cosgrave.

National Party adherents insisted, however, that the attack on Mr. Cosgrave's meeting here was organ-

Hinkler Unreported Since His Take-Off

BRINDISI, Italy, Jan. 9 (C.P. Cable).—No word has been received here of the progress of Bert Hinkler, famous trans-Atlantic flier, who is attempting to break the England-Australia record. The squadron-leader in the Royal Air Force left Feltham, England, at 3.10 Saturday morning and announced his first stop would be this point on the south-eastern coast of Italy, but the lack of news of his progress has not alarmed officials, who, knowing his caring for privacy presume he may have landed at one of the lesser-known airports and requested his presence be kept secret.

SOVIET TO SLOW HER INDUSTRIAL FIVE YEAR PACE

Annual Increase Will Be Cut to 14 Per Cent. Stalin Announces.

SEES DANGER OF WAR.

Forced to Build Defense at Expense of Five-year Plan.

MOSCOW, Jan. 10.—The headlong speed toward industrialization of Soviet Russia, striven for in the first five-year plan, will be slowed down considerably in the second similar project about to be launched. Josef Stalin, Soviet leader, declared in a speech to the plenary session of the central committee of the Communist party made public to-day.

Stalin reported the average annual growth of production throughout the country during the first plan had reached 22 per cent. Hereafter, he said, the pace would be slowed down to an average of 13 to 14 per cent. although 16 per cent. was indicated during the present year.

The speech, Stalin's first public utterance in 18 months, was made at the session of the committee—the most powerful group in the Soviet Union—last Saturday, but only given out to-day.

War Danger

Stalin stressed the "imminence of war danger" and declared this danger justified the development of the country's heavy industries at any cost.

"We could not know which day the imperialists may attack the Soviet Union and try to halt our construction program," Stalin said. "There is not the slightest doubt but that we could be attacked at any moment, taking advantage of our technical and economic weakness."

Stalin declared that the original five-year plan had achieved 94 per cent. of its goal. He said the failure to make it 100 per cent. was due to the fact that "certain neighboring countries refused to sign pacts of non-aggression."

"Developments in the Far East also obliged us to transfer some of our factories quickly to the production of modern instruments of defence."

He emphasized that a present the nation was completely prepared to meet the contingencies of war, and also possessed the basis of a strong heavy-industry. For these reasons, Stalin said, the tempo of the second five-year plan can safely be reduced and these energies be used to master industrial technique and raise the productivity of labor, at the same time reducing the cost of production.

NINE ARE KILLED IN TRAIN CRASH

Twenty Others May Die as Express Overtakes Another in Storm.

SNOW HINDERS RESCUE.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Jan. 10. (AP)—Nine persons were killed and 20 probably fatally injured when an express train collided three miles from here with the rear end of a suburban train during a snowstorm to-day.

Four coaches of the suburban train were demolished.

Heavy snowfall was seriously hampering rescue work and many injured were in danger of freezing under the wreckage before they could be rescued.

News reaching friends and relatives in Bucharest caused panic stricken attempts to rush to the wreck by automobiles, motorbuses and taxicabs.

A defective switch was blamed for the collision which too place at 8 a.m.

Using Left Hand Cures Stuttering

St. Clair only recently became left-handed, Dr. Bryng Bryngelson, Director of the Speech Clinic at the University of Minnesota, said to-day. He entered the Speech Clinis struggling with stuttering and it was found necessary to have him revert to the use of the left hand before the speech difficulty could be overcome.

"The theory we used," Dr. Bryngelson said, "is that reorganization of nerve control in the two brain hemispheres might be brought about through the use of the other hand. In this case we succeeded.

The Venerable Archdeacon Walter Burd, D.C.M., D.D., of Prince Albert, Saskatchewan, who is Bishop-elect of the Province of Saskatchewan, is speaking to-night at All Saints' Church on the work of his Diocese in the northern part of that province. It is interesting to note that the Rev. Horace Ashmore, missionary from All Saints' Parish, is stationed in that new Diocese, and his work will be illustrated to-night in the lecture. Archdeacon Burd who will be the guest of the Rev. and Mrs. J. D. Paterson at All Saints' rectory during his stay in the city, received his degree of Doctor of Divinity last evening in Toronto, at the Convocation of Wycliffe College. He has had a memorable career so far. During the Great War he enlisted as a private and later, after being invalided home and discharged, re-enlisted again as a private. He received his commission from the Imperial Forces and also his D.C.M. Coming back to Canada at the conclusion of the war, to resume the theological studies interrupted by the conflict, he was ordained in 1922, making the record of spending only ten years in the ministry before being elevated to the episcopate.

* * * * * * *

In cold weather some hot food is desirable for each menu of a day, and these escalloped dishes are hearty, tasty, and hot. There is wide variety in them, too.

* * * * * * *

Pieces of bread or crumbs which are not fresh are usual ingredients, making the cost small in proportion to the amount. If rice, macaroni, etc., are used, these are inexpensive also.

* * * * * * *

What is needed is enough of the vegetable to permeate the bread to supply a rich flavor to the whole. The more pronounced the flavor of the vegetable, the less will be needed.

* * * * * * *

Have you ever tried escalloped cauliflower with cheese? Freshly boiled cauliflower or left-overs can be used. If the lateter is not sufficient, it can be increased by the addition of chopped cabbage (not too fine).

* * * * * * *

Put a layer of finely broken pieces of bread in the bottom of a buttered baking dish. Dot with butter and sprinkle with salt, pepper, and celery salt.

* * * * * * *

Dot with small bits of cheese, and on this put a layer of cauliflower. Continue with layers of seasoned breadcrumbs and cheese, alternating with cauliflower, caullower and cabbage, or just cabbage Moisten well with rich milk. The top layer of fine breadcrumbs should have extra bits of butter on it, and no cheese.

* * * * * * *

Bake for twenty minutes, or until the top is a delicate brown, and serve hot.

* * * * * * *

For Tomatoes and Corn with Spaghetti: Break spaghetti into small pieces. Boil in salted water until tender and drain. Put a layer of the spaghetti into a buttered baking dish. Season with salt, pepper, and celery salt, and finely minced parsley.

* * * * * * *

Cover with slices of ripe tomato or with solid pieces of stewed or canned tomato. Sprinkle very lightly with fine breadcrumbs. Cover with canned corn highly seasoned with salt, pepper, and dot with butter.

* * * * * * *

Fill the dish with layers of spaghetti, tomatoes and corn, having breadcrumbs on top. Moisten with a thin white sauce. Dot top with butter. Brown in oven.

* * * * * * *

THREE ENGLISH WOMEN UPON ADVISORY COUNCIL

LONDON, January 10 (C. P. Cable). — Three English women, prominent in politics, have been appointed to serve on an honorary Advisory Council to secure a link between the postal service and the public.

It is the first time women have been appointed to this body, which is chosen by the Postmaster-General, Right Hon. Sir Kingsley Wood. The three appointed to-day are Miss Ishbel MacDonald, daughter of Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald; Miss Megan Lloyd-George, daughter of the former Prime Minister, and member of Parliament for Anglesey, Wales; and Hon. Dorothy Pickford, Commoner for North Hammersmith, and member of several committees dealing with education and industry.

Your Health

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

Winter is a particularly dangerous time. Accidents are likely to be more frequent in the winter for a number of reasons. In the first place, of course, the presence of ice and snow and slippery streets all conduce to falls and consequent bone fractures, or dislocations, or sprains.

The dim light of iwnter, the early twilight, make winter a dangerous period for middle-aged and elderly people whose eyesight is rather dim anyway. Besides this, they are more liable to be indoors and to set themselves little duties which involve going down into the cellar or up into the attic. Falls on cellar stairs are about three times as frequent in people over middle-age.

It is a great deal less expensive to repair the cellar steps, put a handrail on them, and provide adequate lighting, than it is to pay for the accident which might result from neglect of these precautions.

Serious falls are also caused by using substitutes for step-ladders, or by using step-ladders themselves and getting in a precarious position. Rocking chairs, chairs with weak legs, seem to attract the housewife who desires to reach up on a high shelf, with a sort of fatal lure.

And then, a thing that middle-aged people seem to like to want to do is to get up on a table. This requires considerable acrobatic skill, even in a young person. For a middle-aged or elderly person to do it is a real feat, and unless one likes to run a definite risk of fracture or dislocation, or both, it should be avoided. Saving the time and trouble to get a good ladder often means the expenditure of a great deal more time and the presence of a great deal more trouble later on.

A young friend of mine told me last month, when he saw me doing some rather strenuous acrobatics of a social nature—in fact, dancing—that I ought to get next to myself. It was a bitter pill to take from a 15-year-old, but I am inclined to believ it is a good lesson.

Why middle-aged people want to do all the fool things they do is a puzzle. They can't see the fine lines in their own hands held withing a foot of their faces, they can't recognize a person a block away on the street, and they probably can't hear more than one-third of the warning sounds that a young person hears. They get dizzy when they get up on a high place or bend over or exert themselves unusually, and yet they persist in pitching and lurching around the streets, climbing upon high ladders and going down into dark cellars.

STOMACH ULCERS

When you have too much acid in the stomach, causing indigestion, belching, gas, giddiness, and a "dead on your feet" feeling after meals — watch out, it may lead to stomach ulcers.

Four out of five people have acid stomach whether they know it or not and about one in every seven with acid stomach has reached the stage of ulcers.

Bisurated Magnesia, which you can get at any drug store, will neutralize stomach acid, coat over ulcers with an effective healing agent, and permit them to heal. If you have acid stomach or symptoms of stomach ulcers, you owe it to yourself to give Bisurated Magnesia a trial. Big package, small cost. Not a laxative.

A. K.: "Will you please inform me through your column in the paper the cause of styes in the eye? My eyes are correctly fitted with glasses."

Answer: Styes are usually said to be due to poorly fitted glasses, and the strain on the eyes which follows is relieved by rubbing the eyes, which causes the infection. When an infection gets into the hair follicles it may become chronic, however, even if proper glasses are put on. Under these circumstances it may be necessary to pull out all the infected hair follicles in order to prevent recurrence.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS

By E. V. SHEPARD

HE HAD ALL OF THEM

Bridge brings out human nature brazenly. There is the player who believes himself so much better than his partner that their joint interests obligate him to play the two hands when possible. There is the fellow with the no-trump complex, who never wants his partner to become declarer at a suit. Then there is the common hand hog who loves to become declarer. A was all three of these pests rolled into one. B was a quiet chap, who quit bidding when his limit had been reached. His bridge vices were confined to allowing himself to be imposed upon. His partner had all of them, as shown on the following hand:

	♠ 8 5 ♥ 9 7 6 ♣ 7 5 3 ♦ A Q 10 6 5
♠ J 9 2 ♥ 10 2 ♣ Q J 10 9 ♦ K J 9 2	Y A B Z	♠ K Q 10 7 4 3 ♥ A Q J 8 4 3 ♣ 8 ♦ None
	♠ A 6 ♥ K 5 ♣ A K 6 4 2 ♦ 8 7 4 3

Bidding went: Z, 1-Club; A, 1-No Trump, although he held two unguarded suits; Y, 2-Diamonds; B, 3-Spades, to force his partner; Z, Pass; A, 3-No Trumps; B, 4-Hearts, demanding that his partner choose between the major suits; of course A should have shifted his partner to 4-Spades, but he bid 4-No Trumps, which ended contracting. Game could have been won at either major suit make. What happened at no trumps was just too bad.

The opening lead was the 7 of clubs. Z's K won the trick, and the 8 of diamonds drove A's 9 into the clutches of Y's 10. Back came the 5 of clubs. Having taken the trick with his Ace, Z shot back his 7 of diamonds. That obliged A to put up his J. Y's Q won the trick. That player led his 9 of hearts. The declarer let the trick run to his 10, but Z's K won. The 4 of diamonds went through and the declarer played his 2. Y's 6 won the trick, and his Ace and 5 of diamonds won the next two tricks.

To complete the declarer's misery Y led the 8 of spades, and Z's Ace won the ninth straight trick against the 4-No Trump declaration, putting down the contract six tricks, undoubled when not vulnerable. But going down even 300 points, instead of going game that is worth half a rubber, should have taught A a lesson worth remembering.

If played either at spades or hearts all that V could have lost would have been one club trick, one spade trick and one heart trick, giving him game. Of course Y-Z dared not double a declaration that Z, at least, expected to defeat. Had the contract been doubled B would at once have bid 5-Hearts. While he could not have fulfilled the contract, he would have escaped with a penalty of only 50 points. I have seldom seen any player as pig-headed as A.

Resort fashions are freely using melon shades and the soft orange tones.

THE HAPPINESS OF MOTHERHOOD

It Depends Upon Health—Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

"Before my first baby was born I was very ill and dizzy. My husband went to the drug store and bought a bottle of your Vegetable Compound and made me take it according to directions. It certainly built me up. The baby weighed eight pounds and we were both healthy. I have three children now and I am as young looking as the day I was married. It has helped my 17-year old sister, too."—Mrs. J. F. MEEHAN, 405 Eleanor St., Montreal, Quebec.

NEW SHOE STYLES COMING FOR SPRING

Sandals Make Debut for Formal Wear—"Step-ins" Something Different.

(By Ruth Cowan, Associated Press Staff Writer.)

CHICAGO, January 10 (C.P.). — This is going to be a black and blue spring in the main as far as feminine shoes are concerned. But grey, beige in neutral shades for the temperate zone and sand tones for the southern wear, and brown, especially cocoa-brown, are well represented. Turkish red is showing promise.

That's the report to-day from the National Retail Shoe Manufacturers' Association, which is holding its annual convention here with 350 shoe manufacturers exhibiting.

White will be the leading shoe color for summer, and followed by beiges and dusty pastels. Variegated moires and the more vivid solid colored leathers will be present.

Here are some other style tips:

For early general spring wear the Oxford pattern is the leader, followed by opera pumps and "step-ins," a trade term for shoes without straps. They are different from opera pumps in that they may have ties or small straps at the instep but yet are so fitted that they can be easily stepped into.

Sandals are here for formal wear and they will go out on to the streets when the weather warms up but they are a different sandal from the extremely cut-out models that swept the country last season.

BE BEAUTIFUL

By GLADYS GLAD

I've heard that there's a woman up in Canada who has not taken a drink of water for 50 years. And, what's more surprising than that, is that she is in absolutely perfect health.

It is surprising, whether you're willing to believe it or not. For the consumption of a sufficient quantity of water is most important for good health. And I'm inclined to believe that, since she is in such excellent health, this Canadian woman must have satisfied the water requirements of her body through the consumption of foods and beverages with larger water contents.

I suppose, anyway, there are exceptions to every rule. But for the average woman, the consumption of a sufficient quantity of water each day is important not only for health, but for beauty as well. Water has three important functions in the body. In the first place, it is an excellent food solvent. In the second place, it is an important factor in the regulation of body temperature. And in the third place, it is indispensable as a sewage fluid.

Many foods are naturally soluble in water, and all are rendered so in the process of digestion. And for their proper absorption in solution, all foods require an adequate amount of water. Hence, water proves an excellent food solvent. And the drinking of plenty of water aids materially in the digestion and absorption of foods.

It is easy to understand why water is an important factor in the regulation of body temperature. For heat is lost from the body by the evaporation of perspiration. And so, for the maintenance of a normal body temperature, both in health and disease, the consumption of copious amounts of water is essential.

Personally, I think that water plays its most important role as a sewage fluid. It dissolves the poisons accumulated in the tissues. It cleanses the alimentary canal, and sweeps the system clean of poisonous wastes. It dissolves the ash of the burned foods and renders it possible for the body to eliminate them. And it flushes the entire system, preventing the accumulation of poisons in the blood stream. So any woman who wishes to remain youthful and lovely should pay heed to her water consumption and make sure that it is sufficiently copious.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Hair

Ada B.: Hot castor oil shampoos are indeed excellent for reconditioning the hair before and after a permanent wave. You will find the method of administering these shampoos in my "Beauty Culture" booklet.

Colors

Jane: I think that you will find shades of tan, brown, russet, capucine, pinkish beige, cool greens, mat white and black most becoming.

NO CRIMINAL CASES.

HOME AND SCHOOL ASSOCIATION NEWS

CENTRAL SCHOOL.

The first meeting of Central Home and School Association for 1933 opened with a capacity audience, which augers well for the New Year. The attraction last evening was the splendid illustrated talk by Dr. A. J. Morgan. The pictures were taken by Dr. Morgan, who went over to England with his family to attend a medical convention during last summer. Four reels of moving pictures, which were wonderfully clear and attractive, were shown.

Highlights of the British Isles included the Giants' Causeway in the north of Ireland, and from thence the party motored down to Belfast and Dublin. They crossed the Irish Sea to Glasgow, and visited Edinburgh, and made a trip through the Trossachs. Famous towns of England with their abbeys and cathedrals dating back thousands of years caused much enthusiasm in the audience, as also did the wonderful scenery in Wales.

The audience were next taken across the English Channel to Europe, where on an island in the Zuyder Zee the quaint people in their Dutch costumes caused much merriment. Many splendid pictures of The Hague bearing familiar names to Canadians were interesting. In Brussels, the place where Edith Cavell was shot, was shown, and also the streets traversed by the first German army.

In Germany the audience enjoyed a trip up the Rhine, with its vine-laden banks, and most interesting was the bridge over which the British crossed on their march to Berlin. The best scenic pictures were those in the Alps in Switzerland. Trips were taken on lovely Lakes Lucerne and Geneva.

Most interesting of all but most pathetic were the battlefields of France. Trenches with their original sandbags, are now only kept for attractions to sightseers. The cemetries of the allies with row on row of white wooden crosses as far as the eye could reach, and those of the Germans, with black crosses, recalled the sad war days.

The boat then bore the party across to Dover with its white chalk cliffs, and several pictures of London, and the boat leaving Liverpool ended a most enjoyable trip.

A hearty vote of thanks to Dr. Morgan was proposed by Mrs. J. Kingsbury and heartily responded to by the delighted audience.

A short business session preceded the lecture. It was conducted by the president, Mrs. Kingsbury, and included a financial report from the treasurer. The next business meeting will included the nomination of officers for next term. A nominating committee, including Mrs. J. Weir, Mrs. J. Wyllie and Mrs. W. Flannery, was named. The attendance banner was won by Miss Doughty's room. Mrs. A. J. Weames played the accompaniment for the National Anthem, which closed the meeting.

CONFEDERATION SCHOOL

Mrs. T. Monk was re-elected to the office of President of Confederation Home and School Association at the annual meeting held in the school last evening. Mrs. H. B. Jackson (Principal) occupied the chair for the election of officers, the results being as follows:

President—Mrs. T. Monk.
Vice Pres.—Mrs. J. Maby.
Secretary—Mrs. W. Harrington.
Treasurer—Mrs. R. King.
Convenor of Visiting Committee—Mrs. F. McBridge.
Convenor of Social Committee—Mrs. A. Thomas.

Prior to the election of officers a short business session was held, presided over by Mrs. Monk. The Treasurer's report showed a very successful year just closed, and a very satisfactory balance on hand. The items for relief had been and were still very heavy, especially those which provided shoes and rubbers.

It was arranged to have an open meeting early next month, when Rev. E. R. James will be the guest speaker, his subject dealing with "Religious Education". A musical programme will also be provided. The attendance banner was gained by Mrs. Jackson's room for the next month.

New Lindsay Mayor Favors Open Council

LINDSAY, Jan. 10.— (Examiner Correspondence.)—That all council as well as committee sessions would be open to the public until a majority of the council declared otherwise, was the declaration of His Worship Mayor Armstrong at the inaugural meeting of that body today. His Worship stressed the need for the greatest economy during the year, which would be a difficult one. Unless such a policy was adopted it would be difficult, he declared, for the council to balance its accounts. Three former mayors were on the platform with Mayor Armstrong and addressed the new council. There has been considerable friction locally in municipal affairs for some time, and ex-Mayor McLean in his address made a plea for the submersion of personal differences for the good of the municipality.

THE COMMITTEE CHAIRMEN.

With most of the chairmanships in the hands of the same aldermen as last year, Peterborough's City Council would seem to be in the best possible shape for the difficult year's work that lies ahead.

While there are those who think that the responsibility of heading committees should be passed round—and there is undoubtedly some merit in that idea—the general verdict will be that in this period of upset economic conditions the civic machinery is likely to function more smoothly and efficiently if changes in leadership are reduced to a minimum.

This year's committees are headed by men who have made good in their positions, and should be capable of even more effective work during the coming months by reason of their added experience in the particular matters that come within their jurisdiction.

All these aldermen are thoroughly familiar with their departments, and they are in a position therefore to go right to work without having to learn the details as they go along.

They are doubtless too awake to the fact that this must be a year of rigid economy, and that their plain duty is to scrutinize thoroughly every item in their budget requirements, cutting out all expenditures that cannot be regarded as essential to the efficiency of public services.

Their experience should enable them to effectively stop all leaks and to reduce their budgeting to the bare essentials; it is not a particularly easy task, but in the interest of the harassed taxpayers, it must be done.

NEW INDUSTRIES.

In his inaugural address to the City Council, Mayor Denne emphasized the importance of making an energetic effort to secure for Peterborough some of the American and British branch factories that will undoubtedly be seeking locations in Canada in the near future.

New industries at this time would be a veritable blood transfusion, and The Examiner most emphatically agrees with the mayor that the Council could direct its attention to no more vital work during the year than this effort to secure additional industrial plants.

If the Ottawa conference trade pacts mean anything they most certainly mean that American industries not yet located in this country must establish themselves in Canada if they wish to have a chance to maintain their British trade.

There is every reason why Peterborough should get a share of such new factories, the fact that there is already located here an imposing list of American manufacturing concerns whose names are household ones in the United States should of itself convince site-seeking industrial executives that this city posseases advantages that are worth considering.

Going all out, as our British sporting writers put it, after new industries should prove itself decidedly good business for Peterborough; it is a policy that offers the brightest hopes of worth-while success.

RECLAIMING CRIPPLED CHILDREN.

For those who are prone to argue that this is a wicked world and that the "good old days" are gone forever, The Examiner would recommend a study of the figures given by R. W. Hopper, secretary of the Ontario Society for Crippled Children, in his address to the Peterborough Rotary Club yesterday.

A decade or so ago there was no movement to take care of the unfortunate youngsters who suffered from deformities that were curable, but that could not be remedied because the financial condition of the parents prevented the securing of the necessary surgical aid.

Children suffering from club foot, crippled by infantile paralysis or otherwise victims of illness or accidents were allowed to grow up in that condition, for there existed no agency to bring them assistance.

In a decade all has been changed.

This wonderful work of reclaiming these handicapped youngsters has rapidly been extended and developed until to-day it is possible to state authoritatively that out of 8,000 crippled children in the province who need help 3,500 have already been taken care of, and the movement is being expanded so rapidly that soon it is hoped that all such cases in Ontario will have been reached.

When it is realized that fifteen years ago probably no children in such conditions were taken care of, the progress that we have made in this one direction at least will be appreciated.

It is gratifying to know that here at home the Rotary Club is making a splendid contribution to this great humanitarian movement.

DRIVING OUT DIPHTHERIA.

Peterborough has been so almost completely immune from diphtheria outbreaks in the last few years that it will come to a surprise to most local people to find that a number of Ontario centres are only just now taking steps to protect their children from that once-dreaded disease.

In Brockville, for example, a campaign is being set in motion by the local Board of Health, assisted by the provincial department and various Brockville organizations interested in the prevention of disease, to inaugurate a toxoid clinic at which the children of the town may receive immunization from diphtheria.

Brockville experienced a mild epidemic last fall, and almost every year has been visited by the disease, hence the decision to take advantage of the sure protection medical science has set up against diphtheria.

Peterborough people will have no hesitation in agreeing that in the steps now being taken our Brockville friends are on the right track.

Thanks to Dr. A. W. McPherson, the school health officer, who has carried out the immunization of the city's children in a systematic way, starting with the school pupils a few years ago and each year using the toxoid on children below the school age, diphtheria has been virtually wiped out in this city.

Thousands of young children have now been immunized, and so far there is no record of any child receiving the treatment having afterward contracted the disease.

Peterborough was one of the first among Ontario cities to recognize the importance of adopting this preventive measure, and Dr. McPherson's foresight and enterprise in this respect have had wonderful results, the dread of diphtheria and its serious after-effects having been virtually eliminated.

That many places have only begun to think about a work that was accomplished effectively here years ago shows that the school health officer was thoroughly on the job.

CANADIAN OUTLETS.

The recent ruling of British customs officials that Canadian wheat, to get the new British preference of six cents a bushel, must be consigned to a point in the United Kingdom before it leaves the Dominions is welcome news to the Maritimes, and Canadian transportation companies.

It will tend to keep more business at home, with consequent advantages to numerous Canadian workmen. In this connection it is interesting to read what Mr. James A. Richardson, one of the leading shippers of Winnipeg, has to say:

> The competition for Manitoba wheat to-day is between Atlantic and Pacific, and wheat out of Vancouver is to-day selling somewhat cheaper than what it can be worked out of the Atlantic for. A very low freight rate structure has resulted in Vancouver taking a good deal of business the last few years which used to move via the United States North Atlantic ports during the winter.
> We are, though, at the present time, better placed to do business out of Canadian Atlantic ports during the winter than ever before, and we are offering Canadian wheat daily out of Saint John at less money than it can be purchased for out of any North Atlantic port in the United States. I might say that my firms are this year concentrating their Atlantic winter business out of Saint John and Halifax, and we are doing it because it is good business for us to do it.
> There are a number of reasons that make the routing of winter grain through our Maritime ports desirable. One of them is that we pay freights to Canadian railways in Canadian money, and not to roads in the United States, which would cost us a sharp premium.

It is obvious that our railways need all the business they can get, and if wheat can be routed through Canadian ports without incurring undue loss, these facilities should be utilized to the exclusion of all others.—Kitchener Record.

COMMON SENSE PREVAILS.

The aftermath of an election always provides material for discussion. Those interested in analyzing the tabulated returns are eager to explain why this or that section supported such and such a candidate, and the local issues are carefully canvassed. These are the practical politicians.

For the general public, interested chiefly in the total result, only a broad view will be taken. And, following the New Year's Day voting, this broad view would appear to be that the electorate refused to be stampeded by the campaigning of agitators. There might be wild scenes and threatening language at election meetings, but when the ballots were counted the influence of the disturbing element was shown to be of little account.

In the more solid, sensible elements of each community there was absolutely no evidence of hysteria. And this is the more important at a time when virtually every individual is feeling the effect of world depression and might be in resentful mood. Things are bad, but there is no belief that the adoption of extreme radical methods will make them any better. York Township provided an example of this attitude. Campaign meetings had been marked by considerable violence of speech and action. Reeve Gray was provided with police protection. There was some alarm in the municipality; but on election day the reeve was given an impressive majority and a mandate to carry on as he had been doing in a difficult situation.

Throughout the province the same results may be noted. There were no upheavals against those in authority. Almost invariably many members of last year's councils were re-elected. Undoubtedly those who may be described as the "irregular" candidates received considerable support, but not out of proportion to that accorded them in times of prosperity. Hence, the most gratifying result of the recent municipal voting is the evidence that common sense still prevails. The people as a whole are not drifting from their moorings. The heckler has been vociferous, but the real story was told in the polling booth. Great is the ballot!—The Globe.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

In opening the Japanese Diet the Mikado used a speech of only three sentences. We have evidently something to learn from the Orient.

Most people know as much about the proposed Russian barter deal as they do about technocracy, but they are apparently willing to discuss it nevertheless.

Toronto's professional hockey team is going very badly, and even Mayor Stewart seems helpless to suggest a remedy.

Peterborough's City Council is off for another year's work, and so far no one has been optimistic enough to suggest that its 1933 task will be an easy one.

Algoma municipalities are planning a joint advertising campaign for tourists next summer. It is an effort that is reasonably certain of scoring good results.

SENSIBLE RETRENCHMENT.

Dear Sir,—

Your recent editorial upon "Retrenchment" was very timely and deserves the commendation of all good citizens. It is very probable that there never was a time in the history of our city when sensible retrenchment was needed as badly as it is to-day. There has been, in the past, very little to choose between our various spending bodies—municipal, provincial or Dominion. All have, encouraged by the taxpayers, who insisted upon more and yet more service, spent more money than was perhaps necessary.

The present is a most opportune time for those in office to show, by their actions, that they have the cause of the majority of our citizens at heart. Taxpayers are literally groaning under the levies of the municipality, province and Dominion. They are looking as never before, to those responsible, for some alleviation of their heavy burdens.

They are asking for bread. Will they be given a stone?

The answer lies with those responsible for the budgets of the various spending bodies.

Yours truly,
WM. TINKER.

Well-marked vitality, pride, courage and self-reliance are the keynotes to this signature. Severity and love of discipline, too, are well marked. Were it not for a generous spirit, a good mentality and recognition of the principle of fair play this man would be hard on others. He is hard on himself. He is unrelenting to himself in the attainment of self-appointed goals. He is orderly in his habits and runs his life on carefully laid-out plans. T. E. Shaw has translated Homer's Odyssey and the Oxford University Press has published it. Do you care? . . . Yes, you do, because T. E. Shaw is that Lawrence of Arabia who had so much fun during the war, leading the Arabs against the Turks, and then wearied of the mess and joined the Royal Air Force and then the tank corps and changed his name, too, and is now entirely fed up with the world. . . . He rides a motorcycle around England and drives a motor boat along its rivers and in between times he translates the Odyssey into sinewy prose.

No, the Browser will not read it. He read the Odyssey long ago in high school and was bored by the egotistical Odysseus and the limp Telemachus and the catty Penelope and the fact that he had to read 25 pages every day.

He was never able to feel as John Keats did On First Looking Into Chapman's Homer. But he does feel that way whenever he looks into Lawrence's own story of that magnificent revolt in Arabia. Remember the description of Lawrence's body guard? Remember the raids on the railroads? Remember that instant in the midst of a battle when Lawrence tired of all the squabbling and went off to take a nap under a bush with the bullets buzzing all around him? . . . Reading those pages is more fun than reading about the Odysseus who was the Richard Halliburton of his age and who went wandering after a war, because he didn't want to go home, and then lied about it.

MURDER IN EDEN

By Charles Winfield Smith.

CHAPTER 12

In California there is no gradual transformation of night into day. At first, in the east, there is the barest hin of gray streaking up into the black vault of the night, then, suddenly, the skies over the mountains burst into a medley of gold and scarlet and the sun climbs upward from behind the brown peaks. And it is day.

The first rays of the morning sun fell upon Jere Kane as he sprawled in his chair before the window where he had fallen asleep. He stirred uneasily, opened his eyes and stared questioningly about him. Then the truth dawned on him; he had fallen asleep as he sat there glancing through the newspaper.

He slipped out of his clothes and made for the shower. A moment later the water was splashing down on him. Shortly he shut off the water, seized a heavy towel and rubbed his skin until it smarted.

Feeling as fresh as though he had had a night of sound slumber in a soft bed, he took out fresh linen, a neatly pressed suit and carefully selected a tie. He was just completing his toilet when his telephone rang.

Chief Lee was on the wire. Kane greeted him cheerily.

"I wish I could feel as spry as you do this morning," the police official growled.

"What's up?" Jere demanded.

"It's Chivington," John Lee replied. Briefly, he relayed the essence of Sergeant James' telephonic report of the events of the night and concluded with: "What do you make of that?"

Kane listened intently. At first he was prompted to attribute this report to James' imagination, but as the chief went on and told of the discovery of the gun he decided to withhold judgment. But to the chief's query he said:

"That will require study. Off hand I would say lock up Chivington for safe keeping. But second thought forces me to change my mind."

Lee was curious as to what he meant. He explained:

"There are several things I want to do today. First of all, I want to go over Bailey's den thoroughly. I want to have a heart-to-heart talk with the old man. I also want to talk to Lillian Hull and Larry Weldon."

"Is there anything I can do to help you? I won't have much time," the chief was apologetic for his other engagements, "but you can have all the men you need, if it takes the entire force."

"I'll call you if I need you."

"Just give your orders to Sergeant James. I have given him full instructions."

"Fine. Cheerio."

Kane took his hat and went down to breakfast. An hour later he presented himself at the home of Richard Bailey and was admitted by the sergeant.

James gave every indication of having spent a night of unrest, and the truth was that except for the brief nap he had had while Chivington was out prowling around he had gone sleepless.

"G'morning, Mr. Kane," brusquely.

Kane returned the greeting and: "I understand you had a little excitement last night."

"Yes, sir, I did. This fellow Chivington got to prowling around. He won't prowl any more, though."

Kane shot a quick glance at him.

"Oh, I ain't hurt him none," the sergeant added hastily. "I only locked him in his room."

Jere smiled. "I want to talk to him, but later. First of all, I'm going over that den with a fine-tooth comb. I don't want anyone to disturb me."

"Yes, sir."

Kane found the den just as he had left it last night.

The pictures on the mantel caught his eye. He studied them thoughtfully, trying to establish their identity But only that of Nanette LeRoi was familiar. An exclamation of disgust broke from his lips. He summoned the officer.

When James appeared, yawning, at the door Kane nodded to the pictures, and: "How many of those women do you know?"

The sergeant strolled closer and looked at the photograph. Then: "I know all of them, Mr. Kane. They're all in the movies."

"Is that so?"

"Yes, sir. And, you know, the funny part of it is, every one of them started out as an extra girl or maybe one of them comedy bathing beauties——"

"All of them?" Kane interrupted.

"Well, all of them except that one in the middle. That's the LeRoi woman who's set Hollywood on its ear during the last six months."

"I see. Bailey was known as a star-maker, wasn't he?"

"He sure was. Every one of them gals go their first big chance under him."

"And Bailey—he—er—exacted a price from each girl he gave the big chance to, didn't he?"

"He was a dirty skunk," Sergeant James affirmed. "It's a wonder somebody ain't bumped him off long before this."

"Sergeant," Kane said quickly, "I want the movements of every one of those women accounted for between noon yesterday and one o'clock this morning. All," he added, "except LeRoi. I have already talked to her."

"Mr. Kane, you don't think none of them did the job, do you?" inquisitively.

"I don't want to take any chances," shortly. "I want a complete check."

"You'll get it." And with that the sergeant stalked importantly from the room. An instant later Kane heard him on the telephone calling off a list of names that are on the lips of every movie fan.

Once more the amateur detective turned to survey the room. He crossed to the table where the decanter of moonshine whisky and the four glasses stood. From that vantage point he turned to look at the room again. But for one thing he might have been convinced himself, as were Lee and the other members of the force, that Richard Bailey had been shot down in a desperate struggle for his life.

That one thing was the decanter. If there had been a fight, he reasoned, that decanter would have been overturned as Bailey and his assailant struggled and pushed the table out of the way. But it wasn't. Nor had the glasses been shaken or moved, as he discovered on closer inspection. Each had left a ring on the shiny table top where some of the liquor had dripped down their sides onto the wood.

No. Whoever had killed Bailey had shot him down in cold blood and then disarranged the room to make it appear that there had been a fight. Bailey was not surprised by the intruder. He had known him—or her; he had expected the caller.

His gaze fell on the little papers and books on the floor. He dropped to his knees among them and began looking them over.

A small brown-leather volume caught his attention. He picked it up and glanced through it. Idly, at first, he turned the pages. Then, as he discovered it to be Bailey's diary, he became more thorough. He turned to the last page to ascertain when the last entry had been made.

As his eye fell on the date a gasp escaped his lip. The date was that on which Bailey had met his death! Slowly, he read the last entry, then reread it. The words seemed to jump up out of the page at him.

"I can't go on any longer (the diary said). I have come to the end of the road. But before I go I want to make one great picture. I want to leave it as a memorial to my work. I am going to beat her to it. I hope she will let me alone until I complete my last film. Then I'll cheat her. I'll beat her to it."

There was a brief reference to his conference that day with Lucy Wilbur, Lillian Hull and Larry Weldon. Then it went on:

"Larry Weldon is the best friend a man ever had. I admire Lucy Wilbur. I'm sorry that I couldn't do more for her. If I can put her over in my next picture, I can leave this world happy. Lillian Hull is a sweet kid and a good actress, but——"

Here the writing dribbled off into an illegible scrawl, for a line or two, then:

"She has threatened me again tonight. I told her I was through with her but she laughed at me. Why must women be like that? Why can't they take the bitter with the sweet? Are they less human than the rest of us?"

Feverishly, Kane turned back the pages. An entry stopped him. As he read it an exultant cry escaped his lips.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

ONCE A WONDER OF THE WORLD.

On this date, in 1880, a great storm swept down the Niagara gorge and took with it the first suspension bridge over the river below the falls. That bridge was for many years one of the wonders of the world. During the winter of 1846 the legislatures of Canada and of New York State incorporated the Niagara Falls Suspension Bridge Company. The joint corporation made a contract with Charles Ellet, of Philadelphia, to build a wire bridge across the Niagara River, two miles below the falls. On his arrival Ellet decided that there must be some immediate means of communication across the gorge without the trouble of going to Lewiston, seven miles below, so he built a wooden tower on each side, 25 feet high. Kites were flown from each of these for several days until the wind carried one almost in a direct line with the tower on in a direct line with the tower on the Canadian side. It was promptly lassoed and a rope was drawn across to which was attached a 36-strand wire. To this was added in a few days a saddle, with two grooved wheels, and an iron basket of latticed and riveted iron strips, with room for two persons to sit opposite each other on a wooden bottom. This means of crossing was used until the bridge was sufficiently advanced to allow the workmen to make their way across on foot. The last plank of the bridge was laid July 29, 1848, less than two years from the kite-flying, and Ellet drove across and back to the New York side in a buggy. Later he repeated the trip in a carriage with two horses, weighing in all a ton and a half. At that time 500 feet of the bridge was without railing on either side, but this was soon supplied and in a day or two the bridge was opened to traffic. It was 230 feet high, 762 feet long and 8 feet wide. Luckily the gale swept it away in the dead of night and no one was injured, but the wreck drew visitors for weeks to see the debris of what had been a monument of man's ingenuity.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE.

NEW YORK, January 10 (C.P.)—Prime Commercial paper 1¼ per cent. Foreign exchange firm. Demand rates: Great Britain 3.34 15-16 France 3.90 ⅝, Italy 5.11½, Germany 23.75, Canada 88.87½.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, January 10 (C.P.). — New downturns in grain values here took place early to-day. Action of the Liverpool wheat market was construed as bearish and arrivals of wheat in Great Britain were reported larger than either last week or a year ago. Starting ¼ to ½ down, Chicago wheat futures underwent an additional sag. Corn opened unchanged to ¼ off and subsequently held near the initial limits.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, January 10 (C.P.).—Wheat prices slipped off about ½c in the opening minutes of trading to-day, and although fair support was encountered at times, values for the greater part of the initial hour held close to the low points.

At mid-session prices were ⅜ to ½ lower. May was quoted at 46, July at 46¾, and October at 48¾.

Easier cables together with further decline profit-taking, accounted chiefly for the decline. Some selling was also credited to elevator interests. A fair export business was confirmed worked out of Vancouver overnight, but the support in connection with this business and other buying of an undetermined nature was not sufficient to take care of the amount of wheat offered for sale. Trading generally was not active.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (C.P.): — Stocks moved forward briskly in trading to-day when buying enthusiasm caused a fairly sharp increase in activity. Gains of 2 to 3 points were made by International Harvester, Allied Chemical, United States Steel, Continental Can, Santa Fe and Union Pacific. United States Steel Preferred and Case moved up about 4 points. Large fractions were added to the prices of Montgomery Ward, Sears and United Aircraft, while gains of a point or more were made by New York Central, Pennsylvania, Southern Pacific, Nash, American Telephone and Westinghouse Electric. Transfers approximated 1,200,000 shares.

STANDARD EXCHANGE.

TORONTO, January 10 (C.P.)—The Standard Mining Market today recovered from a mid-day sinking spell to close strong. The upturn was started by the rally in Wall Street which put new life in the interlisted gold shares.

Teck-Hughes, Wright-Hargreaves, and Hollinger were fairly active. The two former finished several points to the good. Lake Shore, McIntyre, and Dome pulled up in the late rally to finish about even.

With a low of 1.37 and a high of 1.46, Siscoe closed at 1.44, 2 down.

In the Base Metal group both Noranda and Nickel lost a little ground, but recovered most of it. Falconbridge and Sherritt-Gordon closed unchanged.

TORONTO EXCHANGE

TORONTO, Jan. 10 (C.P.)—Induced by a Wall Street rally some buying came into the Toronto stock listings late in the session to-day and the price level put on a little weight. The U. S. Steel tonnage showing only a slight drop, was accepted by the market as favorable.

The interlisted group closed at the best prices for the day, C.P.R. showing a gain of ¼, and Consolidated Smelters moving up 2 points. Nickel and Brazilian were practically unchanged. The late buying moved the oil group up a notch, Imperial to 9⅛, B.A. to 8⅛, and International Pete 11⅝.

Minor gains were registered in the steel group for Canada Wire and Cable "B" and National Steel Car. Among the beverage shares Walkers Common recovered some of the ground lost recently, closing above 5.

MONTREAL EXCHANGE

MONTREAL, Jan. 10 (C.P.) — Prices improved somewhat in late trading on the Montreal Stock Exchange to-day, but the rally was not general, and at the close gains and losses were about evenly divided. Turnover was light.

Consolidated Smelters led the list, moving up three points to 67. Montreal Power and Shawinigan both erased early losses, each finishing ¼ higher, Power at 31¾, the latter at 11½. Canadian Celanese at 9¼ and Massey Harris at 3¾ were each ¼ higher.

Canadian Pacific came out 16¼, up ⅛, in the last few minutes after selling at 15⅞ most of the afternoon. Brazilian and International Nickel both closed ¼ lower, the former at 9⅛; Nickel at 9.

Well Mixed Up

GALT, Ont., Jan. 10 (C.P.)—Organs of a young male patient in the Galt Hospital are completely transformed, the first case of its kind ever recorded here. The young man, whose name hospital authorities decline to reveal, suffered acute abdominal pains and was rushed to the hospital for an emergency appendicitis operation. The pain was central, so an incision was made in that region, rather than on the right side. When the incision was made the surgeons were surprised to find the appendix on the left and after its removal, further investigation revealed that the young man's heart, and spleen were on the right side, while the liver and gall bladder were in opposite positions. The patient is expected to recover.

GENERAL REDUCTION OF TEN PER CENT IN THEIR TARIFFS WOULD AID BUSINESS UPTURN

"Some Bold Stroke of International Action Required," Says Sir John Aird.

CHECK TRADE DECLINE.

Makes Vigorous Plea Against Nationalization of Banking at Bank of Commerce Meeting.

TORONTO, Jan. 10 (C.P.)—Sir John Aird, President of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, to-day called on all nations to make a general reduction of 10 per cent in their tariffs as a means of aiding business upturn.

Sir John, delivering his annual address at the shareholders' meeting of the Bank of Commerce, said, "Some bold stroke of international action is required to permit of economic progress and I suggest an early reduction of 10 per cent in every tariff in all countries, a move which should not seriously disturb the economy of each, but which might check the decline in world trade and lighten the arduous tasks confronting statesmen at the forthcoming World Economic Conference."

His speech contained a vigorous plea against the overthrow of the existing economic structure of the world and against nationalization of banking.

Abuse of Privileges

"Let us say," he declared, "that while I welcome every effort to improve working and living conditions in this country; I feel strongly that the faults in the world's economic life spring from the abuse of privileges by individuals and a lack of understanding of the responsibilities entailed in the operation of any system whereby men and nations live and work together.

"Seriously to consider the overthrow of systems which have for centuries made generally for the progress, civilization and happiness of the human race, merely because of the existence of evils which can be removed among individuals and nations, seems to me unworthy of the intelligence of the people of any great nation."

He said, however, that in recent developments at Lausanne and at the Ottawa Economic conference he saw good omens for the future.

In view of what he described as the apparent determination of Western Europe to restrict imports of grain as far as possible, he urged greater diversification of Canadian Agricultural activity and declared his belief that if the exportable surplus of Camadian wheat were reduced by 50,000,000 bushels with the concomitant reduction in wheat acreage of about 10 per cent it would improve the price of wheat by about 10 cents a bushel and bring enduring benefit to Canadian agriculture as a whole.

He congratulated the Government on its attempts to secure a balanced budget through economies, but added he was not certain all waste in the form of extravagance and inefficiency had been eliminated "In this connection," he said, "I believe that a considerable saving in expenditures could be made by repeal of laws which provide for propressive yearly expenditures, such as those of a capital nature for buildings and improvements, and for salary lists of all governments, municipalities, schools and other official organization."

Not As Safe

In his defence of the banking system, Sir John said national banking would not be as safe as the system in vogue and quoted several authorities, including Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain; Stanley Baldwin and Viscount Snowden as believing such a measure would place currency at the mercy of political forces.

"It would indeed be a sad day for Canada," he declared, "if banking became the sport of politics."

Sir John remarked that advocates of bi-metallism, symmetalism and managed currencies found less encouragement now than a year ago.

Remonetization of silver, he said, could not improve the purchasing power of Asia or any other part of the world, because "While Asia accounts for half the world's population, its share of international trade is at best only a fraction of the total. . . ."

The return of all nations as soon as possible to the gold standard, he said, would in his view be a step toward stability in international trade.

Rank Counts

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 10.—(A. P.)—The charge for beating up sub-patrolmen in Pittsburgh is $10 or 10 days.

This was established when a magistrate sentenced James Jones, 22, who admitted engaging in a fight in which subpatrolman Harry Lindner was injured.

The price for beating full-fledged patrolmen was not quoted.

BIG MAN HUNT ON IN ENGLAND

Police on Trail of Suspect Blamed for Slaying Friend, Burning Body.

ALMOST PERFECT MURDER.

LONDON, Jan. 10. (AP) — The greatest man hunt England has known sinnce the crippen case is being prosecuted by thousands of police, healed by the best brains of Scotland Yard in connection with what is characterized as the all but perfect murder.

For six days and nights the authorities have been combing the country for Samuel Furnace whom they charged with the wilful slaying of his friend, Walter Spatchett and the burning of the body in such a manner that murder at first was unsuspected, and the dead man was identified as Furnace.

Furnace has been reported seen several times near London, and always police were close behind him.

Last night the police appealed to the public to assist in tracing the alleged murderer. At the same time the warning was given that Furnace probably is armed.

This afternoon the hunt centred in the unhospitable Essex marshes which were blanketed by dense fog.

Meantime Furnace's wife and three kiddies were sitting anxiously at home tearfully maintaining his certain innocence.

BATTLE LOOMS OVER LETICIA

Peruvian Officials Claim Colombian Advance Can Mean Only War.

4 SHIPS NEARING PORT.

BOGOTA, COLUMBIA, Jan. 10. (AP)—A note from the Peruvian eastern military commander was made public here to-day in which he was quoted as saying "progress of a Colombian expedition toward Leticia means the initiation of hostilities."

(Rio de Janeiro despatches said three Colombia ships arrived yesterday at Manhaos, Brazil, at the confluence of the Rio Negro and Amazon rivers. Upon arrival of a fourth ship the fleet was to proceed to Leticia, the Upper Amazon Port over which Colombia and Peru have been in dispute).

The message of General Vicente Ramos, Peruvian commander, was quoted by Colombian authorities as follows:

"As progress of a Colombian expedition toward Leticia means initiation of hostilities, I have ordered all measures of a military character to prevent the arrival of the expedition at Leticia, thus ensuring Peruvian security."

KILLED IN CRASH.

BALTIMORE. — One man was killed, a woman was in a critical condition at the city hospital and three other persons were in the John Hopkins Hospital suffering from injuries following a collision of a large bus and two automobiles early to-day on the Philadelphia road about three miles south of Aberdeen, Md.

BROKERS RELEASED.

OTTAWA. — Release from Portsmouth Penitentiary on ticket-of-leave of Harold Mowat and Duncan McGillivray, former Ottawa mining brokers, was confirmed by the Department of Justice to-day. Release of McGillivray took place on Christmas Day and that of Mowat apout a week later. They were serving five-year sentences and, it is understood, had put in somewhat more than half their term.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, January 10.—Wheat prices suffered their first setback in many days when profit-taking yesterday caused losses of 1½c ao 1¾c. Lack of export and a weak Liverpool market were also contributing factors.

In spite of a firm opening, futures broke more than one cent when it was found export had amounted to only 500,000 bushels. Pressure was increased when farmers began to sell to take advantage of the rise in prices last week.

Shipments Decrease.

Shipments of wheat from North America and supplies on ocean passage have decreased considerably in the last week-end receipts of new crop Argentine are increasing. Shippers are now offering the latter at from 5c to 6c under No. 2 Northern from Vancouver.

Cash Wheat Dull.

Trading in the various grades of cash wheat continued dull and sales were again insignificant. A sharp advance in flax futures in the opening minutes of trading, followed by a break of 3c from the high points, when profit-taking appeared, was a feature of the coarse grains market. Demand for cash coarse grains was indifferent.

Futures:

SUSPECT LEFT-HANDED PEOPLE HALVES OF TWINNED PERSONS

Other Half Failed to Reach Birth is Claim of Prof. Piccard's Twin Brother.

SCIENCE INTERESTED.

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(A. P. Science Editor)

NEW YORK, Jan. 10. (AP)—The fascinating possibility that many lefthanded persons may be but halfs of a twinned person, whose other half failed to reach birth, will be emphasized to science with the arrival of Professor Auguste Piccard, stratosphere balloonist, who is due here to-morrow or Thursday on the steamer Champlain.

These scientific twin studies are the work of Professor Piccard's twin brother Jean, himself a scientis residing in Marshallton, Del., and the two brothers are living examples to support the theory.

Few persons except some scientists know that the Piccard twins are "identical" that rare combination which means they are halves of the same physical person, developing from the same ovum.

The two look so much alike that they are mistaken for one another. Like many identical twins, one is left-handed the other right. Professor Piccard is the natural "lefty" of the pair, a fact usually concealed because he has trained himself into ambidexerity.

Jean Piccard married an identical twin, a fact which has concentrated his attention on some features winning so unusual that he presented them privately to scientists at the American Association for the advancement of science meeting in Atlantic City.

Piccard Explains

What happened there, Jean Piccard told in part to-day in a written statement.

"It is a well known fact that usually one of two identical twins is left-handed while the other one is right-handed. It is well known also that there are many more left-handed persons who never had any twin," he said.

"We may therefore either assume that there are two entirely different kinds of left-handedness with two entirely different causes or that all the left-handed people are — originally—twins. The other twin may have died in infancy or may have been still born.

"In the latter case the mother will often not even have knowledge of the fact that she ought to have had twins. We have evidence, however, that in many more cases the twin has died during the earliest stages of his embryonic life.

"The resemblance of my brother and myself is only one case of many. It is such that during our whole school time there was only one teacher who could distinguish us.

"My brother is left-handed, but he has acquired a complete ambidexterity. Many modern physicians advise against forcing a left-handed child to use his right hand instead of his left. It may produce serious trouble like stuttering and confusing right and left in reading. Such people will read "pots" for "spot" and so on.

"When however, the instruction to use the right hand is given very early in childhood and if it is given without severity but with kind persistency, then such trouble need not develop.

Jackrabbit Gives Race Driver Display Of What Speed Really Is, On Speedway

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Jan. 10.—(AP)—A jackrabbit—when he pins back his ears and puts his mind to it—certainly can travel, and you can take the word of Earl Manselle, a redfaced and embarrassed automobile racing driver for it.

A full grown jack rabbit, of the type which westerners refer to as "half a size smaller than a mule" loped onto the track at the head of the straightaway while 10 racing cars were thundering down the back stretch.

The leading car whizzed around the turn and came up behind the rabbit that apparently did not know until then that it had entered a race. The driver stepped on the gas. The rabbit laid back its ears and had a lead of several car lengths passing the grandstand. Then it veered off into the infield and sat down to rest.

Manselle claimed he was going more than 65 miles an hour.

TRADE CONFLICT.

BERLIN.—Germany and Argentine to-day entered on what Government officials termed open trade conflict.

Germany struck Argentina from the list of nations enjoying Germany's "most-favored-nation" tariff clause in reprisal for what was alleged to be a violation of the German-Argentina trade treaty of 1897.

RUNS AMOK.

ORILLIA. — Brandishing the loaded revolver which he had taken from the trunk where it had lain for years, and threatening to wreak vengeance upon all who attempted to restrain him, John Ellis, 48, ran amok terrifying members of his household and neighbors, and was overpowered by Police Chief Louis Church and Constables Lewis Carr and George Bell.

SINO-JAP BATTLE RAGES

PEIPING, China, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Chinese forces under General Ho Chu-Kuo engaged in an all-day battle with the Japanese forces at Chiuminkow pass, 24 miles north of Shanhaikwan today.

Delayed despatches from the commander said the engagement began at 6.00 a.m. when Chinese cavalry met the first charge of Japanese mounted forces.

TO APPEAL JUDGMENT

TORONTO. — Board of Control decided today to appeal the judgment against it by Miss Mary Bullick, dismissed public health nurse, who was awarded three months salary in lieu of notice.

ADVERTISING for the MERCHANT of TO-DAY

Conducted by HAROLD S. EDGAR

A series of weekly articles on advertising and merchandising prepared for the merchants of Peterborough district with the co-operation of The Peterborough Examiner.

MORE ADVERTISING IN THE INTEREST OF THE DRUGGIST

The advertising in the druggist's interest, whether it be for medicinal or toiletry lines, is probably the most direct advertising appearing in our papers and magazines.

Food advertising is directed at the housewife for the benefit of her family, but the great majority of drug store lines are addressed to the individual. A tonic for YOUR run-down condition. A pill or tablet for YOUR ills. A liniment for YOUR aches and pains. Face powder for your OWN face. Tooth paste for your OWN teeth. Shaving soap and brush to make smooth the path of the razor

This personal direct appeal makes for strong copy, copy which has a direct reaction from the individual. We list in this second article some more of those products on the dealers' shelves which are being advertised to the households throughout the district.

In the old days, the most important remedies in the medicine chest were cathartics, purgatives and laxatives, and many of these were very drastic in their action, and very distasteful to the patient. Nowadays, however, improved medical science has made very great advances, not only in the efficacy of remedies, but has made them more palatable and much more pleasant in their action. Powder coating has given place to sugar and chocolate coating.

A few that might be mentioned are Feenamint, Ex Lax, Cascarets and the medicinal waters Riga and Pluto. In the mineral oil class, Nujol and Petrolagar.

LINIMENTS. In different sections of the country, liniments were compounded for veterinary and human use, which, proving their merit in a restricted area, gradually spread across the country. Perry Davis Painkiller originated in New England, but has been manufactured in Canada for over 50 years. Nerviline was originally compounded in Kingston. Radway's Ready Relief from across the border. Minard's Liniment had its birth in the Maritime Provinces. Kendall's from New England and supplying the Canadian market from Montreal. Douglas Egyptian Liniment, Thomas Eclectric Oil. Of more recent introduction, Absorbine Jr. and Omega Oil.

In ointments and salves, we have Dr. Chase's, Musterole, Mentholatum, Resinol, Baume Bengue, Cuticura. In the inhalant class we have Vicks—both a salve and inhalant—Vapex, Pineoleum, Vapo Cresoline, and in specialty lines, D.D.D. and Unguentine.

In antiseptics, we have Listerine which set the pace with advertising from a new angle, Astring-O-Sol, Pepsodent Mouth Wash, Glyco Thymoline, Zonite and and Lavoris.

The paper manufacturer is also in the advertising field with Eddy's, Interlake, Kleenex and Pond's Tissues.

The babies and young folks have a department of their own in package medicines, and among these products that are advertised to the mothers are Castoria "for which children cry," Steedman's Soothing Powders, Baby's Own Tablets, the prescription of an Eastern Ontario doctor, and Woodward's Gripe Water, coming to us from across the ocean.

FIRST AID. Manufacturing plants originally established to furnish bandages for hospitals have placed on the market packages for home use. We refer to Bauer & Black, Johnson & Johnson, and we might class in the first aid "New Skin."

THE FEET. The condition of the feet is vitally important, and among the remedies sold by the dealer and advertised by the manufacturer are Blue Jay, Freezone, Tiz, Putnam's and Foot Elm, a product over a quarter of a century old, and that was discovered in one of the smaller Ontario towns.

MEDICATED LOZENGES, ETC. While the lemon drops, horehound and other varieties of hard candies sold out of a big bottle are still a source of revenue for the druggist, the advertised products that people know and in knowing ask for have a very large sale. Among these are Formoloid, Nyal Huskeys, Luden's, Smith Brothers' Cough Drops, Checkers, Meloids, Cinnaform, Formamint and P-D Throat Disks.

Few Manufacturers of medicinal and drug lines realize how far afield must go the distribution of medicines if the people are to be served. Medicines are bought to fill an urgent need and are not stored up in the medicine cabinet as canned goods are in the pantry. It is therefore important that the sufferer be able to purchase the remedy he needs at a store within reasonable distance from home, and for that reason the druggist in the towns and cities carries full stocks, but outside of the drug store towns, the large stores, general and other stores throughout the rural district also carry the well-known lines.

Next Week—The Advertising of Toilet Accessories.

Mr. Edgar will be glad to answer questions in this column, if readers will address their communications in care of this paper. Confidential replies can be arranged through the editor.—(Copyright).

RESUME OF YEAR'S WORK GIVEN AT LAKEFIELD CHURCH MEETING

FAIR ATTENDANCE

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 10 (Examiner Correspondence).—The second annual meeting of the congregation of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was held in the basement of the church on Friday evening with a fair attendance. Rev. R. J. Burton, the minister, opened the meeting, and after the devotional period gave a resume of the year's work as follows:—

Each annual meetings is an epoch in the history of Presbyterianism in Lakefield. When we compare the present condition of the church with the dimness and obscurity of six years ago, we have a remarkable contrast. This is our second annual meeting in our new church and the consensus of opinion is that we have made wonderful progress. In September we inaugurated a campaign to raise six hundred dollars, which was necessary to meet a bill for work already done to the new church. The success of that campaign was beyond our expectations, and the amount was fully subscribed. The next consideration will be the completion of the auditorium. We may have to wait a few months before we can plan for the resumption of operations, but we are optimistic as already a substantial donation has been offered toward the work, but as there has been a continual demand made upon the congregation for funds, I feel that we ought to have a short rest and then proceed with caution. It is generally agreed that the economic conditions are improving and with the surplus of energy from our rest we shall make great strides. The building itself, the sensuous surface, the geometrical curves, the aesthetic content, the artistic value are only mediums which give us a minimum amount of satisfaction. There is that internal medium that leads us into the attitude of contemplation, of self-examination and devotion which gives us the maximum amount of joy. The church is God's house. The sheer exhilaration in the contemplation of this beautiful cosy edifice is derived from its sanctity. But this joy is augmented to those who have given unselfishly of their material substances to make possible this creative atmosphere.

Much toil and worry connected with this church are unknown to many of you; a few men have given unremittingly of their time and ability to make your worship here possible. I would take this opportunity to pay a tribute to R. R. Hall, K.C., of Peterborough for his legal skill and mental ability which was given as a donation to this congregation. The future of any village community is uncertain, but the present prospects for this congregation are very bright. As long as we continue to work together for the Kingdom of Our Lord Jesus Christ we must succeed. We need the continuity of purpose, amalgamation of interests, the division of responsibilities. We hope the day is at hand when we shall be able to master our local obligations and resume our former relationships with financial assistance toward the budget of our beloved church.

I want to thank you one and all for the support you have given to the local policy of this church and for your personal support and prayers in making the apparent impossible, a vivid actuality. You have done a great work; I sincerely pray that God will succor you to continue.

Following the reading of this address, Mr. Benton was elected chairman of the business meeting, on motion of Mr. Robert Duff; and on motion of Mr. Chaplin, Mrs. J. M. Simpson was re-elected secretary-treasurer of the congregation.

The session report was given by Mr. Andrew Fairbairn, who in his 90th year presented a remarkably fine report, remarkable in its clarity of thought and composition and also with its optimistic challenge to go forward for "the best is yet to be." Mr. Fairbairn is an honored and revered member of the congregation and is its senior elder. Miss M. Thomson reported for the Sunday School which shows a gratifying increase in membership and its report reflected credit on the accuracy and consecration of its leaders.

Miss Jean Clark reported for the Sunshine Club, which is the "baby organization" of the church, as it has only been recently formed by Mrs. R. J. Burton. Its object is the completion of the Church and their report showed their beginning was extremely gratifying and the progress made in membership and interest is very fine.

Miss Duff reported for the W.M.S. who have a very encouraging and inspiring year's record. Miss Duff is a very earnest worker and her enthusiasm for missions was a great inspiration to her fellow members.

The report of the Bale Committee, given by Miss Mollie Thomson, presented a vivid picture of the efforts put forth to make others comfortable and happy.

Miss McKibbin presented the report for the Women's Association and explained the many methods employed for raising funds for local purposes. There was general satisfaction at the earnest endeavor of the organizations for the advancement of the church.

The report of the Board of Management was given by Mrs. J. M. Simpson, who is the exceedingly efficient secretary-treasurer, and here too was great cause of gratification.

The report of the Building Committee was presented by Mr. Robert Duff and read by Mr. Burton.

The progress has been really remarkable, as with the exception of a small mortgage the church as far as it has been completed is free of debt. This represents a splendid achievement.

Mr. E. Turk was appointed to the Board of Management and Mr. Robert Duff re-appointed.

A very gratifying feature of the presentation of the reports that all closed with a balance on the right side of the ledger which, in these times of financial stress, is a matter for thankfulness.

Mr. T. W. Chaplin and Miss Duff were appointed auditors. Miss Duff, whose splendid enthusiasm in her work made her for more than half a century an outstanding figure in educational circles in the community is now retired, but her interest in church and village remains strong and with her associate, Mr. Chaplin, her successor as principal of the Public School, the work of the auditors is believed to be in good hands.

Mr. Burton closed the meeting with the Benediction.

APPOINTMENT CANCELLED OF DR. W. F. LOUCKS

there was in all human nature an innate sense of justice which should aways be considered.

Committees.

Finance, Deputy-Reeve N. Alex MacColl, Reeve C. H. Davidson, Councillor A. D. Bennett; Road and Bridge, Councillor John O'Sullivan, Reeve Davidson, Councillor J. R. Battisby, Councillor E. C. McKeel; Relief, Councillor Battisby, Councillor McKeel, and Councillor O'Sullivan; Police, Councillor McKeel, Councillors Battisby and O'Sullivan; Industrial, Councillor N. H. Thompson, Councillor McKeel, Deputy-Reeve MacColl. Fire, Councillor Bennett, Councillor F. F. Long, and Reeve Davidson; Band, Councillor Long, Councillors Thompson and McKeel. The first-named is the chairman of each committee.

Cancel Appointment.

Mayor Carr stated that in the past the matter of the payment of the medical officer of health, Dr. W. F. Loucks, had been illegal, and that this must be rectified this year and a salary set. This matter had been handed over from the 1932 session and discussion followed resulting in the unanimous passing of a resolution stating "That this council cancel the appointment of Dr. Loucks as M.O.H. of the town of Campbellford and that the Department of Health be requested to approve this action." The clerk was also requested to forward a copy of this resolution to Dr. Loucks.

Councillor Long brought up the matter of a proper by-law in the town governing the storage and sale of gasoline, and after discussion it was passed on his motion, seconded by Councillor O'Sullivan, that the Town Property Committee investigate the situation and confer with the town solicitor in the preparing of a suitable by-law. This was also a matter that was handed over from last year's business.

The annual grant of $1,550 to the Public Library Board was approved, Councillor McKeel and Reeve Davidson putting the motion.

Re-Appointments.

The following re-appointments were approved by the Council: Town assessor, Robert Lowery, for one year only at a salary of $300 per annum; member of the local Board of Health, John Gay, for one year; High School Trustee, G.G A. Kingston, for 1933-1934; Public Library Board, A. T. Linton, for 1933, 1934 and 1935.

Five applications were received for two positions as town auditors for 1933, the successful applicants being J. D. McEachern and R. J. Allan. The other three applying were Wilbert Kingston, Alex. H. Little and the firm of chartered accountants, Alex. S. Leith and Company of Toronto.

The lease of the police office which ran out in December of 1932 was renewed for three years, this action being taken under by-law and subject to a slight alteration.

Deputy-Reeve MacColl presented a borrowing by-law enabling the town to borrow for current use until taxes are collected the sum of $50,000 from the Canadian Bank of Commerce. This was passed, the interest rate being set at five and a half per cent.

An application for the position of town foreman from Chas. Duncalf was received and fyled, and no action taken with a request from the Good Roads Commission requesting the town to send a delegate to their annual convention to be held in Toronto on February 23 and 24.

A communication from the Department of Agriculture, Toronto, requesting the naming of a weed inspector for the year was received, Chief G. C. Bromley, who is under agreement to act in this capacity, being named. It was also agreed to take two copies of the Municipal World.

1933 COUNCIL FOR HASTINGS INAUGURATED

Samuel Hatherly Returns After Absence of Five Years —J. L. Doherty is Newcomer.

CLERK'S SALARY CUT.

J. M. Baker Appointed Village Treasurer—General Appointments Left Over.

HASTINGS, Jan. 10. (Examiner Correspondence), — The following gentlemen who comprise the 1933 village council, took their oath of office on Monday morning in the council chambers: George B. Stevenson as Reeve, is a newcomer to the council board, last year being on the Hydro Commission; Samuel Hatherly returns to the council after an absence of five years; T. L. Doherty is a new man, while Edward Fleming and Howard Fairman start their second term at the local council table.

For the forty-fifth year in succession village clerk Alex Wilson read the oath over to the council.

Prior to the inaugural session of Council Clerk Wilson addressed the members. The clerk's salary for the past year was $150, but owing to the present conditions of affairs he was willing to drop $25 from his salary as a grant to the relief funds; this generous offer with the Government grants would increase the relief fund by $75.

Asks Co-operation

In taking the chair at the head of the table Reeve Stevenson addressed the council stating that he was a newcomer to the board, but was willing to learn, in asking for the hearty co-operation throughout he stressed that for 1933 the keynote would be economy.

Harmony ruled throughout the whole session; for many years it has been the custom to hold the meeting in the evening but it was decided to go right ahead this year and the large crowd present showed keen interest in proceedings.

J. M. Baker, village treasurer, who had his application in for the same position at an increase in salary of $5 a year. This was in direct contrast to the economy plan of the council but after much discusion he was appointed at the new salary.

The Hastings Star's contract for printing at $100 also came under the eyes of the "city" fathers and was thought to be too high, a committee was appointed to interview Mr. Knight in regards to a new contract.

The corporation in the past has been borrowing money from the Bank and paying 6 per cent.; a motior was made and carried that the ratepayers can reap the benefit of this if they so wish by paying their taxes the first of any month they will receive 6 per cent per annum on their money up till December 1.

The appointments of constable, assessor, tax collector, and medical health officer were left over till the February meeting.

The appointment of a fire chief came in for considerable discussion. It was the custom years past for the volunteer firemen to pick out the chief and his name was submitted to the council for appointment. Of recent years the council has made the appointment. A committee was appointed to go into details in connection with the brigade and report their findings at the next meeting.

Committees Named.

Street Committee—J. L. Doherty (chairman), S. Hatherly and H. Fairman.

Finance Committee—H. Fairman (chairman), Edward Fleming and J. L. Doherty.

Property Committee—Ed. Fleming (chairman), S. Hatherly and J. L. Doherty.

Charity Committee—The whole Council.

Moved by Hatherly, seconded by Doherty, that M. A. O'Shea be solicitor at a retaining fee of $10.

Moved by Fairman, seconded by Hatherly, that the clerk notify Dr. MacDonald to send his account in for 1932.

Moved by Fairman, seconded by J. L. Doherty, that A. G. Parker and Ed. Priscuilt be auditors for 1933 at $7 each.

Moved by Fleming, seconded by Hatherly, that Wm. Boyle be caretaker of the Town Hall at same salary of $100.

Moved by Fairman, seconded by Fleming, that the sheep valuators and fence viewers be T. Walsh, Fred Warner and T. Lynch.

Wm. Boyle was appointed poundkeeper and public pound be at or near the Town Hall.

Moved by Fairman, seconded by Fleming, that the collector's time be extended until February 15th.

The Reeve was appointed to represent the Council at the local Welfare Association meetings.

The following accounts were read: Wm. Boyle, Town Hall, $2.50; Wm. Boyle, Town Hall, 50c; election expenses, $50; A. Wilson, reg. B.M.D., $10; W. T. Tate, scales, $6.55.

Moved by Fleming, seconded by Fairman, that the accounts as read be paid and orders drawn on the treasurer in the usual way.

Moved by Doherty, seconded by Fairman, that the Council adjourn.

GRAIN, CATTLE, PRODUCE

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—Disquieted by reports of stop-loss selling at Winnipeg and by apparent exhaustion of aggressive buying in Chicago, grain markets underwent a notable setback yesterday.

Downturns came after wheat here and at Liverpool had mounted to the highest levels in nearly two months, with the Chicago market showing 6¼ cents a bushel almost vertical climb of late. Much of yesterday's selling of wheat was associated with belief expressed by trade experts that reactions were to be looked for after such a steep movement aloft.

Close Is Unsteady.

Wheat closed unsteady, 5-8 to 1 under Saturday's finish, corn ¼ to ¾ down, oats 1-8 to ¼ off, and provisions unchanged to 25 cents lower.

TORONTO PRODUCE.

TORONTO, Jan. 10.—Slow trading on the local butter market was again evident yesterday as brokers opened offers for the week on fresh and regraded stocks. Choice Ontario and Western makes were quoted on this market, but buyers did not seem ready to take on any large supplies, though the prices for these top scoring makes were steady, with quotations made last week at 21½c. Fresh-made Ontario was offered by brokers at 21c to 21¼c for No. 1 and 20¾c for No. 2, with some sellers asking 21c for 38 score No. 2. Prices to the trade were steady at 24½c for No. 1 and 24c for No. 2.

Cheese.

New cheese at 10c for large was unchanged and trading was quiet, with twins at 10¼c and triplets at 10½c. Retailers were offered new makes at 11c for large, 11¼c for twins, 11½c for triplets and 13½c for stiltons.

There was little activity in eggs and prices were steady at 29c to 30c for extras, 25c for firsts, 23c for pullet extras and 19c to 20c for seconds, graded and in free cases. Country shippers were offered 27c for extras, 24c for firsts, 20c for pullet extras and 18c for seconds, delivered, ungraded, cases returned.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Jan. 10.—Heavy receipts of eggs provided the main feature on the produce and dairy market here yesterday.

Egg receipts totalled 1,780 cases, the largest day's volume in nearly three months. With the return of wintry weather it is felt that the bottom of the market has been reached, after declining for several weeks. Prices held steady yesterday, fresh graded extras in carlots or less being quoted at 32c to 35c, firsts at 27c to 28c, and pullets at 26c to 27c a dozen. Storage eggs in carlots or less were firm at 21c for firsts, and 18½c to 19c a dozen for seconds.

Carlots or less of No. 1 finest grass butter were steady at 21¼c a pound. Receipts were only 39 boxes.

Current receipts of Ontario cheese held unchanged at 8¼c to 8½c for white, 9½c to 9¾c for colored, and 10½c to 11c a pound for early make. Receipts were light, being only 18 boxes.

Potatoes were firm. New Brunswick or Prince Edward Island Green Mountains, per 80-pound bag, being quoted at 85c to 90c, and Prince Edward Island Green Mountains, per 90-pound bag, at 95c to $1.

downtown areas, became very dim.

Failure is Explained

Nervous citizens sought shelter in their home, fearing disorder, but the authorities explained that the weak street lighting was the result of an ordinary operating accident.

In Barcelona the police were rushed to San Fernando Street yesterday afternoon, where there were counds of heavy firing after reports that a bystander had been killed and a policeman and soldier wounded in a gun battle between strikers and police, growing out of a funeral demonstration for the victim's of Sunday's disorders.

After the police and civil guards had reached the district, it was reported that the noise had been caused by children exploding toy bombs.

Greatest precautions were taken at Barcelona to prevent acts of terrorism. Police there said that the plans of the Anarco-Syndicalist and Communists throughout Spain were to hurl small bombs from automobiles and other vehicles.

ized and that persons were brought from the country to the city especially to break up the gathering. They did not name any party as responsible for the disorders.

At Sligo two of five men injured during Mr. Cosgrave's meeting there remained unconscious last night and their condition was regarded as serious.

Free Speech For All Or None.

The Army Comrades' Association, known also as the White Army, issued a pronunciamento yesterday declaring that there must be free speech for all in the campaign or there will be free speech for none. The pronunciamento added that at any place where an A.C.A. meeting was broken up no other party would be allowed to meet.

This ultimatum did nothing to ease the feeling of apprehension concerning the remainder of the campaign.

President de Valera called at the police station at Ennis and made a personal request for active measures to prevent or put down attempted violence.

HASTINGS SOCIETY ELECTS OFFICERS

St. George's Anglican Church Women's Auxiliary Holds Annual Meeting.

HASTINGS, Jan. 10. (Examiner Correspondence). — The annual meeting om the Woman's Auxiliary of St. George's Anglican Church was held on Thursday afternoon at the Rectory when the following members were re-elected: President, Mrs. H. F. Battersby; Vice-President, Mrs. George Jefferies; Secretary, Mrs. Roy King; Treasurer, Miss D. Plant; Dorcas, Mrs. Battersby; Little Helper's Secretary; Mrs. T. Curel; Junior's Superintendent, Mrs. Battersby.

The Society has been most successful during the year in the work it was able to accomplish as revealed by the annual reports given by the secretarys.

The Junior's report, prepared by Miss M. Braithwaite, reported, number of meetings, 31; members, 12; weekly collections, $9.67; income for the year $43.70; mission study was taken up and all who wrote were successful. A missionary pageant was given and was well prepared. A sewing competition was entered into, and fine baby garments and two sewing bags were sent to Mrs. Abbott, the Dominion Junior's secretary at Kingston. Nine other sewing bags were sent to Dorcas Rooms, Toronto. In this competition Bernieee Dainard received a certificate of honorable mention from the Dominion secretary. A number of juniors attended the Deanery meeting in Peterborough. A large parcel, containing a quilt and many useful things was sent to Toronto for the white settlers in the west and was valued at $9.30. The bazaar with their display of work done by the juniors realized them $18.56. After their fees and all accounts were paid they gave $15 to church wardens and still have a balance of $3.78 on hand.

The Senior branch reported by the secretary, Mrs. Roy King was as follows: Membership 12, average attendance 6, meetings 24, collections $16.35, life members 2, members subscribing to "Living Message" 7, church calendars sold 10, Christmas cards 4. Miss Hawkins, a returned Missionary from Japan addressed a meeting in February. All the members attended the Deanery meeting in St. George's Church, Peterborough. Three members attended the annual in Toronto and gave reports. Three members attended a weekly meeting of St. Jame's Church, Roseneath in December. The treasurer, Miss Della Plant was made a life member in January in loving memory of her mother and father. She was also elected as Deanery Officer at the Deanery meeting. The President as her Lenten offering gave 5 pair mitts and baby jackets, and the treasurer gave and embroidered in beautiful design church linen which was sent to Bishop White in China. Examinations were tried on Mission study and second-class honors obtained. Miss Margaret Battersby received first-class honors on an essay on Mission study. An afternoon tea at Easter realized $16.25 and a very successful bazaar at Christmas realized around $100. A bale of new and second-hand clothing valued at $6.25 was sent to the white settlers. Little Helper's party was most encouraging with 34 in atendance including 17 children. The ladies were most pleased with their year's work and after paying their pledges of $33 were able to pay $60 to church wardens during the year, also $5 to Extra-Cent-a-Day Fund and $3.35 to Little Helper's Fund.

The Treasurer and Little Helper's Secretary also submitted their reports and after all were adopted it was decided that an afternoon ea be held at the home of Miss Della Plant on January 19th. The President then closed the meeting with a few encouraging words followed by the member's prayer. Lunch was served.

the Mayor and holding out his hand, the old gesture of peace.

"Thank's Fred" Mayor Denne remarked, and Ald. Cotton applauded the little scene of official goodwill with the comment "that's the spirit".

Seek Legislation

Resignation on or before December 18 will be required of any alderman who becomes a candidate for the mayoralty with still a year in the council to serve if legislation sought by the council receives the provincial government's approval.

In recent years two aldermen who had served only the first of their two year terms aspired for the Mayor's chair, retaining their seat in the council. Ald. Tuggey and ex-Alderman Phelan remained in the council after defeat in mayoralty contests, but apparently the sentiment of the aldermen is opposed to this practice. Ald. Fitzpatrick presented last night a by-law asking for the amendment, and it was given three readings without opposition.

G. H. Thompson, secretary of the Board of Education, asked for an interim grant of $35,000 for the Board's requirements.

Public Library

Presenting a requisition for $10,700 the Public Library Board submitted the first budget of the year.

The Library estimates for 1933 total $11,826 of which $10,700 is expected from the city treasury. Salaries amount to $6,950, books $2,500, magazines $330 and heating $500. Several other items are included.

Ald. Macdonald, as chairman of the Finance committee, requested the other chairmen to prepare their estimates as soon as possible. Ald. McNabb proposed a conference of all the spending bodies who draw upon the city treasury for funds, but as this would include the Board of Education it was decided not to proceed with the proposal for the present.

Ald. Macdonald—We must be careful not to put ourselves in a wrong light with the Board of Education. They will probably put into practice what they profess to do.

Mayor Denne said that economy had been promised by all the candidates in the elections, and the council should assume that other bodies were just as sincere as the council in regard to economy.

Council Briefs

Ald. McNabb's motion requesting the C.N.R. to attach a "sleeper" to their evening train to Belleville for passengers to Montreal was adopted by the council last night.

Ald. Tuggey suggested for later consideration by the council "an independent audit" of the city's books. Comment by several other members was to the effect that the cost would be excessive. Sheriff Hall is auditor for the city, the Toronto Savings and Loan Company, and the Little Lake Cemetery Company.

The council forwarded to the Department of Highways the Relief Committee's recommendation that drivers' licenses and "markers" be not issued to persons registered for relief for a period of six months after receiving relief, except those using cars in an effort to earn a living.

A. G. Metheral's report of relief disbursements from Nov. 28 to Dec. 27 showed a total of $11,711.40 and for the year to December 27 $56,591.62 of which $40,734.65 was for groceries and $7,914 for fuel.

IN MEMORIAM.

BURGESS.—In loving memory of my dear mother, Elizabeth Thurston Burgess, who entered into rest Jan. 10th, 1932:

To-day I am thinking of someone
Who was loving, kind and true,
Whose smile was as dear as the sunshine,
That someone, dear mother was you.

IN MEMORIAM.

HAMBLIN—In loving memory of my dear Mother, Mrs. E. R. Hamblin, who passed away January 11, 1932.

While you dear Mother rest and sleep,
Your loving memory I'll always keep;
Often I pause to think of you,
And think of how you died,
To think you could not say goodbye,
Before you closed your eyes.
Two loving hands are resting,
A heart I loved is still;
A Mother dear I loved is waiting
For me just over the hill.
—Eileen.

IN MEMORIAM.

HAMBLIN—In affectionate remembrance of our dear Mother, Mrs. E. R. Hamblin, who passed away January 11, 1932.

She was the sunshine of our home.
A light has from our household gone,
A voice we loved is still,
A place is vacant in our home,
Which never can be filled.

Suburban Area

E. A. Peck, M.P., township solicitor, was present, and considerable discussion took place regarding special legislation for the suburban area of the township. A resolution was passed that the special area shall be all that portion of the township of North Monaghan lying east of the dividing lines between Lots 10 and 11 in the 10th, 11th, 12th and 13th concessions of the township. A resolution was passed that the reeve, deputy reeve and Mr. Millby be a committe to confer with the township solicitor in regard to the preparation of a special bill to be brought before the Private Bills committee of the Legislature.

The tax collector's time was extended until the next regular monthly meeting of the council.

A resolution was passed authorizing the relief officer to order the yellow slips for relief orders as used last winter.

At 11.50 p.m. the council adjourned.

Is Japanese Assault Bid For New Empire?

An early war in Asia on a scale comparable to the Russo-Japanese conflict of 1905, unless mediative efforts prevail, is feared by international observers as Japan proceeds to force her way into the Chinese provinces of Jehol through the key city of Shanhaikwan. Japan now is believed to be aiming at Peiping, Tientsin, Manchuria, Jehol and Inner Mongolia, all shown on map, for the creation of a new empire in North China. Photos show (1) a view of China's Great Wall, near Shanhaikwan; (2) some of the low-roofed houses of Shanhaikwan, now reported in ruins; (3) Japanese marine patrolling streets of Shanghai during 1932 warfare, and (4) some Chinese troops.

WORK AMONG DEAF CHILDREN EXPLAINED BY H. B. FETTERLY

Head of Belleville Institution Shows Practical Results of Child Training to Rotarians.

Children Dance and Talk.

(By Examiner Staff Correspondent)

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 10. — "There are no such people as dumb children, they are deaf, they cannot hear the human voice, and so their vocal cords have not been exercised and brought into play" declared H. B. Fetterly, M.A., Superintendent of the Ontario School for the Deaf, Belleville, speaking to the Campbellford Rotarians yesterday on the work that was being done in this institution to make the so-called dumb speak and to educate them so that they can take their place as citizens after their period of schooling.

His talk was very aptly demonstrated by eight of the pupils of this school, four girls and four boys, all of whom were in their third book at school.

Dressed in Scottish costumes four of these children performed a highland dance with such perfection and sense of rythm that showed a complete harmony with the notes played on the piano. The speaker explained that in the absence of hearing other methods have to be employed to get across to the children knowledge and understanding and the chief among these is the piano. They are taught through this instrument to respond to vibration and in time become so sensitive to rythm that they acquire a perfect idea of time. The advantage of this training is not only social but to enable the training of the sense of touch so that they can in time talk in a more manual way and obtain what years ago were considered impossible results.

They were not dummies, as they were so often called Mr. Fetterly pointed out and demonstrated this fact when all the eight children, in a change of costume, sang several child hymns and nursery rhyms, and if the notes were not perfect the words were pronounced splendidly and articulation and time were perfect. In fact, it was a perfect demonstration that these children, who entered life under this severe handicap, were being given every opportunity to become normal children.

The speaker pointed out that the one great barrier in the past had been the manual or hand language, but this was not taught at all now although some of the children used it. Deafness, he said was a child's greatest handicap, far greater than blindness, and yet this handicap did not get the sympathy from the public that the other affliction did.

In the training of these children, they were first taught rythm by means of the piano, were taught to distinguish vibrations, time and beats and taught to produce words by beats and later sentences in the same way, until they become filled with the sense of time and rythm.

Then they were taught the amplification of sound through a machine similar to a radio, through the medium of ear phones. Records of music, songs and series of songs, were heard through this amplifier, until a sense of music to the ear was obtained. They were then talked to through the microphone, and they could hear the human voice, and talk back and hear their own.

The actual teaching of words, so necessary in the carrying on of conversation was done through the association of models representing animals named by the teachers, the facial expression being watched by the pupils until they could associate the two. Later the printed word was attached to the model. This method also applied to actions, commands were learned, and in the course of a year the children were able to grasp from one hundred to one hundred and fifty words.

"We are trying to teach the public, said Mr. Fetterly what the children are capable of, for they have to make their way in the world when they have finished their schooling and become citizens of the country."

The luncheon, which was presided over by President Elie Brunelle was largely attended, the guests of honour being the town council and civic staff. The speaker was introduced by N. Alex MacColl, who also voiced his appreciation of the wonderful demonstration given the club on a subject that was very little known about.

Nervous

SEATTLE, Jan. 10.—(A.P.)—Terrified by glimpses of gleaming instruments, Alex Cizaski, 48, decided he didn't need an operation.

So while the doctors and nurses were out of sight, he fled from his ward, clad only in a nightgown and a blanket.

Sighted two hours later, a policeman gave a desperate chase and managed to seize the blanket, but Cizaski got away. Later he was captured.

Obituary

MRS. MARY CASTRICUM.

The death occurred on Monday of Mary Geary, the beloved wife of William Castricum, of 552 Stewart street, this city, aged 71 years, following a lengthy illness.

Duty to the Law

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—(A.P.)—As Mrs. Gertrude J. Strassburger, 61, a widow, and jewelry store owner, viewed it, her duty was to the law.

"I trusted him," she said in felony court. "He worked in the store as a clerk. I began to miss things. One day I passed a pawnshop and saw in the window one of the things he had stolen."

The Judge held the defendant to the grand jury. He was John Strassburger, her son.

CALGARY READY TO ISSUE SCRIP

Council Names Group to Study Its Value and Suggests Uses.

TAX PAYMENTS SLACKEN.

CALGARY, Jan. 10. (CP)—Calgary's ship of Script to-day was being groomed for launching on the troubious sea of civic finances as another unit in currency and credit warfare unique in Canadian annals.

Sponsored as a $1,000,000 proposition, the Script Plan was endorsed by city council last night to the extent of appointing a committee to investigate its value and make recommendations for its use. Meanwhile Mayor Andy Davidson and the civic finance committee are continuing negotiations with the Bank of Montreal for a stated line of temporary credit—probably $750,000—and the tender of payment in Canadian funds of debentures exceeding $2,000,000 is proceeding.

Pressure for the Scrip issue gained as tax pre-payments fell off after whirling far ahead of 1932 prepayments which assured the city sufficient funds for operation of utilities and other affairs when threat of credit withdrawal developed from the city's refusal to pay $300,000 in adverse exchange charges in meeting debenture obligations. Up to last night tax prepayments totalled $336,767.33, still ahead of the $302,326.06 collected in the same period last year. A civic call for increased prepayment was issued.

WEIRD WEATHER SWEEPS CANADA

Pacific Coast Basks in 50 Above, Dust Storms in Calgary, Blizzard Regina.

SNOW IN MANITOBA.

High up in the Northwest Territories, residents of Aklavik went about their business in a mere 40 below zero atmosphere, while British Columbians basked in temperatures of 50 above.

Down in the foothills province, Calgary had one of those old-fashioned dust storms, with wirling gray clouds that made traffic movement difficult. Buildings were coated with the fine grey substance while citizens, lured out by the Chinook, exhibited red swollen eyes as they breasted a 40-mile-an-hour zephyr.

The warm Chinook that brought snowslides and dust storms to British Columbia and Alberta turned frigid as it passed eastward. Regina, in Saskatchewan, was belabored with wind and snow of blizzard proportions. Power lines snapped to leave the city without power. Snowfall was general throughout Manitoba.

SPYING ON SPORTS

International Canadian

"Gossip and Such"

Ed. Lewis, more commonly known as the Strangler, has been popping off to sports writers of the California press quite recently. It appears he informed one scribe, in trenchent phrases, that Jemmy Londos was a wrapped-in-cellophane bum; that Jeemy's manager, Ed. White, was likewise streaked in saffron hues and that Billy Sandow, Edward's old manager, was closely akin to the world's most impenitent thief.

* * *

The Strangler owns restaurants and quite extensive properties in the California of Glendale. Until he broke with Sandow after 18 years, he was recognized as wrestling champion by the California commission, which means little at that in the mat sport.

* * *

"About fourteen months ago," Lewis informed the California sports scribe, "I decided to split with Sandow. He had funny ideas, and although we had been together eighteen years, he decided that certain things should be done which I couldn't have part of. He was picking up other wrestlers and spending little time on my affairs, despite the fact that it was off me he got rich. I got careless myself. One day I awoke to the fact that my affairs were being sidetracked for those of Savoldi and Everett Marshall."

"Rather than create a fuss, I asked Sandow to name a price on my contract. He said $50,000. I agreed and to keep faith I added another ten thousand. Sandow then boosted the price to one hundred grand and I told him plenty."

* * *

"I went east to get away from Sandow. He tried to have me barred in every state, claiming in his underhand fashion, that I had a contagious eye disease. Funny he never felt that way about me before when he sent me to the post all over the country in recent years when sometimes I couldn't tell light from darkness."

* * *

"I was blocked in one state after another. Finally I went to New York and had a long talk with Jack Curley. He agreed to give me a break. My eyes were examined and found okay. Londos and White, finding I was coming back to what they regarded as their air-tight domain, left for California. I had beaten all their men and finally decided to take on Steele whom I regarded as one of the best in the racket, one who can beat Londos any time he chooses."

* * *

"Finally the New York commisson recognized my claims. They saw I was training hard and in the best of condition. I can toss Londos and Steele in one night. To prove it and I know they will never consent—I am willing to wrestle them for nothing, giving every cent of my receipts to charity."

* * *

"Londos will never meet me. I understand there is a little agreement between White and Sandow that Marshall is to be champion. Well, I've got something to say about that too."

Saying which the Strangler ambled off and the scrivener got in touch with White and informed him what Lewis thought of those stitch and starch artists. To wit Mr. White replied "that settles a doubt in my mnd that Lewis is approaching senility. Now I know he has passed it; just a nice old man, Ed.

GAMBYSMEN WEAKEN IN THIRD UNDER HARD-SHOOTING ATTACKS OF FAST SKATING LOCAL SQUAD

Fast Criss-crossing Combination of Petes Bewilders Opponents—Blue and White Leads From Start, 5-2 at End of First, 8-3 in the Second, to Score Six More Goals in Third.

IRA DUNDAS LEADS MARKS MEN WITH 5 GOALS, HOWE AND CREIGHTON OTHER LEADING SCORERS

The Petes turned it on in Orono last night to open the intermediate series, soaking the Ramblers with a 14-3 walloping before a small crowd of fans. The ice was fast and it was a fair game till the last period when the Gamsbymen weakened before the terrific speed, flawless combination and hard shooting of the husky Blue and Whites. Orono was without the services of their star forward, Doc Henry, and this partially accounted for the one-sided score.

Snappy criss-cross passing by the Petes had thei ropponents doing a Ben Turpin trying to follow the rubber toward the end of the fray, and the homesters were outskated all through the game. The count was 5-2 to end the first period, and 8-3 going into the last, with the victors riding rougshod over them to slam in six more before the final bell. The contest was clean throughout.

Heads Scorers

Ira Dundas was in rare form, playing a fine all-around game and accounting for five goals himself. Ellis had a goal and two assists, Creighton tallied three, Howe got a couple, Weir had three assists, and in fact every player on the team figured in the scoring. With teamwork very much to the fore, there was probably no outstanding player, except for Dundas. Dallin and Ellis worked well with Ira; Jarvis, Creighton and Hatton clicked smartly on the second line; Weir, LeBarr and Howe showed effective defence playing as well as a number of dangerous rushes; and Miller looked good on several hard shots though he had a comparatively easy night in the locals' net. The Orono crew tried hard and went fair the first half the game. Their goalie missed few easy ones, while Welton, Watson, Brown and Breslin looked good offensively.

Play Opens Fast

Play opened with a rush, going up and down fast. Jarvis nearly scored, and the Petes were showing smart combination and checking in the centre zone. Welton intercepted a pass to blaze the rubber past Miller to start the scoring, with Dundas taking a pass from Ellis shortly after in close to even it. Ira put another in shortly, but the goal-umpire wouldn't raise his hand and it was not allowed, though they changed goal-umps then. Watson got the next one for the Ramblers, batting in Brown's rebound off the boards, but again Dundas balanced it, this time on Weir's assist. Creighton took one from LeBarr and hoisted it from the blue line right into the twine. Weir pulled off a classy rush and shoved the puck to Dundas who didn't miss. Welton took it on the lam for hooking, and Hatton drew a dandy pass from Jarvis to score just before the bell.

Ellis, aided by Dallin, started it off in the second with a marker, and Dundas flashed around the net a minute later to poke in another one alone. Within another minute, Creighton and Weir combined in fine fashion, Red getting the counter. Dundas took a rest for boarding and Welton tore around right defence to get the last Orono score. LeBarr went off for boarding and play was more even at the end. Weir missing an open net after getting right in on the goalie.

The Gamsby gallants staged a short-lived offensive that made it interesting for a space in the third, and then they faded as the Petes romped along in midseason form, getting six in a row. It was Creighton from Hatton, then Dundas along, then a beautiful rinklength rush by LeBarr. Jarvis got one but didn't get credit for it, and Ted was also robbed of one shortly. Breslin was eased off for charging and Dallin grabbed Ellis' neat pass to bullet it past a dazed goalie. Howe pulled off a dizzy rush, being tripped as he battered his way through the defence, but scoring from his knees. A few minutes later, the same player lined a high one from an angle that found a hempen resting place, and the hard-working "Gamey" Jarvis was all over the place and doing everything but scoring at the windup.

The teams:

Petes: Goal, Miller; defence, Howe and LeBarr; centre, Ellis; wings, Dundas and Dallin; alternates, Weir, Creighton, Jarvis, Hatton.

Orono; Goal, McNevin; defence, Dean and Breslin; centre, West; wings, Henry and Brown; alternates, Welton, Neal, Watson and McCutcheon.

Referee, "Ginger" Edgar of Bowmanville.

FOLEY PLAYS BRILLIANT GAME AS GOAL-TENDER FOR CARTERS

Williams, Maudsley, Stevenson, Cripps and Calladine Give Stellar Performances.

RANGERS LOSE 1-0.

(Examiner Correspondence)

NORWOOD, Jan. 10.— Payne's Carters of Peterborough took Alex Kempt's Combines into camp on Monday night 2 to 1 in 10 minutes overtime at Norwood Arena. The game was one of the best in the local arena in some time and was witnessed by a fair sized crowd. Both squads played the puck the entire seventy minutes, taking just enough time to hand out some stiff body checks. Herb Payne's crew got the first goal of the evening in the first period which was of the flukey variety. Williams shot from the right boards, the puck hit McConnell and caromed in before Beavis could get his eye on it. The Combines evened matters up on a rush by Stevenson and Calladine, the latter making a perfect pass to the Hastings veteran who made no mistake.

Brilliant Goal-Tending

The Combines put on the pressure in the second period and doing everything but push Foley through the strings, but the Peterborough boy was unbeatable. He appeared to be padded with rabbit feet. Stevenson, Cripps and Calladine were in on top of him time after time only to have their efforts frustrated by his masterful display of netminding.

Going into the third both teams went on to the offensive and Beavis in the Combines net was called upon to stop some hot drives from Williams, Maudsley and Carroll. Foley in the other end kept up his good work of the second period and fans waited for the break. It came in the overtime when after a clever rush Carroll was left uncovered, parked in front of Beavis and on the pass out made sure of the million dollar goal.

The stars of this hard fought battle were, for Carter, Foley, Williams and Maudsley. The Combines, Stevenson, Fred Cripps and Calladine.

Carters— Goal, Foley; defence, Swanger and Lackey; centre, Maudsley; wings, Carroll and Williams; subs, Maher and Jones.

Lindsay-Bobcaygeon Battle To 5-5 Count

BOBCAYGEON, Jan. 10.—(Special)—After ninety minutes of brilliant hockey, Lindsay and Bobcaygeon Ontario Hockey Association juniors, remained deadlocked in a 5-5 tie, here last night. Lindsay led by 5 to 2 at the end of the second session, but a terrific offensive by Bobcaygeon and the brilliant work of Johnston, who scored three counters in this period sent the teams into a scoreless over-time.

For Lindsay the goal-getters were Murphy, Campbell, Tripp and two by Cain and for Bobcaygeon, Johnston was particularly outstanding with four and Kelso one.

Bobcaygeon—Goal, Kimble; defense, Kennery, Kellett; wings, Kelso, Nichols; centre, Johnston; subs, Gordon, Newman, Nichols, Gallagher.

FOUR PROBLEMS FACE CLARK GRIFFITH IN AMERICAN RACE

Fitness of Joe Cronin Into His New Role of Shortstop and Manager.

NEW CATCHING STAFF.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (C.P.).—Clark Griffith laid down his pinochle hands, arched his bushy eyebrows and opined to the newspaper boys that there were four big problems between his Washington Senators and the American Baseball League pennant.

With a friendly grin at Frankie Baxter, the bat boy who had been playing a prominent role in the pinochle game, Griffith gave the four as:

Refurnishing the catching staff.

Joe Cronin, and will he fit into his new and dual role of shortstop and manager?

Development of Rookie Cecil Travis with third base in mind, the job now held by Veteran Ossie Bluege.

A training session that will put the Senators in fighting trim and on their toes for opening here with Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics.

Memories Of Harris.

Cronin, stepping into the managerial shoes of Walter Johnson, who brought the Senators home in third place last season, will be doing his first trick as a player-manager and he's only 26. But Griffith, with memories of Bucky Harris and 1924 and 1925 in his mind, has a lot of faith in Joe.

The club owner, who has earned in organized baseball the title of "the old fox," in recent weeks has been up to his swapping tricks in an effort to build up a winner for Cronin next fall.

Build Up Batting Punch.

In the several trades of the last month, Griffith has sought to build up the batting punch of the team. The most recent deal which Griffith let leak out Saturday brings Luke Sewell of Cleveland here to catch in place of Roy Spencer, who went to the Indians in exchange. Sewell on his record is a bit better at clouting than Spencer and each fielded .978 last season.

R. G. Mulkins, T. W. Chaplin, N. A. Moore, E. H. Northey, skip.

E. A. Tanner and J. E. Galvin, rovers.

Norwood and Lakefield meet on Wednesday night in the Lakefield rink in the East Peterborough Hockey League.

On Tuesday night the Lakefield District League opens with a double header, the first game will be between the Lennox Lions and Young's Point Maroons and the second between the Warsaw Rangers and the High School Senators.

PORT HOPE LOSES TO BOWMANVILLE

Intermediate Game Replete With Heavy Checking and Smooth Stick-handling.

BOWMANVILLE, Jan. 10.—In a game replete with heavy bodychecking and smooth stickhandling, Bowmanville intermediates took Port Hope into camp here last night, 9-4. Both teams sustained casualties due to the heavy bodychecking. Harwood of Port Hope was especially effective with his 226 pounds.

In the first period Rundle of Bowmanville opened the scoring following a pass from Cameron. Bert soon balanced the scales when he snared a forward pass that Hagerman had poked ahead and shot from outside the blue line. Rundle added another to Bowmanville's tally.

Penalties Plentiful

The second period saw more action, with penalties plentiful. Hagerman passed the puck to Rowden, who flipped it past Hooper for the second goal for Port Hope. The next goal was the finest individual play of the evening, F. Jamieson tallying. G Piper reaped the final goal of this period on a pass from Jamieson.

Port Hope made a dangerous attempt to tie the score in the third period when, after Piper had scored one more goal, Berbert and Roach drove two into the Bowmanville net in quick succession, making the score 5 to 4. Their efforts, however, were futile and before the period ended Jamieson had scored two more, Densem one and I. Piper one to make the score 9 to 4.

Port Hope—Goal, X. Macks; defence, Harwood and Hagerman; centre, Berbert; wings, Hills and Roach; subs., Francy, Rowden, Dawley, Highfield.

Bowmanville—Goal, Hooper; defense, Densem and Chartran; centre, G. Piper; wings, F. Jamieson and I. Piper; subs., Candler, Cameron, O. Jamieson and Rundle.

Butch Keeling To Play With Rangers

TORONTO, Jan. 10. — (CP) — While Detroit Red Wings are idle and Manager Jack Adams perhaps angles for a forward to use while Happy Emms nurses a broken thumb for a couple of weeks, New York Rangers start a critical string of games tonight that they hope will carry them out in front of the Wings.

The two teams are tied today at the top of the United States division of the National Hockey League but the flyers of Detroit have played four more games than Rangers.

Tonight the Blueshirts meet Toronto Maple Leafs at Toronto. Butch Keeling is certain of playing with Rangers in this game at least but Detroit is reported to be negotiating for the hard-shooting left winger from Owen Sound and they may land him before the end of the week. Emms is likely to be out of the game for two weeks.

Boston will try to keep ahead of Chicago Black Hawks, only two points behind the Bruins and in last position. The Bruins are at home to Ottawa Senators while the Hawks run into Americans in New York.

Famous Soccer Star in the Asylum In Charge of Equally Famous Partner

By WILLIS ENTWISTLE
Central Press Canadian Staff Writer.

One of the greatest tragedies of British football concerns a player who, in his heyday just before the war and a few days after, was one of the best players the game has ever known.

The tragedy was brought to light only recently when Ted Vizard, famous ex-Welsh international, took the Bolton Wanderers' third team to play a West Lancashire league fixture against Whittingham Asylum.

In charge of the Whittingham team, and playing occasionally is none other than Bert Freeman, the famous Woolwich Arsenal, Everton and Burnley international centre forward.

One of Freeman's first charges as an attendant at Whittingham Asylum was, and still is, Tommy Boyle, the former Burnley and Barnsley centre half back, a super star in his day but now a broken man.

The game gave many honors to the Yorkshire coal miner, who cannot now remember anything of the past and didn't recognize Vizard, who talked with him.

Tommy Boyle was the big power in the Barnsley half back line when they made cup history just before the war. Suppose we recall the famous team: Cooper, Downs and Ness, Glendennig, Boyle and Utterly, Bartop, Gadsby, Lilycrop, Tufnell and Forman. Several of those players fetched big sums after the memorable cup displays.

Boyle later went to Burnley and there figured in a hundred triumphs, and here's the famous Burnley team: Dawson, Bamford and Taylor, Halley, Boyle and Watson, Nesbit, Lindley, Freeman, Hodgson and Mosscrop.

Teddy Hodgson went to the great beyond, a war sacrifice, and his widow still lives in the neighborhood of Toronto today.

But Tommy Boyle is the greatest tragedy of them all, a broken shell, but still living.

Earl Sande never was up on a Futurity winner. He won the Kentucky Derby three times, the Belmont Stakes five times, and many other famous races, but hasn't been able to get over the Futurity jinx.

RUBBERTOWN TEAM HERE THIS EVENING

Two Evenly Matched Junior Teams Should Provide Plenty of Good Hockey.

The second junior O.H.A. game of the season is slated for 8.30 o'clock at the Brock this evening, Bowmanville playing the Petes. Another large crowd is expected out, as ideal weather with fast ice and two evenly-matched teams all tends toward making this fixture an attractive one from every standpoint.

The Petes won their first game here last week hammering out a 2-1 win on heavy ice. Local fans did not have the opportunity of seeing this squad receive a real test as the ice kept them from displaying any speed or much teamwork. They did show fine defence playing and proved to be husky and possessed of considerable inside hockey. Their manager gave the boys a stiff workout on hard ice last night before quite a few railbirds, and the lads looked great. They were pulling a lot of smart hockey combination and blocking and will use this type of play against Bowmanville to-night.

Bowmanville, though something of an unknown quantity around here so far this season, are said to be strong players who have been practising in their own town and in Oshawa a month back. They have expert coaching and are not likely to go down without a furious battle. This team, many think, is the one to beat out for the group championship, though this may be ascertained to-night.

Either Sanderson or Galvin will start in goal; Cadd, Weir and Fenton will line up on defence; Calladine, Jay and McGregor make up the main forward line for the Petes and some of the alternates likely to be seen in action are Williamson, Hill, Burley, the latter a Bellevilie boys going to Normal here and who starred in a City League fixture the other night down in Norwood. Prices are reduced materially for these junior games, and plenty of good hockey entertainment is offered, so it is up to the fans to turn out and see it while the weather is right for this game

ALL SAINTS AND KNOX JUNIORS TIE 2-2 IN CHURCH LOOP TILT

Knox Midgets Take 4-0 Decision Over Trinity in First Game.

ST. PAUL'S LOSE 7-3.

Four hard-fought hockey games At All Saints' rink last night opened the 1933 Church Hockey League season. The ice was good and the players had a fair number of fans, and they dished up plenty of action from the start. Knox Midgets took a 4-0 decision over Trinity. St. John's juveniles made it 7-3 over St. Paul's, All Saints and Knox juniors finished in a 2-2 deadlock, and All Saints' intermediates won from George Street, 4-1.

In the opener, Williams scored three and Johnson one for Knox as they blanked Trinity It was a lively affair, with some hard playing on both sides, but "the winners showed a slight edge most of the way. The losers threatened considerably in the last frame. The teams:

Trinity: Goal, Davern; defence, H. Wainman and Leether; centre, O. Wainman; wings, Kent and Freeman; alternates, Vallery, Ward and Pearce.

Knox: Goal, Whatman; defence, LeClair and Graham; centre, Williams; wings, Lucas and Johnson; alternates, Woods, Lang and McDonald.

In the juvenile go, St. John's had a decided edge on the offensive in the first two periods, but St. Paul's showed a fine fighting spirit later to make it a battle. Some tricky stickwork and hard checking marked this affair in every stanza. Young, Edwards, the Pattersons and Walton all figured in St. John's scoring, while Al Clark got the losers' markers.

The teams:

St. John's—Goal, Simmons; defence, Young and Pink; centre, Edwards; wings, Walton and J. Patterson; alternates, F. Patterson, Ford, Howell and Vollans.

St. Paul's—Goal, McIntyre; defence, Pulkinghorn, Currie; centre, G. Clark; wings, Leith and A. Clark; alternates, Barr and Easton.

The junior game was a nifty exhibition, winding up 2-all, with Knox and All Saints battling furiously to break it up. The former squad countered one in the second and tied it in the third after Clark and Pulford of the Saints had scored in the second. Watson, assisted by Fisher, and Archibald aided by Gatfield, countered for the Knox bunch. The teams:

Knox: Goal, Hammell; defence, Fisher and Anderson; centre, Archibald; wings, Gatfield and Seabrook; alternates, Watson, Ringer, McDonald and Masters.

All Saints: Goal, Worsencroft; defence, R. Hope and E. Hope; centre, Clark; wings, Frost and Pulford; alternates, Rusaw and Williams.

All Saints' intermediates had a big period, the second, to hammer out a 4-1 win over George Street. The latter got their lone marker by Tuck in the third chapter. Frost and McCullough each shoved in a brace for the victors in a lively and keenly-contested fixture, marked with smart teamwork, stiff checking and good goal-keeping. The teams:

All Saints: Goal, Hope; defence, Frost and Sanders; centre, McCullough; wings, Dyer and Hughes; alternates, Olaveson, Hall, Goodson.

George Street: Goal, Seabrook; defence, Huggins and Ramsay; center, Tuck; wings, Payne and G. Seabrook; alternates, Barton and Gatfield.

"CABIN IN THE COTTON"

This is a perfectly dandy picture. They don't come often like this, but when they do, they're a knockout.

"Cabin in the Cotton" is different. You won't see anything like it in another blue moon. It has laughter and tears and pathos and drama and tragedy and heart interest, all packed into the space of one picture. The man who filmed it must have come from the cotton belt, and the director picked a marvellous cast.

Henry B. Walthall, who played the Little Colonel in "The Birth of a Nation" and made a name for himself that lasted for years, has not had anything but tiny "ham" parts for many a long day. See him as "Old Eph," in this picture, the man who stirs the dormant blood in the soul of the hero, and remember again the fascination of that old-time picture.

Richard Barthlemess is the hero, hand-picked for an inspiring and terribly dramatic part. Dorothy Jordan is the nice girl, Betty, and Bette Davis is Madge, the blonde charmer who nearly turns the trick and who goes in for modern methods from first to last. She stops at nothing to gain her ends, but even her sophistication cannot pierce the armor of youthful idealism that shields Marvin Blake from her greedy grasp.

There doesn't seem to be a weak part in the whole long picture, which portrays the struggle between the "peckerwoods," the cotton-pickers of the South, and the planters who exploit their toil. It is a picture which suits Barthelmess down to the ground. He has lost much of the fat that threatened to encroach on his popularity, and he is back again to the dark and handsome role of the youth who was such a success some years back.

It is a superb picture that can make you laugh and cry and thrill to the struggle that has its denoument in the dramatic scene where Marvin turns definitely and ultimately to the right.

With the program is a comedy that portrays in bombastic style the trials of the Widow James' lovely daughter. We'd like to bet that the actors enjoyed themselves just as much in making this drama as does the audience who watches it unfold.

Wohelo Club Beats St. Andrew's 10-2

Wohelo Club defeated St. Andrew's 10-2 in a ladies' junior basketball contest played at the Y. W.C.A. last night. The play was close throughout, but the Wohelo's had a decided advantage over their opponents in experience, as the losers were playing their first game of organized basketball. However, they give promise of developing into a strong junior outfit. The Wohelo girls showed nice combination efforts, but were a bit weak around the baskets. The teams:

Wohelo — O. Gillespie, E. Hodson, T. Vivash, A. Livingstone, O. Moore, B. Flynn, T. Stazicker, L. Ellis.

St. Andrew's — J. Cole, M. Donaldson, H. Heffernan, M. Weir, M. Clark, D. Tremaine, M. Stacey, M. Lytle, A. Macdonald, B. Detcher.

BIGGER CUPS TO AID GOLF

Game Lacks Thrill of Other Major Sports, Says Gene Sarazen.

REDUCE COURSE PAR.

(By Brian Bell, A.P. Staff Writer)

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10 (A.P.)—Gene Sarazen believes golf's greatest need of the moment is a greater thrill and he thinks he knows how to supply it. His suggestion is "make the cups bigger."

"Golf now is too tame," said the Open champion of Great Britain and the United States.

"Good players knock the ball on the green in two strokes and then take two putts for a par four. If we had more one-putt greens, the game would be much more interesting to watch and play.

"My idea would be to make the cups eight inches across instead of 4¼. What a difference that extra 3¼ inches would make! It would work distinctly to the advantage of the star player, and I'll tell you why.

"Say a crack player and one just average are playing. The average player puts his ball on the green say 20 or 25 feet from the cup. The expert is closer, say 12 to 15 feet. But each will take two putts and halve the hole. If the cups were bigger, the average player still would take his two putts from 20 to 25 feet, but the expert from 12 to 15would knock his in every time. There would be the thrill.

"In Florida sometime soon we are going to have a 72-hole tournament with the cups eight inches. I believe some good player well on his game will play four rounds all under 70. An expert hitting his shots will get within 10 or 12 feet of the cup on many holes and he will knock in just about every one of the putts the first time."

CANADIENS PLAN TO BOLSTER TEAM

Hago Harrington and Gus Rivers to be Obtained From Providence.

MONTREAL, Jan. 10 (C.P.) — Plans of Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League to strengthen their last-place team, if plans have been made, are closely guarded, but from a reliable source last night it was learned the club intends to obtain Hago Harrington, a left winger, and Gus Rivers, right winger, from the Providence Reds of the Canadian-American Hockey League.

The Providence club has long been a farm club for Canadiens, its members being largely men on loan from the National League outfit. Just what men would be sent to the Rhode Island club in exchange for Harrington and Rivers could not be learned. It was hinted, however, that officials are not satisfied with the form shown by a couple of members of Canadiens in games played to date.

Don't miss that Bowmanville-Petes' junior game at the Brock tonight, as it promises to be a dandy battle. The Bowmanville crew is said to be big and tricky, and they've been working out longer than the local youths. The Petes are getting into shape rapidly and after their hard 2-1 win over Port Hope here last week, they realize they can get a stranglehold on the top rung of their group by taking the second straight. Once they do, they get an undisputed grip on first place, they'll be hard to shake loose the remainder of the short schedule. Fans should give 'em support, in return for seeing a fine hockey game at new low prices.

Cobourg intermediates may be back in their O.H.A. group this evening. They applied for re-instatement to Percy Bond, O.H.A. president, yesterday, claiming Edwards had no authority to withdraw the team as he is only an honorary officer and failed to consult the executive. The O.H.A. ordered them to present their case this afternoon at a sub-committee meeting in Toronto, and if the other clubs in this group are willing, Cobourg may be reinstated, and that Port Hope-Cobourg game replayed. We'll be glad to see Cobourg back again as they have a bunch of fighters playing for them. The Ethier brothers, who caused all the argument, will not play hockey this winter, but don't be surprised if they trot out with the Cobourg C.O.B.L. ball club next summer.

* * * * * * *

Mr. Bond said he had accepted Belleville's invitation to officially open their intermediate series Wednesday. He has officially appeared at a number of openings, including Kitchener's senior one and the new Midland arena, being fairly deluged with various other bids from near and distant hockey centres. We were interested in a small place like Midland—we judge it to be about one-third the size of Peterborough—having a new artificial ice arena, so asked Percy Bond about it. He are some of the facts:

* * * * * * *

The arena seats about four thousand. Its cost was just $55,000, including the ice plant! It was built under the relief system, using man-power practically exclusively for all the work. The city supplied the property and raised the money by issuing 21-year bonds. The arena is much in demand and drawing fine crowds, so there is every confidence that the bonds will be easily met from year to year. The Mayor states that it is one of the town's biggest and most valuable utilities. Congrats, Midland, we're still hoping for one.

The Public School Hockey League schedule appears today. The same six schools are back again and looking forward to another successful season. They play every Saturday morning, and don't think those kids don't battle hard. Under good coaching of the teachers, and with the real old school rivalry there, the young fellows learn the fundamentals of hockey and here is where many of the present day star pucksters of the city learned the finer side of the game. Drop out to All Saints' rink any Saturday morning if you can and get a load of the boys doing their stuff for dear old Alma Mater.

* * * * * * *

Mr. Orme Gamsby's lads down in Orono were feeling pretty peeved along about ten o'clock last night, just about the time the Petes were winding up a scoring orgy which gave them a 14-3 win in their first O.H.A. game. In fact, the O's were making open cracks that they'd smear the Petes right here in the next game, aided by Doc Henry the late-arriving star that the foxy Orme tried to ring in last night but failed as he had not given the ref. his name with the lineup. The wily gray-haired manager also used Welton, one of his forwards, wearing a blue sweater which resembled the Petes' to some extent, and this figured in one of the goals when Miller became slightly confused.

* * * * * * *

It wasn't a bad tussle for two frames, Orono getting the first goal, and the first period ending 5-2. The second was 8-3, and then the Petes, showing great condition and fine teamwork, ankled up the sheet six times in a row to ring the bell while the Ramblers were going around fast in circles like frolicsome pups, doing everything but barking at themselves. They looked very much lost like boys parked in the middle of a desert as a sandstorm raged around them.

* * * * * * *

Ira Dundas was the star, offensively, for the locals though every player on the ice figured in the scoring. They were particularly smart with a short, accurate passing game all the way up the ice, with disheartening (to Orono) backchecking in the neutral area and deadly sniping at the net. Besides this, the Petes' husky defencemen bumped 'em hard and often to slow the opponents up, and Miller picked off most of the sho's that did drift his way. Creighton's rifle-shot was working overtime, Ellis was playing heady hockey at centre, Dallin and Hatton were plenty troublesome, and those rushing defence players, all were a pain in the neck to the voluble Orme. "Gamey" Jarvis had tough luck, as he played a bangup game, aiding considerable and spoiling many an enemy rush, but he couldn't have scored if the puck was steel and the Orono goal a giant magnet. Just one of those nights.

* * * * * * *

Tommy Foley played a game in goal last night in Norwood that John Ross Roach might be proud of, the Carters winning 2-1 in an E.P.L. game that went ten minutes past the regular time. Williams got the first local counter and Carroll put in the big one, but it would have been about 12-2 for Norwood if Foley had not thrown himself recklessly about before two and three-man rushes to rob the Kempt kids repeatedly. And here's a funny one. In the dying seconds of the game, Alex pulls in his goalie and sends out another player to make it six forwards in a desperate attempt to pull it out of the fire. The goalie comes off and the extra man goes out on the ice—right down to the goal and stands there between the posts! what a help he was . . . .

* * * * * * *

Odds and ends: No admission is charged those who wish to see Jack Purcell, famous badminton champion, show his stuff at 8.30 Thursday night in the Market Hall for the Peterborough Badminton Club . . . . Norwood Juniors defeated Rangers' 1-0 in a City League game last night . . . . There was about one good handful of fans at the Orono game yesterday, including the two guys that sold hot dogs . . . . Fifty boys, many of them good players, were out trying for for a place on Warne Bros.' bantams of the S.E.L. last night, only a dozen being picked . . . . Some business man, who likes kids and hockey, could pick a good team out of the disappointed lads, and they could still get an entry in the S.E.L.

BACHELORS AND BENEDICTS ENGAGE IN ANNUAL BATTLE

BY JEANETTE.

When they send invoices out from a business house, they often put E. & O. E. on the corner. It is a safety device which means "Errors and Omissions Excepted." When you read the paper to-day, please excuse errors and omissions. Several of the staff members of this great family journal engaged in the annual mix-up at the skating rink last night, when the Bachelors and the Benedicts met for their yearly lovefeast.

We regret to say that the battle was not as sanguinary as usual. Time was when gore plent ifully besprinkled the icy surface of the rink and when missing teeth and cracked ribs were the rule, rather than the exception, after this annual conflict. Last night, as far as can be ascertained, there were no casualties except a knockout to "Cream Puff" Johnston, when a well-timed blow to the solar plexus stretched him cold and limp on the ice. Great consternation ensued. The players ceased knocking each other about the ankles and gathered about the prostrate form, which was seen to press its hands convulsively to its pained tummy. There arose a cry for "doctor, doctor," but Mr. Roy Taylor, with great presence of mind, gently manipulated the victim's legs according to Rule 13 of the Book of First Aid to slaughtered hockey players, and Mr. Johnston's demeanor gradually assumed its nonchalant pose and he became vertical, rather than horizontal.

(Mr. Johnston did not seem to be at his best last night. He usually goes in for dress-up effects, as it were, but a budding moustache is claiming a great deal of attention just now, and we think this is the reason for his lack of savoir faire, as it were).

The score, according to Goalie George McCurragh's small offspring, who encouraged his parent with loud cries of approval from the sidelines, was 8-5 for the Bachelors. Mr. "Push-Em-Out" Scates, goalkeeper for the single men, modestly takes the credit for only seven of the goals. Interviewed after the game, he refused to accept a silver cup for his services, however, saying he was not really prepared for the game and that he had, furthermore, not had any supper prior to its commencement. His rotund appearance on the ice, he explained, was due to the fact that he was wearing five sweaters under a large and formidable felt and leather pad.

We must explain that it really wasn't hockey they played last night. It was the game of "Button, button, who's got the button," played on the ice at Brock street Rink. The button was the puck. They pushed and shoved and propelled and assisted the puck down the ice, from end to end, and finally it got mad and lost itself in the maze of legs and then the real game began, like this:

Razor Edge Gainey, whose long legs covered the ice in rangy strides, has it. Harry Dugan chops him on the ankles and gets the puck and tries to pass it to Jerry Cullen, courting luck with a horseshoe and lucky seven on his sweat shirt. Stabler, another long legs, gets it away from Jerry, who does a double somersault on the ice and fouls Roy Taylor and Frank Gray. The puck slides under the nose of Chuck Butcher, who makes a vicious pass at it and succeeds in nearly making the net. George McCurragh foils him and the puck does an 'about face' and loses itself behind the net. Garry Johnston and Pat Cullen and Harry Dugan are down in a heap on top of it and eventually winds up under the stick of the smiling Max Glover, who proves himself a real chip off the old block when he skates all over the ice in great style.

Well, they did everything with the poor old puck. When they couldn't think of anything else, they sat on it and whenever Mr. Scates took a litttle nap, it slid into the Bachelors' goal. But that wasn't as often as it got to the contending goal, even hough Harry Dugan who was "looking hot and keeping cool" in a scarlet sweater, did spell Mr. McCurragh as goalie. Dugan's favorite song is evidently the old sea chantey, "Blow the man down", but he makes it, "Chop the man down." However, he did some nice sprinting at odd moments.

Mr. Taylor proved just how hard his head and the boards are when he took a grand one into the side that made the rafters shake—and came up smiling. He and Mr. Gainey and Mr. Butcher and Mr. Stabler, the latter sporting a nice short pair of breeks, were the tall lads of the bunch, and the long sprinters.

Mr. Bobby Baker covered himself with glory and snow on several occasions, when he bit the ice after a good deal of expert ankle stick work. They went down every way last night, profile and full face and three-quarter length, but they all seemed able to take it.

It is whispered about the Benedicts, smarting under last night's defeat at the hands of the Batchelors, have approached several of the latter with a view to signing them up on their side before another year rolls round. They anticipate success with Mr. Garfield Johnston and Mr. Robert Baker, but the other lads appear to think that, having weathered 1932 without any matrimonial casualties, they will still be on the Bachelors' side next season, when several scores will be settled.

The line-up was as follows:

Benedits: Frank Gray and Roy Taylor, defence; Harry Dugan and Pat Cullen, wings; Jerry Cullen, center; George McCurragh, goal.

Bachelors: R. Baker and Max Glover, defence; H. Gainey and Gerald Stabler, wings; 'Chuck' Butcher, center; Fred Scates, goal; Garry Johnston, sub.

Johnny Johnston was the umpire, giving a real international flavor to the fracas.

Forty Eligibles For Hambletonian Stakes

GOSHEN, N.Y., Jan. 10. (AP)—Forty three-year-olds, the crack trotters of light harness horse racing, are still eligible for the rich Hambletonian as the result of the posting of fees of $250 each by their owners on Jan. 1.

The number, six more than last year, will be further reduced before post time when the owners will be required to deposit a starting fee of $500 the day before the race. The date and location of the sport's richest event will be announced the latter part of this month, according to Will Gahagan, secretary of the Grand Circuit. It was renewed over the Goshen mile track in 1931 and 1932.

Bernt Balchen, noted transatlantic and Arctic flyer, is shown waving from the cockpit of the new monoplane he will pilot with Lincoln Ellsworth, noted explorer, on a proposed trans-Antarctic expedition this summer. Photo was made when Balchen landed the ship at Roosevelt Field, L.I., to obtain a federal license.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

THE LAST OF THE GRAY TERROR

"Missed!" exclaimed Farmer Brown's Boy as he stepped out of the barn and looked after Mr. Goshawk, who was heading for the Green Forest.

"I was so afraid of hitting that old hen that I guess I must have shot over that fellow and did him no more harm that to given him a good scare. I hope it will be a lesson to him and teach him to keep away from my hens and pigeons. He is a pest and I suppose it would be better if I had killed him, but somehow I'm rather glad I didn't. I don't like the idea of killing any of the Green Forest people, not even when they are pests. That's funny, too, when I think how I used to like to trap and hunt them. But that was before we became acquainted. Hello! that fellow flies queerly! I wonder if I hit him after all."

Farmer Brown's Boy shaded his eyes with one hand as he watched Mr. Goshawk. Certainly Mr. Goshawk wasn't flying as usual. You know he is very swift of wing, so swift of wing that he can catch some of the fastest fliers among the birds. But now he was making hard work of flying. He acted as if very, very tired. Into the face of Farmer Brown's Boy crept a look partly anxious, partly sorrowful.

"I would rather have missed altogether than to have wounded that fellow."

"Now that's too bad!" he exclaimed. "I would rather have missed altogether than to have wounded that fellow. It is bad enough to kill, but it is worse to wound and then leave the wounded to suffer helplessly. I must go straight after that fellow and put him out of his suffering. I can't let him suffer even if he is a pest!"

So Farmer Brown's Boy shouldered his terrible gun and tramped straight for the Green Forest toward the place where he had last seen Mr. Goshawk. Hardly had he entered the Green Forest when he caught just a glimpse of Mr. Goshawk hastily leaving a tree just ahead. It was only a glimpse and there was no time to shoot. Farmer Brown's Boy kept on and presently the same thing happened. After that it happened several times Farmer Brown's Boy would get near enough to see Mr. Goshawk, but that was all. At last it dawned on Framer Brown's Boy that perhaps Mr. Goshaw was not so badly hurt after all. So at last he gave up following and turned back toward home.

Mr. Goshawk wasn't hurt much. That is, he wasn't hurt seriously. Enough of the shot from Farmer Brown's Boy's terrible gun had hit him to make him feel badly for a little while, but they had not entered deeply enough to make really bad wounds. You know how it is when you fall and get a bad bump. For an hour or so you limp around and can think of nothing but how it aches. Then the ache stops and you run as well as ever. It was much like this with Mr. Goshawk and his wounds.

It is quite probable that Mr. Goshawk would soon have forgotten both his hurts and his great fright had it not been for the persistent way in which Farmer Brown's Boy followed him into the Green Forest. It got on Mr. Goshaw's nerves. No sooner would he make up his mind that at last he was to be let alone than he would see Farmer Brown's Boy coming with that terrible gun. The last time, the very time when Farmer Brown's Boy decided to turn back, Mr. Goshawk, not knowing this also made a decision. He decided that the best thing he could do was to go back North where he had come from and where there was no Farmer Brown's Boy with a terrible gun.

He started the very next day, and that was the last of the Gray Terror in the Green Forest and on the Green Meadows, though it was some time before the little people who live there found it out. And thus it was that Farmer Brown's Boy once more proved himself a true friend to his neighbors in fur and feathers.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

Cold Settled In Chest Caused Racking Cough

Mrs. S. E. Wood, Elmwood, Man., writes:—"Some time ago I had a severe cold which settled in my chest causing such a racking cough it seemed to tear me to pieces.

I had read about Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, so I decided to give it a trial. After the first dose I felt relief, and when the bottle was finished my cough was entirely gone."

What Today Means to YOU

by MARY BLAKE

"CAPRICORN"

If January 10th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10.20 a.m. to 11.30 a.m., from 3.30 p.m. to 4.50 p.m. and from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. The danger periods are from 9 a.m. to 9.50 a.m. and from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m.

Influences operating on this January 10th are such as may bring about many changes—changes both at the office and in the home. Do not be surprised or alarmed if you find yourself making an "about-face" on some matter of policy that you have been following for some time. It will probably result in a turn for the good. At home, too, you may encounter a new order of things, visible in many little things.

The child born on this January 10th will make many friends on his journey through life; childhood friends will remain with him as friends all through life. The child will have a sympathetic nature. He will be very affectionate though not unduly demonstrative. The child is most susceptible to flattery. Guard him against those he will accept too readily as friends.

If January 10th is your birthday, you like to feel you are of service, either to those about you as friends or relations, or to the organization for which you are working. You like to help others, to do little things for them to make them happy. Yours is a very unselfish nature; you are constantly giving either of your time or money. You are a tireless worker and an inspiration to your fellow workers who trust you implicitly and strive to emulate many of your ways.

Born on January 10th, you are not easily discouraged, even in the face of great adversity. To "carry on at all cost" seems to be your motto. You do not seek money as an end to any endeavor; your satisfaction lies in having done something and in having accomplished it well. You should succeed. Both the men and women born on this date are very hesitant about showing any emotions; and as a consequence they are sometimes branded as being unresponsive or as lacking in interest. The women are usually splendid mothers and wives and bring up admirable ramines. The women, particularly, are very agile, have a fine sense of rhythm and enjoy dancing and are very adept at this pastime. Both sexes are fond of children.

Lloyd George Held In Bed With Chill

BIRKENHEAD, Eng. Jan. 9.—(C P Cable)—Lloyd George, venerable statesman and former Prime Minister, is in bed with a temperature and suffering from a chill.

The war time premier is staying here and was to make a speech at Liverpool today. His engagements for several days have been cancelled, however, until his recovery. He is to celebrate his 70th birthday on Jan. 17 when he will address a mass meeting of his constituents at Carnarvon, which area he had represented for 42 years in the House of Commons.

THE ROAD TO POPULARITY.. by ALBERT DORNE

Never gamble with "B.O."

YOU may think you're safe—but make sure! Remember even in cool weather pores give off a quart of odour-causing waste daily. A little extra exertion—a stuffy, overheated room—and this odour becomes noticeable to others. Play safe—always! Wash and bathe with Lifebuoy. Its creamy, searching, abundant lather purifies pores—gives bath-to-bath freshness and freedom from "B.O."

Clears dull complexions

Lifebuoy's penetrating lather washes away surface dirt and pore-embedded impurities, too. Dull skins quickly respond to its gentle, yet through cleansing—glow with new radiant health. Adopt Lifebuoy today.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan 10. (AP)—Ghosts or sporits, they're the same price, merely $5 and costs.

"It s a ghost' said residents of a flat, who had heard strange noises in their attic.

"It's spirits, that's the trouble" said police who found Valentne Kruszka stamping around amidst old furniture.

"Its $5 and costs," said Judge George E. Page of the district court.

FIND RARE ORE IN CALIFORNIA

Yields Metal Comparable in Hardness to Best Alloy Engineer States.

NON-CORROSIVE.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10 (A.P.) — Charles C. Berg, Beverly Hills civil and mining engineer, said to-day that a rare ore, yielding a metal comparable in hardness with the best alloys, has been discovered in the little Tujunga mining district near Glendale, Calif.

Berg, for seven years chief engineer of the International Nickel Corporation, said announcement of the discovery has been withheld while experiments were made over a period of three years in Detroit, Toledo and elsewhere. He calls the find "X metal."

As Berg told the story, James Brown and his wife about 18 years ago homesteaded three claims in Gold Creek Canyon. For 14 years Brown eked out a living in placer mining. Then he found a peculiar black ore. Smelting it he recovered a small quantity of grayish metal, which Berg said defied the use of the hardest files and emery wheels.

Analyzes Mostly Iron

DETROIT, Jan. 9 (A.P.)—Walter Brown, metallurgist of the Detroit Seamless Tube Company, said today that the ore described by Charles C. Berg, of Beverly Hills as "X metal,' 'analyzes mostly iron, yet "does not behave like iron."

Brown has made a test of the ore, said to have been discovered in the little Tujunga mining district near Glendale, Calif.

"It is non-corrosive, regardless of what treatment is given it," Brown said to-day. "It will weld, and will yield castings, with no change in consistency in its structure. We have lined some automobile cylinder sleeves with it, and after a test of 30,000 miles running the new metal shows no wear."

JOHNSON GIVEN CRITICS' PRAISE

Canadian-born Tenor Plays Leading Role in "Romeo and Juliet."

HIS 11TH SEASON.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—C.P.) — Edward Johnson, leading Canadaborn tenor, native of Guelph, Ont., received warm praise by New York critics to-day, for his performance in the leading role of the opera, "Romeo and Juliet" at the Metropolitan Opera House last night.

It was the first performance of Gounod's popular creation at the Metropolitan th is year and it marked the 11th season the Guelph singer has been with the organization.

The New York Herald-Tribune, commenting on Mr. Johnson's impersonation of Romeo, said: "He again was artistic and dramatically convincing. In his singing there was not always an impression of vocal freedom; certain top notes and proclamative passages called for perceptible effort but his phrasing his excellent French enunciation and his ability to set forth a wide range and fine shares of emotion again called for praise."

The New York American said: "The romance was supplied in abundant measure by Lucrezia Bori and Edward Johnson the latter effecting his initial contribution of the winter hereabouts. Romeo long has been one of the roles in which Mr. Johnson is liked best and in truth he deserves such admiration."

COIN FOUND IN WINDSOR DATED BEFORE PUNIC WAR

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 10 (C.P.).— A coin, found 25 years ago in a Windsor backyard, has just been positively identified by Albert Langlois, Windsor curio collector, as a Tetradrachma of Carthage, issued long before the Punic wars, in which Rome, as the growing power of the Mediterranean, took the advice of Marcus Portius Cato, and laid waste the Phoenecian city in Africa.

One one side the 24 century old coin bears the head of Persephone, who, in Greek mythology, was the wife of Pluto and the daughter of the springtime. Persephone wears triple ear-rings, and there are several dolphins in the field.

On the reverse side is the head of a horse and also a palm tree. The coin dates from 410 to 310 B.C.

CENTRAL CREAMERY IN TORONTO PROMISES TO PROVIDE SOLUTION OF PROBLEM OF SURPLUS MILK

New Producers' Association Hopes to Eliminate Price-Cutting.

WORK DONE QUIETLY.

Closing of Breech Between Producers and Distributors May Result.

TORONTO, Jan. 10.—The surplus milk problem—always a point of conflict between producers and distributors—appears about to be solved.

Working quietly for the past four months, the Ontario Whole Milk Producers' Association, an organization which came into existence when the bottom, so to speak, fell out of the old Ontario Milk Producers' Association, has advanced its administration and campaigning among the farmers to the stage where prospects are now bright for the operation in Toronto of a central creamery to which all surplus milk will in future be transported and utilized for butter purposes.

In this way, the association hopes to eliminate not only the policy of price-cutting, with attendant unfair competition that has prevailed, wide-scale, in the past, but to banish from the Toronto market much of the surplus milk that outside centres have from time to time dumped on it. Eradication of both features will mean, it was learned yesterday, a much better understanding between the producing and distributing factions of the milk industry, and a general improvement of the trade.

E. H. Clark, of Aurora, is the president of the new producers' association, which came into existence last September, almost as quietly as its work is now being done. G. B. Stock, of Waterdown, is the first vice-president; and V. S. Milburn, of Peterborough, the second vice-president. Offices are in Toronto, at 21 King street west.

Department Loans Officials

So interested in the association's work is the Ontario Government, particularly the Department of Agriculture, that W. G. Marritt, District Agricultural Representative for the County of Wentworth, is on loan to the organization for six months, carrying out the duties of secretary, and generally promoting an early and effective closing of the age-old breach between the producing and distributing factions.

At Queen's Park yesterday it was learned that the association plans to take care of its administrative costs by assessing all patrons one cent for each cwt. of milk. At present the milk producing districts are being canvassed on this proposition. The charge, however, will not become operative until the middle of next month. The theory is also said to be entertained by the association that eventually sales of milk by farmers will be made entirely through the association, with the province divided up into a number of districts and each district having its represetation on the central body of the association.

There is no doubt but that the Ontario Department of Agriculture is watching the new association's efforts with a great deal of interest and approval. Once the surplus milk problem is disposed of, it is likely association, with the governments' sanction, will endeavor to deal with such other contentious matters as skimmed milk, and the alleged to--wide spread in the price of milk between delivery and distribution. In view of the fact that it is generally admitted that cartage represents possibly the greatest item of cost in distribution, plans may be launched toward the establishment of some reciprocal hauling arrangement between dairy firms so as to cut down this cost.

Further conference between the new Producers' Association and the distributors, on such matters, are reported scheduled for Toronto next week.

Curling Notes

Annual play for the Neill Trophy, open to district rinks of schedule calibre, is slated for Thursday of this week, when it is expected entries will be here from Lakefield, Keene, Norwood and Millbrook as well as a good representation from Peterborough Curling Club.

The ice is reported to be in good condition, and the probabilities for colder weather make postponement of the game unlikely. Last night the following results were chalked up in the schedule games: Oke 10, vs. Sutton 13; L. I. Hamley 2, vs. Moore 11; Bissell 10, vs. Donaldson 17; Metcalfe 7, vs. Sedgewick 13; Green 17, vs. Kay 7.

Schedule games to-night will be fought out between rinks skipped as follows: Cruthers vs. Foote; Downey vs. Richmond; Shirley vs. Westbrooke; N. Hamley vs. Morrow; Carns' vs. Dobbin; Clegg vs. Turner.

Police Court

Robert Condie, local man, and Harry Hendrichon alias Harold Kenyon of Montreal, were remanded again to-day on a charge of manslaughter arising from their connection with the mysterious death of Fred Fletcher in a New Year's Eve brawl at Condie's home.

Both men have entered pleas of not guilty. Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C., told the court today that he desired that the two be remanded for another week. Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., their counsel, did not oppose the further remand.

Anthime Tessier, who has pleaded guilty to giving liquor to Kenyon, knowing him to be under 21 years of age, was remanded also without sentence. His testimony is deemed important in the trials of the other two.

Jack Hesmond, aged 17, pleaded guilty to the charge that he obtained the $20 Old-Age Pension cheque for December of W. G. Stothart, forged Stothart's name to it, and cashed it in a downtown store. He was without counsel, his father telling Magistrate Langley that he had no money with which to hire a lawyer. The youth was remanded a week for sentence at the request of the Crown.

Apparently there is one person in the district who did not apparently appreciate Bill's effusive and rhyming boast of his cooking abilities as it appeared in The Examiner some days ago. Bill was cook, and perhaps still is, at the County Gaol, and he told of the splendid hash he prepared daily for the "boys" there. Bill's sister penned the following lines and sent them to The Examiner:

The stews you make
And the hams you bake
And all the "general fare,"
Is enough to pain
The heart of man;
Why do they keep you there?
Depression may be on the run,
But digestion is gone for good.
I pity the man, though he be a bum,
Who has to eat such food.
We love you, Bill, we want you home,
For your return we are looking;
But when you come I'll just ask this:
Please let "Mom" do the cooking.

Officers Installed For Trinity Society

The Young Woman's Auxiliary of Trinity Church has changed its name, and will henceforth be known as the Elizabeth Parker Auxiliary, in honor of the esteemed president, Mrs. A. Parker.

The first meeting of the year was held at the home of Mrs. M. A. Morrison, 492 Hunter street, on Monday evening. There was a fine attendance. The president, Mrs. A. Parker, presided. Mrs. Harrison read the devotional reading and an article on devotional women. Miss Edwards reported concerning three missionaries of special interest to the society. The annual reports were read by the officers of 1932.

Miss A. Blanchard sang a very sweet solo entitled, "Just for Today."

Temperance Secretary, Miss Olive Marshall, read a petition to be presented to Premier Henry to hinder the increased sale of intoxicants.

Miss Ila Giles then introduced us to the second chapter of the study book, The Dominion of Canada, the title of the chapter being, "The Making of Canada." Canada is still in the making. The early history was reviewed. Canada's dangers are provincialism and materialism.

A finance committee was appointed to begin operations immediately.

Misses Mabel Brown and Esme Thomlinson were appointed delegates to attend the sessions of the Peterborough Presbyterial, on Jan. 17 and 18.

A letter of appreciation was read by Miss Edwards for flowers received.

A very inspiring part of the evening consisted of the installation of the officers for 1933. The Rev. D. Wren addressed the officers urging them to become spiritual forces. Prayer was then offered for the work of the coming year.

A pleasant social hour was much enjoyed.

Officers Elected Mark Street Y.P.S.

Election of officers for the Young People's Society of Mark street United Church, held on Monday evening, resulted as follows: C. English, president; Miss E. Elmhirst, first vice president; Carlyle Ferguson, second vice president; Miss B. Doxsee, secretary; Miss F. Wand, treasurer; Miss D. Green, corresponding secretary; Miss E. Fallis, press secretary; Miss G. Boorman, pianist; Miss E. Throop, assistant pianist. Convenors of committees will be: M. Pearse, Christian Fellowship; Miss Jennie Butcher, Missionary; A. Reynolds, Citizenship; M. Hunter, Mrs. C. English and Miss G. Butcher, Social.

The former convenor of the Missionary department, Miss E. Elmhurst, presided over the devotional period which preceded the election of officers and which was conducted by the Rev. C. D. Daniel. A social half hour followed the business session.

ART'S DEVOTEE

Among the group of gentlewomen who have been devoted to the study and work of Art in Peterborough since the 80's one finds Mrs. Annie Hudson in her quaint home on the hilltop, north Stewart street, surrounded by her life-collection of artistic and traditional things of worth.

The collection includes sketches, crayons and painting in oil and water-color from her own pencil and brush and some oil paintings by her artist-husband, who did some highly creditable things. Three pictures, each of historic character, are on exhibit in the window of the Examiner, not only because of their artistic value, but a query goes with two of them that may get answer and the other is a portrait of the First Mayor of Peterborough, an uncle of Mr. Buttle Hudson.

Mrs. Buttle Hudson, nee Miss Annie Butcher, in 1879 was chosen a member of the Faculty of the DeMill College for Young Ladies, in Oshawa, when it was opened for education in special fields of culture. She had charge of the Art Department for seven years, teaching drawing, crayon and painting in oil and water color. In 1886 she married and, after a year of master-instruction and study in New York, settled in Peterborough.

Three pictures from the collection of Mrs. Hudson are:

I.—Portrait of Charles Hudson, Esq., by his nephew, Buttle Hudson. First Mayor of Peterborough, 1849-1852.

Note.—From a record made by Thomas Poole, M.D., in 1867, in review of the history of the City's founding.

"Charles Hudson, Esquire, served for two years, 1849-1852. On the 27th day of September, 1851 Mayor Hudson laid the foundation stone of a building erected by the Town Council of Peterborough.

"On that auspicious occasion there was a Barbecue. An ox given by the Mayor was to be roasted on the market-place to entertain 'all and singular' who might choose to accept the hospitality. Unhappily, while revolving on the spit, the ox was carried off—by whom, was never verified.

"The feast of the evening fell to the portion of others—for whom it was not intended. A sumptuous dinner was however served by Thomas Chambers, Esq. (the Mayor's brother-in-law) at his Commercial Hotel, followed by speeches and conviviality, as was then usual on such occasions."

II.—"A Merry Tune and a Sad Heart," painting by Buttle Hudson.

Note.—When this picture was on exhibition in Mr. Hudson's Studio, a visitor called to look at it, paying no attention to the artist, who then asked "Do you know who that is?" He is my father," said the visitor, "and he posed for that picture. Can't you see the likeness to him in me? I have that violin in my boarding house in the south end of the city." The likeness was quite apparent, but the visitor left hastily and nothing more was ever heard of him.

III.—A Gentleman of Earlier Peterborough, whose personage is not known. Who was he?

KING SOLOMON'S PALATIAL CITY

and she burst into tears. Then apparently alarmed by her pregnant sobs, with the utmost solicitude and tenderness the boy began to caress and soothe her, till she smiled again.

The bazaar is an adventure, a swiftly changing kaleidoscope, a curious human exhibition, in which comedy overtakes pathos and caravans import the exotic flavor of the desert.

Clamoring for passage, appeared a Turk, whose gargantuan paunch bulged like a balloon. I do not imagine that Ali's grand eunuch could have surpassed that Moslem in tonnage. This immense lump of fat was perched on the last extremity of a tiny, gray donkey. Under the man's weight the animal's legs were spread out perilously in an X-shape. The moonface lolled and swayed impotently and dodderingly to the rhythm of the donkey's faltering step. As he rode, the fat man was exerting strenuous efforts to get still fatter by stuffing ripe figs in a blood-red slit between oily rolls of flesh.

To my intense surprise this human aberration smiled at me as if I had been an old acquaintance of his and called me a greeting in a shrill, piping voice. My surprise lasted only a moment. For as he opened his mouth and thereby displayed two rows of flashing gold teeth I saw most clearly the reason for this unhoped-for amiability. Over his red-fezzed head he held a large green umbrella, though the sun's rays in the bazaar are few and far between.

Greusome Spectacle.

Before the corpulent Turk had passed out of sight, my attention was diverted by a new and far less amusing spectacle, one that evoked memories of the hideous episode immortalized on canvas by the elder Brueghel, in which seven blind men are seen as they snarl at each other and stage a gruesome battle in a tavern when each suspects his neighbor at table of grabbing the choicest dishes. Three blind Arabs were making themselves a way through the bewildering maze of the human ant-heap by means of a monotonous shout. By their appearance I judged them to be a father and mother with their son. Only one of the many entire Arab families stricken with the dread trachoma. The two old folks clung to their son, one on each side of him, literally letting themselves be dragged along.

Every main street in the world has its mischief-makers, the bazaar not excepted. At an intersection of the alleys, a gang of young Arab hooligans were whiling away the time. More precisely, they were in the act of eating dripping and overripe melons and stood right in the path of the three oncoming blind persons. While everybody else gave the unfortunates plenty of leeway, the boys saw an opportunity to have some diversion. Holding a piece of melon near the mouth of the youngest of the blind, they caused him to make an instinctive grab for the delicacy. Of course, the melon was hastily withdrawn. By snatching for the morsel of food the leader of the blind detached himself from his charges. Having lost their guide, the two old people began to stumble and grope their way in all directions. At this, the amusement of the lads knew no bounds. Turning their attention to the old man they proceeded to bait him next with a piece of melon. Again and again they withdrew it sharply out of his reach when the old fellow seemed about to grasp hold. Once when he came very near capturing the elusive and invisible fruit, the lads pushed him roughly out of the way.

Bellowing with madness and fury the old man made ready to defend himself. He only succeeded in bruising and lacerating his fist against the jagged stone edge of the wall and crumpled to the ground howling with pain.

Police End Sport.

Merchants cackled and gabbled indignantly. Camel-drivers grinned and leered. A Greek pope passing by, spat in disgust. A policeman arriving double quick march began to shout orders to disperse. An Arab urchin was trampled upon. A portly German tourist nearly slipped on a rotten cucumber and dropped his Baedeker. Old hags who had lifted their veils to see better, hurriedly dropped covers over toothless, tattoed and shriveled faces, hastily scurrying from the scene, sweeping their long skirts through filth and refuse. The wail of the injured blind man came like a shrill and piteous whine.

In what does all this differ from the scene in any other Near-Eastern or North African bazaar, if it be not merely in dimensions or wealth of display? Cairo is far more luxurious. Casablanca has become modernized. In Beyrouth the French are tearing down the labyrinthal maze and creating a city of western aspects. Compared with Alexandria's magnificent spacious thoroughfares, Jerusalem's market streets are puny and insignificant. In Damascus you have at least the joyous spectacle of scarlet-robed Spahis and the warriors of the Foreign Legion filling the hurdy-gurdy dance-halls with the daughters of the Lebanon. Jewel-studded swords and richly-colored silken shawl are offered the visitor in Egyptian and Syrian cities. Jerusalem proffers filigree work done by Yemenite Jews, artful and attractive no doubt, but poor in comparison with beaten gold and silver. In vain you search for precious inlaid wood and costly tapestry. Flies, millions of them, buzz about the heaps of filth and refuse in the streets. Below your very eyes you see these carriers of dread diseases light in swarms on the faces of half-famished Arab children, infecting them with trachoma and all manner of foul sickness.

Gone is East's Luxury.

With a start you recall that silver was counted as dross in these streets during the reign of David's royal son. A woman whose very name is perfumed with exotic legends of luxury and voluptuousness, sensuous Sheba herself, carried in a golden litter, came to marvel at the splendors of this city and the lavish extravagance of Solomon's multitudinous harem.

Nothing remains of that splendor. Babylonians and Assyrians carried off the temple ornaments thousands of years ago. The gold was stripped off the cedar-temple walls even before Titus wrought his havoc. Where are the myrrh and aloe that Joseph and Nicodemus bought in the market place? And the precious linen with which the Levites girt their loins? Factory-made, factory-dyed and stamped cotton rags from Manchester mills have taken the place of artful hand-woven garments. Arab sheiks stalk about in second, or third or sixth-hand riding breeches of the army service corps. Bedouins wear ludicrous Balaclavas and carry water bottles on web equipment, pilfered from the desert stores of General Allenby's too-accommodating quarter-masters.

Is it surprising that the pilgrim, who has left his home in the west, filled with notions of Jerusalem's beauty and sanctity, stands perplexed before the reality of the sordid shabbiness of bazaar life?

INDIA NEAR REVOLT GANDHI LOST HOLD

between the right and left—between a more moderate and a more extreme program.

"Many are criticizing him because they feel he has given in too much, but I think one thing is certain—Mahatma Gandhi will always be found on the side of the lowly and the oppressed. His heart is with the poorest peasant in all India. We who understand the true meaning of the social revolution recognize that his stand against the machine age and his attempt to turn India back to her inefficient cottage industries, her home spinning, etc. is bound to fail in the long run.

"We think also that his dream of a return to the simple and ancient caste system of old India is wrong and impossible. We believe that India must smash her castes and break the hold that both Hindu and Moslem religions have on her masses.

"Gandhi came out courageously for the 60,000,000 tragic and helpless Untouchables but he fails to see that the whole caste system must be abolished. A religious revolution is as necessary as a social revolution.

"Gandhi inaugurated a vast program of non-payment taxes. Almost without knowing it, he is teaching pure social revolution."

Young Ind a Speaks.

This was the voice of Young India speaking. I went to country villages in the district near Allahabad in the United Provinces, in almost the geographic heart of India to find first-hand what this great inarticulate, backward body of forgotten India was thinking.

In a mud village of less than a thousand, a score of men some clad in the Gandhi homespun, some wearing only filthy loin cloths crowded around my car.

"Our crops are poor and already we owe the money-lender more than we will get from this harvest," a tall Hindu tenant explained. "We will not be able to pay our rent. I farm five acres, but no matter how hard I work, I can barely get enough to eat."

"Many people in this village only get one full meal a day," a Moslem peasant broke in.

"How about Gandhi?" I had my interpreter ask.

A murmur went through the crowd and every face was lit up with little short of exultation.

"He is going to help us," one answered. "We follow him. He is our leader."

Problem of Peasants.

This I truly believe was the voice of India's countless millions of peasants speaking. And it is the voice that in the long run will be raised above all the other cries of India's restless, countless people.

Fundamentally, India's problem is the lifting up of these poor peasants, struggling under caste and religious handicaps, high taxes and rent, bad farming, a trying climate, poor and tiny farms, inferior cattle, illiteracy, under-nourishment, disease, superstition, child marriage, poverty, and general backwardness.

To class-conscious, socially-minded young leaders the coming agrarian revolt is the most far-reaching of all the varied and multi-colored phases of revolution that are shaking this vast, disorganized subcontinent to its very roots.

It is India's real revolt against India — against her own cruel and devastating past. For a half-century it has been slowly gathering momentum, and while it is still moving too slowly for unsympathetic eyes to follow, it may burst across the ancient plains of India just as the mighty Russian revolution went with the speed of the wind before the blinking eyes of a shocked and terrified world.

Foolhardy beyond words would be the man who dared attempt to prophesy as to either the exact method or time of this great and violent awakening of agrarian India.

It may burn and ravage its way across India within ten or twenty years, or it may take half a century.

Premier Harrington Seriously Ill

Seized with a sudden illness while visiting Cape Breton, Premier Gordon S. Harrington of Nova Scotia was rushed to Halifax hospital by special train from Truro. It is reported that the premier had a sudden attack of appendicitis. Early this year Mr. Harrington was forced to rest due to overwork. Above he is shown with Mrs. Harrington on a recent trip. Premier Harrington was born at Halifax, August 7, 1883. He is 49 years of age, and is a graduate of Dalhousie University, Premier Bennett's Alma Mater. Soon after graduation he was called to the bar, after which he won a reputation in Glace Bay, Cape Breton as an able lawyer, a good citizen, and a loyal soldier. It was at Glace Bay that he met Miss Catharine A. McDonla, who later became his wife. When the war broke out in 1914 he was mayor of Glace Bay. During the war he recruited for the 9th Highlanders, following them overseas later with the 185th. From 1918 to 1920 he was deputy minister of militia overseas in London under the late Sir Edward Kemp. Premier Harrington was noted for his sympathy with the labor classes, especially the miners of Cape Breton.

BAILIEBORO COUPLE ARE 25 YEARS WED

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barnard Received Many Beautiful Gifts From Friends.

BAILIEBORO, Jan. 10.—(Examiner Correspondence.) — Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barnard celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary at their home on Saturday evening.

About one hundred guests were present, many being present from Toronto, Oshawa and Peterborough.

The evening was pleasantly spent in playing games and music, followed by a mock marriage and a splendid program. The mock marriage was quite humorous, adding greatly to the evening's enjoyment. The wedding processon entered the room to the strains of the wedding March.

Gerald Staples proposed the toast to the groom and P. Barnard made a suitable response.

Musical numbers were rendered by Mr. G. Staples and Dr. M. Mason. Miss Jean Savigny of Otonabee, gave several appropriate readings which were greatly enjoyed.

During the program Mr. Charles Barnard gave a brief address and Mrs. Frank Savigny offered the congratulations from the friends present.

The singing of "God Be With You Till We Meet Again" brought a delightful evening to a close.

Gifts received by the bride and groom of twenty-five years were, a beautiful cabinet of silver from their children; twenty-five American Beauty roses presented by Mr. and Mrs. C. Jewison and Dr. and Mrs. Mason; a cozy arm chair and foot stool from friends, and several splendid gifts in silver from other relatives.

Among those from a distance who were present were Mr. and Mrs. C. Jewison, Dr. and Mrs. Mason, Mr. S. Sneyd, Mr. and Mrs W Jewison, Miss B. Jewson and Mrs. Tyler, Misses K. Barnard and M. Ross, all of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. W. Fell, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Thompson, Mr and Mrs. P. Savigny, Miss J. Savigny and Mr. and Mrs. J. Hutchison, all of Peterborough; Mr. and Mrs. Hector Jewison of Oshawa; Mr. R. Barnard, Misses Peacock, Audrey Cole, M. Tickle, D. Chislett and Mr. G. Lewis of Port Hope; Mr. and Mrs. F. M. CENTREVILLE W.M.S. PLANS YEAR'S WORK

Past Year Was Most Successful One for Centreville Society.

MILLBROOK, Jan. 10. (Examiner Correspondence). — The Woman's Missionary Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church at Centreville closed its year with a retrospect of twelve months' constructive activities, crowned with success from a financial and educational viewpoint, the opening meeting for the new year being held last week in the Sunday School Hall with a good attendance, and a business program which took up practically all of the time.

The officers for the year assumed their duties, the president, Mrs. D. N. Dodds, taking the chair, and the newly-elected secretary, Mrs. Russell Bonner, and treasurer, Mrs George Bonner, filling their respective positions. In her brief opening address the president had a preview of the months ahead, assuring the members that the new year would exceed the mark attained in the one just closed provided everyone was as willing and faithful in doing her part as had been the case in the previous twelve months.

Since 1933 marks the one hundredth anniversary of the church at Centreville, reminder was timely that a special objective would be set for the current year in keeping with the century of activity attained. It was decided, after discussion, to have the monthly Auxiliary meetings from house to house, Mrs. Stewart Hall extending an invitation for the February gathering to be held at her home; if tea is served a small charge will be made as one means of adding to the funds on hand.

Mite-boxes were distributed, and Mrs. S. Hall appointed as 'key lady' for their collection each three months, the contents being used for the local church funds. The annual bale will be sent as usual in October, and sewing for its contents will be arranged for in the near future.

Mrs. Harold Tate was appointed literature secretary, looking after the subscriptions to the Glad Tidings, the official W.M.S. paper; Mrs. Levi Byers is Honorary President of the Auxiliary, Mrs. Jas. Whittington assistant secretary, and Mrs. Jas. Hutchison organist.

The new study book will be taken up for the first time at the February meeting, time not permitting its beginning at the January gathering owing to the amount of business claiming attention.

REDISTRIBUTION BILL IS LISTED COMING SESSION

Henry Announces Special Committee Under Finlayson Has Program in Charge.

NO ELECTION PLANNED.

Drop Political Savageries, Get Together Till Crisis Over Premier Asks.

TORONTO, Jan. 11.—(C. P.)—Definite statement the Ontario Government would introduce a redistribution bill at the coming session of the legislature was made by Premier George S. Henry in addressing the Liberal-Conservative Association here today. The legislature will meet on Feb. 15, and a "redistribution bill, providing for a reduction in the membership of the house — dependent of course upon what the unit of population for a riding may be increased to—will be introduced by the ministery."

A special committee of the cabinet headed by Hon. William Finlayson, minister of lands and forests, has the program in charge and a house committee will be selected to further consider it, he said.

No Immediate Election

No immediate election is planned by the government, he continued. From some quarters the government had been criticized for not briging on an early election. "As everyone knows, the present legislature need not be dissolved until the early fall of 1934. After all, the good thinking people want no political turmoil on top of their other difficulties, and as for the government, it is too busy trying to save the ship of state to think or talk election.

"Let me ask the public's co-operation in meeting the unprecedented problems with which we have to contend.

"Have courage in yourselves, in your leaders" he said. "Give the government the co-operation we unshamedly ask, and I am confident we can weather the storm. After that you can resort again to political savageries, if you desire them, and put whom you want in power in Ontario. I shall be quite satisfied, regardless of how the

Kingstone To Probe C.N. Railway Dispute

OTTAWA, Jan. 11 (C.P.)—Mr. Justice A. Courtney Kingstone, of Toronto, has been appointed by Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Labor, chairman of the conciliation board which will investigate the dispute between the Canadian National Railways and approximately 4,500 employees who are members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

The other board members are F. Curson Dobell of Montreal, representing the company, and W. P. Nickle, K.C., of Kingston, nominated by the men.

The point at issue relates to the perpetuation and application of the rule governing "regulation of mileage," including conditions under which demoted engineers may take and hold positions of firemen. The issue is one of long standing.

RELIEF INQUIRY GETS UNDER WAY

Commission Counsel Hints at Conspiracy Between Sturgeon Falls and Landlords.

DEFRAUD GOVERNMENT.

STURGEON FALLS, Ont., Jan. 11. (CP)—Joseph Cote, relief officer for this town, "did not know" his records showed one landlord was paid $18.60 rent and the government was billed for $28, he told Judge J. M. Hall, Sault Ste. Marie, Royal Commissioner who is investigating alleged abuses of relief disbursements when the investigation opened to-day.

H. J. Reynolds, corporation counsel, explained the government only paid two thirds of the amount for which it was billed. "I know that, but did the municipality pay its share?" asked W. H. Williams, K.C., Commission counsel.

"I do not know," replied Cote.

"Do you know of any agreement between the town and landlords whereby the landlords agreed to accept only two-thirds of their rent?"

"No" replied witness.

"I contend rents were raised to get more from the government so the municipality would not have to pay so much" declared Mr. Williams.

"There was a public meeting held at which landlords agreed to accept only two-thirds of their rent" town council said.

"Yet the town certified over its signature the full account had been paid. This looks like a conspiracy between the municipality and the landlords to defraud the government" declaredd Mr. Williams.

The investigation continued this afternoon.

LIBBY HOLMAN MOTHER OF SON

Child is Potential Heir to Millions of Slain Father, Smith Reynolds.

ESTATE UNSETTLED.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 11.—A son was born to Libby Holman Reynolds, widow of the late Smith Reynolds, at the Pennsylvania hospital last night.

The child, potential heir to the millions of his father, mysteriously shot at his home at Reynolds, near Winston-Salem, was born at 6.48 p.m.

Earlier in the day, physicians at the hospital had said Mrs. Reynolds was there merely for two or three days of observation, and that the birth was not expected yesterday.

The question of the child's inheritance, since the tragic circumstances of his father's death last July, has aroused much speculation among lawyers.

Settlement of the Smith Reynolds estate, it was announced a month ago had been begun, but the final settlement would be delayed until after the child's birth.

No Mention of Widows

In the will of R. J. Reynolds, founder of the $300,000,000 tobacco company, no mention was made of the widows or widowers of his children. Certain lawyers held that under the terms of that will, Smith Reynolds' estate, estimated at between $15,000,000 and $18,000,000, would go neither to the first Mrs. Reynolds, who was Ann Cannon, nor to Libby Holman Reynolds, his second wife. The share of Smith Reynolds was to be kept in trust for him until he was 28, but he died before reaching that age, which presented another tangle regarding his widow's dower rights.

It was assumed, on the other hand, that any child of Reynolds would be entitled to the major portion of his father's estate.

Mrs. Reynolds, released from charges, filed against her after her husband had been found fatally wounded in a bedroom at his estate, Reynolds, revealed that she was to become a mother.

At that time, she said she would name the child "Smith" regardless of its sex.

Both Doing Well

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 11 (A.P.) —Libby Holman Reynolds' new baby boy, Dr. Norris W. Vaux said to-day, weighed three and one-half pounds at birth and is being kept in an incubator.

Both mother and child, said Dr. Vaux, the obstetrician who attended Mr. Reynolds, are doing "very well."

The child, heir to a large share of his father's tobacco fortune, was born at 6.48 o'clock last night and came as a surprise to outsiders, for previous announcements from the actress' home had said the bay was expected early in February.

JUDGE STUBBS FIGHTS CHARGES OF MISCONDUCT

Opens Defense With Slashing Attack on Dominion Department of Justice.

CRITICIZES COUNTS LAID.

Assails Constitutionality of Commission Itself But Defers Discussion.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 11 (C.P.)—Directing a slashing attack on the Dominion Department of Justice, and his complainants whom, he charged, with "judging and executing him," Judge Lewis St. G. Stubbs to-day opened his defence against 16 charges of alleged judicial misconduct.

Standing in front of a book-filled counsel table, the lithe little figure of the judge leaned across the table as he charged "Ottawa" had not even treated him with common decency.

He scathingly criticized the complaints filed against him and called them a "disgrace to a first year law student." He charged it should not be accepted in any court and suggested Mr. Commissioner F. Ford quash it which, he said, the commissioner had "all the power in the world" to do.

First, he attacked the constitutionality of the commission, but after conferring with his counsel, E. J. McMurray, K.C., he told the commission he would prefer to defer discussion on this point.

Unique Proceeding

We are engaged in rare and unique judicial proceeding, which he doubted had a parallel in this country, the judge said. The primary object of the proceedings was to remove him from the Bench, he continued, "but that is not nearly so important as the real issue," which he termed independence of the Bench and on which, he said, the entire legal structure was based.

Judge Stubbs read at length from a debate in the Federal House dealing with previous cases similar to the one now before the commission.

Judge Stubbs said he could not read much more of this debate, and respectfully suggested that his Lordship read it. He submitted the proper procedure to invoke Section 31 of the Judges Act had not been properly complied with and continued to quote from the debate the precedents for procedure.

Claim Boys Confined In Regular Fire Trap

HAMILTON, January 11 (C.P.).—Boys are confined in the Children's Shelter awaiting trial in a room which is a fire trap, said a statement issued to-day by the Board of the Children's Aid Society, voicing protest to Mayor Peebles against conditions.

Boys who were arrested by police and detained at the Shelter were locked in one room, their clothing taken away, and spent the days awaiting trial clad only in pyjamas and with nothing to do but lie in bed, the statement declared. The provincial inspector had complained of the situation last summer, but the city had ignored the complaint. The society demands in its letter to the Mayor that the conditions be remedied as soon as possible.

Military Action Is Taken in Four To Restore Order

Revolts In Spain Take 40 Lives Since Sunday—1,000 British Troops Rushed Into Northern India As Moslems Go On Rampage.

GERMAN, ARGENTINE, CUBAN DISTURBANCES TAKE HEAVY TOLL—IRELAND IS UNSETTLED.

Military measures were invoked today in four out of six countries disturbed this week by rioting or open revolt. In one of the others—the Irish Free State—military action was threatened to quell political fighting.

Revolts continued today in Spain and Alwar, India, and disturbances which took a heavy toll in casualties also occurred yesterday in Germany, Argentina, and Cuba. The situation in Argentina continued doubtful.

The Spanish Republican government ordered martial law for provinces where further outbreaks were attempted. Since Sunday, 40 have been killed and more than 100 injured in the revolt of Spanish Syndicalists and Communists.

One thousand British soldiers arrived in Alwar, native state of Northern India, where Moslems were in revolt. The Moslems were holding a district against native state troops.

President Augustin Justo adjourned the Argentine Congress for the duration of internal disorders. The Government retained extraordinary powers under a state of siege decree, similar to martial law, except that civil courts function. Reports relayed through Santiago Chile, listed eight persons killed in clashes yesterday and Sunday in Argentina.

Troops Take Control.

Seven persons were wounded in five cities in Cuba yesterday before military forces took over control Outbreaks occurred at Havana, Santiago, Santa Clara and Matanzas on the occasions of celebrations of the so-called "martyrdom" of Julio Antonio Mella, student Communist. It was the third anniversary of his slaying.

In Germany, another clash occurred between National Socialists and Communists in Berlin yesterday. Many were injured and police were met with a volley of gunfire before the fight was broken up. The anniversary of what the Nationalists call the "shameful" Versailles Treaty was observed, in German cities and by German populations in Danzig, Poland and other places.

Threatens to Call Army

In the Irish Free State, where more than 30 persons were injured in political fights Sunday, General Owen O'Duffy, Chief of the civil guards, said he would call out the army if other efforts to maintain peace failed.

Three parties sought to hold their meetings too close together yeserday a Cavan, in Cavan County, and when the heckling subsided two of them had broken up. President de Valera's party won the contest against ex-President Cosgrave's and the Farmers' League shouters.

ACCLAMATIONS PUT OPPOSITION TWO SEATS UP

Only Four, Including De Valera's Speaker, Returned Without Opposition.

FARMERS' LEAGUE ENTERS.

Sole Communist in Field Fails to Hand in His Nomination Papers.

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
(C.P. Staff Writer)

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Jan. 11. (C. P. Cable).— Acclamations to-day give the opposition a net start of two seats over President Eamon de Valera's government in the campaign for the general election Jan. 24. Complete reports of the nominations throughout the country held to-day are not yet in but it is not anticipated any further acclamations will be accorded.

Four acclamations were received. Francis Fahy, speaker of the Dail and member of the Fianna Fail, (De Valera's party) was returned without opposition as is the usual custom in the case of the speaker. Three professors of Trinity College, Dublin, were also returned without opposition, Professor Alton, Professor Thrift and Sir James Craig. The three Trinity men stand as Independent but rank with the Opposition.

Fish Being Caught Through The Ice

Reports of fishing through the ice at Rice Lake have been heard from eye-witnesses lately, and a few weeks ago it was learned that fish caught in local waters were being sold in Peterborough.

The need of food was mentioned at if to extenuate the breaking of the law, but there has been no intimation that the authorities have relaxed their spirit of desiring to protect the resources of fish in the nearby lakes.

Incidentally, it was learned that some partridge have reached the city recently.

HUSBAND WOULD SAVE WIFE WHO BLINDED HIM

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11.—(A.P.) —Despite effort of her husband to shield her, Mrs. Ida Brown, was found sane last night by the jury which convicted her of blinding him by pouring hot lye in his face.

She will be sentenced Friday. A term of from one to 14 years in prison is possible.

Louis Brown, the husband, whose life was despaired of for several days after Le was blinded last Sept. 14 testified his wife had behaved irrationally for several months prior to the lye-poring. The State contended that Mrs. Brown deliberately planned the attack and that her remorse and attempted suicide afterward precluded any theory of insanity.

FIRE IN FOUNDRY OF ADAM HALL'S DETECTED EARLY

Constable Jack Thompson Discovered Fire While on His Beat.

FIREMEN HAMPERED.

Damage is Estimated at Between $5,000 and $10,000 By Fire Chief.

That the result of an early morning outbreak of fire at the Adam Hall Foundry, Limited, was not more serious, was ascribed by W. T. Hall, president of the company, today, as being due to the vigilance of Constable J. Thompson, who turned in the alarm, and to the subsequent efforts of Peterborough Fire Department under command of Chief George Gimblett.

Even as it is, the fire and smoke damage will amount to between five and ten thousand dollars, it was stated officially. The loss is covered by insurance. Cause of the outbreak is undetermined, but the fire is believed to have had its origin in some bins on the ground level on the west side of the building, where spare stove parts were stocked.

The blaze was confined by the fire-fighters to the seat of origin, and damage to the building was slight in comparison to the heavy damage inflicted upon the stock of domestic ranges and stoves by the terrific heat.

Firemen Hampered.

The brigade put up a stubborn fight of over two hours, the equipment being ordered back to headquarters around four o'clock this morning. Three lines were connected up to the hydrants, and of the two that were used, one was taken into the building through a hole that had to be cut in the west wall off Bethune Street. The work of the firemen was greatly hampered by the choking, blinding clouds of smoke.

Mr. Hall was full of praise for the police officer, whose alertness, he maintained, had saved the factory and possibly surrounding buildings from certain destruction. He also commended the work of the fire brigade, giving the Chief and his men a great deal of the credit for the fact that the results were not more disastrous.

Sitting in his office, where the air was still heavily laden with the pungent smell of smoke and charred woodwork, Mr. Hall briefly outlined the events of the preceding night.

Constable Thompson, it appears, was patrolling his beat and was walking east on Simcoe Street. He had passed the Adam Hall Foundry, without encountering anything to arose suspicions of fire. After proceeding as far as Hunter and Chambers Streets, near the Bell Telephone Company's office, he detected the smell of smoke which was wafted on a gentle breeze from the westward. Retracing his steps he scouted around Silverwood's Dairy plant before discovering that the Hall Foundry was on fire. He dashed over to the Fire Hall and raised the alarm, and afterwards resumed his beat.

Second Platoon Called Out.

Within an incredibly short space of time the brigade was out, and the Chief put in his special alarm call.

Lindsay Milkman Punches Stranger

LINDSAY, Ont., Jan. 11 (Examiner Correspondence).—An early morning request for money here today resulted in a couple of punches in the jaw and a mystery which, as yet, remains unsolved. Alvin Graham, driver of a milk rig, received the request from a stranger to whom he was giving a ride this morning, and, thinking it was attempted hold-up, he punched the stranger.

The stranger punched back, opening a cut on Graham's eye, and then ran away. It is thought that the man was a transient and was merely trying to beg money for a meal.

MOTHER AND CHILDREN ARE FORCED FROM HOME

CHICAGO, Jan. 11 (C.P.).—Raffaele Perillo, 50, laborer, turned to his wife suddenly at the breakfast table to-day and said:

He ran to the bedroom for his revolver and emptied six bullets into her head and body. Then he called the police. Mrs. Perillo was the mother of nine children.

MAY ASK ARMY OF FREE STATE TO KEEP PEACE

Chief of Civil Guard Threatens Drastic Action if Trouble Continues.

WHEAT CRITICS SCORED.

De Valera Appeals for Hearing on Behalf of Opponents.

BY GEORGE HAMBLETON
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Jan. 11.—General Owen O'Duffy, chief of the civil guard, said last night if other efforts to guarantee peace and freedom of speech during the remainder of the Free State election campaign failed, he would call on the army for assistance.

At Navan, in County Meath, President Eamon de Valera addressed a large orderly meeting and appealed for peace and quiet at all meetings. He asked that his opponents be given an opportunity of stating their case without disturbance.

"If you want to punish them for their wrongs, the best thing you can do is keep away from their meetings," he said.

The president attacked critics of his government who declared the soil of Ireland was unsuitable for wheat growing and that the policy of giving wheat bounties was not a good one.

In past generations, he said, there were 75,000 acres of land in Ireland under cultivation to wheat which was raised so successfully that the country even exported some of it.

Prefers Farmers To Foreigners

"It has been grown before and we can grow it again," he declared. "It is better to pay our farmers for growing it than to give the money to foreigners."

The whole country was laughing last night over the comedy of Cavan. In brilliant sunshine candidates of the Republican and National Parties and the National Farmers' League sought to convey their causes to the constituents of Cavan at a big open air meeting.

They made the mistake, however, of placing their platforms too close together.

Speakers for former President William T. Cosgrave found themselves battling to be heard above the din of hecklers for de Valera while the Republicans had to struggle against disparaging shouts from the farmers.

Amid tremendous booing, hissing and roars of laughter, two of the meetings were abandoned and the Republicans were left in possession of the field.

$100 GIVEN CHURCH BY ANGLICAN Y.P.

Gift of Money Received on Behalf of Church By J. V. Bedford, Rector's Warden.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 11 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — After two and a half months' hard work, the A.Y.P.A. of Christ Church, Campbellford, officially handed over to the wardens of the church for current expenses the sum of $100, an obligation they pledged themselves to meet. This happy ceremony took place on Monday evening at the regular meeting of the society, held in the Parish Hall, and over which the president, Rev. T. H. Floyd, convened.

On behalf of the church, J. V. Bedford, the rector's warden, received the money, thanking the young people for their efforts on behalf of the church. The meeting was very largely attended and was featured by a business session.

The guest speaker for the evening was the Rev. L. M. Smith of the Baptist Church, who gave a very fine and instructive address on "Foundations." In this he stressed the importance of perfection in the little things of life, upon which the foundation of character and life is laid.

The activities of the association are very strong. Besides periodical dances staged in the Parish Hall, the organization is arranging to stage a play in the near future, before the season of Lent directs their activities to more devotional channels.

BACKACHES
Not always due to Female Complaints

. . Says doctor who advises on care of kidneys and bladder

Backaches, nervous spells, bearing-down pains, dizziness and headaches are not always due to sicknesses peculiar to women.

Slight or temporary disturbances of the kidneys and bladder are frequently the cause of these pains. However, the condition can often be remedied quickly by Santal Midy Capsules, obtainable at most any drug store.

Santal Midy Capsules contain a precious East Indian extract which soothes the kidneys and acts as an antiseptic on the bladder. Don't wait until kidneys and bladder get in a serious condition. Perfect Alibi

URBANA, Ill., Jan. 11 (A.P.)—Prof. D. H. Carnahan probably will go down in history as the man who gave his students a perfect alibi for flunking their examinations.

He set special departmental examinations at the University of Illinois, for Friday, Jan. 13.

SALARY CUTS FEATURE FIRST COUNCIL MEET

Seymour Body Reduces the Rates of Pay for Road Gang.

APPOINTMENTS MADE.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 11 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — A cut in some of the official salaries in the Township of Seymour featured the inaugural meeting of that body held on Monday in Campbellford and presided over by the newly elected Reeve, Wm. J. Duncan. One new councillor sat down to the table, William Rowe of Stanwood.

The deliberations opened with prayer and Scripture reading by the Rev. F. G. MacTavish of the Seymour United Church circuit, and a plea from Reeve Duncan for the co-operation of the council and taxpayers of the township during the present year, when conditions made a program of economy necessary.

The salaries of the council or road commissioners were cut to $75. Last year they received $85 for their services, and in 1931 $100, showing a steady decrease in pay, and the action taken by the council to assist with the cutting down of expenditures. The treasurer's salary was also cut by ten dollars, it now being $165 per annum. In 1931 he received for his services $200.

Road Gang Wages.

The rates of pay for the road gang were set as follows: For men, 17 cents per hour; for man and horse, 35 cents an hour; for road superintendent, 35 cents per hour; for maintainer operator, 35 cents per hour. This is a cut of three and five cents over last year's rate of pay.

The following re-appointments were made for the current year: Board of Health, John S. Wallace, one year; solicitor, N. Alex. MacColl, one year; weed inspector, John Ingram, at 25 cents per hour, with 10 cents a mile one way, for one year; school attendance officer, George W. Anderson, at $4 a month and 5 cents a mile travelled, for one year; sheep valuers, W. A. Wynn, 25 cents an hour and 5 cents a mile travelled; assessor, T. J. Ketcheson, at $175 per annum, one year; school trustee, S.S. No. 8, Wm. M. Stephens, for two years.

Ernest Ingram and James Watson addressed the council in connection with trees and scrub on the seventh concession line, which were holding the snow, and the matter was left with the Reeve to interview one of the adjacent property owners in connection with this.

J. A. M. Thomson requested the permission of the council to build a power line to his property and this was granted and the solicitor requested to draw up a by-law governing this action.

It was also decided to fall in line with the request of the Department of Railways and Canals and build a checker-board sign at the south end of the Healey Falls bridge. This matter was held over from the December session of the council.

The treasurer and superintendent were authorized by the Council to sign a petition for the statuary grant on expenditures on township roads for 1932.

The school report from G. W. Anderson was received and fyled and a membership fee granted for the Good Roads Association.

Bringing up the matter of the bad state of the county roads in the township, a motion was passed asking the Reeve to make an appointment with the county road superintendent to discuss the question of the county roads in the township.

A by-law authorizing the borrowing of $30,000 from the Bank of Montreal was passed. This is to meet current expenditures and the interest set at 6 per cent.

A hospital bill for Adam Outingdyke was ordered paid by the council and to be handed to the township solicitor for collection. The pay sheet amounting to $394 53 was passed.

Preference Aiding B.C. Apple Shippers

VICTORIA, Jan. 11. (CP)—Empire prefererence has some substantial blessings, according to figures made available here to-day for the shipment of British Columbia apples to Great Britain. Growers of the Okanagan Valley have been advised through their London contractors that 723,000 boxes of apples moved to the British market this winter, compared with 651-000 boxes supplied by United States shippers, a complete reversal of the former proportions shipped from this coast.

In 1931 British Columbia apples to the British market amounted to 200,000 boxes compared with 759,-000 shipped from United States points: Both sets of figures are for the period November 1 to December 27.

All Canadian shipments to Britain are 597,000 boxes in 1930, 767,000 in 1931 and 1,279,000 boxes in 1932.

Rajah Rowing To Reduce

Rogers Hornsby, one of baseball's outstanding batsmen, who led the St. Louis Cardinals to the pennant in 1926, is preparing to again join his old club for the 1933 season. HAMILTON CUTS ITS CIVIC WAGES

Slash Effective From Mayor Down—Saving Totals $167,000.

VOTE GOES 13 TO 8.

HAMILTON, Jan. 11.—Civic salaries were reduced, welfare board appointments were criticized, and the controllers' report on the recent defalcation in the treasurer's office was referred back for additional information, when the city council met last night.

The attendance of citizens indicated the interest in the matters on the agenda. Both balconies were taxed to capacity, and several hundred persons stood in the corridors while the members debated the issues for almost three hours.

After voting down an amendment, and an amendment to the amendment, the council by a 13-8 division adopted the report of the controllers which provided salary reductions from 5 to 30 per cent, graded according to remuneration. The schedule approved was the same as that passed at a recent Board of Control meeting.

Chief opposition came from the Labor wing of council.

The Vote

The vote was as follows: For the reduction—Mayor Peebles, Controllers Treleaven, McFarlane and DuMoulin and Aldermen Gaul, Henderson, Ainslie, Gallagher, Fick, Evans, Hancock, Davidson and White.

Opposed — Controller Lawrence and Aldermen Pollock, Clarke, Mitchell, Reed, Aitchison, Lewington and Frame.

The amendment to the amendment from Ald. Gaul and Evans was that the aldermanic pay slash be increased from 5 to 10 per cent. It was defeated 12-7.

Thee amendment sponsored by Ald. Lewington and Ald. Frame was that the renumeration paid all council members revert to the scale of 1928. It was lost 18-3.

To Save $167,000

The revised payroll will result in an annual saving of $167,000. Every civic employee will be affected, and the council members accepted a reduction equal to that passed on to the workers.

Stork to Blame

CHICAGO, Jan. 11 (A.P.)—Because the stork didn't come to his house and isn't even expected, Robert Seiders of North Riverside, Ill., will have to spend 120 days in jail.

In his most doleful tone Seiders told Federal Judge George Edward Q. Johnson about the happy event expected at the Seiders' home and thereby won probation on a liquor charge. But investigators found that the stork wasn't coming.

BRONX MOTHERS GUARDING CRIBS

Police Advance Theories Baby Slaying Work of Revenge, or Maniac.

NO CLUES FOUND.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (A.P.)—The mothers of the Throggs Neck section of the Bronx watched their babies with unwonted care last night as the mysterious killer of four-months-old Frankie Cammarano continued at large.

Detectives called the strange stabbing of the infant as he slept in his crib Monday night one of the most brutal in their case books. After a fruitless day of questioning the family and its friends, and vainly seeking a motive, they were ready to call it one of the most baffling as well.

Two theories were advanced in the case. One was that the man or woman who crept across the dark porch, opened a bedroom window and thrust a knife thrice through the body of the helpless baby was a maniac.

The other was that the slayer sought vengeance—for what, no one could say—on the father, Amando Cammarano, 25-year-old plumber's helper; the grandfather, Frank Cammarano, who has run a barber shop i nthe enighborhood for years, or another member of the family.

Inspector Henry Bruckman advanced these theories but he did so, he said, because they offered the only logical explanation of the crime and not because there was any evidence to support them.

No fingerprints could be found on the knife, the window-sill or other places the killer might have touched. It was raining and the street outside was muddy when the crime was committed, but there were no footprints.

More than 50 persons were questioned by the police yesterday, but none of them could throw a ray of light on the mystery.

MAN HUNT ENDS, ARMED FUGITIVE TAKEN IN NORTH

Antonovitch is Surprised By Officers Getting Drink at Dairy.

FACES MURDER CHARGE.

Tip-off Given By Dairy Man as He Sees Suspect Stagger From Bush.

KIRKLAND LAKE, Ont., Jan. 11. (CP)—Worn and weary from exposure and exertion, Bill Antonovitch to-day lies in jail here under heavy guard facing charges of murder and wounding with intent.

Object of a manhunt which extended for miles through the thick bush near this town, Antonovitch was arrested by police yesterday as he drank a bottle of milk at a dairy nine miles from here.

Alertness of the dairy owner, J. B. Groulx, was responsible for the capture of Antonovitch, who is alleged to have Monday shot and killed Mrs. Annie Munda and Mrs. F. Manasuik, and wounded Bill Munda and Fred Cunningham, a boarder at the Manasuik home in a shooting affray on a busy street.

'Phones Police

Groulx saw Antonovitch enter the dairy yard, staggering and dirty. Before the wanted man could reach shelter, the dairy owner had telephoned to Constable William Shane and obtained a full description of the alleged slayer. Then he told the chief he thought Antonovitch was entering the dairy.

Provincial and municipal police rushed to the scene immediately. Antonovitch had a bottle of milk raised to his lips as they entered the dairy. They gave him no chance to flee, overpowering him instantly. The alleged murderer was armed with a .25 calibre automatic pistol, they said, and carried spare ammunition in a handkerchief.

Thus ended the search for Antonovitch, who came here from Winnipeg two years ago. He was friendly with Annie Munda for some time. Bill Munda appeared on the scene, also from Winnipeg, and three weeks ago married Annie. According to friends of Antonovitch, the latter had been moody for some days.

Fire Destroyed Car Passengers Escaped

NORWOOD, Jan. 11 (Examiner Correspondent).—While driving between Norwood and Campbellford last night, Ernest Wilks, owner-driver of a sedan car, and his companion, Ray Stevens, had narrow escapes from injury when the vehicle suddenly burst into flames, and was totally destroyed. The automobile caught fire in the vicinity of the Richardson farm. Cause of the outbreak is unknown.

GARAGE MAN'S LEG IS BROKEN

Fred Rowe Sustains Dislocated Knee and Double Fracture of Right Limb.

AT CAMPBELLFORD.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 11 (Examiner Staff Correspondent). — In attempting to brake a revolving wheel with his foot, Fred Rowe, local garageman sustained a dislocated knee and a double fracture of the right leg last evening. The injured leg was attended by Dr. E. V. Frederick and Dr. H. B. Longmore, and the patient is reported to be resting comfortably at his home to-day.

Rowe had been putting skid chains on the rear wheels of the Bennett ambulance, it is learned, and in order to facilitate the work he had jacked the wheels up, switched on the engine and thrown the transmission into gear. The wheels had been revolving slowly during the operation, and upon completion of the job, Rowe was about to let the ambulance off the jacks. He had stopped the motor but the wheels still continued to revolve on their own momentum. Placing his right footh on a wheel to brake it, Rowe's leg was drawn up under the mudguard.

STAFF OFFICERS QUITTING POSTS

Retiring New Zealanders Claim They Cannot Afford 20 p.c. Pay Cuts.

BLOW TO FORCE.

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Jan. 11.—(C. P. Cable)—Several staffofficers are resigning from the New Zealand military forces following cuts of 20 per cent in pay. The retiring officers consider their pay inadequate and maintain under that standard their prospects are insufficient.

Major W. Ivory, inspecting ordinance officer, R.N.Z.A., has resigned and is leaving tomorrow for England to enter civil life.

The loss to the forces of highly qualified and expensively trained officers is considered a very serious prospect by the officials and much thought is given to the matter in the hopes of arriving at an alternative that would suit the officers and not embarrass the army finances.

In connection with the losing of valuable men it is recalled here that Lieut. Col. Thoms, who retrenched two years ago, while attending an Imperial Staff College, was subsequently appointed in command of the Shanghai volunteer corps at a salary of £1,500 and in that stead won for himself international repute.

When Your Cough Hangs On, Mix This at Home

Saves $2. So Easy! No Cooking!

The best cough remedy that money could buy can easily be mixed at home. It costs very little, yet it's the most reliable, quick-acting medicine you ever used. The way it takes hold of stubborn coughs, giving immediate relief, is astonishing.

Any druggist can supply you with 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a 16 oz. bottle, and add granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. To make syrup, use 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. It's no trouble at all, and saves two-thirds of the money a family usually spends on cough medicine. Keeps perfectly and tastes fine.

It is surprising how quickly this loosens the germ-laden phlegm, soothes and heals the inflamed membranes, clears the air passages, and thus ends a severe cough in a hurry.

Pinex is a compound of Norway Pine, in concentrated form, the most reliable healing agent for severe coughs. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

MOUNT HOREB MAN INJURED

Shotgun Discharges as V. Hickson Reaches for It on Load of Wood.

Ribs, Collar Bone Broken.

OMEMEE, Jan. 11 (Examiner Correspondence).—Badly injured by a shotgun which discharged accidently near his home, two miles east of Mount Horeb, Monday afternoon, Vincent Hickson lies at his home in a very critical condition.

Mr. Hickson was drawing wood from the woods, and took his gun along with him, thinking he might get some game. The gun was on the top of the load, and when he reached for it, the trigger caught on a twig and discharged. Mr. Hickson is suffering from two broken ribs, broken collar bone, a severe flesh wound and possible other injuries.

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

PERSONS WHO BUDGET their incomes are busy at the beginning of the year planning how each penny of their money must go, or will be spent, to best advantage during the coming twelve months.

* * * * * * *

Those who thus carefully allot their money are considered competent and wise by others who adhere to this scheme.

* * * * * * *

During the past year, however, adjustments and re-adjustments have been so much the order of the days, to comply with altered incomes and changed conditions, that there seems wisdom in permitting a certain latitude rather than apportioning so closely that the slightest deviation in incomes throws the entire plan awry.

* * * * * * *

Also it is quite possible that since the backbone of the depression is broken, there will be increases in incomes rather than decreases.

* * * * * * *

One splendid change that has come to diminish expenditure is the lowered cost of foodstuffs. In 1922 the correct estimate was 30 per cent. of the entire income. Then sugar was about twice as much a pound as to-day, and this is but one item of lessened prices.

* * * * * * *

Often it is possible to buy meats at 1-3 the cost of that year, and regularly at about half the price at that time.

* * * * * * *

In 1920 the cost of a 24½-pound bag of flour was $2.25. To-day it can be bought much lower than $1.00. Of course, prices vary in different localities.

* * * * * * *

If incomes are diminished, it is heartening to consider the reduced cost of living which has its balancing effect of increasing the purchasing power of what money one has.

* * * * * * *

The thoughtful person cannot but consider that reduction in prices means that producers and manufacturers receive less for their goods. But this is by no means all loss, for they benefit by lowered costs in buying, as well as do others.

* * * * * * *

It should be remembered that after every war there is a period of adjustments which play havoc with living conditions, financial and commercial life.

* * * * * * *

In the midst of such a period as we have had, and are still having, everything which tends to diminish the troubles should be hailed with hope and pleasure.

* * * * * * *

The reduced cost of living whereby homemakers can scale down their budget allowance for foodstuffs is one of the favorable features.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR CENTRAL PRESS

By E. V. SHERARD

HASTE OFTEN PREVENTS EFFICIENCY

One-over-one and suit-over-suit tactics are designed to increase efficiency, by holding down contracting to a point where as many as possible feaures of joint holdings may be made clear to partners. The hand shown below illustrates the loss that may result from haste to reach a game contract and to consider play.

Y-Z were employing suit-over-suit bidding. Neither side had yet scored. Z bid 1-Spade. A passed. Y had two courses open, aside from raising his partner's bid; Y might have made a semi-forcing bid of 2-No Trumps or he might have forced with 2-Clubs. It would have been all right had Y bid 2-Spades. Any one of these three bids would have cause Z to shift into 3-Hearts, to show a second suit, as good as spades. Then Y should have bid 4-Hearts. All that could have been lost at hearts would have been one spade trick, one club trick and one diamond trick.

Instead of doing any one of the three rational things open to him, Y stretched a fine single assist into a double assist, and bid 3-Spades. Even then Z might have showed his second suit, by bidding 4-Hearts, which Y would have passed. Instead of showing that he held a second suit as good as his first, Z bid 4-Spades.

The opening lead was the 2 of clubs. Dummy's Q was captured by B's Ace. To have led back a club would have been to allow the declarer to discard his only losing diamond. B knew this and led back the 4 of diamonds. The Ace won. To lead trumps from dummy, the declarer led his 2 of hearts. Dummy's K won the trick. Being useles sto lead the Q of spades towards the A-J of a five-card suit, when the K-10 are missing, the 2 was led from dummy, and the declarer lost to the K when he finessed his J.

A's K of diamonds won the next trick (because Z had failed to discard upon dummy's good club), giving the defenders their third trick. Having nothing better to lead, A led back his J of diamond. It would have made no difference in the final result whether dummy or declarer ruffed that trick, but the declarer ruffed in dummy, and discarded a low heart from his own hand.

When Dummy's Q of spades was led, to the declarer's disgust, he found that A was going to win a second trump trick. The declarer led a heart from dummy, and won the trick with his own Q. Even if A had ruffed it would have made no difference in final results, as that player had to win a trump trick anyhow. Z led his Ace of spades, and then he obliged A to ruff hearts, scoring one down.

Your Health

By Dr LOGAN CLENDENING

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

The ignition of cleaning fluids is more likely to occur in the winter for perfectly simple reasons. Most of these cleaning fluids have a strong odor, and in the summer, spring and autumn, it is usually preferable to do the cleaning outdoors, or at least with all the windows open.

The housewife, in the winter, who decides to do some dry cleaning and brings any of these substances into the kitchen where there is a fire, is likely to have an unpleasant experience.

Burns from gasoline, naphtha, or other cleaning fluids, are among the most frequent recorded.

Even if there is no fire in the stove the housewive may forget to turn off the pilot light on the stove. Neglect of this precaution has caused many fatal explosions, or has resulted in serious burns.

In a closed space the fumes of inflammable cleaning substances remain in the air, and the static electricity generated by rubbing two pieces of silk or other cloth together in the process of cleaning may generate a spark which will ignite this vapor. Not only are such explosions practically always fatal, but they nearly always result in a bad household fire.

Of non-inflammable cleaning agents carbon tetrachloride is the one most usually recommended. It is, however, very poisonous and should, therefore, be used with considerable caution. However, the secretary of the National Fire Protection association says that he does not believe carbon tetrachloride constitutes any material hazard. It gives off a poisonous vapor, but so does gasoline, and he says, "If we have a choice between the two poisonous materials, one of them involving a fire hazard and the other none, it is clear that the material without the fire hazard should be selected."

Miss Katharine Fisher, director of Good Housekeeping Institute, gives the following list of rules for dry cleaners at home:

1. Use a none-inflammable solvent, such as carbon tetrachloride.
2. Keeps the hands out of the solvent as much as possible—the hand type of suction washer is useful for this purpose.
3. Do the cleaning in a well ventilated rooms or outdoors.
4. Dry the clean garment in a well ventilated room or outside.
5. Do not allow children or domestic animals in the rooms when the cleaning is being done.

BISHOP-ELECT BURD ADDRESSES MEETING IN CITY

Mission Work in Saskatchewan is Described by Archdeacon Burd.

LECTURE ILLUSTRATED.

Ven. Archdeacon W. Burd, bishop-elect of Saskatchewan, addressed a large audience in the Parish Hall of All Saints' Church last evening on a subject that will stand at one of the most glowing pages in Canadian history, the past and present work of the Church of England in the vast diocese of Saskatchewan.

Bishop-elect Burd, one of the pioneers in the mission work in Saskatchewan, succeeds Bishop Lloyd, one of the outstanding figures in the Christian life of Canada, as bishop of Saskatchewan. He was given a warm welcome to Peterborough, and his inspirational message of the great work being accomplished along Canada's new frontier of the Northwest was heard with wrapt attention.

Perhaps adding to the interest with which his audience of All Saints' heard his address last evening is the fact that Rev. Horace E. Ashmore, a Peterborough boy, has been engaged in the Church of England's missionary work in Saskatchewan since 1926, and is now occupying a difficult post with marked results at Hudson Bay Junction.

The speaker told, and his address was illustrated with vivid lantern slides, of the great trek of the band of British settlers in 1903 under Mr. Lloyd, later Bishop Lloyd, to the Lloydminster. The pictures showed the first rude huts put up by the settlers and then as they conquered nature the finer homes they constructed. Wherever the settlers went there went the Church of England, bringing to them their only message of God, and as the settlements grew and prospered so also did the church buildings. First church was held in the settlers' homes, then a log church was constructed, to be followed by a larger frame building, and finally in many places large, beautiful brick cathedrals.

To assist in the work the bishop early went to England and returned with 60 young Englishmen, who went out doing their work among the settlers, riding horseback and sleeping in tents on the bare prairies. Churches soon sprang up all over the country. Emmanuel College was founded to instruct the young men. Tents first made up the only college buildings, then rude shacks in which the ink in the students' inkwells froze as they studied in the winter, and then finally the fine, new brick building of the college, which is but another example of the march of progress due to the courageous and zealous efforts of the Church of England workers.

In the early years the missionary work was mainly among the settlers in the south and the Indians in the north, but during the past three years a great new and important work has developed, said Bishop-elect Burd. This work is among the new white settlers in the north. These settlers were formerly prosperous farmers in the south, but they have been forced to abandon their homes, load the chattles again upon a wagon and trek forth anew to locate new homes. Their farms in the south have become dried out, said the speaker. These men are one hundred per cent. of British stock and are the descendants of the original pioneers of the West.

They are clearing the land, building cabins and preparing the land for cultivation. The Church of England missionaries have gone out with them, and they are facing the same difficulties as the missionaries of 50 years ago, stated the speaker. Rev. Horace Ashmore is one of these.

Rev. J. D. Paterson, rector of All Saints' Church, a fellow-worker of Bishop-elect Burd in Prince Albert in the past, introduced the speaker. Archdeacon R. C. Blagrave pronounced the benediction. At the conclusion of the address the audience was entertained by Miss Dawson's Bible class, and many of laity beame more closely acquainted with Bishop-elect Burd.

Once in a while sour cream or milk will accumulate even in winter. The two recipes given in this menu will take care of it. If it is milk you are using, instead of the cream mentioned in the recipe, add a little more shortening to the cake recipe to give it the richness the cream would have had.

Today's Recipes

Veal Cutlets With Sour Cream.—One-half cup sliced onions, two tablespoons fat, veal cutlet, about one and one-half inches thick; three-fourths cup sour cream, flour, salt and pepper. Slice onions and brown in the skillet with the fat. Rub cutlet with salt and pepper, dredge with flour. Brown in the fat with the onion. Pour sour cream over meat and cover. Simmer or bake in a medorate oven until tender.

Sour Cream Spice Cake.—One cup butter, two cups brown sugar, three egg yolks, one cup sour cream, one teaspoon vanilla, one and three-fourths cups flour, one-half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon soda, two teaspoons cinnamon, one teaspoon cloves, three egg whites. Cream the butter, add the sugar gradually, creaming the while. Add well-beaten yolks, beating them in well. Next add the sour cream alternately with the dry ingredients sifted together. Add vanilla and fold in stiffly-beaten egg whites. Bake in two eight-inch layer cake tins in a moderate oven, 50 degrees Fahrenheit.

FACTS AND FANCIES

Baked Casserole of Turkey and Mushrooms.

Try this over on your leftover turkey. One-half package of macaroni (four or five ounces), two quarts water, one teaspoon salt, two cups turkey or chicken meat, chopped; one cup breadcrumbs, sauted in butter, one cup canned peas, drained; two-thirds cup mushrooms, two tablespoons chopped pimento, two cups medium white sauce. Cook macaroni in rapidly boiling salted water for nine minutes. Drain. Place one-half macaroni in a deep baking dish which has been greased. Place half meat with half peas over the layer. Make a second layer in the same way. Pour white sauce over it, cover with bread crumbs, and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit) 20 to 30 minutes. Mushrooms may be omitted if desired.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY, 11, 1933

THE HATCHET IS BURIED.

The public generally will be glad to learn that the hatchet has been buried in the City Council and that the mayor and his opponent at the recent election have figuratively signed an armistice.

Citizens as a whole are not nearly so much interested in the airing of private grievances in the City Council as they are in having the city's business done amicably, efficiently and intelligently.

The prestige of any particular member of the Council occupies a small space in the mind of the public, whose chief concern is that their representatives in office shall handle public affairs in a business-like manner.

It is not expected, of course, that the members of the Council will always see eye to eye with each in their sizing up of different situations; there will always be a variance in opinions, and desirably so, for no one would want the City Council to develop into a mutual admiration society.

But differences in opinion need not precipitate unpleasantness or petty bickering, and there is no reason for public business to be interfered with by the intrusion of personal animosities no matter how caused.

The Council is to be congratulated that the air has been cleared, and that the city's government can proceed with its duties unhampered by guerilla warfare.

THE PROPER COURSE.

The City Council is to be commended upon adopting a sensible attitude toward the question of the Board of Education's budget for the present year.

The board is an elective body with a direct mandate from the people to administer educational affairs, and interference from any other public body, similarly elected, would be neither in good taste nor justified.

The Council is taking the proper course, therefore, in refusing to attempt to interfere in any way with the board's budgeting.

The members of the Board of Education are representative citizens who are, all of them, closely in touch with local conditions, and who are well aware of the fact that a good many property-owners are paying their taxes with the greatest of difficulty and are looking, therefore, to all local spending bodies for a measure of relief this year.

These board members know, too, that the amount spent on education is responsible for a very substantial portion of the tax bill, and they cannot be oblivious to the fact that if there is to be any saving large enough to be noticeable in the tax rate it will be necessary to make a sizable reduction in the year's appropriations for educational purposes.

It does not require any action on the part of the City Council to enlighten the Board of Education as to these facts; the board is responsible for its expenditures, and the Council is following an eminently proper course in recognizing that responsibility by declining to make any gesture savoring of dictation.

CALGARY'S CONTRACT.

It is much easier to sympathize with the feeling that has inspired the Calgary City Council to refuse to pay in United States funds the bond issue that came due at the first of this year than it is to find any real justification for the Calgary decision.

That the Canadian dollar should be regarded as worth only 85c or so when compared with the American dollar makes every Canadian hot under the collar.

It is natural that we should think that our dollar is worth every bit as much as the American article, if not a little more, having regard to the present condition of the two countries.

But that feeling cannot excuse the failure of the Calgary Council to meet its legal obligations.

When Calgary in 1914 borrowed that $2,000,000 in the New York market it solemnly contracted to redeem the bonds either in Canadian or in United States funds at the option of the holders.

The agreement entered into read as follows:

"The city of Calgary hereby promises to pay to the bearer of this debenture on the first day of January, 1933, the sum of $1,000 of lawful money of Canada, at the office of the Bank of Montreal, in Calgary, Toronto or Montreal, or $1,000 in gold coin of the United States of America of the present standard of weight and fineness, at the office of the said bank in New York City, as the holders' option with interest thereon at the rate of 5 per cent. per annum, computed from the first day of January, 1914, payable half-yearly at any of the said places on the first day of January and the first day of July in each year on presentation and surrender of the coupons hereto annexed, as they severally become due and payable, or upon satisfactory proof of ownership and indemnity in case of loss.

"This debenture and the interest thereon are direct obligations of the corporation of the city of Calgary, and the principal and interest thereon are additionally secured by the special rates charged, levied and imposed upon and to be collected under the several by-laws consolidated by by-law No. 1468 and under by-law No. 1649 and the funds from time to time representing the same."

In the face of that undertaking a refusal to make good a binding contract of this nature is a repudiation of the honor of the city of Calgary and will do harm to Canadian credit generally.

To use this borrowed money for twenty years and then attempt to slip out of part of the contract because the bargain made in 1914 has turned out to be a bad one is not in line with Canadian conception of honesty or fair dealing.

A DESIRABLE CHANGE.

The City Council has given endorsation to a by-law which if approved of by the Ontario Legislature will make it necessary for any alderman whose term of office has still a year to run to resign from the Council before December 18 if he wishes ot enter the mayoralty contest.

In several instances, the recent election being the latest occasion, a member of the Council with half his aldermanic term uncompleted has seen fit to offer himself for the mayoralty without having resigned from his seat around the Council circle.

From one angle there is nothing very wrong with that; for the fact that a man has sought promotion and his application has been rejected by the electors does not necessarily impair his usefulness as a member of Council; it must be remembered that he has been judged by his fitness for the position of mayor and not on his ability to give useful service as an alderman.

But there is one obvious objection to allowing an alderman to retain his seat in the Council and still try his luck in the mayoralty race, and it is, in many people's minds, sufficiently weighty to justify a change in the system.

The situation that permits an alderman to run for the mayoralty without putting his aldermanic seat into jeopardy paves the way sometimes for unnecessary elections.

The man with a year to run in any case figures he has nothing to lose and so he tosses his hat into the mayoralty ring, whereas if his entrance into the senior event meant the loss of his aldermanic honors if he failed to win he would in all probability decline to precipate a contest.

SOMETHING ABOUT EXCHANGE.

The Toronto Globe quotes the following from the Saginaw (Mich.) News, remarking that the Michigan paper approaches the question in a reasonable and sympathetic manner:

Canada does not understand but does resent the continuing fall of the Canadian dollar on the New York money market. Apparently it is a sympathetic reaction to the drop in the British pound sterling, accentuated by the war debt mess. As a matter of fact, though, the Canadian financial system has nothing to do with the British system, of which it is entirely independent. And Canada has no foreign war debt. It bore the entire and heavy cost of participation in the war through internal loans and internal financing, and owes no other country anything on account of the war.

A Canadian $82,000,000 internal loan was oversubscribed; no Canadian obligation has been defaulted in the United States; Canada has maintained its export trade at a higher percentage than this country; it has had no bank failures all through the depression; no disorders; no defaulted Government bonds; no element of insecurity for private investment; but it finds its dollar heavily discounted. In the circumstances it is not to be wondered at that the Canadians are puzzled over the problem.

It is an issue which should interest this country because one effect of the decline is further to discourage Canadian buying in the United States. And Canada hitherto has been a very good customer.

The Globe adds: "After all, apart from being a cause of annoyance, this discount on the Canadian dollar does not greatly affect the individual Canadian, if he stays at home." We are not so sure of that. All the people in Toronto could stay at home, but they would still have to pay the rate of exchange on bills Toronto as a city owes in the New York market. Just the other day Manitoba had to put up an amount not far removed from being a million dollars to account for the exchange on maturing debentures. The Ontario Hydro-Electric had to assess all its customer municipalities their share of the excess million it had to pay for the same purpose. In all the Canadian people have had to put up we dare say some hundreds of millions because our provinces, municipalities and federal governments have payments coming due in New York funds.

Apart from that the Michigan paper does not explain why the Canadian dollar is discounted in United States, nor does it explain why Canadian dollars were not wanted in United States prior to the time of discount. In August of 1931, when there was no discount either way between Canadian and American funds, we can recall having tried to change a Canadian bill at the Mercantile Trust on Fifth Ave., New York. At the wicket marked "Foreign Exchange" it was stated that the rate of discount for changing Canadian funds into U.S. currency was 2 per cent., but when a Canadian bill was presented it was not accepted. The truth is they did not want Canadian money at all. That feeling makes the background for the discount on Canadian money in United States. It is a foreign currency which has to be cleared at intervals, and United States houses prefer to handle nothing but their own currency.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Economists, professional and amateur, have plenty of solutions aimed at putting the world back on its feet, but apparently no one has a plan that anybody else believes would work.

Judge Landis, the czar of baseball, is going to try to struggle along this season on a mere pittance of $40,000 for the year. The depression has certainly cut in everywhere.

By the time our American friends get the beer question all ironed out there won't be enough people left with the price of a bottle or two to make the trade profitable.

Sudbury is making all heads of families on relief work for the assistance rendered. That is the proper plan, but most municipalities are handicapped by inability to find the necessary jobs.

The Irish Free State elections simply can't be kept off the front page. They know over there how to put a lot of color into a political campaign.

Eddie Cantor remarks that 20,000,000 people elected Roosevelt, but even that number cannot give him a job until March 4. However, he'll have plenty of employment after that date.

THAT FRENCH GIRL.

She had an odd little accent and she fascinated us.

None of the other girls talked that way. They talked just as we did. We were all just regular American kids with regular American fathers and mothers. . . . But she was different. She had golden hair and pink cheeks. She used her hands more than we did when she talked. She was different. She had glamor.

You see, she was French. She had a French name. Her first name was Jeanne and her last name had a "la" or a "le" in front of it. (I've forgotten just what it was.) . . . She'd come to our town to live with her uncle, and she'd come—we knew—from far away. That's what made her fascinating. That and her accent and her obvious "difference."

So we hung around and looked at her and invited her to "parties." I did, too.

As I think back, it seems to me now that she was rather stupid. She never said much. She had no "pep," no "line." She didn't need either of those possessions.

We didn't ask her to be any different. . . . It was enough for us that she was French and had that accent. . . . I adored her. I'll admit that I adored her for two or three weeks, at least, and was teased for it, too.

Then we learned that she was going to marry a young Swedish farmer in a town some miles away, and was going to be Mrs. Olsen or something like that.

She was older than she looked, by a couple of years, and for her we didn't count at all.

So she married him and went away and we hardly ever saw her again. . . . That French girl.

It didn't break my heart, either. I know that it didn't, although in fiction that sort of thing usually does. We went our way as usual, went swimming in the river and hiking in the hills and clam digging at the beach and fishing in the lakes and roller skating down the sidewalks of our town and we peddled our papers as usual.

Somehow the glamor was gone from her. We decided that she couldn't have been really French. She hadn't told us she was going to marry that man. The truth was she hadn't told us anything about herself. She was secretive, and, besides, she was going to be MARRIED and that put her in another generation entirely. . . . So we forgot her. . . . I insist that we did. . . . I don't remember her at all.

Edward Wentworth Beatty, K.C.—Railroad president, lawyer, chairman and president, Canadian Pacific Railway Co., Ltd.

Mr. Beatty's career has been so apparently a successful one that it seems almost incredible that lack of self-confidence should be plain in his handwriting. A complicated sense of pride in combat with a natural tendency to shyness has on the practical side made for achievement and on the emotional side for under-development, suppression, inhibition so that the balance of what might otherwise have been perfect self-confidence is disturbed and brings in its unbalance moments of depression. These never govern, however, as tenacity is an outstanding characteristic—tenacity to hang on a very long while till realization comes around. This hand-writing also indicates firmness, ambition, impetuosity rather occasional than habitual, personal impenetrability.

RETRENCH: "TO CURTAIL, TO LIVE AT LESS EXPENSE."

To The Editor of The Examiner:
Sir:

In distant, happy days of yore,
E'er stocks and shares began to soar,
We bought, regardless of expense,
We didn't know the word "retrench.

What did we care then what things cost,
Like butterflies that know not frost,
No need had we to count our pence,
We'd never heard the word retrench."

But now, since Fortune's turned her face,
And Care and Want stand in her place,
We wish we hadn't been so dense,
About that hateful word "retrench."

For spoken on the crowded street,
And in all places where folks meet,
O'er our front lawn or backyard fence,
We heard the words, "retrench, retrench."

Taxpayers fat and taxpayers thin,
Whether carefree, grave or grim
They say "en masse" with good sound sense,
Our spending bodies must retrench.

So spending bodies one and all
Heed the "writing on the wall,"
You may be missing twelve months hence,
Unless you heed that word "retrench."

MURDER IN EDEN

By Charles Winfield Smith.

CHAPTER 13

Jere Kane closed the book, scrambled to his feet and stuck it in his pocket. An instant later he was roughly shaking Sergeant James, who had fallen asleep in the drawing room.

The detective awakened, gazed drowsily about and started to mutter something about not being able to get any sleep when he saw the other. He grinned when Kane said:

"You'd better go home and get some sleep. Get someone to relieve you and keep an eye on Chivington."

"Where are you going, Mr. Kane?"

"To the morgue."

"Shall I call a cab for you?"

"Yes. I'll talk to Chivington when I get back."

"All right."

Kane returned to the den. He went to the bookcase and as he glanced over the volumes reposing there he heard James first order a cab and then call headquarters for relief.

Thirty minutes later he walked into the coroner's office and greeted that officious little individual warmly. The coroner was not particularly glad to see him but tried his best to hide his feelings.

Kane asked, "Have you completed your autopsy on Richard Bailey's body?"

"Yes," the coroner returned shortly.

"And your finding?"

"Well," evasively, "I don't see any reason for calling an inquest ——"

"Nor do I, Kane agreed.

"—— So I'm returning a verdic of murder by an unknown hand," the other concluded, ignoring the interruption.

"Excellent. That will leave the way open for the police to continue their investigation. But, just now, I am more interested in what you found on the body, particularly with reference to the wound."

"Well, Mr. Kane, there wasn't very much to find. Mr. Bailey was shot with a .25 caliber gun. The bullet entered his right temple, ranged downward across the brain and lodged at the base of the skull."

"About how far would you say his assailant was from him when the shot was fired?"

"Well, that's hard to say. There were no powder burns on the flesh, so the bullet must have been fired from at least five or six feet away."

"That, it seems to me," Kane remarked dryly, "shows that whoever fired the fatal shot was an excellent marksman. Wouldn't that be the impression that you would get?"

"Yes," doubtfully, "I suppose so." He added hastily: "But, on the other hand, Mr. Kane, it wouldn't require very excellent marksmanship to hit a man from a short distance of five or six feet."

"Have you ever tried it?" with a trace of a smile.

"No," sharply, "of course not."

"I didn't think so. Doctor, you know very well that a revolver, no matter what its caliber, has a kick when it is fired. That kick tends to deflect the direction the bullet takes. Obviously, whoever fired that shot wanted to hit Bailey in the temple."

"That would cause instantaneous death," the coroner confirmed.

"By the way, were there any other marks on the body, let us say bruises or anything like that?"

"Yes, there was one." The coroner seemed to warm to his subject. "There was a bump on the back of his head."

Kane could scarcely restrain himself.

"Sometime shortly before he was killed, possibly just before the fatal shot was fired, he had received a blow on the head with some hard object. It was enough to render him unconscious, for it was near the base of his skull just a fraction of an inch from the nerve center at the head of the spine."

"And that blow, doctor," Kane prompted eagerly, "it could have been something else—let us say, for instance, that Bailey stumbled over something and fell against a table, his head striking the ledge with such force that it knocked him out."

"Yes," slowly, "it could have been that. But, look here, Mr. Kane," the coroner demanded, "just what are you driving at?"

"I am just trying to satisfy myself on one or two points," the other replied vaguely. "I have a theory in my mind which I am trying to work out."

"Oh," disgustedly, "the murder is as plain as day. Bailey was surprised while at work in his library by some intruder. He put up a stiff battle and got a bullet in his head for his trouble."

Kane listened with secret amusement.

"That's the trouble with most people," the doctor went on. "When they're held up by bandits or robbers the first thing they think of is putting up a fight. That's why so many of them are killed. Now, take Bailey, for instance. If he had turned over to the intruder whatever was wanted instead of trying to put up a battle he would have been alive today to tell the story. And," significantly, "he might have been able to give the police some valuable information which might have helped us put a stop to some of the nocturnal prowling that's going on in Los Angeles."

"Doctor," Kane said meaningly, "suppose Richard Bailey had been shot as he lay unconscious on the floor."

"Impossible," brusquely, "there would have been powder burns about the wound. Naturally, under such circumstances, the gun would have been fired from exceedingly close range."

"But, on the other hand, if the gun had been pressed about the temple," he suggested.

The little doctor's eyes narrowed and searched the other's features for some hint as to what he was driving at. Finally:

"What are you driving at, Mr. Kane?"

"Isn't it a fact that if the gun had been pressed against Bailey's temple when the trigger was pulled there would have been no powder burns on the flesh?"

"I don't think so," slowly, but with considerable doubt.

"Of course there would have been no such burns," Kane continued impatiently. "When the muzzle of a gun is held loosely against the head powder marks generally show on the surface of the flesh when the weapon is fired."

"Yes," impetuously, "that is just what I said."

"But where the muzzle is held tightly against the head," Kane continued, "the powder gases force the flesh aside and leave powder and gas marks on the inner tissue. This action is known as what is ballooning. In such cases, and these occur usually in suicides, the muzzle of the gun bites into the flesh. Under such circumstances the gun is sealed and there is no place for the powder gases to expand except under the flesh."

"Yes," the coroner agreed with reluctance, "you are exactly right about that. But," angrily, "are you trying to insinuate that Bailey committed suicide?"

"I am doing nothing of the kind," sharply. "I believe that Richard Bailey was shot to death as he lay unconscious on the floor after receiving a blow on the head, and my guess is that that bump on his head was caused when he stumbled and fell against the table, striking his head with such force that he was knocked out."

"You're a fantastic young man, Mr. Kane," sarcastically. "I have never seen an amateur detective, or student of criminology, if you prefer, yet, who didn't have a lot of crazy ideas. But, nevertheless, I'm going to see for myself. There may be something in it, after all."

It was obvious that the coroner reluctantly fell in with Kane's line of reasoning, even though he held this interference in supreme contempt.

Kane said, "I have some other things to do this morning. Will you call me at my hotel at one o'clock and let me know the result of your examination?"

"Yes," gruffly, "I'll call you."

Kane left him, went outside the morgue and hailed a passing cab, directed the driver to take him to police headquarters and settled back into the cushions to ruminate upon the case.

A puzzled expression crept into his features as he considered the various angles. He had confirmation of Nanette's story that Bailey had fallen against the table and dropped to the floor unconscious. But who had crept into that little den after she was gone and fired that fatal shot?

Whoever had done it must have entered the oom immediately after Nanette left. Bailey, under such conditions would not have lain unconscious more than ten minutes at the outside. It was more than likely that he would have regained his senses within five minutes.

Then, Nanette must have heard that shot fired. She had said that she fled from the house after she saw the director fall senseless to the floor; that she had gone to her car, had tried to decide what to do, and then had hit upon the idea of establishing an alibi.

She wanted to establish an alibi! Kane started.

Did she fire that shot?

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

JOHN A'S BIRTHDAY.

On this date, in 1815, there was born at Glasgow, Scotland, a boy who was to become the most dominant figure in British North America. John Alexander Macdonald was the son of Hugh Macdonald and Helen Shaw, the latter a member of the famous Highland clan. In 1820 the five-year-old boy came with his parents to Upper Canada, the father settling first at Hallowell (now Picton) and then moving to Kingston, which was afterwards John A's home, except for the periods when he was in office and had to reside at Toronto or Quebec before Confederation and at Ottawa thereafter, save from 1873 to 1878 when he made his home at Toronto. It was to Kingston that his body was taken after his death in June, 1891, and laid beside the graves of his father and mother and first wife and child. Called to the bar in 1846 (one of his first cases was the defence of the Polish adventurer, Von Schoultz, who had invaded Prescott in 1838), John A. was elected to the Assembly of the province of Canada in 1844 for Kingston, which, except from 1878 to 1887, he continued to represent for 41 years. He did not essay his maiden speech until he had been in the Assembly a full year, then delivering a short address which marked him as one of the coming men in politics. Within two years he was a member of the Cabinet; within seven years he was Attorney-General; with 10 he was Premier. All through his life he was a fighter for what he believed to be the right; he may have been wrong sometimes (who is not?), but the history of Canada might have been far different had it not been for the controlling hand of John A. Macdonald, who fought his last campaign upon the slogan, "A British subject I was born; a British subject I will die." It was my fortune to be brought into close touch with Sir John in his last years (as a member of the Ottawa press gallery), and like all others who knew him was much moved by that personal magnetism which enabled him to attract men to his aid and to keep them in his party, a magnetism which was also possessed in somewhat the same degree by his great successor, Wilfrid Laurier. Macdonald's share in the bringing about Confederation, his part in the building of the C.P.R., his farsight of the Dominion of Canada which was to follow him—all these things are written in the histories, for he who runs to read. Macdonald was practically the last British-born Prime Minister of Canada (the terms of Abbott and Bowell were short); since then our Prime Ministers have all been native born; but none of these latter could have worked better or more zealously for Canada than the lad who ran barefooted in the streets of Glasgow, who went unshod to the primitive schools in the Bay of Quinte district and proved to the world that Canada was a land of opportunity; John A. was a Scot by birth, but, like many another born in Britain, he was a greater Canadian than many a native born. He lived for Canada; he worked for Canada; he died for Canada, for he literally gave his life in his winter campaign in 1891 when he was convinced that the British connection was in danger.

BETHANY.

Rev. Mr. Scott conducted the installation service for the new officers and the meeting was brought to a close.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Thompson, of Manvers Station, were Sunday guests of Mr. William Davis and Miss L. Davis.

Miss Lily Thompson has returned home after an extended visit with friends at Millbrook.

Miss Ida Ward, of Peterborough, is a guest of her grandmother, Mrs. Johnston Morton.

Mr. J. Nesbitt and Miss Winnie were called to Toronto recently to attend the funeral of a friend.

LANSDOWNE STREET IS IN BAD CONDITION

Hope is Expressed That Street Will Be Taken Over as Highway.

Complaints of the washboard condition of Lansdowne Street, especially the section east of Lock Street, were one of the minor topics briefly discussed at Monday night's meeting of the council. The need of repair work being done was shelved for the present in the prospect that the county council might support North Monaghan's project of the assumption of Lansdowne Street from the Locks to the Port Hope highway by the government.

It is expected that the township representatives will press their claim again at the January session of the county council. At present the upkeep of Lansdowne Street as a boundary road is borne by the city and North Monaghan, but if it is taken over by the Department of Highways they are both relieved of maintenance costs, and the immediate improvement of the road would provide work for unemployed which is one of North Monaghan's problems. For the present, therefore, the city is waiting for the action that may be decided upon by the county council.

Livestock-Produce Quotations

WINNIPEG WHEAT

WINNIPEG, Jan. 11 (C.P.)—Wheat continued its upward trend in early trading to-day, when gains of 1c were recorded. At the high points, however, profit-taking was encountered and prices slipped off to levels within ⅛c of the previous close. The bulk of support came from commission houses and southern interests.

At the mid-session period prices rested ⅜ to ½c higher, with May selling at 48⅛; July at 49, and October at 50½.

Early reports indicate that only a very small export business was worked in Canadian wheat overnight, and this toward the end of the first half hour had a weakening effect on the market. Trading at the start was quiet active, but turned dull with traders generally marking time pending new developments.

Liverpool wheat opened sharply higher in sympathy with North American makes yesterday, but displayed easiness as the morning progressed and closed 1¼d higher, while Buenos Aires wheat at noon was ½c higher.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, Jan. 11 (C.P.)—Trading on the Toronto Livestock Market was slow this morning, with prices generally about steady. Cattle trade was slow; calves steady; hogs firm; lambs firm; sheep slow.

Receipts were: Cattle 660; calves 220; hogs 1,340; sheep and lambs 510.

Quotations as supplied by the Dominion Livestock Branch:

Steers up to 1,050 lb.—Good and choice, $4 to $4.25; medium, $3.25 to $3.75; common, $2.50 to $3.25.

Steers over 1,050 lb.—Good and choice, $4 to $4.25; medium, $3.50 to $4; common, $3.25 to $3.50.

Heifers.—Good and choice, $4 to $4.25; medium, $3.25 to $3.75; common, $2.50 to $3.

Fed Calves.—Good, $5.75 to $6.25; medium, $4.50 to $5.50.

Cows.—Good, $2.50 to $3.75; medium, $2.25 to $2.50; common, $1.75 to $2. Canners and Cutters, 75c to $1.50.

Bulls.—Good, $2.25 to $2.50; common, $1.50 to $2.

Stocker and Feeder Steers.—Good $3.25 to $3.50; common, $2 to $3.

Hogs, off car basis.—Selects $1 premium; bacons, $3.75 to $3.85; butchers, $1 discount; heavies $2.50 discount; lights and feeders, $1 discount; sows, $1.75 to $2.

Lambs.—Good ewe sand wethers, $5.75 to $6.35; heavies, $4 to $5.25; bucks, $4 to $6; culls, $4 to $5.

Sheep.—Good, light, $2; heavies $1.50; culls, 50c to $1.

TORONTO PRODUCE.

TORONTO, Jan. 11 (C.P.)—The following quotations on produce delivered at Toronto were supplied by the United Farmers' Co-operative Co. to-day:

Eggs, extras, doz., 26c; firsts, doz. 23c; seconds, doz. (cracked) 17c; pullet extras, doz. 20c; cream, No. 1, lb. (f.o.b.) 20c; cream, No. 1, lb. (off truck) 20c; butter, No. 1, solids, lb. 21½c; potatoes, per bag 70c to 75c.

CLOAK ROOM ROBBERIES ARE BELIEVED SOLVED

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 11 (C.P.).—Cloakroom robberies in this city are believed cleared up by the arrest in Kitchener of Creighton Webber, 26. During the Christmas rush 22 purses were stolen from employees of Zeller's store here, and a pen and pencil reported found in Webber's possession has been identified as belonging to the owner of one of the purses. Webber was arrested at the request of Guelph police, where a cloakroom also was ransacked.

EXCHANGE RATES

Exchange rates at noon today were: Pound sterling in Montreal 3.77⅜. U. S. dollar in Montreal 1.12⅜. Pound sterling in New York 3.35½. Canadian dollar in New York 88⅛.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

TORONTO EXCHANGE

TORONTO, Jan. 11 (C.P.)—Buying picked up considerably on the Toronto Stock Exchange this afternoon, especially in International Nickel, British American Oil and C.P.R. None of these leaders scored gains however, all closing unchanged.

In the interlisted group Ford "A" was in demand and the closing price, 7⅜, was up ¼ for the day. Brazilian was down a fraction to 9½. Smelters weakened at 8⅜ off ⅛.

Oils registered both losses and gains. Bupertest was up a fraction at 13½, and Crown Dominion had a ¾ drop, while Imperial and Pete were unchanged.

Bell Telephone continued strong, closing at 94½, Montreal Power pulled up to 32, and in the beverage list, Canada Bud, Walkers Common and Canadian Industrial Alcohol "A" were down fractions.

STANDARD EXCHANGE.

TORONTO, Jan. 11.— (C.P.) — The standard mining market operated in low gear to-day with the price range slightly easier. Price gains were very few but most losses were insignificant.

While the general market was engaged in consolidating its position Siscoe took a small header from 1.43 to 135 but recovered its equilibrium.

In the high-priced gold stocks, both McIntyre and Lake Shore dropped about 25 each.

Among the base metals Noranda maintained a good tone. It closed around 20.50, up a few cetns, and Nickel also showed a small appreciation.

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (C.P.). — Earlier gains were largely washed out in a flurry of selling which swept the stock market in the late dealings to-day, although some stocks continued to hold fractional advances. United States Steel, Sears Roebuck, Chrysler, American Telephone, Lackawanna and United Aircraft were down minor fractions. Case and Harvester yielded about a point net. New York Central lost a substantial fraction. Dupont was about a point higher. Union Pacific and General Motors gained fractionally. Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio and Santa Fe were steady. Transfers totalled about 1,600,000 shares. Closing tone was irregular.

HUNGARIAN BONDS WERE SUBSTITUTED

Substitution of Inferior Collateral Charged at Resumption of Senate Investigation.

WASHINGTON, January 11 (C.P.)—Substitution of inferior collateral to back a $26,510,000 issue of Kreuger and Toll bonds sold in the United States under an agreement approved by the New York Stock Exchange was charged to-day at the resumption of the Senate Stock Committee investigation.

Questioned closely by members of the Senate Banking Committee, Donald Durant, partner of Lee Higginson & Company, bankers for the bonds, told of the substitutions of Hungarian for French bonds vack of the issue.

Chairman Norbeck, in opening the inquiry, said the committee had evidence the agreement under which the substitutions were made was approved by the New York Stock Exchange.

Testifying in an even voice, Durant said the $1,000 Kreuger and Toll bonds were now selling for $140.

He contended the Hungarian bonds were good, but exchange difficulties prevented payments from being made.

The committee developed testimony the stock exchange was not informed of the collateral substitutions until after the sensational suicide of Ivar Kreuger, Swedish industrialist, in March, 1932.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—(A.P.) — Grain prices tended upward early to-day after an irregular start. Cold weather in domestic winter wheat territory with absence of snow protection was more than an offset for a laggard response which the Liverpool wheat market made to yesterday's sharp advances in price this side of the Atlantic. Opening at 3-8 off to ¼ up, Chicago wheat futures showed an all around gain later. Corn started at ⅜-½ advance and continued to mount.

MORAL DUTY

HALIFAX.—Is a husband under legal duty to provide for his wife and family?"

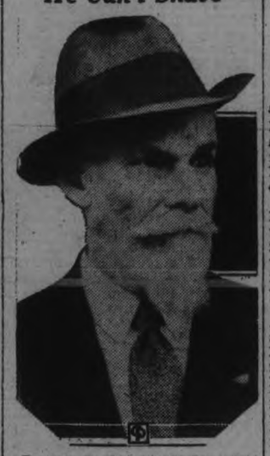
Lawyer G. R. Ramey said "No!" and put up such an array of authorities that Magistrate Ian Ross adjourned the non-support case against Reuben Young of Big Tancook Island.

Ramey declared there was no legal duty, although there might be a moral one.

C. N. R. EARNINGS

MONTREAL, Jan. 11. — (CP) — Gross revenues of the Canadian National Railways for the week ending January 7, 1933, were $1,724,061 as compared with $2,381,077, for the corresponding period of 1932, a decrease of $657,016, according to an official statement.

He Can't Shave



Because he bet his barber that President Hoover would be re-elected, Walter Marr, Chattanooga, Tenn., capitalist, hasn't shaved since election day and can't shave untill November, 1936. Marr designed one of the first three automobiles that ever appeared on the streets of Detroit. He designed autos for 20 years after that in Detroit.

Red Cross Hostel Is Place For Homeless

Reports of pan-handling, begging on the street and at the door, by transients continue to be circulated indicating that the public supports this practice. When the Red Cross hostel was opened for the winter it was intended to take care of homeless men in need who drift into the city.

A member of the Red Cross executive has suggested that if citizens who give charity to transients would make their grants to the Red Cross and direct these in need to the hostel there would be less encouragement for the "professionals" whose collections at times amount to considerable sums.

Mean tickets are given out at the hostel and there is also a comfortable bed for a night or possibly two, a service to wanderers that is assumed by the Red Cross. It seems that often the "dime" and "quarter" that are asked for are actually spent on "canned heat." Grants to the Red Cross would have the purpose desired by the public, and would be a guarantee that the money would be properly spent, instead of street and door "hand-outs" going for alcohol.

Lieut.-Col. Peterson Commands Battery

OTTAWA, Jan. 11.—(CP)—Brigadier-General C. J. Armstrong, C. B., C.M.G., V.D., district officer commanding, military district No. 1, London, Ont., has received promotion to the rank of Major-General, it was announced by the department of national defence to-day.

Major-General Armstrong is to vacate his present appointment as district officer commanding and will proceed on leave early in June of this year pending retirement, which is in accordance with his wishes.

Major C. T. Peterson, V.D., has been promoted to the rank of Lieut.-Col. and to command the 4th Field Brigade, C.A. with regimental headquarters at Peterborough, Ont.

FIRE IN FOUNDRY OF ADAM HALL'S

ing in the off-duty platoon also.

"That is what I call service," Mr. Hall said appreciatively. Then addressing himself to the Fire Chief, who sat across from him, he said, "You did some splendid work.' He added there had been no undue flooding of the premises with water, with the happy result that none of the machinery had been damaged. Had water got into the spot welding machine, an expensive piece of equipment, he said it would have ruined it.

The force of Mr. Hall's remarks was emphasized, following an inspection of the building. Timbers in the elevator shaft and away up in the peak of the roof were charred and blistered, rows of stoves with the finish completely ruined, offered mute evidence of the intensity of the blaze, and a realization of the fact that had discovery of the fire been delayed by only a few minutes, the consequences could not but have been disastrously far-reaching.

Five Passengers Have Close Call

BEAVERTON, Ont, Jan. 11 (C.P.) — Five passengers were immersed in the chill waters of Lake Simcoe when the automobile in which they were riding crashed through the ice. The party were en route from Beaverton to Thorah Island. All five made their way through the side of the car and rising to the surface, clambered on a large ice floe. Tipped by their weight, the floe again threw them into the water, but they finally managed to scramble to solid ice.

Employer Had Sheaf Of Drafts Returned But Bravely Carries On With Full Staff

No sentiment in business?

An employer thumbing over a sheaf of drafts that came back to him last Saturday, and telling himself that he had to let some of his fifteen men go, ran them through his mind to pick out the one, two or three who should be the victims.

He related the incident to The Examiner this morning, without any thought that it might find its way into the news, and this is about the way he told it. The business and its location must be obscured for the sake of anonymity.

"There's Bill; he's a single man. . . . Guess he should go first for awhile anyway. . . . But Bill's dad hasn't been working for a year; no money going into the hourse. Gosh, I can't let him go. Well, there's Bob; how about him. Darn it he hasn't saved any money. I know its his own fault. And he has a family. Who else?"

And one by one this employer marshaled up up in his memory the whole fifteen men, almost all of them in a class that might be generalized as "laboring." Behind them was the figure of the banker. Finally, this business man gave up the personal problem, and decided to wait and see what this week would produce. Sentiment swayed him to the extent that he couldn't at that time select one man to be turned out.

"We'll trust to Providence for a few days and see what happens," was his conclusion. Monday morning the telephone was perversely silent. "Central must be dead," Mr. B. M. remarked, "perhaps our wires are cut."

A little later he called the station, learned that there was a consignment of goods, started some of the men out. Meanwhile a little wave of orders came in and the office was busy all day. Tuesday, business was again satisfactory, but this morning it was simply marking time again.

"I'm so worried this morning that I'm really nervous; just feel like folding up; but you simply can't," he concluded. "If I just had a farm with nothing but some taxes to worry about,—but I guess I'd better get back to the office."

REDISTRIBUTION BILL IS LISTED

verdict goes, for I shall have done my duty" he said.

Temporary Protection

The government intended to provide temporary protection to mortgagors, he continued. "It has been brought to my attention the statement regarding the mortgagors' and purchasers' relief act which appeared in press on Dec. 24 has created an impression the government has in mind some general relief to borrowers with respect to mortgage interest and taxes.

"This is entirely erroneous, as it is not the intention of the government to bring down any legislation which will grant relief to those mortgagors who can and should make such payments. Cases have come to our attention, however, of extreme hardship or harshness where mortgagees are exercising foreclosure or sale proceedings for the apparent intention of acquiring the mortgagors' equity where it is in jeopardy due to present economic conditions, and it is our intention to provide for temporary protection in such cases.

400,000 On Relief

Dealing with unemployment relief, he said more than 80,000 families, or approximately 400,000 men, women and children, were on direct relief in Ontario at the present time, looking solely to relief channels for their food and clothing.

He traced the development of the relief situation from the policy of construction of municipal works to the present when the policy was now one of all direct relief, and only boarding camps, much more cheaply operated, were being operated in Northern Ontario.

He attacked some municipalities which he claimed were not "playing the game," but were treating "maximums" in the light of minimum payments. The cost of relief was steadily mounting and would mean an appreciable burden to the public debt of the Province, he said. He was more concerned with the effect the principle of relief was having on the people of the Province, however.

Trifling Problems.

Some municipalities had slipped in that respect, he believed. Deputations came to the Government with trifling problems they might have solved at home had they had the courage to attempt it.

He congratulated the cities of Sault Ste. Marie and Oshawa. The former, when in difficulties, had made Hon. James Lyon Mayor and "everybody knows how Mr. Lyons and his retrenchment policy and fearlessness has got the Sault out of its difficulties." Oshawa had insisted W. E. N. Sinclair, K.C., take the mayoralty and lead them into better times.

"Stand up to your difficulties. That is my message, my challenge, to the people of Ontario to-day. Great Britain is facing her problems courageously—not only facing them, but solving them. I say to our people—face troubles as your forefathers faced them. Above all things, be British."

Kidnap Plot Hinted Against Mimico Man

TORONTO, Jan. 11. (CP) — "A kidnapping plot, which provincial police regard with the utmost gravity, is said to have been disclosed in the extortion letter received by James Franceschini, millionaire contractor of Mimico" a Toronto paper says it learned from an authoritative source.

"The first letter was received on the day before Christmas. It contained a demand not for $3,000 but for what is described as a fabulous sum of money. Abduction of Franceschini's little daughter was threatened as an alternative.

"On instructions from the police the contractor's family were made virtual prisoners in Myrtle Villa, the family residence, and for two weeks the house has had guards patrolling the grounds night and day.

ST ANDREW'S W.M.S. INSTALLS OFFICERS

Reports Read Show a Very Satisfactory Year's Work by Society.

The monthly meeting of the W. M.S. of St. Andrew's Church was held in the church parlors on Tuesday afternoon. The meeting opened with the singing of a hymn, followed by a prayer by Miss Dixon. Mrs. Porteous read the Scripture lesson taken from the 28th chapter of Matthew, which was followed by a season of prayer. The treasurer and the various officers for the year 1932 gave their reports which were adopted, these reports showing a very satisfactory year's work. The group leaders of the society spoke of the deep interest taken in missionary work by the members. Miss King gave a very interesting report of the work of the Mission Band. Mrs. F. McNeely gave two beautiful recitations, "He Leadeth Me" and "The Gain of Giving."

Dr. C. V. McLean, in a few words dedicated the following officers for the year 1933:

Hon. president, Mrs. M. Kerr.
President, Miss Fanny Dixon.
1st Vice-president, Mrs. B. L. Barns.
2nd Vice-president, Mrs. A. Porteous.
3rd Vice-president, Mrs. F. H. Dearborn.
Recording secretary, Miss E. Ferguson.
Treasurer, Mrs. W. Henry.
Christian Stewardship and Finance, Mrs. W. Zelhr.
Corresponding secretary, Mrs. B Stacey.
Supply secretary, Mrs. M. T. Breckenridge.
Literature secretary, Mrs. F. H. Skinner.
Press secretary, Mrs. E. Humpage
Missionary Monthly secretary, Miss Best and Miss J. R. Ferguson.
Associate Helpers' secretary, Mrs. A Pilling.
Strangers' secretary, Mrs. V. Hamilton.
Temperance and Young Women's Mission Circle, Mrs. C. V. McLean.
Mission Band secretary, Miss B. King.
Watch Tower secretary, Mrs. T. Leslie.

The meeting was closed with prayer.

BANK HEAD RETIRES.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(A.P.)—The helm of the $1,856,000,000 Chase National Bank was turned over to-day from the hands of Albert H. Wiggin to those of two younger executives.

The new navigators are Winthrop W. Aldrich, 47 years old, and Charles S. McCain, 48. Wiggin, who is retiring as chairman of the governing board, is nearing 65. Aldrich and McCain have been his chief lieutenants.

FURTHER ECONOMY IS KEYNOTE OF HAVELOCK'S NEW COUNCIL

Parks Board Will Remain — Auditors Assessors Named —Clerk's Salary Cut.

WAGE RATE STANDS.

HAVELOCK, Jan. 11 (Examiner Correspondent).—Economy was the keynote at the inaugural meeting of the village council. Reeve Ernest Leeson presided, and Councillors Ernest Seeney, Harvey Gordon, Alfred Spencer and Bruce Longmuir were all present.

The large crowd that almost filled the chambers was proof that more interest is being taken in municipal affairs.

Inaugural Address

Welcoming back the three old members and the one new member, Mr. Longmuir, Reeve Leeson made his inugural address brief. He hoped they would work as harmoniously as in the past and always in the best interests of the ratepayers. "We have just passed through a hard year and should be prepared to face another. Economy should be stressed and I would suggest right off the bat that we cut our sessional indemnity from three dollars a meeting to two dollars.

Fred Pollock, as president of the Unemployed Railwaymen's Association, addressed the council, saying there was plenty of work for those who wanted it, and that he had been cutting wood steadily and could give work to five men right in the morning if they would work for the same wages as he was receiving. "What we need is someone at the head of the unemployed, Mr. Pollock continued. "If the ratepayers have wood to cut let the unemployed do it with a buck saw. I would ask the council to let men shovel the snow off the walks to replace the snowploughs. They would be willing to do it at the same cost to the village. Having studied the great problem of providing employment for the unfortunates in various places such as York township, he thought he would be able to look after the work in the village if the council saw fit to appoint him. When Mr. Pollock had finished the reeve reminded him that a committee had already been looking after this sort of thing ever since last Fall.

James Craighead offered to supply green body maple at the same price as last year, $6 per cord. Ronald Young from Campbellford offered to put it in for $5.75. Wm. Stevenson of town offered to put in green wood and give them four inches over a cord to allow for shrinkage at the price of dry wood. There was much explaining about this, but the council seemed a little reluctant.

By-law number 401 to provide for the appointing of the various officers for the year was passed.

Holecombe, Assessor

For the position of assessor, the following applied: J. W. Holecombe, Ernest H. Malton, Hector Bannon, and Fred McAdam. Councillor Seeney asked if this could be given to Constable Roberts, who replied that for the salary he was receiving he thought he had almost enough to do. A. Spencer moved Mr. Holecombe receive the appointment at $90. Councillor Seeney: "He won't take it, for that."

Then, on motion of Seeney and Spencer, J. W. Holecombe was appointed at a salary of $100, to include stationery and postage.

Two applications for auditors were received. They were from Alex S. Leath and Co., accountants, Toronto, and W. D. Hutchinson of town. Some were for cutting the rate of pay from $20 each. The council reappointed Mr. Williams and Mr. Hutchinson at $20 each.

Charles Taylor was appointed as a member on the board of health for the ensuing year, on motion by Seeney and Longmuir.

Councillor Seeney declared in discussing the local park: "As I see it the board hasn't handled things in a business-like way. They have spent nearly $100 already this year and have practically turned the park into a community rink, by letting the public school children skate free of charge. Mr. Leeson said that some children who should be allowed to skate would have been barred tney been made to pay.

Reeve Leeson argued that a rink of some kind should be maintained and it would be a bad time to break it up now. Mr. Seeney asked the reeve to wait on the board and ask them to reconsider the plan.

Park Board Stays

T. P. Lancaster, M.P.P., said it was not for the council to do away with the park board. The law requires that each year two members be appointed; one by the reeve and one by the council, these for a term of three years.

This settled the matter and Wm. McLaughlin along with P. Yuill will be the new members this year. The old members are: J. H. Moore, D. A. Forde, Wm. Copp and L. G. Hagerman.

C. F. Roberts was appointed sanitary inspector, caretaker of hall and fire-engines, weed inspector and chief constable, all for the salary of $75.00 per month, to be paid twice monthly.

Frank Parcels was given the job of poundkeeper.

Snow Ploughing

For snowploughing the village streets, the following applications were received: J. W. Stillman, George Davidson, David Vansickle. On motion of Spencer and Seeney, Mr. Stillman will do the west end and George Davidson the east end at the rate of forty cents an hour.

A by-law authorizing the head of the council and the treasurer to borrow up to $15,000 from the Bank of Toronto at the rate of 6 per cent was passed on motion of Seeney and Spencer, who also appointed the reeve and Councillor Longmuir to be a committee to ask the bank for a lower rate of interest.

On motion of Seeney and Gordon the clerk was instructed to order six copies of the Municipal World, dog tags and an assessor's guide.

On motion by Spencer and Longmuir a notice will be inserted in the local paper that a substantial discount will be allowed for the prepayment of 1933 taxes.

M.O.H. Salary Stands

There was some talk of cutting the Medical Officer of Health salary, but it was left at the same as previous years. On motion of Seeney and Gordon, the sessional allowance was cut from $3 a meeting to $2.50. Longmuir and Seeney moved that clerk's salary be cut from $300 per year to $250. Mr. Fennell said although he hadn't received a cut last year it really amounted to same thing when the extra work was done by him. "If you care to leave it at $300," said Mr. Fennell, "I'll give 10 per cent of my salary to the unemployed relief committee. An amendment was moved by Spencer and Gordon cutting the clerk only $25.00. Reeve Leeson cast deciding vote for the amendment.

Wages 30 Cents Hour

Laborers' wages were left at 30 cents an hour; a man with a team gets 50 cents an hour, and trucks for use with the grader will get 75 cents an hour. The price for hauling fire-engines was reduced from $5 for each engine to $3; this to including bringing them back to the hall.

Bert Hinkler, famous Australian airman, who attempting to establish a new speed record from England to Australia, is lost somewhere en route. He started out with only enough gas to last twenty-four hours. He was reported lost somewhere near the coast of Italy.

HOME AND SCHOOL ASSOCIATION NEWS

Queen Alexandra

On Monday evening the annual meeting of Queen Alexandra Home and School Association was held in the school with a large attendance, the president, Mrs. H. Graham in the chair. Accounts were passed, communications read and other routine business attended to.

The musical program consisted of three numbers delightfully rendered. A vocal solo by Bobbie Parnall, a piano solo by Loreen Wellwood and a vocal solo by Olga Westbye. Mrs. R. Morrow and Mrs. Westbye, respectively playing the piano accompaniments for the two vocalists.

It was decided to hold two skating parties in the very near future, one for the pupils and one for parents and ex-pupils.

Very gratifying reports were received from all convenors showing a year of consistent achievement in all branches. The report of the relief convenor particularly showed a wonderful response from the association to the increasing need for relief. Mr. Munroe took the chair for the election of officers for the coming year.

A nominating committee composed of Mrs. Richardson, Mrs. Dearborn and Mrs. Tremain submitted the following slate of officers, which was unanimously adopted by the meeting:

Hon. president, Mrs. Monroe; president, Mrs. H. Graham; first vice president, Mrs. E. Telford; second vice president, Mr. F. H. Dearborn; third vice president, Mrs. A. W. Wray; recording secretary, Mrs. G. Puffer; corresponding secretary, Mrs. L. M. Richardson; treasurer, Mrs. W. Rogers; Convenors—social, Mrs. Elliott and Mrs. Bateson; program, Mrs. S. Kingdon; bowling, Mrs. H. Staunton and Mrs. Irwin; visiting, Mrs. H. H. Tewsley; relief, Mrs. Parnall; telephone, Mrs. Emmerson.

HAVELOCK WOMEN'S INSTITUTE LAY PLANS FOR ENSUING YEAR

Mrs. E. Cross Honored on Eve of Departure — Library Board, Committees Named.

SPLENDID PROGRAM.

HAVELOCK, January 10 (Examiner Correspondence). — A number of matters of importance came before the members of the local Institute, in session in the Council Chamber here on Monday afternoon. The election of a new Library Board for the ensuing year, the appointment of a secretary t oreplace Mrs. Elmer Cross, whose resignation had been tendered due to the removal of the family to Myrtle, where Mr. Cross has been transferred in the service of the C.P.R., and the decision to apply for a summer speaker for the month of June, were perhaps the principal matters disposed of.

Three new members were added to the sewing committee under the convenorship of Mrs. Clarence Hubel. The committee is comprised of Mesdames Easterbrooke, Armstrong, Hubel, Roberts, Dafoe, Whitney, Lancaster (the last three the newly added members), and Miss Morrison. Much progress and excellent work done by the committee was reported. It was almost unbelievable the amount that had been accomplished in a short time. It was suggested that a quantity of flannelette be purchased to make parts of a layette, which had been requested. A meeting of this committee will be held at the home of Mrs. Easterbrooke on Friday evening January 13th.

Mrs. A. Anderson, who is convenor on relief within the Institute, asked that she be relieved for a short time at least, as she is under doctor's orders to cease all activities for the present. She suggested that Mrs. C. Hubel take over the work for the time being.

Library Board

It was suggested that last year's Library Board continue in office for the current year, but some of them were unwilling or unable to act this year so the following were elected, some of them members of last year's board: Mesdames R. Bonney, R. Reynolds, R. Scott, T. P. Lancaster, R. Jones, Wes. Johnston, Anderson, Bedford, Hubel, Easterbrooke.

Miss E. Wright was elected to take the place of the retiring secretary, Mrs. E. Cross. Mrs. R. Jones continues as Librarian. Mrs. Hubel who was appointed to see about a play for the members, reported the idea abandoned, owing to the reluctance of the ladies to take the various parts, as it was thought most of them could not give the time necessary for rehearsals.

The president, Mrs. Lancaster told the members of a plan used elsewhere to raise money, by what is called Vanishing Bridge. The first member to give a party invites three tables. Each one invited to this party engages to give a two table party, either cards or afternoon tea. All those attending the second party give a one table party, in each case charge an admission fee of twenty-five cents. In this way, the hostess supplies the prize, and candy only is served at the card parties, thus reducing the work thereof to a minimum. No prize is to exceed fifty cents in value. Where an afternoon tea is served the hostess supplies everything, but as this is only for two tables or one, this will not entail a great deal of work. The sum of $125 can be realised if the plan is carried to a successful conclusion. Mrs. Lancaster will give the first of this series, beginning with three tables.

A letter from Dr. Helen McMurchy advised the members that the new book, of the Little Blue Booklet series is now off the press. The title is "Good food for little money". She also advised that the new diet charts, for the use of any member who would make use of the same was also available, and would be found very helpful where one wanted to find out thecaloric value of the food consumed from day to day, over a given period. It was decided to ask the department to forward ten copies of each to be distributed in the branch.

A letter from Mr. Putnam, superintendent of Institutes in Ontario, congratulated the Institutes on the splendid convention held in Toronto in November, and on the splendid resourcefulness of the members as a whole. He stated that the success of an Institute Branch cannot be gauged by the amount of money raised, but rather by the resourcefulness in meeting and prevailing conditions.

Rebate Denied

An application to the department for a rebate of the amusement tax paid in connection with the Hallowe'en dance met with the reply, that in order to qualify for the rebate, it was necessary that 66 per cent of the gross receipts of any function would have to go for the purpose for which it was held, and the expense of the dance being in excess of the 33 per cent allowed, there could be no rebate made.

Th matter of allowing outside organizations the use of the Institute dishes came up for discussion, and after some time it was decided to make a charge of one dollar for their use, with the understanding that they be returned to the cupboard clean and any breakages replaced. A load of wood will be ordered from the local mill, and a bolt put on the woodbox, to prevent its use by unauthorzed parties. The attention of the council will be drawn to the necessity of a change in the position of the stove, to eliminate the smoke nuisance, which has been rather bad.

The business of the meeting concluded, an address of regret at her departure from Havelock was read to Mrs. Cross, by Mrs. Hubel, and the presentation of a pair of handsome silver candlesticks, and green candles was made. Mrs. Gould making the presentation on behalf of the Institute. Mrs. Cross made a fitting reply and thanked the members for their kind remembrance. The program convenor, Mrs. R. Scott then took the chair and the following program was given: Roll call, New Year's resolutions. A splendid paper, in keeping with the roll call was given by Mrs. (Dr.) Thompson, being a collection of helpful ideas gleaned from many sources, interspersed with little verses of poetry, ending up with a recipe for a better and happier year. This was an exceptionally good paper, and was much appreciated; a solo "Danny Boy" by Mrs. Jay Bedford and a demonstration by Mrs. Easterbrooke, applying bias binding to a seam, and showing a pressing pad which she called "The Goose Egg" which she said is very handy when pressing a curved seam, as a sleeve or a rounded hem, proved most interesting.

A lovely lunch was afterwards served by the hostesses for the day, Miss McBurney, and Mesdames Hagerman, Hitchins and Jones, and a short period of social chatter was enjoyed.

Obituary

CHARLES LEACH.

MILLBROOK, Jan. 11.—(Examiner Correspondence.)— Word was received by relatives here last week of the death of Charles Leach, third son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Leach, and formerly of Millbrook, at Vancouver, B.C., following an attack of double pneumonia. The attending physician was a former school friend, Dr. C. W. Walsh, now of Vancouver.

Twenty-seven years ago deceased moved to the west to reside, his wife, Verta O'Brian, eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William O'Brian, and two sons who then made up his family, joining him shortly afterward, their home continuing to be in western Canada up to the time of his death.

Deceased, who was an Anglican in religion and a Conservative in politics, is survived by his widow, two daughters, Mrs. J. Pearson and Mrs. A. Pingatore, of Vancouver, and by four sons, Alfred of New Westminster, and John, Goldie and James, all of Vancouver. One sister, Mrs. (Judge) Ruddy, of Whitby, and four brothers also survive.

JAMES C. O'LEARY

(Examiner Correspondence)

KING'S WHARF, Jan. 11.— The funeral of the late James C. O'Leary was held Monday morning from the family residence to St. Luke's Church, Downeyville where requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. Fr. Galvin. A very large crowd was present, not only from Emily township but also from the surrounding districts.

The pall bearers were Messrs Neil Herlihy, Thomas O'Neill, Michael Harrington, John Guiry, Dennis O'Leary and W. E. Perdue.

The late James C. O'Leary, 84 years old was known as "King's Wharf's grand old man" and was one of the old pioneers of this country, was loved and respected by all and although advanced in years will be greatly missed by every one for up to the last he could entertain both old and young. He was born and lived all his life in Emily township

Fifty-six years ago he was married to Hannah Crimmons who survives him, also two sons, John O'Leary of Lindsay and Joseph O'Leary at home; four daughters, Mrs. William Perdue of Peterborough; Mrs. John Guiry, Mrs. Michael Harrington and Miss Florence O'Leary, all of Emily, also two brothers, Austin O'Leary of the United States and John C. O'Leary of Downeyville.

Rev. Dean O'Sullivan of Peterborough preached the funeral sermon and in the course of his sermon referred to the old pioneers who had always kept the faith and who left after them a generation worthy of the highest honour. Rev. Fr. Galvin said the prayers at the grave, assisted by Rev. Dean O'Sullivan of Peterborough and the remains were interred in St. Luke's cemetery.

Among those who attended the funeral were the following, Mr. and Mrs John O'Leary and family, Mrs. Ethel O'Leary, Mr. Roland O'Leary, Mrs. H. Galley, Miss B. Traynor, Mr. and Mrs. William Herlihy Sr., Mr. J. R. O'Neill, Mr. and Mrs. James Cain, all of Lindsay; Mr. and Mrs. Michael Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. John Killen, Mr. and Mrs. John Cadigan, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Cadigan, Mrs. Mary Cadigan, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Flood, Mr. Hubert Flood and Mr. Thomas Cavanagh, all of Ennismore; Mr. and Mrs. William E. Perdue and family of Peterborough.

MRS. JOHN JOHNSTON.

COBOURG, January 11 (Special to The Examiner). — The death took place here of Mrs. John Johnston mother of W. F. Johnston, barrister, of Peterborough. The late Mrs. Johnston had reached a great age, having been in her 91st year.

Before her marriage she was Margaret Burnet, second daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Burnet, of Cobourg. Of a family of nine, only one brother, William Burnet of Cobourg, survives. Married in her early womanhood to John Johnston, of "Allendale," Grafton, deceased went as a bride to India with her husband, where she resided for eighteen years. Her husband was attached to the staff of his uncle, Major Proudfoot, at Bombay. He was invalided home, and died at sea on the return trip. Mrs. Johnston and her four little children came to Cobourg, where she has since resided. A son John died in Seattle and another son Robert in Toronto.

Surviving are one son, W. F. Johnston, of Peterborough, and one daughter, Miss Marjorie Johnston, teacher of Domestic Science at Ottawa.

The funeral was held on Friday afternoon from the family residence, Ontario Street, and was conducted by Rev. C. G. Graham. The pall-bearers were three nephews—J. D. and Ewart Burnet, Norman MacDougall, and Jack Spears.

Weddings

WILSON—DUFFY

(Examiner Correspondence)

KING'S WHARF, Jan. 11. — St. Luke's church, Downeyville was the scene of a quiet but pretty wedding on Monday morning at 9 o'clock when Miss Violet Duffy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Duffy was united in holy bonds of matrimony to Howard Wilson, son of Mrs. Robert Wilson of Omemee. The bride was assisted by her sister, Evelyn as bridesmaid and Mrs. Elmer Galvin assisted the groom. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Galvin and was witnessed by a large number of friends and relatives.

After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride's parents where a wedding dinner was served to the immediate families. Mr. Wilson and his bride left for a brief honeymoon to Toronto and points west and on their return will reside at Uphill where the groom is a teacher in the school of that place.

HAVELOCK WINS FROM SMELTERS

Railroad Town Fans See First Victory Brought Home in 3-1 Game.

HAVELOCK, Jan. 11, (Examiner Correspondence). — Havelock fans Monday night were treated to a fast game of hockey when the big A's defeated the Smelters 3-1.

The first period was anyone's game with both goalies stopping plenty of tries. This period was all clean, fast hockey, ending however with no goals scored an no penalties.

The second period was just nicely started when Clemens, winger for Deloro scored the first goal with a shot from the blue line. Two or three minutes later Frank McLaughlin tied the score with a shot also from the blue line. The boys started to rough it a bit and McLaughlin drew the first penalty of the game. Returning from the cooler McLaughlin again tallied. Sanderson for Havelock and J. O'Neill for Deloro then accompanied each other to the penalty box and were followed shortly by McCrodden of Deloro. Although Havelock tried hard to score Deloro held them until the missing men came back and the period ended with no score added to their team.

The third period had been underway for some time when Havelock's "kid line" staged an attack which resulted in a goal for Havelock by Hagerman. Shortly after this Hagerman drew a penalty. Havelock staged several rushes during one of which McCrodden drew a penalty for tripping Jacks in front of the net with only the goalkeeper to beat. The game ended with Havelock playing a defensive game.

The line ups were:

Havelock—Goal, Kennedy; defence, Sanderson and McLaughlin; centre, Jacks; forwards, Voyer and Watson; alternates, Hagerman, McKenzie, J. Voyer and Rose.

Deloro—Goal, Stewart; defence, Paquet, Dorie; forwards, Clemens, McCrodden; centre, J. O'Neill; alternates, Gray, E. Philips; G. O'Neill and A. Philips.

Penalties—McCrodden, 2; McLaughlin, 1; J. O'Neill, 1; Sanderson, 1; Hagerman, 1; Watson, 1.

Was So Short of Breath Could Not Lie Down to Sleep

Mrs. P. J. Chernoff, Shovoacres, B.C., writes:—"I had been so troubled with shortness of breath I could not lie down to sleep.

I couldn't do any hard work, or climb the stairs, and had nervous and smothering feelings, and became very weak.

I tried all kinds of medicine, but could get no relief until after I had taken three boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and since then I have felt better in every way."

PROTESTANT CHURCHES BARRED FROM THE SEPULCHRE OF CHRIST

corners are chapels of unequal size. The Armenian national church owns and utilizes the largest chapel. The next largest chapel belongs to the Greek orthodox church, then come the Copts or Egyptian church, the Roman Catholics, who are known by the name of Latins in Jerusalem, and several other sects.

None of the Protestant churches is represented in the basilica, although both the Anglicans and Lutherans, it is said, have made frequent attempts to obtain a footing on this the most sacred site of Christianity.

Space Strictly Allotted.

The area owned by each sect is strictly circumscribed. No Latin priest or monk will ever put his foot but an inch across the invisible line which divides the area allotted to his church from the territory of the Armenians or Copts or Greeks. Reversely, no Greek or Copt or Abyssinian will venture on Roman Catholic territory in the same building.

To illustrate this I might say that to-day I saw a Franciscan monk reading his breviary while pacing up and down within the limits of the area of his own denomination. A Greek monk was doing the same in his territory. Some moments the two men were marching straight to an encounter. Every step they took held defiance. A collision seemed inevitable. Still the collision never occurred. Just as the two monks seemed about to bump, when they were not more than a few inches apart, they wheeled about sharply. They had reached the invisible frontier line.

The central space in the basilica is free to all. That is where the kiosk stands which holds the tomb of Christ. Yet the Armenian monk who holds watch by the door of the kiosk serves as a tacit reminder that the Armenian church is supreme here and that members of other sects and denominations may only venture near on sufferance.

Inside the basilica on the right is a stone stairway. It leads to the roof. When I went up there for the first time several years ago, the Maltese priest who acted as guide informed me when we had arrived at the top that we stood on Calvary's hill, where Jesus died. Five camels were grazing peacefully on the sparse blades of grass.

Where Jesus Was Bound.

In the Roman Catholic chapel the visitor is shown through an aperture in the wall a part of the foundation rock which is cracked. This crack, so visitors are told, originated during the earthquake which occurred at the moment when Jesus expired on the cross. One is also shown a stunted pillar, said to be the pillar to which Jesus was bound when being scourged by order of Pontius Pilate.

Right upon entering the basilica a large slab of yellow marble lies across the floor. Men and women fling themselves down on this slab and cover it with tears and kisses. A priest told me once that this slab is the stone which covered the grave of Jesus in the garden of Joseph of Arimathea, the self-same stone which the angels are said to have rolled away on resurrection morning.

Below, in the crypt of the basilica, which you reach by stumbling down a mouldering stairway, is another church. It is the original edifice on which the basilica is built. This lower church is completely neglected. It is unlit and you must find your way with the aid of a candle or a torch. Crusaders, English, French, Germans and Netherlanders, have scratched their names and tokens in the walls here.

Few people ever descend into this lower church. The altar is deserted. No services are held here except on Easter morning when the Armenian patriarch goes down accompanied by a deacon and subdeacon.

Below this second church is a third edifice, or rather a crypt. In this crypt, so we are told, St. Helena, the mother of the Emperor Constantine, directed searchers in the attempt to find the true cross of Jesus Christ. The site was revealed to her in a dream.

Frequent Battle Ground.

Long ago, the infidel Turks, when they were the overlords in Palestine, were compelled to maintain peace between the various Christian denominations represented in the basilica of the tomb of Jesus. Turkish soldiers with fixed bayonets stood guard in the church to prevent the adherents of the various sects from flying at each others' throats. British soldiers have that job to-day.

In spite of these safeguards, pitched battles were often fought on those holy premises. Priests murdered each other. These things did not happen in the middle ages, I hasten to add. They happened but yesterday, so to speak. Only since the British have come to Palestine has a semblance of order been enforced. At that, armed military patrols are frequently necessary to prevent outbursts of interdenominational hostility.

The critical day in interdenominational relations in Jerusalem is Easter. On that day the secular authorities must proceed with tact and circumspection to prevent . . . hand-to-hand encounters. A few years ago I was present on Easter morning in the basilica when the papal legate, Monsignor Berlassino, was to celebrate the service in the Latin chapel. At the moment when the prelate intoned the "Introibo," the beginning of the mass, Greek divines in the chapel across the way set up such an infernal din by beating heavy wooden gongs and jingling their altar bells that the Latin service could not proceed. The next day Roman and Greek monks fought a pitched battle with brooms around the tomb of Jesus.

A wall was erected around the Greek choir a hundred years ago so that Latins, Copts, Armenians will not see each other and be tempted to sabotage each others' services. Obliging Moslems put up that screen as a safety measure. Never was a house more divided against itself than this basilica.

Abyssinians on Roof.

Coal-black Abyssinian Christians, descendants of the Moor whom St. Philip baptized on the road near Gaza, have a ramshackle mud hovel of a chapel and cloister on the roof of the church. There they mumble prayers in the language of the Queen of Sheba, long melodious words, full of beauty.

Near their chapel is the spot designated by St. Helena as the exact location of the crucifixion. Two sects quarrelled so long over precedence on this spot, that an exasperated Turkish governor set himself to discover a scheme whereby peace might be restored. He hit upon a truly ingenious solution. He allowed the Latins to build a chapel on a spot, which he, the Turk, claimed to be the place where Jesus was stretched out and nailed on the cross, while the Greeks obtained permission to erect a shrine on the place where, according to St. Helena's dream, the cross had actually been planted in the ground. The hole may be seen to-day.

Quarrelling and bickering over sacred rites keep the Christian community in Jerusalem in a state of perpetual excitement.

If you go out to the gardens of Gethsemane you will be shown another tomb, hewn from the rock. It was discovered by the archaeologist, General Gordon. There are not a few serious-minded people who believe this sepulchre to be the authentic grave in which Christ was laid. These people, of course, reject the site of the holy sepulchre basilica as a fraud.

HOME AND SCHOOL ASSOCIATION NEWS

KING GEORGE SCHOOL

The annual meeting of the King George Home and School Association was held Monday evening with a fair attendance, Mr. T. Hendry presiding.

The annual reports presented by Mrs. Hepburn, secretary and Mrs. Ebbs, treasurer, were gratifying and showed a year of activity.

Mrs. Ada Craig presented a splendid report on the relief work a hearty vote of thanks being given to Mrs. Craig on motion of Mesars. Ellis and Kerr, for the wonderful work that had been accomplished.

The officers for 1933 are as follows:

1st Vice President—Mrs. Groombridge.

2nd Vice President—Mrs. Powell.

Secretary—Mrs. Hepburn.

Treasurer—Mr. J. Ellis.

Convenor of Relief Committee — Mrs. Craig.

Convenor of Program Committee—Mrs. Wand.

Convenor of Telephone — Mrs. Chartren.

Pianist—Mr. Groombridge.

Press Reporter—Mrs. Harris.

Convenor of Social Committee—Mrs. Hendry.

The positions of president, representative to Local Council, were left until some future date.

The program for the evening consisted of: Piano solo by Miss Zeda Kennedy; recitation by Ruth Ellis and an interesting address by Mr. W. Smith on Jewish Evangelization.

After a hearty vote of thanks to the old executive the meeting closed with the National Anthem.

Miss Squire's room was the most largely represented.

High Financing

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 11. — (C.P.)—Fred Ingram, clerk of the city dog pound, will not be so hasty in releasing his charges in future. A small boy, aged about 13, called at the pound, placed a two-dollar bill on the counter, and asked for his dog.

After giving the boy his pet, Mr. Ingram set about writing a reciept for the two dollars; while he did so, the boy, clutching his two dollars in one hand and the dog in the other, beat a hasty retreat.

You will find many things in the Classified Ads. of The Examiner.

Mose Yokom Starts Piano School In City

Mose Yokom, well-known pianist and band leader of the city, has started a piano school for teaching popular music to beginners and advanced pupils.

Mr. Yokom is well qualified for tuition of this sort. He has had a long and varied experience as a pianist and has built up a fine reputation for himself, both as a solo performer and orchestra leader.

Coming here from the Buffalo Columbian band, he played at the Chemong pavilion during the season of 1927. He led the orchestra at the Regent Theatre for two years and also conducted his own dance band here for several seasons. During the past summer he played at the Chateau Laurier, Ottawa, during the sessions of the Imperial Conference, and finished the season playing at the pavilion at Wasaga Beach.

The dance band which Mr. Yokom is conducting opens at Austin's banquet rooms on Saturday evening of this week.

The class which Mr. Yokom is commencing is open to beginners and adults alike, and will comprise a course in popular piano music.

CAMPBELLFORD

NEWS ITEMS FOR THE TRENT TOWN DISTRICT

The first meeting of the season of the Seymour West Women's Institute will be held at the home of Mrs. James Clark on Thursday afternoon, January 19, at two o'clock. GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Jan. 11.—Heavy receipts of eggs again arrived on the produce and dairy markets here yesterday. Arrivals totalled 2,202 cases, as compared with 1,780 cases Monday, both being the largest quantity received in a day since last October. Fresh graded eggs in carlots or less had an easier tone as the result of the heavy arrivals, slow demand and mild weather. Extras were quoted at 31 to 32 cents, firsts at 27 to 28 cents, and pullets at 26 to 27 cents a dozen. Storage eggs in carlots or less were firm, extras selling at 22 to 22½ cents, firsts at 20 to 21 cents, and seconds at 18½ to 19 cents a dozen. To retailers fresh specials and extras, in carlots, were reduced a cent a dozen, with other lines unchanged.

Potatoes advanced 5 cents, New Brunswick or Prince Edward Island Green Mountains, per 80-lb. bag, being 90 to 95 cents, and Prince Edward Island Green Mountains, per 90-lb. bag, $1.

Butter held steady at 21¼ cents a pound for No. 1 finest grass make. Receipts were 37 boxes.

Cheese was unchanged, current Ontario closed at 9½ to 9¾ cents, and early Ontario make at 10½ to 11 cents a pound. Receipts were 59 boxes.

TORONTO PRODUCE.

TORONTO, Jan. 11.—Fresh eggs were fairly plentiful yesterday on this market, and prices were held steady, as the demand was sufficient to enable movement. Brokers offered graded supplies on the same basis as previously quoted, and quotations to retailers were steady with levels in effect at the first of the week, as were prices to country shippers.

Brokers offered graded eggs in free cases at 29c to 30c for extras, 25c for firsts, 23c for pullet extras, and 19c to 20c for seconds. Retailers were quoted fresh eggs at 34c for extras in cartons, 32c for extras loose, 28c for firsts loose, 26c for pullet extras loose, and 22c for seconds. Country shippers were quoted for ungraded supplies, 27c for extras, 24c for firsts, 20c for pullet extras, and 18c for seconds, ungraded, delivered, cases returned.

Butter.

Trade in butter was slow, and prices on fresh and regraded makes were unchanged. Solids were offered at 21c to 21½c, with 21c to 21¼c in effect for fresh makes, and 21½c general for regraded quality, both Ontario and Western.

Cheese.

Prices on new cheese were steady on the brokers' market, and slightly higher to the trade at 11¾c for new large, 11¾c for new twins, 11¾c for new triplets and 13¾c for new Stiltons.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, January 11. — A last-hour bull market induced by gains at Chicago and Minneapolis left wheat values 1⅛c to 1¼c higher on the Grain Exchange yesterday. There were no factors in the market here to account for the sudden rise after dull trading earlier in the day.

May closed at 47¾c, July at 48⅛c, and October at 50⅛c.

Exxport business in Manitobas was slim and other support was indifferent for the greater part of the session. Stock markets were strong, but other causes, apparently unknown, seemed to be responsible for the rise.

Trading in cash wheat and coarse grains continued dull, and spreads were practically unchanged.

Futures:

May	.46	.48	.45⅝	.47¾	46¾
July	.47⅛	.48⅞	.46⅝	.58½	47¼

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, January 11. — Wheat whirled suddenly upward almost three cents a bushel yesterday just before the market closed.

Alarmed by an extreme dearth of offerings that indicated a much oversold condition of the speculative wheat pit, flurried traders joined in a wild rush to buy, and stop-loss orders wholesale were forced into execution as values shot upward to 50 cents a bushel or higher for the entire list of future delivery contracts. Forecasts of a cold wave were current that suggested damage to domestic winter wheat, already at the lowest condition since Government crop reporting started in 1863.

Wheat closed strong, 2⅝c to 2¾c over the day's bottom, and 2 to 2½ cents above Monday's finish. Corn closed ⅝c to ¾c up, oats ⅝c to ½c advanced, and provisions varying from 5 cents decline to a rise of 15 cents.

The Call Of The Stars In Winter To All Those Interested In World

By H. W. L. MAHOOD

Vivid clearness to see the night sky to advantage is as necessary as clear thinking. For ing. For study the sky is at its best when the night is moonless. The hours most favorable when the soft shades of twilight disappear. The darker the night the better, if it be not vapor - laden. The billions of stars are organized. They are in constellations, large and small. Nor are the constellations separate and individual. The heavens are a unit. The constellations cross each others' paths and never know collision. In the constellations the stars cross each others' paths and never crash. The constellation is a group movement. In all the heavens there is not one star that wants its own way. Moving together, working harmoniously with others, is the law of the star universe. There are many men who have not learned this supreme law of moving together and working harmoniously. There is the occasional man known as a maker of discord. This law of co-operation is seen at its best in that most conspicuous object of all the heavens —the Milky Way. Tiny points of light are seen like faintly diffused light. Every bit of that star dust is a constellation. Here the inconceivable number of constellations mingle without a single discord. Truly, "Day unto day uttereth speech." Milton wrote, "A broad and ample road where dust is gold and pavement stars."

"Strange," will be your comment when told that there is not one of all the stars visible to the eye or to the most powerful telescope on which the surface image or disk can be seen. Every one of them appears only as a point of light. The star itself cannot be seen. Nor are they ever seen to rise or set. The earth atmosphere makes them invisible before they reach the horizon. Then this will excite wonder. A fixed star appears larger to the naked eye than when seen through the most powerful telescope. There is an irradiation that the eye catches which the telescope does not even discover.

This letter is only an attempt to find a way over which the reader may come with some interest and emotion to the winter constellations themselves.

Officers Installed Helen Roger Branch

The first meeting of the year was held at the home of Mrs. R. Williamson, Reid street. There was a splendid attendance and Mrs. Clegg, the president, presided.

The meeting opened with quiet music and the singing of a hymn, followed by the Lord's prayer in unison. During the business period reports were given by the treasurer, the recording and corresponding secretaries and the home helpers' secretary, showing much progress both spiritually and financially during 1932.

Mrs. A. McKenzie, one of the honorary presidents, presided over the installation of the officers for the year wh oare as follows:

Hon. Pres.—Mrs. W. McDonald; Mrs. A. McKenzie.
President—Mrs. M. Clegg
1st Vice-Pres.— Mrs. J. H. Anderson.
Recording Sec'y—Mrs. R. Williamson.
Corresponding Sec'y—Miss K. McDonald.
Treasurer—Miss Alma Gerard.
Associate Helpers' Sec'y—Mrs. H. Williamson.
Supply Sec'y—Miss M. Menzies.
Telephone Committtee— Miss M. Morton, Mrs. R. E. Knox, Mrs. T. Taylor, Miss K. McDonald.
Social Committee—Mrs. Ian McCrea, Mrs. A. Hutchinson, Miss B. Abbott.
Pianist—Mrs. George Wallace.

Mrs. Allan Gray sang appropriately, "Is That Somebody You," which was much appreciated. She was accompanied on the piano by Miss Jean McCannon. Mrs. Fred Read had charge of the devotional period and Mrs. Mosley gave a very interesting paper on the early Christian church in Canada.

The meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction, followed by a short social period.

SAMARITAN ACT LANDS NEIGHBORS IN HOSPITAL

HAMILTON, Ont., Jan. 11. (CP) William Cowburn is nursing a broken arm and his 73-year-old companion, Thomas Evans, is recovering from shock. To-day all the trouble happened when their Good Samaritan act went awry yesterday and a mettlesome steed kicked up a fuss.

Joseph Thompson, Upper Sherman, was ill with "flu." Cowburn decided to give his ailing neighbor a hand with his chores, the first of which was the removal of a hog's carcass to market.

Cowburn borrowed a wagon from Evans and had just hitched up the horse when it bolted, throwing Evans and bowling Cowburn over. Thompson finally had to vacate his sick bed and rush his neighbors by automobile to hospital.

Thompson is back in bed again to-day.

NO MOUSETRAPS FOR SECRET SIX

Commissioner Objects to Chicago's 'Infernal Machine' Set in Stump.

SAYS PERMIT NEEDED.

CHICAGO, January 11 (C.P.). — The mousetrap which County Commissioner Frank J. Kasper says the "secret six" used in an attempt to catch an alleged extortionist has the commissioner worked up to the resolution stage.

In its third "whereas," the resolution, introduced before the County Board, says:

"Detectives employed by the so-called 'Secret Six' concealed in a hollow stump in the forest preserve an infernal machine composed of a mousetrap, explosive cap, flashlight powder, dynamite, bits of string and fuse, etc., which was exploded by the suspect, who then eluded the detectives of the so-called 'Secret Six.'"

In praticular the resolution asks that the next time the "Secret Six" a crime fighting organization, sets a mousetrap for a crook that it first get a permit, put up a bond, and post guards so nobody but the criminal will be caught.

The detectives were looking for a man who had sent threatening letters to Solomon A. Smith, banker.

Obituary

MRS. FRED DOUGHTY.

The death occurred last night of Mrs. Fred Doughty at her residence, 217 Dalhousie street, after an illness of some weeks' duration.

Born at Alderville, the deceased was a daughter of the late Jacob Spinks and Eliza Bird. Besides her husband she is survived by two sons, Thomas Frances and William Frederick and two daughters, Mrs. Sidney Ferguson and Mrs. John Martin all of this city, and four brothers, Fred of Sarnia, Frank of Havelock and William and George of Western Canada, also one sister, Mrs. Mary Buck of Norwood.

Funeral announcement later.

FRED APPLEYARD.

Word has been received here of the sudden death of Fred Oppleyard at his home in Portland, Oregon. The late Mr. Appleyard was in his 60th year, and was unmarried.

He is survived by one brother, James of Buffalo, and a sister, Mrs. Joseph Johnston, of Peterborough.

Police Court

Fines of $10 and $14.50 costs were levied upon four Havelock young men today by Magistrate Langley on charges of intoxication arising from the small riot that closed a dance at the Havelock Town Hall Last Friday night. All four also pleaded guilty to charges of disorderly conduct, but the fines in these cases will not be fixed until tomorrow, when the quartet will again appear before His Worship.

Charges of obstructing a police officer in the discharge of his duties were withdrawn at the request of Constable Chris Roberts.

Only one of the four was able to pay his fine today, the other three promising to reappear tomorrow to pay their fines or begin serving a jail sentence of ten days.

The cases were to have been heard in Havelock tomorrow afternoon, but the men decided to appear in Peterborough and save the expense of the court's journey to Havelock. There are charges against two other men in connection with the affair who failed to appear here today.

ST. PAUL'S WOMEN NAME CONVENORS

Annual Get-together Supper Held by Women's Association.

The first meeting of each New Year of the Women's Association of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, takes the form of a get-together-at-supper gathering. Last Friday, some seventy-five women sat down in the Sunday School hall to beautifully set tables laden with good things, that had been prepared and were served by the executive. After all had been satisfied, Mrs. J. Marsh, the new president, conducted the business meeting.

Mrs. R. C. Flitton read the annual report of the secretary for 1932; and Mrs. John Anderson presented the financial report for the past year. Both were very encouraging. A very pretty instrumental duet was played by Miss Chenhall and Miss Kay. Miss Lena Eakins, the new secretary, read the constitution of the society.

Mrs. Marsh reported that the Men's Association and the choir had asked for the co-operation of the women in the Burns' concert to take place on January 20th. It was decided on motion of Mrs. Morgan that the ladies would help in this work. Mrs. Jack, Mrs. Lyburn and Miss Eakins were appointed as the representatives of the society to meet with the whole committee.

The following is the list of the convenors of the several committees:

Telephone—Mrs. McCaw.
Elder's districts—Mrs. Archibald.
Social—Mrs. Andrew Jack.
Flower committee for the sick—Mrs. Herbert Stinson.
Minister's committee — Mrs. R. Ross.
Mothers of the church—Mrs. C. E. Blewett.
Sewing committee—Mrs. Margaret McNabb.
Convenor of culinary supplies—Mrs. Ada Craig.
Relief committee—Mrs. Wm. Lyburn.
Linen and silver—Mrs. R. F. MacGregor.
Entertainment — Mrs. M. B. Chenhall.

The ladies have appointed an efficient pianist in the person of Mrs. E. A. Barrie.

COLLEGIATE CADET TRAINING

Dear Sir:—It is after considerable hesitation that one of such youthful years and humble intellectual and scholastic acquirements as I, make so bold as to come forth with a few remarks which may be at variance with the time-mellowed and firmly-fixed opinions of certain educationalists, the Board of Education.

Just here, it behooves me to remind my readers that the members of the aforementioned Board are all capable, accomplished workmen in their respective vocations, who have benevolently offered a considerable portion of their leisure, that they may continue and improve (where new conditions merit), our educational program, that the youth of this city may have unparalleled opportunities for learning achievements of which the preceding generation neither had nor dreamed.

Why the reaction against cadet training? Shall we merely admit, with condescendive sigh, that, "The adolescent boy is a queer animal!" Shall we thus completely ignore the physiological and psychological motives prompting said reaction? Let us survey a few of the facts:

In public school this system of compulsory cadet training may not appear so obnoxious to the junior boy, for he welcomes the opportunity of,

1. Change from monotony of class-room work.
2. The outdoor exercise.
3. Association with other boys of his age.
4. Possibility of leadership among his fellows.
5. Inter-school competition.
6. Wearing a distinctive suit of clothes, the uniform.
7. Learning the mechanism of such a glorified weapon of destruction as an army rifle.

As a boy grows into youthful adolescence, his powers of reasoning and observance of distinction between sham and reality, also develops. For the first time, perhaps this discerning power of judgment in him enables him to view in its true light this system of "veiled militarism" which is forced upon him against his and his parents' will. The Collegiate boy, frequently an idealist, sees, as often even his teachers cannot, the usefulness, or otherwise, of the various subjects on the curriculum, as regards his especial needs. His parents, too, are giving the best years of their lives (especially the working class) that their children may secure as Collegiate that which will help equip them to earn an honest and respectable living. Both pupils and parents are very sincere about education, opinions of some teachers to the contrary, notwithsanding.

You members of the Board of Education in whom we have vested authority and confidence—literally place yourselves in the positions of both pupil and parent, as you peruse the following facts:

1. Collegiate cadet training, is to the majority of pupils and parents, first and last, a farce!
2. It is militaristic, hence objectionable to many who are higher-minded.
3. It compells the wearing of military uniforms, which, in themselves, are uncomfortable, shabby, misfitting and ludricous in the extreme.
4. It includes the use of army guns, which is militaristic, and formerly, the use of wooden guns which was embarrassing to the boys and the object of derision from spectators.
5. The officers are not always chosen by merit; but frequently due to their own presumptuousness or social prominence.
6. "The officers are banqueted and feted, whereas the privates who do the work, are ignored."
7. Oftimes the drill, which a few (who are largely military men, government-paid) claim instills discipline and respect, breeds ill-will between officers and cadets, due to the domineering attitude of a few of the former.
8. Cadet drill has not been seen to develop school spirit or discipline, despite the contentions of inspecting officers, one of whom could not even correctly pronounce the word "discipline."
7. Cadet drill is of little use from the physical standpoint of either recreative or corrective development. It might be entirely and efficiently supplanted by a completely reorganized system of physcal culture of such a nature as to provide not only recreation, but expression for pent-up, exuberant physical energy, and correction of any prevalent errors, as in carriage, breathing, posture, etc. Such a system as Robert Jarman advocated and carried out so successfully in Winnipeg and Manitoba public schools, might well be adopted, with changes to fit the age and needs of our Collegiate boys. Certain requisites are: Open-air work whenever possible, longer periods and, at least twice a week, gymnasium clothes to save school clothes, use of shower-baths, and a strict, complete, enthusiastic instructor.
10. Whereas drill is nauseating to many pupils, and does not promote school-spirit, this system would be of benefit, physically, mentally, and from stand-point of discipline in the school.
11. The system is to be condemned by all free thinking citizens, if it is to remain compulsory, merely to satisfy the whims of a few military men and "voluble" patriots, who falsely claim it promotes patriotism.
12. The Boys' Parliament, representing the teen age boys of the province, echoed the unuttered sentiments of many, in its erstwhile condemnation of cadet training.
13. Inasmuch as the League of Nations is striving to teach international good-will, cadet drill—which is a brazen attempt to teach our boys (while they are still in the plastic learning stage) military tactics and something of the so-called glory of war—should be abolished.

But who are these people who blindly support cadet drill, who, as exponents of slothful lethargy in all educational advances, have clung tenaciously to outworn customs, hampering the ever onward stride of progress. Shall we allow them to continuously do so? No! They are to us, what the "Old Man of the Sea" was to Sinbad the Sailor. Let us, therefore, arise and shake their weakening influence from us! Let us increase our endeavour to improve the educational system that ignorance and indolence shall vanish from the path of knowledge, as shadows before the rising sun.

Closing, may I urge the citizens to renewed confidence in our Board of Education, and assure the latter of our whole hearted support in speedy, remedial measures.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for the opportunity of using this space, I remain,

G. M. C.

Buffalo-Cleveland Finish Out Schedule

WINDSOR, Ont, Jan. 11.—(CP)—Owners of the Buffalo Bisons and Cleveland Indians in the International Hockey League expect to carry out their present schedules, they stated in response to queries today.

The Bison directors plan to meet finances from their own pockets if necessary, President Edgar Danahy stated n a telegram, while "Hap" Holmes of Cleveland says the outlook is brighter than it has been for some weeks. He expects to completely reorganize the team within the next few days. It had been reported the Buffalo and Cleveland teams would drop out because of financial conditions.

President Charles King could not be located today.

readiness if elected.

The candidate lived 50 miles away from the polling centre and time was rapidly passing. Urgent telephone calls finally procured Mr. Bourne who then made the declaration under oath before the police commissioner but the returning officer held this was inadequate.

Almost on the hour of closing the Farmers' League secured another candidate and David Haskins was nominated in Mr. Bourne's place. The latter's nomination papers were then declared invalid.

No Communist.

The two Larkins—father and son—produced a surprise. James Larkin, Jr., the only Communist in the field, failed to hand in his nomination papers in Dublin South. But James Larkin, Sr., unexpectedly was nominated Independent Labor candidate — Consgrave supporter—in Dublin North.

Among the candidates for the seven vacant seats in Dublin South are five Republicans and five Congrave supporters. Thirteen candidates are contesting Dublin North, compared with 17 ip the last elections.

"Gossip and Such"

N.HL. RULE SAVED BREAK

The recent rule changes in the National Hockey League have saved the moguls from an open break over the referee situation, it now leaks out from the inner circles of the major circuit. So many objections were made to different officials that it looked like as if the league might have to draft a whole new set before mid-session of schedule.

* * *

The effect of the new rule hits the junior referees, about whom most of the fuss was raised. Now these officials are merely judges of play and their jurisdiction is confined to calling off-sides, while the matter of penalties is left to the referee. Several of the governors had charged that up to date some of the referees showed favoritism in their decisions.

SOLONS OK LONDOS

Jeemy, the Greek Adonis, will return to New York state for a repeat performance of his famous grunt and groan act but not as heavyweight rasslin' champ. Such was the ruling imposed by the New York Commission when permission was asked to allow Londos to again fight in Gotham. Interests opposed to Jack Curley, promoter in the revival of the mat game in the Big City are behind the move to have the former champ back.

CONFIDENCE IN YOUNG PILOT

In reviewing the 1933 major league baseball situation, Bud Shaver of the Detroi Times speaks highly of the confidence shown by Clark Griffith in his young pilot, Joe Cronin. His dispatch reads in part: "Clark Griffith of the Washington Senators has been quietly building up a baseball team that will be a real pennant threat this year. The Washington Senators were a first rate club last year but they had some fatal weaknesses, most of which have been eliminated during the Winter season

* * *

Chief among them was the leadership of the team. Walter Johnson is one of the most beloved figures in baseball, and justly so, but he was badly miscast as a manager. He is more slow witted than dull. The Big Train moves ponderously his wonders to perform, and you have to think fast as well as correctly in his game of baseball.

* * *

Joe Cronin, his successor, is a smart shortstop as well as an able one, and there is no reason to believe that he cannot supply the Senators with the kind of leadership they need.

* * *

Washington needed a little more batting punch, which they got with the acquisition of Goose Goslin and Fred Schulte. They also needed a little starch in the pitching staff, which Earl Whitehill and Walter Stewart ought to supply them.

* * *

And now Griffith has chinked the last hole in the Washington defense as best he could, by acquiring Luke Sewell from Cleveland for Roy Spencer. The Senators have been weak behind the bat. Luke is not the best catcher in the league, and in the average he does not look look much better than Spencer, but he may supply the thing which Washington needs.

* * *

At any rate, the Senators look about as snug for the campaign as any team in the league, with the exception of the Yankees, who are not merely snug. The Yanks are practically lolling in luxury."

LOCALS SCORE THREE SINKERS IN EXTRA TIME

Junior O.H.A. Teams Give Brilliant Display in See-saw Argument.

SET FAST PACE.

Superior Conditioning and Faster Skating Gives Petes Their Second Win.

A whirlwind overtime finish that netted three goals gave the junior Petes a 7-4 victory over Bowmanville before a good crowd at the Brock last night. It was a see-saw argument from the start, the Rubbertown boys having a 2-0 lead at the end of the first period, the Petes being in front 3 to 2 at the close of the second, it being a 4-all deadlock going into overtime, and then the locals stepped out and won by a mile.

The pace was fast the first period and for intervals during the other frames, but the ice became heavy after halftime, and this besides stiff bodying and their early speed, slowed both sides up till the hectic overtime go. Despite eight local penalties and nine for the visitors, the game was fairly clean, strict refereeing by Buster Martin of Lindsay keeping the penalty-box cluttered. It was superior conditioning and faster skating in the late stages that gave the Petes their second win.

Burley, the local squad's newcomer, starred with his tremendous speed, clever stickhandling and hard work. Cadd and Bill Calladine were also in the limelight, though the former didn't pass as often as he might have, and Bill went much better the last half the game after a poor start. Jay, McGregor and Fenton also turned in some effective work, with the others trying hard all the time. The second line of Burley, Hill and Williamson put a lot of pep into the game and was popular with the crowd. Sanderson stopped a bunch though luck aided him on a couple near the close.

Bowmanville had a decided edge the first period and fought hard again in the third and in overtime. They had a good goalie, while their defence of Williams and Bagnell were outstanding. The Mutton brothers did some good offensive work.

Many Penalties.

Osborne went off for tripping early in the opening stanza, Oke dittoing right afterward. They were just back when Fenton got the finger for the same thing, and then it was Jay and Mutton for roughing it, the referee being unusually strict Play was fast with the visitors having more shots on goal but Sandy kept them out. Cadd pulled off two smart rushes, and then F. Mutton buried the rubber in the local citadel from an angle around left defence. Cadd went through but missed an open net, and Calladine and Williams went off for some obscure reason or other. Oke made it two goals on a close-in backhand flip. Bagnell took the air for charging, and Williamson shot over the goal on Calladine's pass. Bagnell and Williamson were chased for tangling just at the gong.

Fenton started the parade in the second for boarding, and Sanderson save a hard one when the puck-carrier was in on him alone. Mutton was ruled off for tripping, and Jay scored for the Petes on a passout from back of the goal by Cadd. Shortly after, Burley streaked up the boards and his high shot from defence fooled Mutton in goal. Williams was thumbed off for charging and play was slower and even.

Cadd Scores At Opening.

Cadd scored on Calladine's pass at the goal-mouth to start the third. Bowmanville had four men up and Jay and McGregor did some neat backchecking. Then F. Mutton batted one in from close range and McGregor hoisted one over the other net. Burley was eased off for slashing, and Calladine showed up great in several hard rushes as well as checking. W. Mutton tied the count again with a minute to go on a drive in close from the side.

Starting the overtime, Calladine took the puck from the faceoff and his wicked shot from defence broke the deadlock. Play was hot for a space then with Bowmanville throwing discretion to the winds and rushing repeatedly with four men up. Twice Sanderson had horseshoes around his neck in sawing, and then Burley hit the well-worn trail for tripping With a minute to go, Jay and Calladine combined neatly all the way down the ice, George poking it in. Just before the final gong, the Petes complete the rout when Fenton pounded his way down and shoved the puck over to Calladine who picked a corner to wind it up.

The teams:

Bowmanville: Goal, J. Mutton; defence, Bagnell and Williams; centre, Osborne; wings, F. Mutton and Oke; alternates, Gunn, B. Mutton, Dunlop and Hunt.

Petes: Goal, Sanderson; defence, Cadd and Fenton; centre, Calladine; wings, Jay and McGregor; alternates, Weir Williamson, Hill and Burley.

Referee—Buster Martin of Lindsay.

JERRY SHANNON TOPS SENIOR "A" SHARPSHOOTERS

Falls' Forward Has Total of Eight Goals and Equal Number of Assists.

FOR 16 POINTS.

(By the Canadian Press).

Elusive Jerry Shannon, able exponent of the art of stickhandling, who plays left wing for the third-place Niagara Falls Cataracts, topped the sharpshooters in the Senior "A" Group of the Ontario Hockey Association, to-day with 16 points, comprised of eight goals and an equal number of assists.

Husky Herbie Cain, who teams up with the veteran "Goney" McGowan, to give Hamilton Tigers a scoring duo second to none in the league, is one point behind Shannon, having scored 11 goals and assisted in four others.

In Third Place.

McGowan is in third place with 14 points, followed by Bob Davidson, the hard-working Marlboro player with 13 points. Maxie Kaminsky, Shannon's mate on the Cataract front line, and Whitey Farrant, another Marlboro player, are tied for fifth position with 12 points each.

In the only Senior game played last night, Empires of Kitchener scored a 2-1, 10-minute overtime victory over Hamilton Pats in "B" Series fixture. The win enabled Kitchener to move one point ahead of Stratford, relegating the latter to the cellar position. Kropp and Molson scored for the winners, while Conick counted the Pats' lone tally.

BISONS GAIN INTERNATIONAL LOOP LEADERS

Buffalo Defeats Olympics 3-1 For Their Fourth Straight Victory.

CLUBS MAY DISBAND.

TORONTO, Jan. 11.—(CP)—Buffao Bisons may be in the midst of their swan song in the International Hockey League, but they are not missing any high notes. With a run of four straight victories to their credit today, following a 3-1 decision over Detroit Olympics last night, the Bisons are only five points back of the two deadlocked leaders, London Tecumsehs and Syracuse Stars.

At their present rate of going—and if their finances hold out—it will be only a matter of time before the Bisons are challenging the position of the two leaders, whom they numbered among their victims during the past week.

Clubs May Disband

According to despatches from Detroit, both the Bisons and Cleveland Indians are about to give up the ghost due to financial difficulties. Lack of patronage at both points is causing the clubs to lose money consistently, despite drastic economies.

It is understood a conference of the board of governors of the league will be called within the next few days to discuss the situation.

In the game at Detroit last night, goals by Gamey Lederman and Carr in the final chapter gave the champions the necessary edge. The first period was both featureless and scoreless, while in the next session Leo Goldsworthy notched one for the Olympics and Marty Lauder scored for Buffalo.

Win In Final

Then came the two winning markers in the final period, Carr counting his with only four seconds to play.

Despite the strenuous nature of play, few penalties were handed out, although Goldsworthy got a major in the last period for clipping Lloyd Gross behind the ear with his stick and felling him to the ice.

Lexington and Louisville's racing dates have been set by the Kentucky State Racing Commission. Lexington will run from April 15 to 26. Louisville's plant will open April 29 and continue to May 20.

Golfer Kills Self After Shooting Wife

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 11.—(A.P.)—A man known as T. M. Harrison, golf professional, killed himself in a hotel room here last night after writing to a newspaper a letter in which he confessed the slaying of his wife 10 days ago.

The body of the wife, known to neighbors as Mrs. Byrtle Adele Harrison, was found shot to death in her bed at the couple's Redwood City home a few hours after the husband died. He died by a bullet and a shell of the same calibre was found near the wife's bed.

The letter, addressed to the San Francisco Examiner, was turned over to authorities who were investigating the information it gave of the man's life.

CAMPBELLFORD WINS 3-2 TILT

McKay Scores Wining Goal in Overtime Period to Defeat Trenton.

KEN DAVIS ALSO COUNTS.

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 11.—Scoring a goal 30 seconds before the last period of overtime had elapsed, Campbellford Maroons won the opening game in Group No. 2 of the Intermediate series from Trenton at the latter town by a score of 3 to 2. Ken Davis, stalwart centre of the Maroons, scored two of the goals, while McKay, brilliant left-winger, was credited with the winning counter.

George Rosenplott and Gordon Bowen were the marksmen for the losers. The ice was not in good condition, and it was two tired teams that skated off after the final bell.

BOSTON BRUINS WIN IN OVERTIME 3 TO 2. HAWKS SUFFER 3-1 REVERSE TO AMERICANS

TORONTO, Jan. 1 1(C.P.)—The finger was on New York Rangers to-day as the Patrickmen slipped out of Toronto and headed for Gotham and Madison Square Gardens, where maybe the most costly pit of hockey machanism in the world has a chance to do something in the way of getting out of a tough spot.

One of hockey's two haughtiest sets, the Rangers bowed to Toronto's Maple Leafs; the other, proud upholders of National League dignity and decorum, last night in a fist-and-stick swinging battle where the maintenance of peace and order was rudely pushed aside and the wobbling Leafs were victors.

With Joe Primeau and Charlie Conacher missing, the Leafs rattled off a brilliant 3-2 win that had the effect of placing Toronto's world champions eight points up on their closest International Division rivals, and sending Rangers into a three-way tie for the leadership of the United States department.

Boston Bruins, by using ten minutes of overtime to advantage, got a 3-2 decision over Ottawa Senators and thereby became joint leaders with Rangers and Detroit Red Wings. Rangers have played three less games than Detroit and two less than Boston, but as they drive to pull out in front, Lester Patrick wondered where they will find a set-up like Toronto.

The Leafs were short-handed, but they were willing. After Bun Cook had put the Blueshirts ahead in the first period with a goal that only the goal-umpire thought was a goal, the champions came back and drove the invaders into retreat with as wild an attack as 8,500-odd fans had seen in some time.

Bailey Ties Count

Ace Bailey tied the score before the end of the first session and shot the Leafs out in front with another in the second. Happy Day made the count 3-1—but not until Bill Cook and Red Horner, Toronto defencemen, had they way. Leaders of the contest's high-sticking sideshow, Horner and the elder Cook wound up with fistic duel which quickly became a free-for-all among players of both teams.

They gave Horner and Cook what President Frank Calder has been pleased to designate a "double major" penalty" each. It was the third this season for the red-headed Leaf, who will be ineligible for the next scheduled contest.

Ching Johnson scored the second New York goal in the third period, but Leafs had enough left to stave off the boys in blue to gain the verdict.

Clapper Scores in Overtime

Dit Clapper broke up the Bruins-Senator battle with his overtime goal. Ottawa started off as though they intended to soundly trounce the Bruins right in front of 12,000 Bostonians, Danny Cox and Hec Kilrea scoring early in the first period. But Nels Stewart and Harry Oliver kicked in with tallies that promptly deadlocked the teams and it remained for Clapper two periods later to furnish the winner.

Little Roy Worters successfully blocked the Chicago Black Hawks at New York, to make way for a 3-1 American victory. As in more than a few games this season, the foe had the play while the Amerks were content to score the goals.

The veteran, Nick Wasnie, old Duke Dutkowski and Normie Himes scored for Americans, and Teddy Graham engineered the lone Hawk scoring play. Donnie McFayden netted on the play.

Americans' win sent them into a second-place tie with Ottawa and Montreal Maroons, neither of whom have done enough winning to keep within speaking distance of the parading Leafs.

ROTH AND GROSS HEAD SCORING LIST IN INTERNATIONAL LOOP

Buffalo Left Winger Tops All Scorers in League With 12 Goals—Former is Highest Point Maker.

WINDSOR, Jan. 11 (C.P.)—A couple of forwards from up Kitchener way to-day lead scorers of the International Hockey League. They are Rother Roth, Buffalo Bison centre who came to the professional ice wars from New Hamburg, near Kitchener, and Lloyd Gross, Roth's sniping left winger.

Younger than the canny pivoter, Gross learned his hockey on Kitchener teams. With 12 goals he leads all scorers in the league, but Roth is the highest point-maker with 20, made up of seven goals and 13 assists.

Gross has added seven assists to his tally card for a total of 19 points and is tied for second position among the circuit's marksmen with Scotty Martin, Syracuse. Martin has scored nine goals and aided in scoring of ten more.

Tony Savage, Syracuse defenceman and captain, is alone in fourth place with 17 points, and at 16 are Babe Downie and Whitey Fields of Syracuse and Lorne Carr of Buffalo. Gene Carrigan of London has 15 points.

WASHINGTON AND PITTSBURGH LEADERS IN SALARY RAISES

Weaver, Crowder, Goslin, Waner and French Will Receive Fatter Contracts.

CARDS DUE FOR BIG SLASH.

(By Alan Gould, A.P. Sports Editor.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 11 (A.P.)—Although the general idea seems to be to trim major league baseball payrools for 1933 at least 10 per cent. in the aggregate, most magnates are not only dealing gently with the contracts of their stars, but in many cases already have manifested unexpected generosity.

Thus it appears, on the strength of information obtained by the Associated Press, that the "bad news" is not going to be quite so bad at all for two contrasting classes of talent, (1) The veterans who kept their 1932 work up to satisfactory or exceptional levels, and (2) the youngsters who made the grade on their first or second attempt.

Leaders in Move

Among the pennant contenders, Washington and Pittsburgh in particular furnish proof of this attitude. The Senators not only have raised the salary of their star sophomore right-hander, Monte Weaver, but likely will give increases to Al Crowder, who won 26 games last season, and Goose Goslin, the returning prodigal.

Pittsburgh not only has added a high-salaried performer in Fred Lindstrom, but decided to give raises to Lloyd Waner and Larry French, amounting to $1,500 each, restore a "cut" made in Paul Waner's 1932 salary, and boost the pay of crack youngsters like Earl Grace, Tony Piet, Bill Swift and Floyd Vaughan.

Big Slash for Cards

The situation in Pittsburgh, where increases are expected to offset "cuts" for such slipping veterans as Kremer and Brame, is a contrast to the expression of Sam Breadon, President of the 1931 champion Cardinals in emphasizing his payroll "will be slashed, not trimmed."

Such "cuts" as are made by the pennant teams, Yankees and Cubs, will be dictated by special circumstances. New pitching sensations on these teams like Johnny Allen and Lonnie Warneke will get increases. Manager Joe McCarthy of the Yankees already has signed a new three-year contract at a substantial increase and the rest of Colonel Ruppert's world champions, including Babe Ruth, do not fear the arrival of the mailman. The Babe probably will take another $5,000 "slice" or even $10,000 and like it, especially as Commissioner Landis, revealed now as only a $40,000 employee of the national game, is no longer a salary rival of Ruth's. The Cubs will cut Burleigh Grimes, with a bonus offer to the old spitballer if he makes a come-back.

Reduce "A's" Payroll

The payrool of the Athletics will be considerably reduced and that of the White Sox proportionately boosted by the shift of stars like Simmons, Dykes and Haas to Chicago. Simmons has another year to go on his $100,000 three-year contract which the White Sox have taken over. Dykes was the highest paid third sacker in the league, under Connie Mack, but probably will accept a cut this season.

McLARNIN IS GIVEN CHANCE

Phillips Faces Ultimatum of Defending Welterweight Title or Abdicating.

HAILED GOOD AS "IN."

(By Sam Robertson, C.P. Staff Writer.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (C.P.) —That corner made famous by the depression has been found by two of Canada's fighting men.

Frankie Battagia of Winnipeg, would seem to be poised for the last step into a disputed middleweight championship. Now comes James Archibald McLarnin of Vancouver, better known as Jimmy of the Baby Face and Murderous Mitts, with an apparent chance to left the welterweight title.

Both of championship ranking for some time, the two youths appear as good as "in" the title circle, where money comes in large chuncks.

Faces Ultimatum

The unwillingness of Jacike Fields of the United States Pacific regions to stake his 147-pound crown has at last given McLarnin a chance long sought. Tiring of the evasiveness of Fields, who has side-stepped all bouts since he lifted the title from Lou Brouillard, the New York State Athletic Commission met in deep conclave and wrote an invitation to the Coast phantom to gamble the crown or abdicate.

A concensus of the New York press is that if Fields agrees to the Commission invitation, he will find himself in the Madison Square ring against the Canadian. If he doesn't agree, according to the same concensus, Jackie will be hoofed out the door of the throne-room and a select few, including Sir James, named to meet in an elimination series for the unsued diadem.

The big moment for Winnipeg's Battaglia comes Friday night, when he meets Ben Jeby of New York. Both men are in top condition and a real slugging duel appears in the offing.

JERSEY FRANCHISE MAY CHANGE HANDS

League Names Committee to Carry on Negotiations With Responsible Buyer.

NEW YORK, January 11 (C.P.) —With the tangled financial affairs of one of its clubs entrusted to the hands of a special committee, the International Baseball League today turned its attention to a similar situation in another quarter.

After a long discussion yesterday, the league directors empowered a committee composed of President Charles H. Knapp of Baltimore, Warren Giles of Rochester, and George Weiss of Newark to negotiate the sale of the Jersey City franchise to an unidentified "responsible buyer." To-day they were expected to take up the affairs of the Reading-Albany Club, which has been placed on the block by the owners of the franchise, the Chicago Cubs.

William L. Veeck, Cub president, said yesterday that he had two or three prospective customers, and it appeared that there would be comparatively little difficulty in disposing of the franchise which was turned back to the Cubs a week ago by Clarence Rowland, who had an option on it for two years.

Bill McCorry, former manager of the Albany Eastern League Club, was reported to be one of the prospects.

Montreal and Toronto are getting their financial affairs under control without outside aid, President Knapp said.

BLACK HONORED.

SPORTS Day by Day

HOCKEY—BOWLING—BOXING BASKETBALL — OTHER SPORTS

(By C.J.P.)

The junior O.H.A. squad, coached last night by Shorty Burgess, made it two straight in as many starts by trouncing the Bowmanville huskies, 7 to 4, in ten minutes of overtime. They came to life suddenly in that last short stanza after sort of fading in the third and rammed in three to make it a sweeping victory At that, the game shouldn't have gone past three periods as the Petes had their opponents 4-2 till they slowed up late in the third and let the others sew it up. The ice got heavy in the second and the local players, who mostly prefer fast ice, didn't look their best. We think they should win their group handily if the ice is right.

* * * * * *

Burley, an addition last night to the Blue and Whites, kind of stole the thunder by a fine all-around display. He is a short, husky youngster from down Belleville way, but is going to Normal here and had been signed up by Ches Mowry to play for Rotary of the City League. Following a great game in Norwood last week, Frank Buckland got him to come out with the juniors and he made an impressive debut. This boy was the fastest skater on the ice last night, was a tricky stick-handler and seemed to have a good shot. Besides, we liked the way he worked all the time he was out.

* * * * * *

Calladine didn't look so good the first two periods, but more than made up for it the last couple when he scored two and assisted in two. Most of the fans missed his first goal in the overtime session. Bill grabbed the disc at the faceoff and rushed to the defence and then rifled one right into the net before the goalie was set for it. The last two overtime markers came in the final minute. Cadd worked his head off all evening and showed up well both rushing and checking, though he forgot to pass several times when he was blocked off and a teammate was alongside and clear.

* * * * * *

The whole team went very good, everything considered, and seem in a fair way to lead their group home—though much may happen in the next few games away from home. They go to Port Hope the 17th and to Cobourg the 23rd, with Cobourg coming here the 25th to wind up this schedule. We'd like to have a junior team go someplace in the O.H.A. playdowns this year, if they win their group, and this one may be it. Plenty of practise, cool headwork on the ice, and good fast ice—that's what the Petes need yet. Manager Buckland and Coach Burgess seem to have rounded up a promising bunch, but we hope they do more than just promise!

* * * * * *

Don't forget the intermediates open their O.H.A. season at home this Friday, playing Orono at the Brock. They won their first game and hope to make it two straight at the expense of Mr. Orme Gamsby's Ramblers. The Petes journey to Bowmanville next Monday and that will be a tough game and watched with interest all over the group district. The Bowmanville veterans are sitting on top of the heap now and they are generally figured the team to lick. They made the locals like it last year, but we've got a better outfit this season. Make your own guess as to the outcome but bet your small change first.

* * * * * *

Six West End intermediate teams will be seen in action, if there's ice, to-night at All Saints' rink from seven to 10 o'clock. Tomorrow at this same rink, four Church Hockey League games are billed as follows: All Saints' vs. Knox midgets at six, St. James vs. St. Andrew's juveniles at seven, George Street vs. Trinity juniors at eight, and All Saints vs. George Street intermediates at nine. Southend League games at the Sacred Heart ice-plant tomorrow are: Warne Bros. bantams vs. Empire Cubs at eight, Albion Knitting juveniles vs. Black Hawks at nine, with Pirates vs. Canucks in an intermediate tussle in the first game of the evening, at seven o'clock.

* * * * * *

And while we think of it, we'll throw a sour note into the music. What we take exception to was the chasing of the local O.H.A. intermediate players from the baloony up at the Brock last night, it being a reserved section. It may be a different matter when the upstairs' section, which the players like to watch the game from, is jammed, but when it isn't we see no good reason for sending the boys down. There was all kinds of room up there last night and some of the players thought they were being treated rather shabbily by getting the thumb out. They're amateurs playing for nothing and should be given a break where possible.

* * * * * *

The Southend Hockey League got away to a start at the Sacred Heart rink last night, some real fast and close hockey being dished up on fair ice. Two games went to 1-1 overtime draws and one finished 2-1. Warne Bros. bantams beat Canucks 10 to 1 in the opener, it was 2-1 for Albion Knitting over Rangers' juveniles, the Pirate-Northenders' intermediates fought it out to a 1-1 deadlock, and it was the same way between Park Hill and Canucks. Great hockey, that. Murphy's bantams dropped out so the whole schedule was revamped and appears elsewhere today. The juveniles are playing for the Schneider Cup this season.

* * * * * *

Following the junior game at the Brock, two City League teams went on last night, with St. Peter's pulling out a 4-1 win over Normal. Better condition on the soft ice accounted for the Saints' victory, but the Normalites will give any of them a battle with a bit more practise. Only two penalties were handed out, both goalies and defence pairs went well, with Wells and McCarthy showing to good advantage on the scoring end of it for the O'Brien-coached outfit. It's Rotary and P.C.I. Friday night after the intermediate game, if the ice doesn't do a fade-out on us.

COMEDY. FOX NEWS. VARIETIES.

ENTIRE GROUND FLOOR, 25c

A very interesting meeting took place in Mark Street Church Monday evening when the Live Wire Trail Rangers held their annual election. Fred Holden, the retiring Chief Ranger, was in the chair. He conducted the meeting until the new election for officers for 1933. The theme for the meeting was "Friendship." After the opening ceremony and Lord's Prayer, a call to worship was read. The group sang the hymn, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus." This was followed by a short talk on Friendship given by the mentor, John Hunter. A short business period was held after which the election of Chief Ranger took place.

Vernon Ferguson, Cecil Ferguson and Kenneth Hopcroft were the candidates for the chair of the Chief. After the boys had sized up the three candidates, they left the room and the election took place. Kenneth Hopcroft was unanimously elected the new Chief Ranger; Cecil Ferguson, the second man, became Sergeant-at-Arms. Jack Brady was elected to the office of Secretary of Tally of the group. Fred Holden, the retiring Chief Ranger, was elected to the office of Treasurer of Cache.

After the election the group went to their little chapel, and the installation of the newly-elected officers was conducted. A short worship period was held and then the officers were placed in their respective places. After the officers were installed a talk was given by the mentor on the work for the coming year. Plans were laid for the work of the group.

The regular meeting was followed by a meeting held by the new Chief Ranger for the purpose of choosing his council of workers. The Trail Ranger group is called a Camp and the Chief Ranger's group of workers is called his Council. Chief Ranger Hopcroft chose the following Trail Rangers for his new Council: Ranger of Devotions — Jack Graham; Ranger of Social Affairs —Stewart Gardiner; Ranger of Handicraft, the Sub-Chief Ranger, Cecil Ferguson; Ranger of the Library—Jack Dennis; Ranger of the Paper (The "Live Wire" Newsie)—Warren Gamble; Ranger of Recreation—Nelson Foster. Ranger of Tally Affairs—Jack Brady. Ranger of Cache Affairs—Fred Holden; Ranger without Portfolio—to be chosen by the Chief.

A Boys' Work Board was formed for the Trail Ranger work. T. Ferguson, a new leader in boys' work in Mark Street Church, is taking a keen interest in the training of boys for better living. He will become the Advisor of the Board. The board will consist of the five junior and five senior leaders of the group. Melville Hunter, leader of recreation, will become advisor of the Trail Ranger Council, which consists of the Chief Ranger and his Rangers with portfolio. John Hunter will be advisor of the group and superintendent of the work of the Trail Rangers, Explorers and Tuxis.

The next meeting will be held on Saturday next, Jan. 14, in the church, at 6.45 sharp; the new Chief requests that all members be present. A new name for the group will be chosen in the near future. The group are anxious to have a name with a good meaning in it.

The junior members of the church will be organized into Explorer work, the leaders will be the advisor, Carlyle Ferguson, and his assistant, Arnold Mackey. This group will be organized it is hoped next week.

The 12th Ontario Older Boys' Parliament that met at McMaster University, Hamilton, during the Christmas holidays sent 122 members of Parliament back to their respective places to start Trail Ranger and Tuxis work. The Parliament held a very successful session; the members discussed very thoroughly the living of boys in the province. Many new ideas were passed onto the leaders of groups who were present that would help them to give better leadership to their boys. Carlyle Ferguson, the member from Peterborough City, took an active interest in the Parliament and received a real insight into the boys' work in the church of to-day. While at Parliament he considered seriously the main features of the work, namely bond selling, organization of the work, the training of boys to live life at its best, and the spirit that this boys' work carries with it, that of cooperation one with the other. This Parliament will use the word "Sharing" during their term of office. The word is very evident in this work. All the leaders and workers are continually sharing one with the other and that is why they have such a spirit. Carlyle has been on the job already, since he first came back from Parliament he became a teacher of a class of twelve boys and is going to organize his class as an Explorer group, which will be the first one of its kind in the city. He will be giving reports to any group that wish to learn more of the recent parliament. Every good wish to our member as he goes about his work during his term of office.

More news next week on other groups of the city will be seen in this column.

TWO TIE GAMES LEAGUE OPENERS

Albion Knitting Juveniles and Warne Bros. Bantams Win Hockey Decisions.

SOUTH END LEAGUE.

Two intermediate tie games ending at 1-1 each, marked the four-game opening of the Southend Hockey League at the Sacred Heart rink last night. The ice was fair, play was fast and clean and considerable good hockey was shown shown. Albion Knitting juveniles won, 2-1 over Rangers, Warne Bros. bantams got a 10-1 decision over Canucks; while the Northender-Pirate and Park Hill-Canuck intermediate contest both finished deadlocked.

The bantams started it off, with the Warne crew early showing an aggressiveness and combination that gave them a decided edge in the play throughout. They rushed persistently and shot hard from close range, piling up the count. Wright got three of their goals, Brady, Watson, Heal all getting two each and McDougall one. Fleming got the lone marker for the losers. The teams:

Canucks: Goal, Coursey; defence, Howland and Anderson; centre, Coughlin; wings, O'Leary and Burton; alternates, Starr, Clark, Gardner and J. Clark.

Albion Knitting: Goal, Clark; defence, Lesurf and Depellaro; centre, Vitarelli; wings, Post and Jobe; alternates, Mowry, Connors, Todd and Beatty.

Referee—Hank Jones.

The intermediate game between Park Hill and Canucks was a dandy, with hard skating, stiff checking and tricky stickwork on the part of both teams. Slow ice interfered somewhat with combination but both sides put up a thrilling battle trying to get the nod wih the count tie 1-all. These teams will make it a bitter fight before the close of the schedule, each containing a number of classy intermediate players.

Northenders and Pirates also went to a 1-1 tie in a clean, fast affair, only four penalties being dished out. Both scores came in the third after two close and exciting frames. Bat Vinette found the Pirate net half-way through, and with less than a minute of the chapter left, Bailey burned in the tying counter, but neither side could break it. The teams:

Northenders: Goal, McCarroll; defence, Hamilton, O'Keefe; centre Vinette; wings, Ellison and Gates; subs., Walsh, Curtis and Whitnell.

Pirates Goal, Babbs; defence, Price and Bailey; centre, Whatman; wings, Hickson and Craig; subs., McIlwain and Rogers.

Referee—Ashmore.

CHALLENGER OVERWEIGHT

CHICAGO, Jan. 11 (A.P.)—Tommy Paul of Buffalo, N.Y., to-day was just about ready for the defense of his National Boxing Association featherweight title at the Chicago Stadium Friday night, but his challenger, Freddie Miller of Cincinnati, still had some weight-losing to do.

After his last serious workout yesterday Paul weighed 125 pounds and decided to do only light work to-day and to-morrow. The Cincinnati southpaw, however, scaled 127½ after a hard drill, and faced another stiff session to-day in order to get down to the division limit of 126 pounds.

It has been learned that most of the elements found on the earth, iron, sodium, copper, etc., also are in the sun.

CARDEN REEVE PLANNING HUNT

Hopes to Wipe Out Packs of Wolves Operating in Township, Slaying Sheep.

CRASH SETTLEMENT MADE.

LINDSAY, Jan. 11 (Examiner Correspondence).—Reeve McGillivray, of Carden Township, informed The Examiner yesterday that he is organizing another wolf hunt in his district in order to try and exterminate the packs which are making inroads on sheep, etc. The big timber wolf which was bagged on the occasion of the last hunt measured six feet six inches in length. A farmer in an adjoining township (Dalton) bagged four wolves last week.

Mrs. Malcolm McArthur, aged 77 years, died at Woodville during the week-end, following an attack of pneumonia. Another sister, Mrs. Leask, of the same village, is also seriously ill.

Mrs. Howard Moore, of Midway, Pa., whose husband was killed near Reaboro in an accident in August, 1931, has secured a settlement in her favor in her action against Irene Rose, teacher, Toronto, and Robert Read, Reaboro. Mrs. Moore's husband met his death when the motorcycle he was riding crashed into a car driven by Miss Rose while she was swinging to the wrong side of the road to avoid hitting cattle, the property of Robert Reid, on the highway. Hon. G. N. Gordon of Peterborough acted for Mr. Reid.

The band question, which has been a contentious one for the town councils for the past two years, is once again before the incoming council. Last night the secretary of the boys' band asked the Council to cut the grant given to the senior band in two. Representatives of the latter organization followed with a request that the senior band remain intact. No surprise would be manifested if the grants were cancelled this year. Ald. Frost suggested that the council create an up-to-date market for farm produce; also that all lands taken over for taxes be offered to the Public Welfare League for division among the unemployed for garden purposes. He also urged the council to study the question whether chain stores are contributing their proper share of municipal taxation and the study of remedial legislation.

NEW ZEALAND WELCOMES NOTED AUSTRALIAN FLIER

NEW PLYMOUTH, New Zealand, Jan. 11.—(C. P. Cable.)—Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith and four companions landed here at 7 p.m. to-night (4 a.m. E.S.T.) after a 1,200-mile flight from Sydney, New South Wales. A huge crowd and an escort of a dozen planes welcomed the famous aviator as he brought his historic machine, the Southern Cross, down here.

Use of radio telephone for communication with land stations was a feature of the flight.

Sir Charles had flown across both the Pacific and the Atlantic oceans. He was knighted last year for his many aerial exploits.

FARMERS FAVOR DEAL.

ATHENS.—The executive of the Leeds Farmers' Protective Association to-day had adopted a resolution addressed to Hon. Robert Weir, Dominion Minister of Agriculture, asking that the Federal Government at once take steps to provide financial guarantees for the proposed barter with Russia of cattle and hides for oil.

All games at the Sacred Heart rink, with first and second teams meeting in the play-offs, best two out of three, for the sectional championships.

R.C.G.A. MEETING SATURDAY

TORONTO, Jan. 11 (C.P.)—The annual meeting of the Royal Canadian Golf Association will be held here Saturday, Feb. 11. The Ontario Golf Association will hold its annual immediately after that of the Canadian body. The tentative dates for the two main Canadian championships are:

Amateur—At Vancouver, July 10 to 15.

Open—At Toronto, Aug. 17 to 19.

TOPS A.L. SCORERS

"Shrimp" McPherson, the little local forward who is with the St. Louis Flyers, is setting the pace for the scorers in the American Hockey Association, according to the official records as released by President W. F. Grant, up to and including games of last Saturday. McPherson has scored 12 goals, three more than his nearest rival, and has five assists to bring his total up to 17. A. Hughes, a teammate, is the runner-up with 15 points, including 10 assists.

MONEY MAKERS.

URBANA, Ill.—Two University of Illinois Alumni, Joseph R. Patton, Jr., and his brother, John V., have so much confidence in 1933 that they are going to haul 20 freight cars of raw, unpopped corn to the World's Fair in Chicago in June. That's 500 tons. They expect to sell it to World Fair visitors.

North Being Combed For Missing Flier

THE PAS, Man., Jan. 11 (C.P.)—Aerial search was underway to-day for Pilot Jeff Home-Hay, prominent Western flyer, unreported since he left Elk Island, 300 miles northeast of here, a week ago. He was en route to the aerial base at Flin Flon, flying over barren country, when last sighted.

Companion-pilots were making a search over his mapped flight to-day, seeking traces of his machine or smoke signals that may come from some isolated trapper's cabin telling of his safety. If he made a forced landing, he may have sought shelter in one of the cabins in the wilderness.

Pilot Home-Hay carried emergency rations, bedding rolls and firearms, the equipment of all northern airmen. First word of the flyer being lost reached The Pas yesterday when a 'plane came in from the north.

BROTHERHOOD ELECTS OFFICERS

W. A. Wood is President of the St. James' United Church Brotherhood.

ANNUAL MEETING.

A delightful time was spent on Monday evening when the Men's Brotherhood of St. James' United Church held their annual meeting and election of officers.

Community singing, led by E. Baldry, chairman of the Music committee, promoted a spirit of unity at the very beginning, and was followed by an especially entertaining program which was greatly enjoyed.

The Male Quartet, Messrs Baldry, Turner, Worrall and Lee, contributed several fine vocal selections, and were heartily encored, as was also Mrs. H. Turner, for her group of excellent readings.

During the business session the election of officers was held, and resulted in the following capable executive for the coming year:

President, W. A. Wood; Vice-President, A. Brumwell; Secretary, Robert Kitchen; Treasurer, C. Church; Pianist, J. Worrall.

Delicious refreshments were served by the wives of the Brotherhood and a jolly social hour enjoyed.

The pastor, Rev. A. E. Moorhouse, brought the meeting to a conclusion with prayer.

Rugby Results

LONDON, Jan. 11 (C.P. Cable).—Results of matches played in the English Rugby Union to-day are as follows:

Middlesex 23, Royal Air Force 20 (at Richmond).
Bristol 8, Royal Navy 13.
Bridgend 8, Cardiff 0.
London University 20, Eastern Counties' Wanderers 12.

SLAGHT ON SPEAKING TOUR.

BRANTFORD.— Opening a province wide campaign, A. G. Slaght, K.C., who appeared as counsel for the parties seeking extension of the Royal Commission investigation into Ontario Hydro Power Commission affairs will speak here to-morrow night. He will be accompanied here by Peter Heenan, former Minister of Labor, who will speak on unemployment.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

PETER OVERHEARS A REMARK

Great was the rejoicing all through the Green Forest and all over the Old Pasture and the Green Meadows when it was discovered that Mr. Goshaw, the Gray Terror, had been driven away by Farmer Brown's Boy. Even Granny and Reddy Fox and Old Man Coyote rejoiced. Why did they if they were not afraid of Mr. Goshawk? Because he made it just so much harder for them to get a living. He created such terror among the smaller folks in fur and feathers that they kept so closely hidden that the hunting was hard and uncertain.

But none rejoiced more than Mrs. Grouse and Peter Rabbit. Mrs. Grouse because she could once more visit her favorite feeding grounds in the Green Forest, and Peter Rabbit because he could once more leave the dear Old Brier Patch in safety or at least in comparative safety You know Peter never does fell absolutely safe, because so many are always on the watch for him One of the first places to be visited by Peter was the Old Orchard Tommy Tit the Chickadee, Yank Yank the Nuthatch, and Drummer the Woodpecker were hard at work searching the trees, trunks, big branches, twigs—for the worms and eggs which would be so bad for the trees in the spring, but which were so very, very good in their own stomachs now.

"Dee, dee, dee!" sang out Tommy

Peter Strained His Ears for Tommy Tit's Reply

Tit to Dummer. "Dee, dee, dee! Welcome Robin seems to be in pretty good spirits despite the cold weather."

Peter Rabbit heard him. He couldn't help but hear, for he was not far off and Tommy Tit's voice carries far. Peter was right in the middle of a jump. The instant his feet touched the grounds he sat up like a jack-in-the-box. Such a look of astonishment as there was on Peter's face! His eyes fairly popped out. His long ears were stretched as far as he could stretch them. His mouth was half open as if he were trying to swallow what he had heard.

"I thought so, too the last time I saw him," replied Drummer. "When did you see him last?"

Peter strained his ears for Tommy Tit's reply, but just then Tommy and Drummer started for the Green Forest and Peter couldn't hear what Tommy said. For some time Peter sat right where he was and stared over toward the Green Forest in which Tommy Tit and Drummer had disappeared. Peter blinked his eyes. He scratched his long left ear with his long right hindfoot. He pulled his whiskers. It was very plain that Peter was upset.

Is it to be wondered at that he was? I leave it to you. He had bidden Welcome Robin farewell weeks ago and wished him a safe journey to the sunny Southland where Welcome was in the habit of spending his winter. Never so far as Peter knew had Welcome been known to return until it was certain that sweet Mistress Spring was well on her way, and might be expected almost any day. Here it was the very middle of winter and Peter knew better than to think that Mistress Spring was to be expected yet. Then, too, usually he was one of the very first to see Welcome Robin when he did arrive and he had seen no one who even at a distance might be mistaken for Welcome Robin. Nor had he heard Welcome's voice.

What could Tommy Tit and Drummer have meant?? They had spoken just as if they had seen Welcome recently, yet how could they have see him if he was way way down in the warm sunny Southland? It was too much for Peter. He headed for the Green Forest, lipperty-lipperty-lip, to try to find Tommy Tit and Drummer. Peter had a few questions on the tip of his tongue just trying to push each other off.

Backache, Nervous

ALL women at some period of their lives need a strengthening tonic like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Mrs. M. Thurlow of 26 Leeper St., St. Catharines, Ont., says: "My back ached from morning until night. I was so nervous I could hardly sleep at night and awoke in the morning feeling weary and tired. My stomach bothered me—everything seemed to lay heavy on my stomach. I used four bottles of Dr. Pierce's Prescription and it made me feel like a new woman."

"I took Dr. Pierce's Prescription before each of my children was born and it helped build up and strengthen me, and my babies were all strong." Sold by druggists.

"CAPRICORN"

If January 11th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8.45 a.m. to 10 a.m., from 11.30 a.m. to 12.50 p.m. and from 5 p.m. to 6 p.m. The danger periods are from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m. and from 8.50 p.m. to 9.30 p.m.

You will feel renewed on this January 11th, your outlook on life will appear to be better and you will tackle your problems with replenished vigor. If conditions seem particularly difficult at this time, do not be surprised to receive help from some unexpected source. Old friends may come back into your life.

The child born on this January 11th will chafe under restraint of any sort. He will be unruly at school and difficult to control. Quick to grasp his school work, he will forget it as quickly. He will lack method in all that he does. He will put up a "bold front" and will bluff whenever he feels sure that he can get away with it. He must be made to know the importance of being sincere.

If January 11th is the date of your birth, you are inclined to be a disagreeable person, grouchy, and hard to get along with. You do not like people, you are not a student of human nature, and you do not care to mix with individuals or groups of people. You are a bit cynical. You are inclined to doubt people, rather than to open your heart and mind to them and trust. People find it difficult, sometimes impossible to be nice to you.

Born on January 11th, you are aggressive in business and you do not let your conscience trouble you too much if a neat little profit is involved Yo do not pull well in harness with others Any type of work where you could get off by yourself would probably suit you. One of your finest traits is a great love of animals; truly, you are fond of them, particularly dogs. Often it would seem that you find in them a companionship that you cannot find in human beings. With them you show a surprisingly kind side of your nature, affectionate and understanding. To see an animal suffer seems to make your heart cry out. You would probably be happier in some work where you could have many animals about you to supervise and to care for. You do not take a great interest in your home or family if you have one.

FAIRMOUNT

A special service was held in Fairmount Sunday School on January 8; G. H. Hooton, who was re-elected superintendent, opened the service.

The secretary-treasurer, R. C. Handbidge, gave the minutes of the annual school meeting held on Wednesday. J. Seymour, superintendent of the Adult Department, re-organized two classes, and Miss Sadie Allin, superintendent of the Secondary Division, also accomplished her part. After which a short time was spent in the classes discussing the lesson.

At the conclusion of the service, G. Hooton announced that prizes would be given for most regular attendants for the year, and asked Mrs. Robert Hooton, T. W. McIndoo, H. M. McBain, N. McBain, Jim Kerr and Richard Bettley, Miss Jean Handbidge and Betty Turner to come forward and each was presented with a book for not missing more than three Sundays in the year. The service closed with Hymn 168, and the Benediction by Rev. S. Mayer.

Get Rid of That

SORE THROAT!

Any little soreness in the throat grows rapidly worse if neglected. Crush some tablets of Aspirin in some water, and gargle at once. This gives you instant relief, and reduces danger from infection. One good gargle and you can feel safe. If all soreness is not gone promptly, repeat. There's usually a cold with the sore throat, so take two tablets to throw off your cold, headache, stiffness or other cold symptoms. Aspirin relieves neuralgia, neuritis, too. Use it freely; it does not hurt the heart.

Surgeons Would Oust New Representative

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Jan. 11. — (CP). — A motion to unseat Dr. George Stobie, of Belleville, as representative of district six of the Ontario College of Physicians and Surgeons, is being heard before Judge Wills. The application was brought by Dr. Spankey, Wolfe Island, one of the defeated candidates in the recent election, who alleges the actions of the returning officer, Dr. A. E. McQuade, Trenton, in not accepting nine ballots and also voting himself, were not according to procedure. Dr. Aikens, registrar of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, gave evidence as to procedure, and the motion was adjourned until a further date. Dr. G. H. Stobie, Dr. Young, Peterborough, and Dr. Spankey were the names on the ballot.

SALARY QUESTION IS DISCUSSED BY MEMBERS OF CHILDREN'S AID

Two of Three Recommendations of Special Committee Are Accepted.

NO CUTS IN SALARY.

At yesterday afternoon's meeting of the Board of Management of the Children's Aid Society, the report of a special committee, which was empowered at the last regular meeting to inquire into the finances of the society and report back, was heard.

The committee included V. Eastwood, Sr., R. H. Parsons, E. B. Fowler, and W. Stocker. The report was presented by Mr. Eastwood.

Of three recommendations made in the report, two were carried by the Board. The first asked that all accounts, after being certified by the proper persons, should be presented to the Finance Committee for approval.

The second recommended that all moneys held in trust for former wards of the society should be in registered securities, placed in a branch of some chartered bank in the names of the wards and the signing officer of the society. This action was taken, it was explained, to safeguard the interests of the society primarily against any future complaint that might be made by former wards.

The third item in the report recommended that the matter of salaries should be brought up for discussion this year.

It was finally shelved for the next twelvemonth by a motion carried by the Board, moved by the Rev. Archdeacon Blagrave and seconded by Dr. H. M. Yelland, that the matter of salaries for the Children's Aid Society be left without any further consideration, during 1933.

Considerable discussion developed over the third recommendation. Rev. Archdeacon Blagrave was very decided in his stand against any reductions

"The general slashing of salaries is all wrong," he said. "It is doing a great deal of harm. For the most part, salaried officials go along in days of prosperity at a very low rate of remuneration, and then when days of depression come, they are expected to take a cut. The whole system is wrong. This depression is only a temporary condition. When prosperous times come again, the industrialists will again prosper, but the salaried man will stay just where he is.

"Slashing salaries has a very debilitating effect on the community. It is impossible to get the same service from people whose salaries are cut, and they shouldn't give the same service, under the circumstances."

The speaker here referred to the position of trust and responsibility held by Mr. Edgar, and said that his work was most satisfactory.

Contrary Views.

Mr. Eastwood rose to say that Mr. Edgar's salary was not a major consideration of the committee when they suggested the discussion.

"I think that Dr. Blagrave is wrong when he says salaries should not be cut," said Mr. Eastwood. "Conditions are such to-day that none of us can help it. It is a many-sided subject and there are many things to be considered in a discussion about salaries at the present time. It is a difficult problem just now in commercial and industrial life, where employers everywhere are struggling to keep their heads above water. All salaries to-day, even down to the pension funds, are open to revision. We may talk hopefully about the future if we wish, but the situation that faces us is that of to-day. It is to-day that matters. A local butcher told me yesterday that he had as many people in begging for meat last week as he had customers to buy it."

A question from C. A. Salmonsen brought the information that the superintendent, Mr. Edgar, receives a salary of $1,000 a year from the Children's Aid Society, augmented by $600 as his stipend under the Unmarried Parents' Act. The matron and caretaker at the Shelter receive $1,200, plus $150 for domestic help, and everything is supplied in the way of fuel, housing, and food, the only exception being clothing.

The Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr supported Archdeacon Blagrave's contention that the depression is only a temporary condition. He said that in comparison with salaries received by the agents of other Children's Aid Societies with which he had been associated he considered the local agent's salary as low.

Alderman Stocker interjected the pithy remark that the society was going behind financially year by year.

"You spent $250 of the Capital account last month and last year you took $1000 from it" he warned.

Mrs. W. H. Gibbs voiced the opinion of the ladies when she referred in glowing terms to the splendid services given at the Shelter by Mr and Mrs. H. W. Nigh who have charge of matters there. She said that times past had seen the employment of lower-salaried officials at the Shelter, who rendered much less service and commented on the attention given to moral and spiritual, as well as physical matters, in connection with the children, by the present matron and caretaker.

Two Sides.

The president, the Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe, emphasized the fact that the Board was very well pleased with its salaried employees.

C. A. Salmonsen, who was invited to give an opinion in the matter, spoke as a "baby" member of the Board. He said that, in the industrial world, cuts had to be taken during these times, and more might be necessary in the future. None could foretell the end of the present situation. He was of the opinion that consideration might be given to the matter of lowering the salaries, but it was also well to remember that expert service and a sense of complete confidence and security were not always available, as they were at present.

"It is a serious question when your funds are limited," he concluded, "but you have also at present a great sense of satisfaction in the service involved."

The meeting, held as usual in the City Council Chamber, was presided over by the Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe, with the following in attendance: Messrs. J. Edgar, James Abraham, R. H. Parsons, V. Eastwood, Senior, E. B. Fowler, W. Stocker, C. A. Salmonsen, the Rev. Archdeacon Blagrave, the Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr, Dr. H. M. Yelland, Chief Newhall,, Mesdames W. H. Gibbs, J. Fanning, C. Wright, J. J. Lynch, L. Yeates, S. Newhall, E. F. Lawrence, J. Chadwick.

The report of the superintendent J. Edgar, was as follows: Applications for children, 1; children returned to Shelter (not wards), 1; wards placed out, 2; returned to Shelter, 2; mileage approximately ccvered, 125; complaints, 6; investigations, 9; warnings given, 1. Police Court attendance, 1; foster homes heard from, 6; children involved during the month, 31; mail received, 28; mail sent out, 65. There were 14 children in the Shelter during the month of December, and 10 were there at the end of the month.

Mr. Edgar also reported the following amounts received since the last meeting: From Miss Matthews $5; Mrs. Gibbs, $1.50; Mr. and Mrs. Layfield, $5; Peter Robinson Chapter I.O.D.E., $10; E. A. Peck, M.P., $5; Estate of J. E. A. Fitzgerald, $5; A Friend, $2; total, $33.50.

Accoun's and Donations.

The following accounts, presented by Mrs. J. Fanning, were approved: R. Hall, Ltd., $28.09; Peterborough Hardware Company, $1.55; Bell Telephone Company, $9.15; Darcy Foster, $6.51; T. L. Edwards, $7.73; Peterborough Examiner, $1.06; W. J. Oke, $4; Campbell's Dairy Products, $32.65; A. Comstock & Sons, $5.50; Allin Ice Company, $10; R. H. Hunter, $19.35; J. John, $1; R. Long & Son, $6.70; John Edgar, 93 cents; Silverwood's Dairy, $12.67; total, $147.39.

The following Christmas donations were received by the Shelter: M. Costello, American Hotel, one box of biscuits; Y.W.C.A., one box cut bread; Norwood Ladies, box of Christmas presents; W. J. Oke, one crate of apples. W. H. Guppy, box candy canes; Mrs. Stinson, candy and nuts; James Lynch, one barrel Spy apples; Mr. and Mrs. W. Lunn, one pail candy; R. H. Hunter, one bag apples; Miss A. ENGINEERS HEAR F. P. McKIBBIN IN FINE ADDRESS

Canada and United States Concerned With Problems 4,000 Years Old.

COMMEND INSTITUTE.

"There is no new thing under the sun," stated Frank P. McKibben, president of the American Welding Society, quoting from the first chapter of Ecclesiastes at the outset of his address to members of the local branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada and their guests, on the subject of "Erecting Steel Buildings and Strengthening Steel Bridges by Welding," at Paragon Hall last evening.

In proof of his contention Mr. McKibben, who is recognized by the engineering profession throughout America as an outstanding figure in the comparatively new field of welded steel structural engineering, showed as the first of a series of interesting lantern slides the pictures of a bath tub now in the Field Museum at Chicago.

The tub, it is claimed, was excavated from the ruins of a Roman palace and dates back over nineteen hundred years. Made of five pieces of bronze, it is welded together, and all the joints are still safe and sound. In addition, it has two lions' heads as ornaments riveted into the side, the rivets being the same in pattern as those in modern-day use.

Another interesting feature of the lecture was the photographic section of some slabs of stone carved with quaint hieroglyphics, that were shown on the screen, and which Mr. McKibben explained had been discovered in Mesopotamia by a French Government expedition in 1901.

Ancient Building Code.

Upon translation, it had been found that the slabs of stone preserved the laws as laid down by a king of Babylon over 4,000 years ago. The section of the slabs with which Mr. McKibben was particularly concerned were those pertaining to the building code as laid down in that day.

"These are trying times, but mighty interesting times, that we are living through to-day," he observed, "and it is interesting to know that Canada and the United States are to-day concerned with some of the same problems that confronted the Babylonians 4,000 years ago.

"This is the price-fixing law," he said, pointing to the apparently indecipherable characters on the screen. "It says if a man build a house, the owner shall pay a certain amount per unit. If the building collapse and kill the owner, it says, the builder shall be put to death. If the building collapse and kill the owner's son the builder's son shall be put to death, and if the building collapse and kill slaves of the owner, the builder shall furnish a like amount of slaves."

Well Attended.

As anticipated, the meeting held wide appeal and was particularly well attended, not alone by members of the branch, but by various officials of civic departments and others, including Aldermen Walter Stocker and Daniel J. Holland.

The speaker, whose visit had been arranged by A. B. Gates and whose present Canadian intinerary included a visit to the Toronto branch of the institute on Monday, and which is also to include visits to the Kingston and Ottawa branches, was introduced to the gathering by H. B. Hanna, plant engineer at the Peterborough works of the Canadian General Electric Company. It is interesting to note that Mr. Hanna supervised construction of the new arc-welded switchboard building at the plant, which is the only completed building of its kind in the Dominion.

B. Ottewell, president of the branch, presided, and at the conclusion of the very interesting and enlightening address, threw the meeting open for discussion.

Commends E.I.C.

Commenting on the arrangements that had been made by Mr. Gates for his visit to the four branches of the Engineering Institute in this section of Ontario, Mr. McKibben referred to it as being quite a tribute to the organization under which the Canadian engineers were united.

In the United States, he said, there were about 300,000 engineering societies, as compared with the one in Canada. The Canadian system, he thought, was better for the individual engineer and for the society as a group.

During the course of his address proper, Mr. McKibben spoke of the three important kinds of welds as being (1) the chemical process, (2) gas welding and (3) electric welding.

Ninety-nine per cent. of all the welded bridges and buildings in the United States were welded by the arc-welding method, he said, which was a fast, good and cheap means of fabricating such structures.

He prophesied that with a return to normal trade conditions, the demand for arc-welded structures would largely increase, and that cities which did not now allow buildings to be fabricated by welding would make provision in their building codes or by-laws for this increasingly popular type of building. Elimination of noise, such as was unavoidable in the rivetted steel structure, was one of the main features of the electric welding method of building. It was a feature that was of prime importance where building was being done in the vicinity of hospitals or office and hotel blocks.

Mr. McKibben's large number of slides included one of the Dallas Power and Light Company's welded steel structure, ranking as the highest structure of its kind yet built. Erection of the structure was supervised by him, and he ventured to state that in any future buildings in Dallas the people of that city would demand welded steel buildings, having been so impressed by the lack of clatter and noise that accompanied the putting up of the building to which he referred.

SASKATCHEWAN JOBLESS' CAMPS ARE SNOWED IN

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., Jan. 11. (CP)—Tractor-snowplows supported by gangs of workmen to-day resumed their offensive on huge snowdrifts which have marooned 300 jobless quartered in camps at Prince Albert National Park, 70 miles north of here.

Workmen worked all day yesterday unavailingly to clear the 70-mile highway, banked high with snow. Operations were halted late in the day when a tractor, used to power snow plows, broke down.

It is thought the men are plentifully supplied with food.

GRAB BAG

How much does a baby elephant weigh?

Does a deer lose its horns every year?

How many of the horses and mules sent to Europe during the World war were killed?

Correctly Speaking—

"As" should not be used too frequently in the sense of because. The conjunctions for or since may often be advantageously substituted.

Today's Horoscope

Persons born on this day are shrewd buyers, and equally shrewd sellers.

Answers to Foregoing Questions

1. Approximate weight at birth is from 160 to 200 pounds.
2. A deer sheds the outer proportions of its horns annually.
3. Approximately 68,682 perished in service.

GAMBLING ON PROSPERITY

By G. A. BRETHEN

Yesterday we gambled prosperity would always be with us, and lost. To-day we are gambling on its return.

Municipalities, corporations, Governments are shelving the expenditures of to-day upon the taxpayers of to-morrow. Private individuals are dodging their pressing needs and obligations as far as credit will allow. All are gambling on the supposition that times will be better. All are mortgaging the future to cover indebtedness of the present.

What assurance have we "that "times will be better?" Last year, and the year previous buoyed up with the prophecy that "prosperity was just around the corner," we strengthened our hopes and resolved "to hold on." Gone are the prophets and their prophecies; today the average man knows within the walls of his own home that prosperity has not arrived, and worse, that there is no definite movement in sight that would indicate any near return to a permanent betterment of present conditions.

What shall we do about it? The Ontario farmer who one year ago was convinced that the prices of farm produce had reached bottom, "couldn't go lower," has seen recently $3 per cwt. hogs; 8c cheese; 15c butter, and sheep and certain grades of cattle so low that they wouldn't pay the carrying charge to market. The Western Canada farmer, with a good crop of high-grade wheat has seen his produce (the world's premier hard wheat) sell at Winnipeg within the past few weeks at a price reported "as an all-time low." The price of wheat sets the price of all other agricultural produces. The price of wheat is the index number of Canadian prosperity. Even the most optimistic individual in that land can see little hope here for believing we are near, or nearing, better living conditions in Canada.

What Shall we Do About it?

Some encouraging features in connection with the present-day tragedy of Canadian Agriculture is the evidence that Canadian citizens generally are taking a live interest in the plight of the farmer. Some time ago certain agriculture implement concerns made a gesture at helping by offering conditional reductions on prices and loans to Canadian farmers. Recently the Imperial Oil Company made a real contribution by their decision to cancel and reduce debts due them by some 30,000 Western farmers, and now the Hamilton Chamber of Commerce, "believing it is essential that the farmer should get back on a profitable basis if we are going to have anything like national prosperity," had set apart a special meeting called for December 21 to discuss "the problems of the farmer." Above instances offer convincing evidence that the present depression has fairly well convinced all our people that in a country of vast agricultural areas and resources like Canada, if the farmer can sell and upon a profitable basis, that other classes in the community prosper; if he fails, all suffer.

Our major problem to-day is one of "being able to sell and at a profit." We have the goods, we have the cattle, we have the lumber, we have elevators bursting with the finest wheat in the world, but we can't sell at even cost of production.

What shall we do about it?

To my mind the only suggestion offering any prospect of bettering conditions in Canada in the very near future is for the Canadian Government to forget for the time being the so-called Gold Standard and our obligations to the U. S., and line up with Britain and the Empire States.

The Imperial Conference, I believe, accomplished much in preparing a basis for trade within the Empire. Unfortunately, just when Canada's producers were ready to take the preference plus held out for them by Britain, New York reported a decline in the pound sterling. Immediately because we base our monetary standards by New York instead of London an insurmountable barrier was raised against the profitable export of the things Canada must sell to Britain, who waits with outstretched arms to buy.

What shall we do about it?

Canadian Export business that is essential to a return of better conditions is faced with several alternatives. First, she may continue to sell when possible, upon the present basis that is fast making us individually and nationally bankrupt. Secondly, we may stand shivering on the brink of economic ruin in the hope that war, famine or pestilence of tremendous proportions may hit our sister nations and thereby create a lucrative market for what we have to sell. Thirdly, wait for the U.S. to go off the gold standard or for Britain to return, or again do what some thirty other states and countries have done, and apparently to their profit, accept as a basis for our monetary standard the pound sterling, and bring our dollar on a par with it.

Is there any immediate prospect of Great Britain returning to the gold standard? When Britain's statesmen, financial wizards, and shrewd, hard-headed business men accepting world conditions as they were, decided unanimously to withdraw from the gold standard, were they justified? General business conditions improved almost immediately; factories that had been idle for months, and even years, began to hum; new markets, largely at the expense of U. S. and Canada, were developed, and Britain carrying the burden of the war debts of the world, in spite of gloomy predictions, is still carrying on and meeting her obligations when due. Will U.S. go off the gold standard? Not if she can continue to make her debtors pay a handsome premium on interest and principal.

With President-elect Roosevelt declaring the world problem "is not his baby," ex-president Hoover "gone fishing," New York on the verge of being declared bankrupt, and Chicago already there, U.S. leadership in monetary matters today does not appear overly attractive

Eliminating as hopeless the first three proposals as a basis for building any permanent structure of prosperity, we are face to face with the feasibility of resorting to the last —bringing our money on a parity with that of the Mother Country, our logical customer. Some things can be said in its favor. Money values to-day are largely a matter of comparison. Our dollar judged by New York standards is unsound below par, and its value fluctuating from day to day, while judged by London standards, our money rates are high. As long as we buy at home and live at home (within the 3,000 miles of our own country) domestic trading knows little difference whether our dollar is rated 99 cents or 69 cents, in New York. Of course if you wish to winter in California or your wife wishes to buy her dresses in New York, you will pay, and pay well, for the luxury. On the other foot, if 69 cents American money will buy $1 worth of Canadian goods, what an influx of American buyers (witness New York shopping by U. S. citizens in our Canadian border cities.) We know by actual sales that every appreciable reduction in the rating of the Canadian dollar in Wall street has been followed by an invasion of American buyers who tell you frankly that the lowering of the exchange rate induced them to buy in Canada in preference to Minnesota or Wisconsin.

Selling to the Mother Country under the new standard at to-day's prices would mean a general increase of from 20 to 25 per cent. in the price received for our primary products. A short time ago a Canadian farmer selling bacon, beef, butter, cheese, etc., in England received for each dollar's worth sold 10 cents when transferred into Canadian money. To-day he receives but 75 cents. For several months now the farmers of Denmark, Norway, Sweden, New Zealand, Australia, Argentine, etc., (Canada's strongest competitors in the British market) have been getting the full 10 cents or more in their money, compared to the 75 cents the Canadian farmer gets in his. Does this explain why Australia's wheat crop is practically sold out while Canada's elevators are filled with wheat. The same relative position is true of all our Canadian export products. How can any Canadian producer or business man hope to face such competition? He's not, and he can't! "If he fails, all suffer."

Purposely we are not devoting much space to the objections to the above proposal. Briefly, they are the same arguments that have been offered in every country against its withdrawal from the gold standard. Their value may be judged by the fact that already some thirty countries, including South Africa (the greatest gold producer) have found it to their advantage to follow the example of Great Britain. In view of the fact that but France, Canada and the U.S. are the only countries of importance retaining the Gold Standard, it would seem that the system lacking any general acceptance has outlived its usefulness and is to-day surely and quickly strangling the export business, the life blood of these few countries who still cling to it. Judging by the present agitation in the American Senate and the House of Representatives for the passing of legislation to bring about some form of deflation in their currency, it would seem that even the United States realizes that past money standards in the face of present day conditions are obsolete, and should be discarded. Canada's Minister of Finance advances the argument that deflating our money to a "parity with the pound sterling would increase the burden of payment of our obligations abroad, and yet Mr. Rhodes admits Britain's conversion loan program (under deflated currency) of converting several billions of high-interest bearing bonds into 3 per cent. domestic securities was one of the greatest financial achievements of the times. Australia also with her money deflated even below the pound was able to successfully float a 3½ per cent. loan in London.

Comparing such transactions with the loans governments in Canada have contracted, bearing interest at from 4 to 6 per cent., it would seem either local governments have lost faith in their country or that Canada's financial position is not just as strong to-day as her sound money advocates would have us believe.

"Canada owes no war debts except to her own people," is the pround boast of her Prime Minister. With faith in Canada and $1,370,000,000 3 per cent. savings deposits in the chartered banks of Canada, why should we have any high-priced obligations abroad?

With governments, municipalities, railroads, bond houses, and big financial corporations owing heavy borrowings outside Canada, it is argued that any advantage due to deflation, coming to the primary producers of Canada would be at the expense of above interests involved. With bond houses paying dividends, and in some cases even in U.S. funds, and money interests in general profiting by present conditions, the Canadian producer is asking, and will soon demand, why we should be the goat of sacrifice upon the money altars of this country.

The situation is serious. As a result of Canada's adherence to present policies the export markets we have spent years and hundreds of millions to develop and maintain, have been lost to our competitors overnight. The heads of government it would appear, are sadly out of touch with conditions as they actually exist on the farms and in the cities of Canada. There is more than a suspicion that the great money interests have not only the ear but the heart of the government. There is little hope for the farmer there. Bombard, if you will the Minister of Finance, but better still, organize! Go to your local member with a petition 10 per cent. strong. He is your servant. He should sense the pulse of the people —he will listen, and through him lies your hope of government action. This is democratic! This is British! The will of the people should rule.

Farmers, action on your part today is a duty you owe yourselves, and your dependents, it is more—you were here first and in a life and death struggle for existence you will be here last, but upon you and your action the existence, the very life of all the inhabitants of the cities depend. Recently I have interviewed people in practically every walk in life. I have yet to find a man who could see any signs of improvement or hope of betterment in present conditions. All are agreed that something must be done, and done at once, to stop this hopeless drifting into that fatal condition where "without hope the people perish."

I am frankly, earnestly, and, I hope, sanely, supporting the proposal that our Federal Government should immediately in the interest of all Canada, pass legislation to bring our Canadian dollar on a par with the pound sterling. I am doing so, because I believe it is the only remedy suggested that will immediately bring about a material improvement in the selling position of the Canadian farmer at home and abroad, thereby bringing about at once a return of his purchasing power enabling him to pay his taxes, control his debts, start buying goods thereby reviving business, and increasing employment on the railways and in factories, reducing unemployment thereby decreasing the huge unproductive expenditures for unemployment relief, and I hope, bringing back that prosperity that will take care generally of even any increased expenditure the working out of such a plan might entail.

Governmental leaders and arm-chair critics can no longer treat these deflation proposals lightly and hope to pooh! pooh! them into oblivion. The people of Canada are alive to their precarious position—a suggested remedy is before them. The situation is desperate. If you agree with the proposals outlined, say so. If you have a better solution, it is your duty to present it. But for God's sake, "with our people starving in a land of plenty" don't knock—help!

Hydro Commission Inaugurated Monday

HASTINGS, Jan. 11.—(Examiner Correspondence.)— The inaugural meeting of the local Hydro Commission was held on Monday afternoon in the Council Chambers, with the following members present: Walter M. Powids, Reeve G. B. Stimson, and Wm. J. Warner, the new man elected for 1933-34. Mr. Powids was appointed chairman again. Minutes of the last meeting were read and also accounts. On motion they were duly confirmed and passed.

Resolutions were passed whereby any new users will be obliged to sign cards at the secretary's office before being connected up; also tenants will have to pay $2.00 in advance, which will be refunded on expiration of the contract, that is new tenants being connected up.

Annual Meeting Held By Sunday School

MILLBROOK, Jan. 6.—(Examiner Correspondence.)— The annual meeting of the Sunday school of the Presbyterian church at Centreton was held last week, with J. H. McGill in the chair, and Miss Dorothy Hall as secretary protem, the attendance being satisfactory, and the reports showing a most prosperous year's work.

The officers as elected for 1933 include: Superintendent, R. O. Larmer; assistant, Archie Deyell; secretary-treasurer, Jas. Whittington and assistant, Roy Smith; librarians, Mrs. Whittington and Mrs. Harold Tate; teachers: boys' class, Rev. H. R. Williams; senior girls, Mrs. Clifford Hall; junior girls, Miss Dorothy Hall; primary, Mrs. Stewart Hall; Bible class, D. N. Dodds; organists, Mrs. Jas. Hutchinson, and Mrs. R. O. Larmer.

The work accomplished in building up the Sunday school by the pastor, Rev. H. R. Williams, B.A., was spoken of appreciatively by several of those present, mention being particularly made of the success achieved with the boys' class of which the minister is the teacher, the formal vote of thanks for Mr. Williams' constructive activities being moved by R. O. Larmer, seconded by Harold Tate, and carried unanimously with prolonged applause.

Financially the school is on a sound footing, and the outlook for the current year conveys an unusually bright prospect. Lunch was served during the social hour enjoyed at the close of Thursday's meeting, and the enjoyable occasion brought to a close with the benediction.

BETHANY.

The regular meeting of the members of the Y.P.S. of the United Church was held in the church parlors, when, after a short song service conducted by the president, Bert Monk, a business session was held.

Following this the convenor of the Christian Fellowship Department, Eric Porteous, took charge, having Carl Porteous act as chairman for the devotional part of the meeting. Scripture lessons were read by Vincent Jackson and a reading given by Eric Porteous were much enjoyed. Pauline Thorndyke gave an impressive reading and the topic was taken by Mrs. Scott, "What Think Ye of the Christ."

TENANT PAID RENT TO LANDLORD TOWN ALSO COLLECTED MONEY IT IS ALLEGED AT RELIEF PROBE

Man Who Received $110.25 Should Never Received Any.

STURGEON FALLS PROBE.

Relief Given to Resident Was Far Too High.

STURGEON FALLS, Ont., Jan. 12 (C.P.)—Relief given to residents of Sturgeon Falls was far too high in many cases, according to Zotique Mageau, Mayor of the town in 1931, in testimony before the Royal Commission investigating alleged abuses of relief disbursements to-day.

"My belief is relief should be given only when people can't help themselves, and only for necessities; not for silk stockings and silk bloomers," he told Judge J. M. Hall, Sault Ste. Marie, Royal Commissioner.

He consulted with J. A. Ellis, Government Relief Administrator, in 1931, he said, and learned from him the Government would pay two-thirds of rentals in addition to other relief, but that rents must be kept as low as possible. Mr. Ellis, however, did not fix any limit, and the town council decided no more than $15 a month would be paid.

Paying Rent Twice

He had heard, he said, of cases where the tenant paid rent and the town also charged the government for it, but did not know personally if this was the case.

Joseph Cote, relief officer again occupied the witness stand, as the Royal Commission enquiry resumed today.

He had disagreed repeatedly with the 1932 mayor and council in the amount of relief that was given in individual cases Zotique Mageau told Judge J. M. Hall when the enquiry reopened.

"Relief in many cases was far too high," he stated.

Shown one entry in the relief records of $62.67 clothing to H. Alberti, he declared that "it is away out of sight." A. Vachon, a baker, who received $110.25 should never have received any relief, Joe Trembley, also a baker, should not have received $92.50.

Mr. Mageau outlined briefly the history of relief in Sturgeon Falls since the paper mill closed in 1930.

Until August 1931, the council, through the St. Vincent de Paul Society, distributed relief he said, but in that month Joseph Cote, was appointed relief officer.

Chief Inspector William Stringer, of the C.I.D. arrived in Sturgeon Falls with the books of the municipality seized during the investigation last summer, and opening of the inquiry this morning was delayed an hour while Mr. Williams examined the books.

Rocked by Quake

SYDNEY, New South Wales, Jan. 12 (C.P.).—Houses rocked and walls cracked in the towns of Gouldburn and Yass, New South Wales, as a result of an unusually strong earthquake early to-day, which lasted one minute.

Though the main shock occurred about 140 miles from here, it was felt in the Sydney suburbs of Coogee, Bondi and Bellevue Hill. No casualties were reported.

SIXTEEN RINKS PARTICIPATE IN NEILL TOURNEY

Jack Sedgewick and I. D. Moore Win nClose Games This Morning.

PLAY ON FAST ICE.

Sixteen Peterborough and district rinks were entered in the annual curling tourney for the Neill Trophy here this morning, and while the number of contestants was not so great as in previous recent years, the calibre of the players was of top-notch standard.

Holders of the coveted trophy for the year 1933, will not be announced until late to-night, the tourney being a hard-fought battle which will last throughout the day and into the evening. It is a foregone conclusion however, that the winners, whoever they may be, will not come by their honor easily.

When fourteen of the sixteen rinks took the ice this morning, shortly after nine o'clock, the ice was keen and fast, the ice-maker having taken advantage of every degree of frost there was to be had. Twenty-four hours previously the ice had been inclined towards "stickiness" and the mild temperature that prevailed throughout yesterday and which threatened to cause postponement of the 'spiel, was overcome by the sudden drop of the mercury through the night.

Veterans Take Part

While of the sixty-four curlers entered in the tourney, there was a sprinkling of some of the newer players, the line-up in the main consisted of old die hards, with the invaluable experience of former victories and defeats also, that added only to the keenness of the rivalry. The clubs represented were Peterborough with eleven rinks: Lakefield with two rinks; Millbrook with one rink, and Norwood with two rinks.

The Neill Trophy, a large silver cup mounted on a heavy wooden base, was presented for annual competition by the late Robert Neill, one of the founders of the club and

Russian Steamship 254 Aboard, Asks Aid

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 12 (C.P.).—A confusion of wireless messages early to-day told of the distress of the Russian steamship Sakhalin in the North Pacific. Japanese despatches said 254 Russians were aboard.

No details beyond the location of the vessel, in the Sea of Okhotsk, off the Island of Sakhalin were carried in the messages.

The San Francisco coastguard station reported the N.Y.K. (Japanese) tanker Manju Maru, and the State's Line steamship General Pershing were standing by. The Canadian Government station at Victoria, B.C., named these two craft as rushing to the assistance of the disabled vessel.

CAR HITS TRAIN DRIVER INJURED

R. A. Armstrong Received Severe Injuries at Downer's Corners.

BROTHER ESCAPES.

Two men miraculously escaped serious injury at 8.10 this morning when their car met in collision with C.N.R. passenger train from Belleville at the Downer's Corners crossing on Highway No. 7. The car was almost completely demolished.

R. A. Armstrong, of Zephyr, Ontario County, driver of the car, received some gashes about the head and four teeth were broken from his false plate; while his brother, G. B. Armstrong, suffered very minor cuts.

They were driving east in a light coupe, and were almost upon the crossing when they first noticed the train. The driver swerved to the right and went far off the travelled portion of the road in an attempt to avert colliding with the train. He applied his brakes but the car skidded, striking the mail coach of the train with considerable force.

Taken to Station

The train was brought to a stop immediately and the two men were extricated from the wreckage of the car. Placed on the train they were brought to the station and later taken to the Clinic, where they received treatment from Dr. A. Moir

The men had set out this morning from their homes in Zephyr to attend a funeral this afternoon in Perth.

The crossing is considered to be one of the most dangerous about the city, since the view of the tracks to the south is obstructed by a high bank and to-day's accident is the second within the past month.

Optimistic

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., Jan. 12.—(CP)—The strangest advertisement ever published in the local newspaper appeared when W. P. McGreachie, manager of a moving picture theatre, advertised for the loan of five $1,000 bills for display purposes.

"I'm sitting right here at the phone patiently waiting," said Mr. McGeachie, when reporters asked him if he meant it.

"Sometime or other in his life," the Sault Star said, "he must have been a flag-pole sitter."

P.S.—Mr. McGeachie is still waiting.

IRISH ELECTION BATTLE ENTERS ITS LAST PHASE

DE VALERA ON TOUR.

Farmer Interest Increases — Place 26 Candidates in Field.

(By George Hambleton, C.P. Staff Writer.)

DUBLIN, Irish Free State January 12 (C.P. Cable).—In noise and turmoil the battle for the next Dail enters its last phase. Almost everywhere the supporters of William T. Cosgrave, former President, who is seeking to oust Eamon De Valera from power, are having a lively time.

Loud shouts of "Up with De Valera" greeted General Sean Macceoin, speaking at Longford, but the General threw right back, "That is a slogan every fool who doesn't know what he is talking about is shouting; but I won't be stopped by shouts of a few any more than I will be stopped by English bullets.

"But the British gave me more fair play than you would give," continued General Macceoin heatedly. "When they had me in the docket they gave me a hearing even though they had sentenced me to death.

"If you will return our party to power we guarantee you peace. We guarantee you substantial reductions in your annuities because we have absolutely every confidence in our ability to meet and beat the British Government in negotiation" concluded General Macceoin.

"It is England versus Ireland now—our nation calls — Vote Fianna Fail." This is blazoned forth in a banner in Roscommon, Eire's County, welcoming De Valera who is conducting a stumping tour.

Teach England Lesson.

"We are going to prove to the British," declared the President "that we can sweep the country even without a settlement. We also want the Irish people to teach England a lesson that no section or party can try to break the morale of our people when they are fighting for their rights."

FIGHTS RADIO LICENSE FEE

Windsor Magistrate Defers Decision. Holding it May Set Precedent.

OTTAWA RULING SOUGHT.

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 12 (C.P.)—Contending existing legislation does not permit, lawfully, imposition of a levy on the owner of a radio receiving set, Archie F. Gignac, solicitor for Sandwich West Township to-day started his fight against the Federal radio license fee.

Magistrate W. A. Smith deferring his decision, expressing the opinion the decision may have a far-reaching effect and set a precedent.

The defense claims the owner of a receiving set cannot "convey" messages, while the prosecution alleges a Privy Council ruling in an action in Quebec Province against the Dominion decreed "convey" included receiving. The defense argued the license was individual and not the radio set, to which the Court commented under such a decision every person in a house would require a license the same as under the automible law before a person can drive. A ruling from Ottawa is being sought on this point.

PENSIONS STRIFE UPON OLD TOPIC FLARES IN PROBE

Member of Now Defunct F. A.B. Points to 5 Cases Passed But Never Paid.

UPHELD BY COURTS.

Claims Head of Present Board Scoffing at Court Rulings.

OTTAWA, January 12 (C.P.). — A storm which has raged for several years and began in the days when relations between the Board of Pension Commissioners and the old Federal Appeal Board were by no means harmonious, swept through the joint committee investigating the administration of the Pension Act to-day. It arose when C. B. Reilly, a former member of the now defunct F.A.B. brought before the committee a number of cases which, in past years, had been so controversial as to have gone to the Exchequer Court of Canada.

In brief, Col. Reilly recalled that five pension claimants had in 1928 been awarded pensions by the F. A.B. But, he argued, the Board of Pension Commissioners had refused to pay the pensions, and these remained unpaid to this day. He demanded that the committee bring this matter before the Government. This was particularly demanded since, the cases having been referred some years ago to the Exchequer Court, judgment had been delivered upholding the Federal Appeal Board.

Criticizes Thompson.

In the course of his evidence, Col. Reilly mentioned by name Col. J. T. Thompson, chairman of the B.P.C., and directing criticism against that officer, declared that "there was one official in Canada who was scoffing at the judgments of the courts of this country."

The committee decided to direct the Government's attention to the situation.

E. Browne Wilkinson of Winnipeg, representing the Army and Navy Veterans, testified as to the dissatisfaction with the Veterans' Bureau and his disapproval of the system whereby pension advocates were selected. He contended these men should have been lawyers acquainted with all the rules of evidence.

GUILT IS DENIED BY ANTONOVITCH

Kirkland Lake Prisoner Committed For Trial on Two Charges of Murder.

SHOOTING DESCRIBED.

KIRKLAND LAKE, Ont., Jan. 12 (C.P.)—Two charges of murder and two of attempted murder were laid against William Antonovich when he appeared in court to-day for preliminary hearing.

Antonovich pleaded not guilty to all the charges and was committed by Magistrate S. Atkinson for trial.

The charges were the sequel to the sensational shooting affray of Monday afternoon. Antonlovich was charged with the murder of Annie Mundik, and the murder of Frances Banashiuk. The attempted murder charges were in connection with the wounding of William Mundik and Fred Cunningham. All four were shot on the main street of Kirkland Lake within a few minutes.

M. G. Hunt of Kirkland Lake appeared for the accused, who was captured after a 24-hour hunt as he sought to obtain a drink of milk at a farm home not far from Kirkland Lake.

A great portion of the audience consisted of women.

Slayer's Last Hope Of Reprieve Is Gone

JOLIETT, Que., Jan. 12 (C.P.).—With his last hope for a reprieve gone, Albert Preville of St. Damiens sits alone in his cell here to-day in the very shadow of the portable scaffold on which he will be hanged to-morrow morning at 7 o'clock.

Albert Preville was brought here last night by Provincial detectives to pay with his life for the murder of Mrs. Joseph Mondor, 29-year-old mother of three children, of which he was found guilty in September.

The murder was committed in Mrs. Mondor's home at St. Damiens on January 18, 1931.

Mr. Justice Ford Refuses Request To Quash Hearing

Chairman Fails To Agree With Defendant, That Section For Removal Of Judges Act Had Been Violated—Orders Inquiry Continued.

COMMISSION COUNSEL REVIEWS DETAILS OF COMPLAINTS AGAINST JUDGE'S CONDUCT.

WINNIPEG, January 12 (C.P.). — Judge Lewis St. G. Stubbs lost the first round of his fight to prevent an investigation into 16 charges of alleged judicial misconduct.

In his decision announced at the opening of the hearing ordered by the Minister of Justice, Mr. Justice Frank Ford refused to accept a motion by the accused to rule against the jurisdiction of the hearing.

It was a point argued at great length yesterday by the little Judge who for more than ten years occupied the bench and County Court. But the commission declined to agree with him.

The Minister of Justice, the chairman held, had satisfied himself the charges, which the accused declared were not acts of judicial misconduct, constituted a prima facie case, and, therefore, he was forced to continue the hearing.

He did not agree with the defendant that the section for removal of the Judges Act had been violated, and he was convinced the Minister of Justice was acting on at least three precedents stressed by Arthur Sullivan, K.C., counsel for the commission.

Complaints Reviewed.

Mr. Sullivan then began reading the particulars of the complaints against Judge Stubbs' conduct in connection with the Macdonald will case which, it is charged, undermined constituted authority of administration of justice; Duddles and Pansowni case "which affected the administration of justice in the public eye; the Flynn case which also undermined the criminal administration in respect to constituted authority; the Rae case, fees he collected; criticism of law enforcement officers; alleged bias in criminal cases; receipt of $1 000 in connection with a Soldier Settlement Commission case."

BANK IS LOOTED OF $35,000 CASH ONE BANDIT SHOT

Plucky Citizen Resists Order to Get in Car and Grabs Robber's Gun.

CROWD COMES TO AID.

Second Hold-up Man Flees on Foot With Loot in Satchel.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 12 (AP)—A robber escaped with $35,000 in cash in a holdup of the Commercial Savings and Loan Company, of Berea, a suburb to-day after a gun fight in which his companion was shot and captured.

The gun fight developed when former councilman Charles Fox, who arrived at the bank soon after the holdup, resisted efforts to force him into the bandits' machine.

Fox's suspicions were aroused when he found the door of the bank locked. He rapped. One of the gunmen came to the door, carrying a satchel containing the loot. He turned his gun on Fox and ordered him to "come along."

As they reached the curb, Fox struck one of his captors in the jaw and seized his gun. He fired five times and the bandit fell.

The second gunman snatched the satchel and fled afoot as scores of citizens ran to Fox's aid.

ORILLIA, Jan. 12 (CP) — The much-discussed action of the public welfare board in distributing free board, milk and fuel to needy families by advertising for tenders on these commodities and awarding contracts to the lowest bidders will not be assailed by the town council as a whole, it appeared today. Council last night rejected a motion of Alderman W. M. Cramp urging that the business be divided in such a manner as to give all dealers a share of the business.

JERUSALEM, Dec. 25. — For a small sum of money the professional guides will show the visitor the saddle said to have been used by Christ when he rode into Jerusalem "seated on the colt of an ass," on the day known as Palm Sunday in the calendar of the Church. It is a well-preserved piece of leather, I found. Would you see the room of the Last Supper? Any dragoman will take you there for a few piastres. I asked to be shown the dish in which Jesus dipped the bread. It had been lost, I was told. A pity for sure. Boncour Rule Shaken By Socialists' Stand

PARIS Jan. 12 (AP)—The Socialists in the Chamber of Deputies to-day dealt what parliamentaries circles believe may be a death blow to the Paul-Boncour cabinet when they decided to vote against fiscal measures sponsored by Finance Minister Cheron.

Former Premier Herriot, acting for the Radical Socialists, visited M. Paul Boncour and warned against the peril of insisting upon the Cheron programme.

The finance minister proposes to cover an estimated budget deficit of 10 541 000 000 francs by extensive economies and new taxes which would transform the deficit into an estimated surplus of 238,000 000 francs. The decision may not come before Jan. 17 when the measures are debated in the chamber.

COMMUNITY EFFORT PLANNED TO RAISE FUNDS FOR RELIEF; COUNCIL WILL DIRECT DRIVE

Appeal Will Be Made to Citizens Who Are Able to Give.

FACTORIES OMITTED.

No Stated Amount is Set But Generous Response Hoped For.

A community effort to collect a fund for relief purposes was unanimously approved at a meeting of citizens in the council chamber last night.

Sponsored and directed by the city council, as the elected representatives of the people, this emergency appeal will be made to citizens who are in a financial position to give of their means for the assistance of those who are in actual and serious need.

No stated amount was set as an objective, but it is earnestly hoped that Peterborough's response will be proportionately as generous as those reported from some other cities in the province.

Factories Omitted.

Mayor Denne presided, and conveyed to the meeting a recommendation from John R. Marshal, as convener of a committee which had given the broad question preliminary consideration, that factory employees be omitted from this winter's appeal.

"I know some citizens who are waiting for this campaign," Mayor Denne said. "I am prepared to make an appeal for clothing which is much needed; also to farmers for vegetables, and I think many of them will help in that way; and the appeal for money should be made to those who can afford to contribute."

R. M. Glover and James Dutton, members of Peterborough's Relief Committee, endorsed the suggestion not to canvass the workingmen, because many of them were only on part time and reduced income, and were in financial straits.

Lindsay Raised $7,000.

Rev. Paul Costello recalled that Lindsay had raised $7,000 in their public campaign. "I am opposed to including the factories in this appeal," he said. "The workingman has his hands full to support his

INQUEST IS HELD INTO THE DEATH OF DAN O'BRIEN

Jury Finds That Accident Was Caused by Erorr in Judgment of Deceased.

DRIVER NOT TO BLAME.

Knocked Down by Car Driven By V. J. Eastwood, Sr., on December 3.

That Daniel O'Brien, of 621 George street, who died Sunday evening of injuries received on the night of December 3 when he was knocked down on Hunter street by a car driven by Vincent Eastwood, expressed the opinion, while being given first aid immediately following the accident, that Mr. Eastwood was not to blame for the accident, was the statement of several witnesses who testified last evening at the coroner's inquest.

"He told Mr. Eastwood that he was not to blame, but that it was his own fault" the witnesses said in giving their impression of Mr. O'Brien's words. Mr. O'Brien would have been 76 years of age this Saturday, and Dr. F. P. McNulty, who attended him, said that death was caused by the shock and pain of the injuries received in the accident, which caused his organs to stop functioning properly.

Mr. O'Brien was crossing south on Hunter street in front of James Lynch's drug store when struck by Mr. Eastwood's car which was proceeding westerly on Hunter street at a speed, estimated by Mr. Eastwood, at between 15 and 18 miles an hour. Sergeant Wigg said that the car skidded 18 feet on the icy and wet pavement before stopping well over on the south side of the roadway.

Error in Judgment

The jury found that the accident was caused by an error in judgment on the part of Mr. O'Brien. The following verdict was brought in: "Daniel O'Brien died from shock caused as a result of an accident in that he was struck by an automobile driven by V. Eastwood, Sr., on the night of December 3, 1932.

"The said accident was caused by an error of judgment on the part of the said Daniel O'Brien."

Bank In Montreal Robbed Of $3,000

MONTREAL, Jan. 12 (C.P.) — Three armed men held up a branch of La Banque Canadienne Nationale in the East end section of the city and left with between $3,000 and $4,000.

The men drove up to the entrance of the bank shortly after noon, when the manager, Lucien Michaud, was having lunch in his residence over the bank.

No clients were in the bank when the trio entered. They approached the counter and two of them drew revolvers, ordering the three clerks; Odilon Mireau, Georges Lecuiller and Edmond Archambault, to put their hands up. After the two had directed the clerks to move away from the counter, one of the man jumped over it.

He opened the door of the cashier's cage and scooped the loose bills and silver into a bag. The trio then escaped.

JUDGMENT RESERVED.

MONTREAL.—The Court of Appeal to-day reserved decision on the question of the validity of the Quebec Workmen's Compensation Act which was declared ultra vires by Mr. Justice deLorimier in the lower courts.

58 BELOW ZERO AT WHITE RIVER

COLDEST IN ONTARIO.

TORONTO, January 12 (C.P.).—Ontario challenged the rest of Canada to compete for the "cold-weather" championship, and the old province seemed to have a decided edge on all competitors. The province matched its two strongest rivals, Hornepayne and White River against "the rest."

Hornepayne reported 56 below, 20 points lower than Fort Simpson could show. Then, amid tense excitement, the telepgraph sounders chattered White River's boast. "How's the weather? It's 58 below."

It was cold through part of the West and in Ontario, Winnipeg reported 30 below during the night. It was 21 below at Brandon and 18 below during the night at Saskatoon. It was 34 below at Moosonee.

Officials on Pay Receive Vouchers Evidence Reveals

Sensational Evidence Drawn Out By Royal Commissioner Conducting Probe—Relief Officer Rebuked For "Lack Of Knowledge"—Further Explanations Asked.

LIST OF ALL GETTING FIREWOOD, ORDERED ALONG WITH RENT PAID EACH COUNCILLOR.

STURGEON FALLS, Ont., January 12. — Permanent town employees at Sturgeon Falls who were never on relief were paid in relief vouchers out of the Government relief funds, the inquiry into relief disbursements of the town revealed yesterday.

Under Judge J. M. Hall, of Sault Ste. Marie, Royal Commissioner, the inquiry opened yesterday, and town officials were called to testify.

For most of the day Joseph Cote, relief officer, was on the stand. Several times W. H. Williams, K.C., commission counsel, expressed amazement at Cote's lack of knowledge regarding administration of relief.

At adjournment of the hearing late yesterday Mr. Cote was instructed to produce to-day a list of all persons who received firewood from the town; a record of the amount of wood each councillor received, and the amount of rent each councillor received. Cote said Councillor Paul Villeneuve was receiving rent from the relief fund for five houses.

Evidence showed that J. A. Fortin, town assessor, was paid $90 in relief vouchers in a period of two weeks for work he performed as a permanent employee.

Horses on Relief.

Even horses were put on relief.

"Owners couldn't buy feed for their horses, so the horses were given jobs by the town. Nothing is supposed to be given for horses, but they got it here," the Commissioner was told.

Orpheda Quenneville, auditor, drew relief regularly, but was also paid $400 since March for auditing the town's books.

Chief Constable Wilfred Leclair was paid $40 a month in relief vouchers in addition to his salary of $85 a month; Constable A. Cuisson got $40 a month relief and $50 cash, and Constable John Lefleche got $25 a month relief and $50 a month cash until officials of the welfare department had come to Sturgeon Falls and investigated.

Endorsed Vouchers

Cote said the relief was never actually paid the constables, since they endorsed their vouchers back to the town.

Mr. Williams said he wanted to know if "any of the policemen's families received relief," and asked, "Who is Mr. E. Lefleche?"

Cote replied he did not know.

Judge Hall here remarked: "Say that again and I'll tell you I don't believe you. Now, who is Mr. E. Lefleche?"

"Constable Lefleche's cousin," was the reply. Cote insisted he did not know if vouchers given the cousin went to the policeman.

Cote said Fire Chief Armand received no relief; town superintendent Amedee Blais and town foreman Pascal Martin and Delortie Dignard each drew wages of 40 cents an hour in relief. Fire Engine Driver Leon Galipeau received clothing to the value of $122.95 over a period of five months. He lives in a company house for which he pays no rent, and receives a salary of $50 per month Town Foreman Norbert Genereux received $38 relief during August and September while drawing $2.40 per day wages.

"How much of the 1932 taxes are outstanding?" Mr. Williams asked.

"About $60,000," Mr. Cote estimated.

"Is there?" Mr. Williams said. I thought the Government had pretty well paid up all your arrears for you."

Cote "did not know" his records showed one landlord was paid $18.60 rent and the government was billed for $38, he told Judge Hall.

EXPENDITURES SET $19,000

Estimated $4,500 Can Be Cut From Last Year's Figure by Campbellford Board.

POWER CONTRACTS.

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 12 (By Examiner Staff Correspondent). — The Water and Light Commission Board of the town of Campbellford opened its business for 1933 last evening in a review of the probable saving that can be affected this year, and it is estimated that about $4,500 can be cut from last year's figure during the current season. The newly-elected Commissioner, A. J. Meyers, took his seat on the board, along with Mayor H. N. Carr and Commissioner J. O. Benor, the latter being again elected chairman for the current year.

Going very carefully over the figures it was thought that the estimate of total expenditures for 1933 could be set at $19,000. Last year's total expenditures were $22,400 and total receipts, $27,000.

J. A. M. Thomson, F. Atkinson and R. Thomson again waited on the board to see if anything could be done to enable them to build a power line to their properties on the Eight Concession of the township of Seymour, hooking up with a private line built by Nathan Atkinson, which runs to the town power line. Some difficulties had been encountered between the parties seeking this privilege and Mr. Atkinson.

The power line under discussion was built four years ago, and although the town system has been supplying power there was no contract entered into with the Board. It was felt by the board that the first step to be taken to settle he difficulty was to obain a contract with Nathan Atkinson for the line he built, and this action will be taken after consultation with the town solicitor. It was felt that this conract should be drawn up whether the line was extended or not. Two such contracts already exist with the Board, one with the English Line Company and another with the Seymour West Power Company.

Discussion over the arrears among the users of power and water in the town and the means of collection of past due accounts was held, and the clerk requested to furnish a list of these delinquents for presentation at the next meeting so that some action can be taken.

The Commission's truck was insured with the Halifax Fire Company for legal liability, bodily injury or death and fire.

FEAR IS SPREAD BY TERRORISTS

Spanish Prisoners Riot, Fire Cell Blocks But Fail to Escape.

BOMBINGS CONTINUE.

MADRID, Jan. 12—Terroristic bombing were reported from many eastern and southern Spanish cities last night as extremists continued defiance of the government begun last Sunday.

Syndicalists were on strike in many places, but members in Seville were ordered last night to return to work.

The most violent outbreak was in the penitentiary at Ocana, 40 miles south of Madrid, where 15 anarchists forced fellow prisoners to join in a general riot in which they sought to escape. The rioters disarmed five guards, beat two others, set fires and destroyed cell blocks. Guards finally gainedd control and prevented escapes after two and a half hours of turmoil.

Most of the disturbances yesterday were in the Valencia and Andalucia regions, in the east and south respectively. The situation in Andalucia was lightly worse last night. Two policemen were killed at Casas Viejas, Cadiz province, and police reinforcements with three machine guns were rushed there from Cadiz. A bomb exploded in the stables of the Episcopal Palace at Cadiz, doing heavy damage. Other outrages in this province occurred at Algeciras, where telegraph lines were cut by bomb explosions; at San Lucar de Barrameda, where mobs burned the municipal archives.

family and pay his taxes, and under present conditions the industries cannot engage many of them more than a few days a week."

G. A. Gillespie reminded the meeting that when $13,000 was raised in the last appeal, the most of that sum came from the factories At that time the employees were in a better position to make contributions to the fund and they had done so.

Aldermen Fitzpatrick, Stocker, McNabb and Tuggey advocated the proposed appeal, and offered their services in any capacity in which they could help.

$13,000 In Brantford

Ald. McNabb reminded the meeting that Brantford had subscribed $130,000 to a similar fund.

'I believe there are many public-spirited citizens who would undertake this campaign, and come to the assistance of their fellow-citizens who are not so well situated," Ald. McNabb said. "Such a fund would help to reduce the demand on the city treasury that is now caused by direct relief requirements."

Ald. Tuggey, in moving a resolution that Mayor Denne be authorized to proceed with the relief fund appeal, said he hoped the amount subscribed would at least be equivalent to one mill in this year's taxes.

"That would be an additional help to everybody," Ald. Tuggey remarked. "If we don't get that amount it means that there will be an increased burden on all the taxpayers this year.

The sentiment of the meeting, which was well attended, was so unanimously in favor of the general plans for the proposed campaign that discussion was confined to "ways and means" or some of the broader details.

Ald. Holland seconded the resolution, and in the end the responsibility for the incidental arrangements was left to Mayor Denne and members of the council.

Resting-Up

CHICAGO, Jan. 12 (A.P.)—Insomnia victims should read about Joseph Bill.

"Why," asked United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker, "weren't you here this morning when your case was called?"

"I was asleep," Bill said. "I've been asleep since last Monday."

A hotel clerk having verified the story, Bill put up $1,000 bond money on a liquor charge, yawned a little more, and then went back home to bed.

JAP AND CHINESE OFFICERS MEET TO TALK PEACE

Invading Troops Still Maintain Control of Captured City Shanhaikwan.

DEMAND APOLOGY.

Nippon Chief States City to be Held as Security Against Further Insults.

(By James A. Mills, A.P. Correspondent.)

(Copyright, 1933, by the A.P.)

TOKYO, Jan. 12 (C.P.).—A Rengo (Japanese) news despatch from Chinwangtao, China, said Japanese and Chinese military officers met in the presence of British naval officers there to-day to discuss peace terms. Results of the meeting were not divulged.

A Chinese officer represented General Ho Chu-Kuo, Shanhaikwan commander, who lost that city to the Japanese last week.

SHANHAIKWAN, China, January 11. — Peace hovers over this shell-scarred wall city, dividing Manchukuo and China proper—but it is a precarious peace, apparently likely at any time to flare into war.

Seven days have passed since the Japanese troops dorve the Chinese from the ramparts of this section of the Great Wall of China, nearest the sea ,but Marshal Chang Hsiao-Liang, the Japanese assert, has thus far manifested no desire to settle the quarrel which almost threw China and Japan into large scale warfare. (Chang is military commander of North China.)

Few Citizens Stirring.

The city remained paralyzed today, only a small percentage of Shanhaikwan's population having returned to their homes, despite Japanese assurances there would be no more fighting.

General Yoshimichi Suzuki, commander of the Fourth Brigade, who hastened here from Suichung when the new conflict broke out, was sitting patiently in a freezing cold stone house, formerly occupied by General Ho Chu-Kuo, the routed Chinese commander of Shannaikwan, awaiting the arrival of the Chinese peace negotiators.

"The Chinese must make proposals to us — not we to them," General Suzuki told the Associated Press.

Apology Necessary.

"We have nothing to be ashamed of. The Chinese must come on bended knee and apologize for the shameful events of January 1 and 2," he declared. (Among "overt" acts charged to the Chinese in precipitating the battle, was the bombing of a Japanese police station. The Chinese accused Japanese of setting off the bomb as an "excuse."

"We can assure the world we have no intention of advancing a foot beyond the great wall; at the

WOLF HUNTER FEARED DEAD

Jerry Drummond, Missing in Sioux Lookout District Since October.

SEARCH UNAVAILING.

SIOUX LOOKOUT, Ont., Jan. 12 (C.P.).—Death shadowed the heels of Jerry Drummond, and the north seems to have had its way. Drummond, Upsala wolf hunter, has been missing since last fall when he headed up Sturgeon Lake in a small 12-foot canoe.

Gerald Drummond, a tiny but wiry fellow, left for his camp last October.

"Will you be down this way again?" Jerry, asked Hordur Bergvinson, an Icelandic fisherman on the big lake. Bergvinson glanced into Jerry's canoe to see how much grub the little fellow was packing. It wasn't much.

"About Christmas, when I must get out to mass," answered Jerry.

"Before the freeze-up begins I'll come up in my boat to see if you are all right," said Bergvinson. "And after the ice forms I'll shoot up with my dog team and take you out. It's 10 miles out of my way, but no matter."

And so, Jerry pushed off.

Friends Drown.

But in the first week of November, Bergvinson, along with his helper, Ollie Lafroth, perished when his canoe foundered in a storm. And there was no one around the lake who knew about Jerry.

December came—a month of bitter snowstorms and 40 below zero weather. Far away, friends of Drummond got busy. But their Christmas-week search failed because they were unable to get dogs.

On Jan. 4, a Canadian Press correspondent headed north to look for Drummond. He was alone. He snowshoed into a bay in a driving blizzard. On a big blaze on a tree close to the shore was written in blue pencil: "Go. Drummond. Main Camp. 2nd June, 32." The newspaper man shouted, hoping to see someone step of the cabin some 100 feet inland. No one appeared.

Cabin Empty

He entered the old Indian cabin, but Jerry was gone. He had taken blankets, rifle, axe, tent. On a shelf were neatly arranged his few books; in small tin receptacles were left a few pounds of flour, a cupful or two of beans, some salt. The newspaperman guessed the probable tragic ending.

Jerry, at least despairing of Bergvinson's appearance, had determined to get out at all costs just before the big portion of the lake froze over. That was about the early part of December. He got so far—only a few miles perhaps—when he was held up by the ice. Fearful of skirting the shore on young ice he may have left his canoe and tried to break his way through the bush to Bergvinson's camp many miles down the lake. And he never made it. At any rate, no one has seen Jerry Drummond since last October.

In New Hampshire, by state law, any community using any except standard time is liable to a fine of $500. This prevents daylight saving.

Here's the Way to Treat Those Miserable Colds So Prevalent Here Now

WITH many cases of Flu reported in this locality, colds are doubly dangerous. Unless they are checked quickly, colds tend to pull down body resistance and pave the way for an attack of Flu with all its serious complications.

1 DON'T WAIT FOR A COLD TO DEVELOP. At the first sign of stuffiness or irritation in the nose or throat, snuff some Vicks VapoRub up the nose. Repeat as needed during the day. This will often check a cold at the start.

2 IF A COLD HAS DEVELOPED, DON'T NEGLECT IT. At bedtime, rub the throat and chest vigorously with Vicks, spread on thick and cover with warm flannel. If the head is clogged with mucus or there is much coughing, melt a spoonful of Vicks in boiling water and inhale the steaming medicated vapors.

(If possible, stay home and rest—preferably in bed—until the cold is broken. This helps to maintain body resistance and to throw off the cold more quickly.)

STABILITY OF CANADIAN BANKS MEANT MUCH AT PRESENT TIME

Canada's Record Shows Strong Resistance to Depression.

CONDITIONS REVIEWED

A description of major events in the business world and the presentation of a strong case for Canadian banking were the outstanding features of the addresses of the General Manager and President of the Canadian Bank of Commerce at the annual meeting. The address of the General Manager, S. H. Logan, was largely a straightforward account of banking practice and results which showed that Canada's credit requirements had been fully met and, therefore, that there was no need of a central banking system in this country. Making public part of the bank's records, Mr. Logan stated that 85 per cent of its 150,000 borrowing accounts were of amounts of $1,000 or less, while 96 per cent were of $5,000 or less. Between 1925 and 1929 the current loans of Canadian banks had expanded in exact proportion to the vast growth in Canadian industrial production. In the same period these institutions had financed record crops and exports of grain, although the demand for agricultural credit was relatively less than for industrial, because farming was expanding more slowly than industry. "Surely," said Mr. Logan, "a banking system which provided an expansion of bank credit that matched the exceptional economic progress of the country should not be regarded as having failed to discharge its principal function. Since 1929 the decline in banks' current loans has been less than in the commodity price level and in the national income."

Duty Is To Serve

Infallibility of judgment could not of course be claimed for bankers any more than for others in business. Bankers felt themselves bound, however, to adhere to sound banking principles and to follow practice in accordance with their past traditions. They did not possess the power sometimes attributed to them by their critics to control the whole course of business and regulate the actions of individuals and governments. They were only one body in the community with their own special function to perform. It was not theirs to dictate, but to serve; and their business thrived in precisely the same degree that they wisely and faithfully serve the interests of the nation. "If," continued Mr. Logan, "it could be shown that a central bank could do more than the chartered banks have done, or if there was in prospect some international credit structure with which Canada would be linked, I should be willing to endorse the proposals that Canada should have a central bank. But the facts speak for themselves. There has been banking stability which has saved both depositors and borrowers alike from losses resulting from banking liquidation, and credit has been available to all classes in every section for any worthy purpose at a reasonable cost."

Every Function Fulfilled

"I do not criticize the general principle of a central banking system. Such a system may be necessary in some countries, but I submit that every function of central banking essential for Canada is already being fulfilled through the operation of our existing banks with the auxiliary service of the Finance Act, which is regarded by the financial world as a model of flexibility, combined with such simple and economical operation as to be without cost either to the Government or the public. It may be noted that the Act provides for freer rediscounting than is permitted in the United States, a country with the larges central bank in the world. Dominion, provincial and municipal bonds and approved paper are all eligible for borrowing or rediscounting under our Finance Act. Much emphasis has been laid upon the Federal Reserve banking system of the United States. Yet it may be pointed out that under the strain of severe depression its facilities for rediscounting had to be supplemented by the creation of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, thus giving the United States the additional facilities already available in Canada under the Finance Act."

On the subject of world business, Mr. Logan said the general downward trend in 1932 was checked on two occasions; first, in the early part of the period, when there had been signs of improvement in a few countries and comparative stability in several others, including Canada; and again in the autumn, when world industrial production, which in the summer had sunk to the lowest level since 1919, began to rise. There was room for satisfaction in the Canadian industrial record, for the decline in our manufactures had been no greater than in 1931, and was less than in some of the older industrial countries. Farm purchasing power was 10 per cent less than in 1931, notwithstanding a marked improvement in crop results. Canadian mining had on the whole sustained its creditable record. Gold production increased by 13 per cent, as compared with 6 per cent for both the Rand and the world as a whole. Coal production in Canada fell only 4 per cent, while there was a much greater drop in the world output. In two of the major non-ferrous metals Canada suffered appreciably less than most producers; the world decline in lead was 14 per cent and the Canadian decline 4 per cent, while in the case of copper the world output fell one-third and the Canadian output fell 17 per cent. Foreign trade showed some striking changes. On the basis of physical volume, there was a decline in world trade from 1931 of about 20 per cent, and one of about one-third since 1929. If wheat is given its proper weighting, the total volume of Canadian exports may be regarded as showing a slight increase during the past year, while imports, on the other hand, dropped about 18 per cent. Both exports and imports have, however, fallen about 40 per cent below 1929.

Mr. Logan concluded his address by saying that it was as unreasonable to insist that depression had fastened itself permanently upon us as it had been a few years ago to regard prosperity as a settled condition. "As the centre of gravity in this era," he said, "seems now to have shifted from the economic to the political sphere, the return of normal conditions waits upon affirmative and constructive efforts to bring national policies into line with an economically interdependent world. . . . The foundations of good business are intact and we can rebuild upon them. But let us use sound principles and do the work well. Rash experimentation could easily weaken the present structure and make the task of reconstruction much more prolonged and difficult. . . . I am hopeful that this year will witness an improvement in conditions for Canada and the world at large. Towards this end, so far as concerns our own Dominion, I pledge the continuance of this bank's policy of rendering constructive public service."

Scene of New Sino-Japanese Outbreak

Here is how the scene at Shanhaikwan, North China, looks today, with Chinese troops endeavoring to fight back a new Japanese invasion. It shows Chinese soldiers in position behind the Great Wall, with General Ho Chu Kwoh and his aide-de-camp inspecting the terrain. The picture was taken several weeks ago when Chinese troops were offering stubborn resistance to the advancing Japanese-Manchurian army. It is at this point that the Japs have launched their new attack, capturing the city of Shanhaikwan, in North China, just south of the Great Wall, and just outside Manchuria. Observers believe Japan is making ready to take over the entire rich province of Jehol to which Shanhaikwan is the key city.

LIVELY SCHOOL BOARD SQUABBLE LEAVES PUPILS MINUS TEACHER

Members Split Over Firing Old Teacher—New One Hired—and Fired.

ACTION IN COURT.

KINGSTON, Ont., January 12 (C.P.). — An interesting action will probably reach a climax before Judge H. A. Lavell here on Saturday when application will be made to have an interim injunction contained against Ruby Babcock, the teacher in School Section No. 5, Pittsburg, quashed. A new teacher engaged at the end of last year has been released by the Trustee Board, and at present there is no teacher at all.

Miss Babcock was engaged in 1931 for a year, the contract saying that if it were not terminated within the year, it would be in existence for another twelve months, or by mutual consent or by written notice from the School Board.

The claim was made Miss Babcock did not resign when she promised to, and on November 14, 1932 a meeting of school trustees was held, with Trustees Michael McLean, John Millious, and George Simpson present.

McLean and Millious claim a resolution was passed at the meeting to the effect notice be sent to Miss Babcock asking her to leave. Simpson claims no such resolution was passed. The minutes are kept by Millious. Notice was, however, sent to Miss Babcock, and on December 27 the School Board engaged the new teacher, Miss Gladys Stedman.

This was one day before the election of trustees for the year, and Millious was defeated.

Both Present.

When school re-opened for the new term on January 2, Miss Stedman and Miss Babcock both were present, with the latter insisting on teaching and winning out. She stayed for a week. On January 7 J. M. Hickey, acting counsel for Nichol McLean, informed W. M. Nickle, counsel for Miss Babcock, if she appeared at the school on January 9, Provincial Police would arrest her.

Miss Babcock did appear at the school, but was not arrested. She remained a week, but in the meantime an interim injunction was secured restraining her from teaching and restraining the Board from paying her any more salary.

Last night the School Board met and released Miss Stedman with two months' salary. To-day no school is being taught, for there is no teacher.

Age Of Big Fortunes Is Gone, Says Morand

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 12 (C.P.) —"I believe the age of big fortunes in this country is gone," declared Hon. R. D. Morand, M.P., Essex East, at the graduation exercises of Windsor-Walkerville Technical School.

"The amount of money one amasses is not a measure of success or of happiness of the individual concerned. Those who have proper appreciation of the cultural things of life get more out of their careers than those who scramble for money," he said.

He urged the graduates to realize they have learned the art of study and "the real work to make life worth while only begins."

BORLAND MOVES INTO NEW STORE

Local Druggist Has Moved Three Doors East on Charlotte Street.

HAS SPECIAL SALE.

In new and larger premises, three doors east of the location on Charlotte Street where he has been in business since the year 1925, G. A. Borland has recently transferred his drug business, the change being necessitated by constantly increasing business.

The event is being marked by a sale which is now in progress, and Mr. Borland has intimated that his future plans have provided for reduced prices at no sacrifice in the high quality goods and drugs that he has always been in the habit of stocking, and upon the basis of which his custom has been founded so firmly.

To make price reductions a possibility, Mr. Borland has become affiliated with the Independent Druggists' Alliance—a co-operative, advertising, merchandising and manufacturing association. New lines of merchandise are just being marketed by the I.D.A. after years of experimenting.

Mr. Borland was educated in Peterborough schools. He graduated from the Ontario College of Pharmacy in 1898, after which he worked at Hagerman's in New York City, Toronto before locating in business and also put in a brief period at in Peterborough in 1911.

Homer Borland, his son, was apprenticed to his father's business before going to College, and since graduating he has continued in the business, exhibiting the same confidence in the future of Peterborough that his father has during his lengthy business period on Charlotte Street.

LEAP YEAR BOOM.

ORILLIA.—While it is unknown whether the feminine privilege of proposing marriage during Leap Year is responsible for the upward trend, there were 96 marriages in this town in 1932, an increase of 20 over 1931. Births also showed an increase, the number being 264, 12 more than in 1931. There were 127 deaths, 10 less than in the previous year.

STOMACH ULCERS

When you have too much acid in the stomach causing indigestion, belching, gas, giddiness, and a "dead on your feet" feeling after meals — watch out, it may lead to stomach ulcers.

Slowly but surely stomach ulcers will eat away the delicate membrane of the stomach and cause untold suffering and perhaps an operation.

Bisurated Magnesia, which you can get at any drug store, will give relief from acid stomach and heal stomach ulcers. If you have acid stomach, gas, acid indigestion belching, or symptoms of stomach ulcers, you owe it to yourself to give Bisurated Magnesia a trial. Big package, small cost. Not a laxative.

ROBERT HILLER PASSES AWAY

As Young Man He Came to Canada and Settled in Peterborough.

CATHEDRAL CHOIR LEADER.

MONTREAL, Jan. 12.—(C.P.) — Soldier, musician, and telephone expert, Robert Joseph Hiller was dead at his residence to-day after lengthy illness.

Born in Southampton, England, Mr. Hiller came to Canada as a young man and settled in Peterborough, Ont., where he began his military career as sergeant of the 57th Infantry Battalion of the Peterborough Rangers. He was also director of St. Peter's Cathedral choir there for some time.

Removing to Montreal, Mr. Hiller became leader of St. Ann's church choir, a post he occupied for 20 years, and later leader of the St. Patrick church choir. Mr. Hiller joined the Fifth Royal Highlanders of Canada at the beginning of the war and was promoted to the rank of regimental segeant major.

He had a distinguished business career as a telephone expert,, having been at one time connected with the Northern Electric Company and later with the Bell Teleohone Company of Canada.

Mr. Hiller is survived by his widow, nee Annie Cassidy, three sons, all of Montreal, and six daughters.

Terrible Skin Itch Gone in One Hour

The minute you finish applying powerful Peterson's Ointment to that fiery itching skin the itching starts to go—in an hour the torment is gone—just rub it in.

It doesn't matter whether you have obstinate eczema, pimples, unsightly rashes, acne, boils, or chapped hands and cold sores—one 50 cent box of Peterson's Ointment will prove itself the best and swiftest remedy on earth to correct skin diseases — as any druggist will tell you.

And remember this: If you have so-called athlete's foot—itching, burning feet — toes that crack and show watery pustules, the mighty healing power of Peterson's Ointment often ends this in 3 days.

SOLVING THE DEPRESSION.

A great many bright lads are sitting up nights thinking up fine schemes for the good of us all, says the Ottawa Journal. They tell us, each according to his light, that we should achieve an expeditious economic salvation by printing a lot more money, by establishing a new bank, by cutting out money and going in for barter, by eating more bread or more meat, by taking up a new religion, by spending more money, by spending less money, and so on. However, we can't try them all, and as the experts themselves disagree violently in their proposed remedies perhaps on the whole we are better off to carry on along lines which have taken the world out of every previous depression and gradually are lifting it out of this one.

DEALING WITH PAN-HANDLERS.

Complaints from citizens about being accosted on the street or having their homes invaded by transients seeking money for food and shelter suggests that the "pan-handlers" should be directed to the Red Cross hostel, which is being maintained here expressly for the purpose of taking care of just such cases.

There may be some legitimate appeals for aid being made in the way complained of, but the simple truth of the matter is that most of the mendicants who are begging money from citizens are out for funds with which the buy "canned heat," rubbing alcohol or whatever fancy brand their thirst fancies.

By directing all applicants to the hostel, the deserving cases will be effectively segregated from these professional beggars who are exploiting the situation to their own advantage.

As was pointed out in the news columns yesterday, citizens would be well advised to make donations to the Red Cross for the maintenance of the hostel rather than to hand out money indiscriminately to individuals who in the majority of cases are not in need of food, but are merely trying to prey on the generosity of the public in order to accumulate enough funds for an alcoholic party.

The safe plan is to let all begging transients be taken care of by the agency that is maintained for that purpose.

THE LINE MUST BE DRAWN.

Restrictions are being sought to prevent families on relief from obtaining automobile licenses, the thought behind the move being, of course, that those who have to depend upon public funds for the necessities of life have no business driving motor cars.

There cannot be much objection raised to that policy, for the incongruity of families on relief joyriding round in motor cars when they do get an opportunity to earn a little money and then turning up in the relief line again as soon as the funds are gone is surely apparent to every one.

Many people came into a possession of a car back in the prosperous days, and there would be no object in forcing any of them who now need relief to sell their automobiles for a song—but at the same time they cannot expect to do much motoring when their condition is such that the public has to come to their rescue in the matter of food and fuel and shelter.

These unusual conditions are making the provision of adequate relief a heavy burden upon those who are in a position to pay, but the problem would be a great deal simpler if some of those on relief would remember the simple fact that the assistance they are being given cannot be expected to take the place of the pay envelope that used to come in regularly; in other words, that if the community sees to it that they are fed and clothed and kept warm during the winter months it is doing all that can reasonably be asked of it.

Public assistance cannot be depended upon for the expenses of operating motor cars.

ANOTHER SIMPLE WAY OUT.

Schemes described by their originators as certain cures for the world's economic ills and sure restorers of prosperity are being brought forward in many quarters.

One of the latest to reach The Examiner comes from a London (Ont.) man, who in a long open letter addressed "To the Government and People of Canada" outlines his remedy for what ails this country.

This economist's plan has at least one merit; it is simple, as simple as Mr. Woodsworth's suggestion that industry should double the wages paid its employees and everybody would be prosperous.

He declares that all that needs to be done is for the Federal Government to borrow two billion dollars and inaugurate public works all over the country, whereupon, he says, provincial and municipal governments and individuals would fall in line, spend money on their own account, and presto! overnight would prosperity come back from around the corner.

Isn't that easy?

Of course, there might be a little difficulty about raising two billion dollars, and a little more about spending it in a useful manner.

The paying back of this borrowed money would be another slight handicap, seeing that the lenders would naturally look for interest and it would require about $80,000,000 a year to carry the thing.

Then, of course, all the new public buildings, etc., that would be constructed under this scheme would have to be kept up, and that would mean another dip into the treasury each year.

In short, the London man's scheme looks like a certain road to national bankruptcy.

Anyway the Irish election situation is not complicated by a Red complex. The only Communist in sight failed to hand in his nomination papers.

THE PREMIER'S CHANCE.

Premier Henry has announced that a redistribution bill will be introduced at the coming session of the Legislature, which is certainly not news, but so far he has given no indication of whether or not there will be a radical reduction in the size of the Legislature as a result.

If there was ever an opportune time for a Government to come forward with a really helpful piece of legislation the present would seem to be that time.

The people of Ontario are convinced that there is no need of a Legislature of 112 members to carry on the business of the province, and they are satisfied that the elimination of at least one-third would be a move in the direction of genuine economy, and at the same time would promote efficiency in the handling of public affairs.

If Mr. Henry wants to regain some of the ground his administration has lost in the last two or three years he could choose no more effective plan than to materially reduce the size of the Legislature.

It has been rumored that in the coming shuffle 20 seats will be wiped out; the Henry Government should go further than that.

Forty members could be dispensed with, and the net result would be a reduced governmental overhead, a more business-like administration and the elimination of much of the wasted time that often makes a farce out of the proceedings in the Legislature.

The Premier has the ball; will he go through with the play or fumble on the midfield style?

BRITISH M.P.'S HAVE FUN.

About two weeks ago a brief message was flashed across the Atlantic that tabasco sauce had been the subject of debate in the British Parliament. A patriotic Unionist had challenged the Kitchen Committee upon the matter, seeking to know why, in these Imperialistic days, sauce of American origin had been supplied to the British House of Commons.

But read the verbatim account of the discussion as given in the Times of December 15—momentous day when John Bull paid over nearly $100,000,000 to Cousin Jonathan:

Mr. Glossop (Penistone, U.) asked the chairman of the Kitchen Committee if he was aware that the tabasco pepper sauce served in the dining rooms was of United States of America origin; and whether he would take steps to obtain future supplies of such hot sauce from within the British Empire.

Sir J. Ganzoni (Ipswich, U.) said that only eight 1s. 9d. bottles of tabasco sauce, each holding about 2 ozs., had been ordered for the dining rooms of the House of Commons during the past year, while nearly 20 kinds of other sauces and pickles, of home or Empire products, were supplied to members. (Cheers and laughter). No more tabasco sauce would now be purchased after the present supply was exhausted.

Mr. Glossop asked whether Sir J. Ganzoni considered that this sauce was the only type of sauce which we were now getting from across the Atlantic (laughter), and whether better sauce could not be obtained from Yorkshire.

Mr. Hannon (Birmingham, Moseley, U.) asked if Sir J. Ganzoni would take care that the next two bottles of tabasco sauce would be of British production.

Captain Waterhouse asked if it was not a fact that the consumption of tabasco sauce was a direct incentive to the consumption of British oysters.

The important point to note is, not that no more one and ninepences are to be thrown away on sauces of American origin, but that the House frequently interrupted the speakers with "Laughter." Still, Mr. Glossop and Mr. Hannon were no doubt just as serious about the subject as if it were the international debt question.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

THOSE UNCOLLECTED TAXES.

(From the Stratford Beacon-Herald)

The Town Council of Leamington is said to have decided to make application for the appointment of a financial supervisor. There is a desire to prevent default of payments or the seeking of a five-year moratorium on its principal debenture debt.

Looking at a short report dealing with the matter we find that the assets of the town are listed as being $16,000 in excess of the liabilities, but the assets include $60,000 of uncollected taxes. Right there, we take it, is where the trouble started.

We are certain every municipality with uncollected taxes should begin to look at them in their true worth. They do not represent 100 per cent. assets; they are far removed from that perfect figure. These uncollected taxes are somewhat the same as the book debts of the business man, although we admit there are strong arm methods which can be taken by the municipality to enforce payment to a greater extent than the merchant can realize.

In order to attempt 100 per cent. collection on uncollected taxes it would be necessary for any municipality to launch a campaign against all those in arrears. The civic body would have to take over properties of all descriptions, including vacant lands, and then seek to find buyers. In the end it might well find itself loaded with many properties which could not be sold at all.

We know of no municipality which desires to take such action. It is not considered good business, neither would it in the end realize the full amount of the uncollected tax bill. For that reason it becomes the more urgent that these unpaid tax bills be estimated at something approaching their real value when listing the civic assets. To carry them at full value, when it is known they are not worth full value, is only fooling the municipality.

There are people in many places who have not paid their taxes in either 1931 or 1932, and there are no prospects that they will pay them in 1933. It is not reasonable to suggest that under such circumstances an amount owing by such an individual should be rated with a 100 per cent. value. It may not be a pleasant thing to write down uncollected taxes to their true worth, but it is something which must be done in the interest of sound financing.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

"Yammering," it seems, is the sound made by riotious convicts, not as might have been thought the noise kicked up by the Toronto Star over the Russian barter deal.

This pyramiding sales scheme cannot have been started by the C.C.F., for it certainly is not based on the idea of the elimination of private profits.

From the reports of rural council meetings, it is evident the economy axe is being wielded in no uncertain fashion

DO YOU REMEMBER?

I don't remember anything that I don't want to remember.

* * *

I don't remember cheating in school. Don't remember having ever told a lie. Don't remember stealing anything. Don't remember throwing a rock at a Chinese vegetable man. Don't remember that awful first time I ever rode a horse.

I don't remember ever losing my temper. Don't remember quarreling with a friend. Don't remember doing anything mean. Don't remember being afraid in the war and running for my life. Don't remember being lazy or discouraged.

I don't remember writing bad poetry. Don't remember spending any money foolishly. Don't remember being too proud to apologize or to face the music. Don't remember ever boring anybody. Don't remember pretending to read a book I haven't read.

* * *

I don't remember any snobbishness. Don't remember killing anything or shaming anybody or being a pest. Don't remember fussing at a child. Don't remember making any mistakes or procrastinating or turning my head away from human misery because I was afraid to face it and do something about it.

* * *

I don't remember doing any of these weak, mad, silly, regrettable things that we are certain to do some time in the course of a life.

Why don't I remember them?

Because I don't WANT to remember them. Because I forget too often the essential nature of humanity, and forget that if we are ever to grow greater than we seem we must grow through the conquest of the weaker lives we have lived. Remember them sometimes with grief and sometimes with humiliation, but always with understanding of what we have done and what we want to do—and what we have been and what we must become.

This man follows his own bent always, does everything his own unusual, out-of-the-ordinary way. He has originality, imagination and power to carry over the vision and give it shape and form in reality. His creative work has been done along practical rather than artistic lines by reason of the supremacy over temperament and power to initiate, of a critical and analytic mind. He has immense vitality and complete self-assurance. It is a matter of note that he is fonder of and more interested in the less staid and more lightsome aspect of his personality and indulges it, rather than his achevements. His judgment is good, and he has a way with him that makes people like things even against their original intention, such is the charm of this wilful side of him. ROARING TRADE IN BIBLE RELICS hill. I was shown a strip of knotted leather. Without batting an eyelash the guide-dragoman said that it was the thong with which Jesus drove the money-changers from the temple.

What haven't they got in Jerusalem? True, the Crown of Thorns is in the hands of the Bolsheviks. They take good care of it too by keeping it under a glass cover. The spear that pierced His side is in Rome. But Jedusalem had the largest piece of the true cross.

The imprint of human fingers in the plaster of a wall on the Road of Sorrows was pointed out to me. My guide explained that they were the mark of Jesus' hands. Here he leaned against the wall as he staggered to Golgotha loaded down by the weight of the cross. The plaster was unmistakably fresh. As fresh in fact as the inkstain on the wall in Wartburg Castle which is sad to have been caused by Luther as he flung an inkwell at Satan, who had come to tempt him to abandon the translaton of the Bible into German.

Visits Mary's House

I rode out to Bethany. In this village I saw the house where Mary and Martha and their brother Lazarus lived and I allowed a sly Arab to sell me the coin that was lost in the parable and for the recovery of which the woman turned the house upside down. When I scratched the dirt off, I found it had been minted in Portugal in 1835, of all places.

What will they not sell in Jerusalem? A fragment of the alabaster jug which the adulterous woman emptied over Jesus' feet? One Turkish pound please! On the Via Dolorosa, the Road of Sorrows which does by no means lead to the place commonly accepted as Cavalry, small marble plaques on the wall indicate the stations of the cross. "Here Jesus was scourged by Pilate," reads one of them in Latin. Another marks the spot where he fell. Still another where Simon the Cyrenian shouldered the cruel instrument of torture. Here St. Veronica dried dead sweat off the agonized face of the Rabbi from Nazareth. Nothing is left uncommemorated. Every object that figured in the passion is to be seen. The nails that were driven through hands and feet. The hammer with which He was nailed to the cross.

Why is there only one of the places marked where Jesus fell?? Is it not recorded that He fell twice? Can it be that the stream of imagination of those who are responsible for all this pious fraud suddenly dried up? Where is the purse that Judas kept? I wanted to know. And the thirty silver pieces? ? The jugs are preserved that contained the water which was changed into wine at Cana's wedding? Why not sell what was left of the wine?

A roaring trade in relics goes on in the pilgrim season at the various stations of the cross. Teeth and hairs of saints, bones of martyrs and prophets. It is the greatest scandal in Christendom.

What Does It Mean?

Perhaps it will be objected that these matters had better be left unwritten. For are there not millions on earth to whom reliquaries such as there are indispensable stimulants to faith and good works? Have these things not helped to sustain unnumbered generations in life and death, made life easier for them and the road less dark?

I asked myself these questions. What is the object of the sale and exhibition of so-called sacred objects in Jerusalem? To increase the majesty of God? To keep doctrine pure or faith undefiled? Or is all this merely going on to keep a horde of soothsayers, superstitionmongers and taboo merchants sustained in lives of inutility.

Titus, Hadrian, Baldwin of Flanders and dozens of other razed Jerusalem to the ground. No stone was left upon the other. There is not the slightest scientific proof of the authenticity of a single sacred site in all Jerusalem. The topography of the city has changed radically. Yet these so-called sacred objects should have come through the whirlpool of the ages intact!

Creed at War

Each sect in Jerusalem curses, excommunicates and hurls anathemas at every other denomination. I heard a Greek doctor in St. Adam's cloister next to the Sepulchre Basilica ridicule the Roman doctrine of the Holy Ghost (emanation from the Father and the Son) in a manner so ribald that even the League of the Godless would have thought it too raw. Prevented by lording it over each other by the lay authority in the land, it seems that the claims of superiority of individual creeds is to be made manifest by a rivalry in display of glittering pomp and splendor. Bishops, patriachs, archimandrites and other prelates are simply loaded down under jewelled crosses, diamond studded mitres, gold-titched dalmaticas and solid gold croziers.

And all this in honor, in the name of the lowly Galilean!

MURDER IN EDEN

By Charles Winfield Smith

CHAPTER 14

At police headquarters Kane went directly to Chief Lee's office. Sergeant Henry greeted him. "The chief has gone to the convention," he said succinctly. "But there's a lady waiting in there for you."

It was Lucy Wilbur. She smiled wanly as he entered.

"I have had a bad night," she said quietly.

She looked weary. Deep lines raced about the corners of her heavy-lidded eyes and the drooping corners of her mouth. Her cheeks were pale and drawn, even though she had tried to hide it with an overabundance of rouge and flesh-tinted powder.

"You have been through a great deal," Kane said comfortingly. "I'll make it as easy as possible for you."

She smiled her gratitude.

"Of course you know about Miss LeRoi," he prompted.

"Only that something happened to her." Her body seemed to stiffen. "Was—was it—serious?"

He told her the wound was only a scratch on the shoulder.

She asked, "Who did it?"

Her eyes fastened themselves hungrily on his. He saw she was anxious, even afraid.

He told her, "She doesn't know. She was sitting in her home when the shot was fired, apparently through a window." He paused, then: "It was a case of bad marksmanship."

She sank back into her chair and her hands dropped hopelessly into her lap. She closed her eyes and rested her head against the high back. After a moment:

"What are they going to do with Larry Weldon?" she asked, without opening her eyes.

"That is entirely up to you," he told her.

She looked at him. "He was not entirely responsible for what he did," in an unimpassioned monotone. "He is so high-strung."

"Would you like to see him?"

"Please."

Kane went into the outer office and asked Sergeant Henry to have Weldon brought down from his cell. Then he returned to the actress and they waited in silence until the man came in.

Weldon shuffled uneasily into their presence. He was dishevelled. Great pouches were under his eyes. His sallow complexion only served to accentuate his drab appearance.

He looked at Lucy Wilbur with shifty eyes. His lips moved, then:

"I'm sorry, Lucy," softly. "Won't you forgive me?"

She arose, went to his side and slipped her arm about his shoulders. "You know I have already forgiven you, Larry," she exclaimed, her voice breaking. "You just weren't yourself, that's all."

He turned to Kane. "Lucy and I were husband and wife," he explained meekly. "She couldn't stand my insufferable temper and divorced me. I don't blame her. I showed last night what a cad I am."

Kane said to him, "I want to ask you a few questions. Then you can go home."

Weldon and the woman sat down. Under questioning they told of being summoned by Bailey to discuss a new picture. Weldon said that the director quarreled with them—not a serious quarrel, he added hastily—over the various roles, but that in the end all was settled amicably.

He told of Nanette's visit just as they were leaving.

"Outside, Lillian left us," he explained. "We wanted to drive her home, but she lived only a few blocks away, down on Highland avenue, and wanted to walk. Lucy and I decided to go for a short drive. We motored over Cahuenga Pass, out to the Sennett studio, and then returned to town.

"As we reached Hollywood boulevard we heard the newsboys shouting something about the murder of a famous director. I purchased a paper and saw that it was Bailey. I told Lucy there was just one thing for us to do and that was to go to police headquarters and tell all we knew.

"She agreed and said that we ought to go by and get Lillian. We went to her apartment but she wasn't there. We were just stepping out of the elevator on the first floor when she came in. She seemed excited. I told her what had happened and what we planned to do and she said that was the very thing for us to do. So we came down here—and," with a hopeless shrug, "you know the rest."

Kane did know the rest, only too well. He remembered Weldon's attack on Lucy at her mention of Nanette LeRoi. He remembered Lillian Hull's impassioned story of the event of the night, which, he admitted to himself, coincided in most of the details with this story of Weldon's.

But one thing puzzled him, so:

"Why did you attack—er—Miss Wilbur last night?"

Weldon flushed and looked sheepishly at his former wife. "I—I was infatuated with her," he said guiltily. "I didn't want her name brought into this affair."

"There isn't a man in Hollywood who isn't at her feet," Lucy Wilbur flashed. "She's a serpent."

"That's true enough," Weldon added. "There isn't a man in Hollywood who wouldn't kill for her——"

But that was all. He clamped his lips together until they were white. Alarmed by what he had said in an unthinking moment, he cast a beseeching glance at the actress. He wanted her to say something quickly, to cover up.

Kane saw her grow tense, saw her eyes distend, saw the color mount to her cheeks. Her hands clenched until the nails bit into the palms. It was with the utmost effort that she kept silent.

He said quietly, "You two had better go home and get some rest."

They could not get away too quickly. They hastened from the office. Going to a window, he saw them down in the street look undecidedly about then turn toward Hill street. Then they were lost to sight.

He consulted the watch which he wore on his wrist. It was just 12 o'clock. Perhaps a bit of lunch, then to the hotel to get the coroner's report. He was about to leave when Sergeant Henry walked in.

"You wanted a report on some actresses," he said. "I have it here."

He handed a long sheet of paper to the other. Kane took it and glanced down the list. The importance of the women whose names were written there startled him. Each of these women, he had been told, had been started on the road to fame and fortune by the handiwork of Richard Bailey. If that was true he was indeed a starmaker.

"What a shame," he muttered, "that a man like that should have to come to such an end."

Once more he went through the list but found little other than some facts which might have been choice morsels for gossips, to interest him. One of these stars was in Europe to get married. Another was on a beach party at Malibu which had been in progress for three days. Another was in Wyoming on location. Still another was in New York. And so on throughout the list.

But that he was satisfied with the results of this investigation was indicated by his smile of contentment and his next self-addressed remark:

"At least, I still have my six characters in this drama."

He took his hat and went out, telling Henry that he would be at Bailey's bungalow that afternoon, should he be wanted. He found a quiet side street cafe, had luncheon and then returned to the hotel.

Promptly at one o'clock the telephone rang. When he answered the coroner's voice crackled over the wire:

"You were right, Mr. Kane. Richard Bailey was shot with the gun pressed against his head. I found that balloon condition."

The annual business meeting of the Gleaners' Sunday school class of the Gilmour Baptist church, of which Mr. Gratten Telford is the teacher, was held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Margaret Mann. During the business meeting the girls decided on presenting the church with individual communion cups.

The officers for the coming year are:

President: Mrs. Howard Blewett.
Vice-President: Mrs. Bruce Bell.
Sec.-Treasurer: Miss Jean Paul.

The serving of dainty refreshments brought a pleasant afternoon to a close.

Mrs. Gratten Telford tendered a hearty vote of thanks to Mrs. Mann and Margaret, seconded by Miss Jean Paul.

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

KINGSTON'S WARRIOR BISHOP.

On this date, in 1819, Rev. Alexander Macdonell, of Glengarry, was appointed vicar apostolic of Upper Canada, preparatory to being the first Roman Catholic bishop of that province, which he became February 14, 1826. He was the Roman Catholic chaplain of the Glengarry Light Infantry. In that capacity he took part in the capture of Ogdensburg, N. Y., on February 13, 1813. Cross in hand, he marched on one flank of the British force (composed of the Glengarry Light Infantry and the Glengarry Militia), while the Presbyterian chaplain, Rev. Mr. Mackenzie, holding up his Bible, marched on the other flank, urging on their adherents.

One of Chaplain Macdonell's flock felt somewhat nervous under fire and showed a disposition to fall to the rear, whereupon the chaplain ordered him to stand fast. The order was disobeyed. In order to make an example which would impress the rest of the regiment, the chaplain then and there excommunicated the man from the church of his forefathers! There was no more shirking the fight. Yankee fire was a slight punishment to that inflicted by the mouthpiece of the church. Not only did the priest thus encourage his flock, but he personally took part in the battle and won mention in despatches for his valor. Like all the Macdonells, he was a strong Loyalist and never lost an opportunity to preach obedience to the sovereign and fidelity to the flag. Bishop Macdonell died at Glasgow, while on a visit to Scotland, January 14, 1840. He was twice buried, once at Edinburgh and again in St. Mary's Cathedral, Kingston, many years later, and his grave is regarded by the Roman Catholics of Eastern Ontario as a sacred spot.

WINNIPEG EXCHANGE

WINNIPEG, Jan. 12 (C.P.) — Wheat prices were a trifle erratic within a narrow range during early trading to-day. Liverpool cables came fractionally better than expected and this, together with firmness at Chicago, accounted chiefly for the steadiness in the local market.

At mid-session prices rested unchanged to ⅛ higher, with May at 47¼; July at 48¼, and October at 49⅜.

Trading for the most part was draggy with operations entirely local and very mixed in character. The bulk of the buying was credited to commission houses, while profit-taking accounted for the scattered offerings. Early reports indicate that export business was confined to a mere handful of wheat worked from the Atlantic seaboard.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Jan. 12 (C.P.)—Wheat prices tended upward early to-day after an irregular start. Reinstatement of lines by sold-out speculative bulls was a factor, and there were also indications of colder weather in the West. Opening at 3-8 decline to 3-8 advance, wheat later rose all around. Corn started unchanged to ¼ off, and subsequently held near the initial limits.

EXCHANGE RATES.

Exchange rates at noon to-day were:

NEWS OF THE WORLD INDICATES GRADUAL STABILITY INCREASE, SAYS ROYAL BANK PRESIDENT

Sir Herbert Holt Analyzes Economic Troubles in Canada at Annual Meeting.

OF BANK SHAREHOLDERS.

Success of General Economic Conference Essential for Maintenance of Civilization.

MONTREAL, Jan. 12 (C.P.)—Unification of the two Canadian transcontinental railways was advocated by Sir Herbert Holt in the course of a presidential address at the annual meeting of shareholders of the Royal Bank of Canada to-day. Sir Herbert said co-operation as advocated by the Royal Commission on Transportation was not drastic enough. Analyzing other economic troubles in Canada Sir Herbert said if efforts being made to secure co-operation by the newsprint manufacturers and to stop price cutting were not successful provincial governments would have to take steps to conserve Canada's natural resources and prevent the collapse of the industry.

Sir Herbert commennted on duplication of government expenditures and said the country must consider whether it could afford to maintain nine separate provincial legislatures in addition to the Federal administration.

Gradual Stability

On world affairs Sir Herbert said it was essential to the maintenance of civilization that the coming general economic conference should be a success, and concluded by saying: "On the whole the News of the World indicates a gradual increase in stability."

At the outset Sir Herbert Holt said the power of resistance shown by Canada during the third year of the depression was cause for congratulation. With no financial assistance from other countries other than a small amount of refinancing, which was arranged on a strictly business basis, with currency depreciation in terms of gold limited to a very moderate percentage and with none of the restrictions on foreign exchange or international trade which had been found inevitable in so many cases, Canada had lived up to the letter of her contracts and maintained her credit unimpaired. In doing so she had followed the tradition of the British mpire.

Fear is Groundless.

Discussing the Canadian railway situation Sir Herbert said it was obvious that co-operation between the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacifc as recommended by the Royal Commission on Transportation would not prove drastic enough to cut down in adequate degree the annual deficits of the Government road. He thought the fear a monopoly would be created by amalgamation was groundless.

The view, still expressed, that high cost producers in the newsprint industry, which had suffered along with the railways and agriculture from the depression, should be eliminated Sir Herbert described as almost meaningless. In substance, he stated, this adjustment had already taken place and high-cost mills were not now operating. In spite of drastic economies the industry faced the difficulty of covering its actual operating expenses before provision for any interest or depreciation.

Sir Herbert found the endurance and fortitude exhibited by those engaged in farming, industry and commerce during the storm of unparalleled severity was a measure of the strength of character of the Cnaadian people. He reported recently a much increased volume of wheat had been shipped from Canadian ports and railways were already beginning to reap substantial benefits from the agreements at Ottawa.

IRISH ELECTION

ister of Industries and Commerce, continued to give revelations of alleged attitudes taken by J. H. Thomas, Secretary for the Dominions of the British Government, while attending the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa. "After the news had reached Mr. Thomas from one of his agents in Ireland," said Mr. Lemass, "of the formation of an organization sometimes called the White Army and sometimes called the Army Comrades' Association—the Dominions' Secretary said with an air of great seriousness, 'There will certainly be civil war in Ireland before we get back.'

"I told Mr. Thomas," continued Mr. Lemass, "that we were a reasonable people, but that if he sought to make us abandon our rights by economic 'black and tannery' he was mistaken. I think he is beginning to realize now that he was mistaken and if he still has any doubts they will be removed by the result of this election."

The nominations revealed that the farmers have taken a much greater interest in the election than heretofore. They have fielded 26 candidates, while last year they placed only nine representatives in the field. The Labor candidates, on the other hand, have dropped from 31 to 19.

saw Antanovich cross the street, approch Mundik and his wife and draw a gun, shooting at them from behind.

Crown Attorney F. L. Smiley asked: "Did you see him hit anyone?"

"Yes," replied the witness. "He hit Mundik first, then he shot Annie. She fell and he ran about six feet. Then he turned and came back and shot her again. Then he ran down a lone."

Dr. E. R. Neelands testified he answered a call to the scene and found Annie Mundik lying on the floor of a store. She was dead. He also found Fred Cunningham in a serious condition with a bullet wound in his abdomen," the doctor said. "I found Mrs. Banashiuk with two bullet wounds in her head."

Committee Appointed For Empress Bridge

The January meeting of the Peter Robinson Chapter I.O.D.E. was held last evening at the home of Miss Gwen Dobbin, Stewart street with Mrs. Hooper, the Regent presiding.

A nominating committee was appointed to look after the elections which take place at the annual meeting next month.

A large committee was appointed to make arrangements for the Empress Bridge and Fashion Show —The actual date to be decided by this committee.

A donation of ten dollars was given to the Y.W.C.A.

The refreshments were in charge of Mrs. Gordon Hill's group. Mrs. Gray poured coffee.

FLEETWOOD

The Fleetwood United Church Women's Association held their first meeting for the year at the home of Mrs. Leander Werry, with the newly appointed officers in charge, on Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. J. Hart voiced in well chosen words the sentiments of the association in appreciative and well deserved praise of the excellent work done during the past two years by the retiring president, Mrs. I. Tisdale, who in her untiring efforts was in a large measure responsible for the success of the association, during the first two years of its life. Mrs. Tisdale, who was present by special request, responded appropriately, thanking her co-workers for their kindly assistance during her term of office.

Ways and means of adding to the treasury of the society were brought up for discussion and it was finally decided to commence work on a log cabin quilt, each member to be given measurements for blocks to be patched at home during leisure hours. Preparations for getting this work under way are to be commenced at the February meeting which is to be held at the home of the treasurer, Mrs. Archie Staples.

At the conclusion of the meeting lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. A. Finnie and Mrs. A. Staples, during which time the ladies enjoyed a happy social time together.

TAKES HIS LIFE.

WINDSOR.—Harold F. McGarger, 35, former resident of Sault Ste. Marie, was found dead in his room to-day. He left a note saying his life had been a blank since his sister died in 1926, and also thanking his landlady for her kindness to him. He had swallowed poison.

Family Troubles

WINDSOR, Ont., January 12 (C.P.). — Mrs. Harry Rheaume objected to E. J. Birmingham kicking her front door down, so she poured hot water on him, she told the magistrate to-day when Birmingham was charged with breaking into the Rheaume premises.

Birmingham to'd the court the door was broken when he tried to escape the hot water, and that he went to see the women in the first place because her boy threw stones at his daughter. The mag's rate let him go with a warning.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

TORONTO EXCHANGE

TORONTO, Jan. 12 (C.P.)—With the Wall Street market weak this afternoon the Toronto Stock Exchange adopted a cautious attitude leaving stocks to drift. There were no gains to speak of and quite a row of small losses at the close. Walkers Common, quite a trading favorite in recent weeks, eased to 4⅞.

Losses were general among the Interlisted shares. Nickel, under demand in the early part of the day, fell back a ¼ to 9¼, and C.P.R. finished unchanged at 15⅞.

Selling ex-dividend, Consolidated Smelters traded at 60, down from 66¾.

Bell Telephone was again quite active and at 94½ was down ¾ and Power Corporation was also off while Shawinigan and Consumers Gas chalked up a fractional gain.

All the leading oil stocks surrendered fractions to sell at 8 for B.A., 9 for Imperial and 11¼ for International Pete. The single gain was scored by Supertest "A" Preferred, which advanced to 94.

STANDARD EXCHANGE

TORONTO, Jan. 12,—(CP)—Traders were not reaching for stocks today on the Standard Mining market and any price changes were mostly on the down side. Lake Shore and McIntyre had a mild sinking spell in the early afternoon which gave the whole market a slight shiver, but the two high-priced leaders braced up, Lake Shore recovering to 33.25. Active buying of Eldorado on reports of favorable developments at the mine was a feature of the trade. It touched 1.60 and closed 1.55 for a net gain of 6 points.

Among the gold shares Dome and Hollinger held steady and Wright Hargreaves closed off a few cents after getting up to 3.90 and Teck Hughes dropped several points.

There was little doing in the base metal shares. International Nickel, and Noranda held steady while Falconbridge was a little weaker.

WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Jan. 12 (CP) — Cross currents appeared in the stock market in the late trading to-day, giving it an irregular tone. Allied Chemical, Goodyear and Drug were up a point or more while Brooklyn-Manhattan-Transit gained nearly 3.

Advances of about a point were held by Dupont, Eastman and American Tobacco B. Declines of similar size occurred in Westinghouse Electric and Corn Products while lesser losses were established in United States Steel, Harvester, Case and American Telephone. The rails were steady, with Southern Pacific and New York Central a shade higher. Transfers totalled about 800,000 shares.

Cymbeline Disaster Laid To Gas Fumes

OTTAWA, Jan. 12—Storing of oil from the damaged tanker "Cymbeline" in dry dock tanks at the Maisonneuve plant of the Canadian Vickers, Ltd., and the escape and ignition of inflammable gas from that oil, probably caused the explosion which took a toll of 30 lives on June 17 last. This is the conclusion reached by Commissioner S. A. Bauline, who was appointed on June 28 to inquire into the circumstances surrounding the disaster. A summary of his report was handed out by the Marine Department to-day.

After discussing and eliminating many possible causes of the explosion, the Commissioner gives it as his opinion that "the most plausible cause of the explosion was in leaks on the floor of the dock allowing inflammable vapors to escape."

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

CONCERT HELD WARSAW HALL

Presbyterian Sunday School Sponsors New Year Entertainment.

PLEASING NUMBERS

WARSAW, Jan. 11 (Examiner Correspondence)—The Presbyterian Sunday School annual New Year entertainment was held in Warsaw Town Hall on Friday evening with a capacity attendance, Dr. Munro, superintendent, presiding.

Miss Jean Munro acted as pianist for the evening. In his address Dr. Munro spoke of the work of the Sunday Schools, and it seemed there was more accomplished in the Sunday School than in the Churches.

The program numbers included recitation, Mary Watts; duet, Milo and Meta Payne; umbrella drill, eight little girls; recitation, Leonard Lonsberry; reading, Albert Bryan, which held the audience and elicited compliment from Dr. Munro; solo, Mary Bell; recitation, Ivan Hendren; recitation, Raymond Clements.

Rev. J. W. Wilkinson gave a short address in which he spoke of watching the youth develop talents; a dialogue, "A Visit from the Smith Family"; duet, "Whispering Hope," Mrs. Munro and Mrs. Frank Davis; recitation, Mary Bell.

"Qur Awful Aunt."

The principal number of the program was a two-act play entitled "Our Awful Aunt." The cast consisted of Mrs. Hazelton, a widow, Mrs. George Moore; Alice, her daughter, Leita McQuaig; Carrie Benton, engaged to Frank, Miss Jean Munro; Matilda Johnson, Our Awful Aunt, Miss Della Tucker; Frank Hazelton, Alice's brother, Eric Jackson; Aruther Wallace, a villain, George Moore; Pete, colored servant, Albert Bryan; David Mann, accomplice of Wallace, Trevor Watts; two policemen, Russell Greystock and Gerald Crowe.

This was well done; some of the cast appeared for the first time, Miss Della Tucker simply brought all sorts of applause in her rendering of the character of the Awful aunt. Albert Bryan as Pete was very amusing. The Auful Aunt rescued Frank Hazelton from downfall.

Gifts were distributed and every child of the congregation or Sunday School received a box of candies. The names of those to receive seals, certificates, and diplomas were read on Friday evening, but not given out until Sunday. They are as follows: Bible Class, Dr. Munro teacher.—John Rose, 12th year seal; Alec Rose, 2nd year; Mrs. James Greystock, 9th year; Mr. James Greystock, 9th year; John Clifford, 3rd year; T. H. Crowe, diploma; Mrs. Albert McQuaig, 5th year; Mrs. Elmo Hendren, 2nd year; Mrs. R. W. Payne, diploma; Mrs. W. H. Clements, 2nd year; Mrs. George Moore, George Moore, and Albert Graham, diplomas.

Gerald Crowe's Class.—14th year seal; Ivan Watts, diploma; Kenneth McQuaig, alumni diploma.

Mrs. Crowe's Class.—Jean Munro, 14th year seal; Aleta McQuaig, 10-year seal; Beulah Russel, diploma; Alma McQuaig, 2nd year seal; Kathleen Dunford, 11th year; Eva Clifford, 4th year; Eva Hendren, 3rd year.

Mrs. David Miller's Class.—Harold Clifford and Percy Myles, 3rd year seals; Alvin and Joe Watts, diplomas; Gordon and Harold Hendren, and Ivan Hendren, 2nd year seals; Jim Rose, 5th year seal.

For Primary Catechism Certificates—Percy Myles and Alvin Watts; Gordon and Harold Hendren and Joe Watts are to receive them.

Mrs. Munro's Class.—Monda McQuaig received 9th year seal; Milo and Meta Payne, 6th year seals, and Jean Watts a diploma.

In Mrs. Milton Drain's Class — Stanley Lonsberry, Leonard Lonsberry, Marjorie Clements, Donalda Payne, Mary Watts and Douglas Evans received diplomas; Mary Hendren and Raymond Clements received 2nd year seals, and Donald McQuaig a 3rd year seal.

At the meeting of United W.M.S. Mrs. Sargent gave a short report of the Temperance work done.

Women's Institute meets at Mrs. Henry Clements.

SIXTEEN RINKS IN NEILL PLAY

its first president. The cup was first won in the year 1919 by J. J. Moore and his rink from Keene. During the past year it has been held Ira Moore and his rink from the local club.

Good Prizes Offered

Besides the cup, members of the winning rink are also to be given a Kenwood blanket each, while the runners-up will receive sweater coats. Nineteen rinks competed for the trophy last year, as compared with thirty-three rinks in the year 1931.

There were many surprises during the course of the first round this morning. Jack Sedgewick and his trio, provided one of them. Playing against skip B. Q. Dench and his Lakefield rink, Skip Sedegick was down 11-4 with only three ends to go. He tied with his opponents in the twelfth end, beating him out by one shot with a 12-11 score on an extra end.

Another close game was that in which I. D. Moore beat J. W. Richmond 10-9. The remainder of the contests were inclined to "lopsidedness", N H. Hamley defeating S. Wildman of Norwood with a margin of 14 points and President Dr. N. H. Sutton being ousted by D. H. Charlton of Lakefield with the score 15-9.

Alex Kay and his rink advanced to the second round, his game against J. J. Howden's aggregate resulting in a score of 15-10. R. H. Edmund's and his rink, the sole representatives of Millbrook Club bowed to defeat in the first round at the hands of W. J. Oke, the score being 14-5. G. F. Cairns bested R. F. Downey 17-9, while early this afternoon D. M. Bissell of the local club and F. Kempt of Norwood, who made a late start were still plugging away for advancement to the next round.

Second Round Draw

At the time of going to press the line up for the second round stood as follows: A. C. Kay vs. D. H. Charlton; W. J. Oke vs. I. D. Moore; J. H. Sedgewick vs. N. Hamley; G. F. Cairns vs. D. M. Bissell or F. Kempt.

GALES SWEEP PACIFIC COAST

Seaman Killed, 11 Others Missing, Boats Damaged, Homes Unroofed.

ORANGE CROP HIT.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 12—A windstorm which at times approached cyclonic proportions swept Southern California yesterday and left a trail of death and destruction.

High seas running in Los Angeles harbor claimed the life of a navy enlisted man. Eleven other seamen were missing.

Damage to small boats and other harbor craft was estimated in excess of $100,000.

Five brush fires were controlled after raging over 1,000 acres of land along the Ventura County line. Hundreds of men were conscripted for fire-fighting duty.

In Ontario and Riverside, streets were filled with debris by the gale. More than five per cent. of the citrus belt's $35,000,000 orange crop was blown from the trees.

In the Huntingdon Beach oil field 75 derricks weer demolished by the wind, which reached 80 miles an hour at times. Seventy-four other derricks were seriously damaged, with an estimated loss of $150,000.

In Orange County alone, damage to communications systems, oil fields and citrus crops reached more than $1,000,000.

Starting from an extreme high-pressure area over Nevada, the wind swept over the mountains and spread as far south as the Mexican border. Gales were registered at 80 miles an hour in Ontario.

Houses were unroofed, trees uprooted. Signs and small buildings were demolished. The entire area was enveloped in thick dust clouds. Weather authorities estimated 1,000,000 tons of dust was deposited in Los Angeles County alone.

SOVIET PLACES TAX UPON GRAIN

Commissar Chief Intimates Five Year Collection Plan to be Abolished.

LEVIED IN ADVANCE.

MOSCOW, Jan. 12 (C.P.). — A long-expected concession to the peasantry in the effort to extract from that class enough agricultural produce to feed the country assumed definite form last night in the publication of a speech by Vyacheslaff Molotoff.

The president of the Union Council of the People's Commissars announced that the Government probably would abolish "collections" of grain and substitute a grain "tax" in kind. Returning to a system in effect 10 years ago, the grain production of the country would hereafter be placed on the recently-instituted basis for meat and butter production.

Under the proposal, peasants would be assessed a definite grain tax in advance of sowing instead of being subject to levies of grain deliveries on the basis of possibilities, the system now in effect.

A peasant, under the current plan, has never known beforehand what has been expected of him, and consequently grain production has suffered badly in the last few years because producers faced the certainty that the more they raised the more the Government would take.

The method of "collections" — which means the Government's demand on the peasantry for delivery to it of grain and produce at a low fixed price—was adopted in 1928 at the beginning of the first five-year plan.

Signs of Improved Conditions

Sir John Aird, President of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, and Mr. S. H. Logan, General Manager, Address the Annual Meeting of Shareholders.

THE BANK MAINTAINS A POSITION OF GREAT STRENGTH

CREDIT REQUIREMENTS FULLY MET AND WIDELY DISTRIBUTED

Sir John Aird, the President, said in part:

One who speaks to-day on national and international affairs does so in company with a host of others, some of whom seem bent upon overturning the established order of the world's production, trade and social life. Seriously to consider the overthrow of systems which have for centuries, made generally for the progress, civilization and happiness of the human race, merely because of the existence of evils which can be removed by the infusion of a new spirit of loyal co-operation among individuals and nations, seems to me to be unworthy of the intelligence of the people of any great nation.

Extreme Protection a Boomerang.

The stand to the credit of statesmanship the Lausanne and the Imperial Conferences, the more earnest and frank proposals made at the last meeting of the Disarmament Conference and the recognition in several quarters of the fact that extreme protectionism has proved to be a boomerang. This last element is still so active as to continue to work havoc with world trade. I could not do justice here to the subject of nationalistic mania without extended argument, but to summarize the developments in this direction during the past year, following upon trade restrictions which must have taxed heavily the ingenuity of tariff makers, over twenty countries increased their general tariffs and a similar number adopted licensing and import quota systems, with numerous revisions from time to time, designed either greatly to restrict or to prohibit entirely foreign products; nearly forty raised the duties on various articles, not once, but in every case at least twice, and in some cases six times; and about thirty countries set up foreign exchange control systems both to protect their domestic markets further against depreciated currencies and to preserve them for their own nationals.

The Ottawa Conference.

The occasional departures from this policy of trade strangulation may be overtures to economic peace, and if so they are promising, particularly some of the results of the Imperial Conference, including those that led to proposals for new commercial treaties between Empire and non-Empire countries. There was a direct connection between the favorable political events and the rise last summer in high-grade security prices and the general commodity price level, but, while some of the gains have been held, any progress toward recovery, or at least respite from depression, was interrupted by the failure to reconcile the conflicting interests involved in certain major issues, such as intergovernmental debts.

Canadian Agriculture.

In Canada we barely missed in 1932 the turn to improvement, slight though it might have been. Had weather conditions continued favorable for only a short time toward the close of the growing season, thus ensuring uniform crops in Southern Saskatchewan, and had grain prices remained fairly stable during the autumn, we would have a picture of better conditions in the prairie Provinces to-day.

The British Empire.

The British Empire stands now as the strongest bulwark against depression, for one reason because over the greater part of the Empire the governing bodies are stable and effective. As my remarks elsewhere point to the inherent strength of Canada, I need at this moment discuss in detail the affairs of only the other senior members of the Empire. The prestige of the United Kingdom has risen greatly in diplomacy, finance and trade.

British Production Maintained.

Her trade results do not bear out the over-optimistic predictions of those who a year ago saw nothing but advantages in the suspension of the gold standard; certainly they have not corrected fundamental weaknesses in some of the large industries. But British industrial production in 1932 was maintained at a higher rate than in any other major country, except Japan. In comparison with only a slight quantitive decline in exports there was a marked reduction in imports, necessitated, apparently, by a sharp drop in the returns on foreign investments and services, such as shipping. In Australia, the new Government, inheriting some of the most serious problems that a country could face, has also adopted a broad policy of budgetary reform, as well as a movement to unshackle trade, and its effortts in these directions, assisted by a succession of good wheat crops and wool clips, have dissipated the fear that that country would be one of the last to enjoy economic health.

Intergovernmental Debts.

The fact that the United States has suffered great economic distress may explain the seeming ruthlessless, in contrast with a usually generous attitude, with which the question of war debts is considered by many American people. But if a moratorium on these debts was necessary in 1931, was it not all the more so a month ago? If later, as an alternative to default on the part of its debtors—which as someone has said would be without dishoncur—or to a further reduction in its own standard of living, the United States is in a receptive mood, the following points might be taken into account. It is true that its allies borrowed the money, but they did not anticipate that the normal means of payment, that is, goods and services, would be all but completely barred. Strict observance of the contract is required of a creditor as well as of a debtor.

More Than One Creditor.

Further, there are more than a few countries and more than one creditor's claim involved in this question. Nearly thirty countries and more than 50 billion dollars in amortization and interest payments are involved; while the United States is the major creditor, being due to receive all told about 21 billions, there are seventeen other nations which, in the absence of ratification of the Lausanne Agreement, would be on the credit side of this account, France and Great Britain alone to the extent of over 4 billions. Having regard to the proposal of most of the creditor countries that they forgo the greater part of their claims, it seems unbelievable that the United States alone can resist a movement to obtain relief from one of the most deadening influences on world trade.

The Banking System.

Some of the current discussions on banking in Canada by those opposed to the present system—the discussions even being in the guise of a movement to establish a central bank—indicate that what they really desire is the nationalization of banking. As this form of banking has been under discussion in the United Kingdom for some time we might consider the outstanding arguments for and against it. One of the strongest proponents admitted that this system would not be as safe as that at present in vogue, but qualified his pronouncement by saying that there was ample margin to provide for the additional risk, a statement that will not stand the test of experience in banking results. The Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin once stated that there was not a government on earth that he would trust to manage a currency.

Currency and Credit Free of Politics.

A British economist of independent views, Mr. O. R. Hobson, has this to say on the subject: "Let there be no mistake about it, under the socialized system, there will be no keeping such questions out of the political arena. Credit policy will become a matter of wire-pulling and lobbying." It would indeed be a sad day for Canada if banking became the sport of politics.

Monetary Gold Basis of Credit.

I have held to the opinion that the world should return to the gold standard as quickly as possible, but there are certain conditions first to be fulfilled, among them, that all monetary gold be the basis of credit, and that creditor countries accept more freely the goods of their debtors so that there would be that movement of gold across national boundaries which makes for uniformity in commodity prices practically the world over.

Ten Per Cent Reduction in Tariff.

I do not claim that the business world has rid itself of all the poisonous elements which were in its system, but that it has left world politics far in the rear in the readjustment to economic realities and is now ready to advance. Some bold stroke of international action is required to permit of economic progress and I suggest an early reduction of 10 per cent. in every tariff in all countries, a move which should not seriously disturb the economy of each, but which might check the decline in world trade and lighten the arduous tasks confronting statesmen at the forthcoming World Economic Conference.

Canada's Future.

As for Canada, my faith in her ultimate future has not weakened in the slightest degree. After more than three years of depression, which came upon us while we were in a most vulnerable position and in which period we have suffered the disability of successive short crops over a fairly large section of our Western grain belt, as well as low prices for most food supplies, we find our country one of the least affected and still possessed of strong economic reserves. One of our aims should be so to conduct our affairs that we shall not slip back into the "Slough of Despond."

In visualizing a gradual return to better conditions, I do not wish to convey the impression that I could regard with satisfaction a repetition of the madness and folly that characterized much of the prosperity of 1926-29. Good times, when they return, must be on a sounder basis and in a less exaggerated form if they are to endure for more than a short term.

Mr. S. H. Logan, the General Manager, said in part:

The financial statement of the Bank now before you discloses a position of strength and liquidity at least equal to that of the preceding year. This favourable condition will no doubt be gratifying to our shareholders and may, I think, also be considered an important factor making for stability to our Dominion in a very difficult and trying period.

All our cash assets, together with our bank balances, total $104,500,000, representing 19 per cent. of these liabilities, while our total liquid assets of $314,000,000—cash and bank balances plus high-grade securities—were 58 per cent. of all public liabilities. The current loans declined by $25,000,000 and total deposits by $35,000,000, consequent of course upon the shrinkage in industrial and trading operations throughout the country. Our interest-bearing deposits, however, at $397,000,000 were $2,000,000 higher than last year.

The Trend of Business.

The general downward trend of world business for the year as a whole was checked on two occasions, first, in the early part of the period, when there were signs of improvement in a few countries and comparative stability in several others, including Canada; and again in the autumn, when world industrial production, which in the summer had sunk to the lowest level since 1919, began to rise. There is room for satisfaction in the Canadian industrial record, for the dekcine in our manufacturers was no greater than in 1931, and was less than in some of the older industrial countries.

Farmers' Purchasing Power.

One of the most disappointing features is that notwithstanding a marked improvement over 1931 in crop results, particularly in the Prairies Provinces, the purchasing power of Canadian agriculture—the exchange value of farm produce for the commodities required by farmers—declined by about 10 per cent. Fortunately, throughout most of the country the farmers have a plentiful supply of food immediately at hand.

Foreign Trade.

A realistic view of foreign trade is afforded by comparison of the physical volume of world exports and imports. On this basis, there was a decline in world trade from 1931 of about 20 per cent, and one of about one-third since 1929. If wheat is given its proper weighting the total volume of Canadian exports may be regarded as showing a slight increase during the past year, while imports, on the other hand, dropped about 18 per cent. Both exports and imports have, however, fallen about 40 per cent. below 1929.

The Credit Policy of Canadian Banks.

We have heard the expression of two diametrically opposed opinions as to the Canadian banking system—one both at home and abroad voicing commendation, and the other, confined to a decided minority, criticizing it in terms which have sometimes bordered on abuse.

Banking Principles and Traditions.

Infallibility of judgment cannot, of course, be claimed for bankers any more than for others in business. Bankers feel themselves bound, however, to adhere to sound banking principles and to follow correct practice in accordance with their past traditions. But I need scarcely say that they do not possess the power sometimes attributed to them by their critics to control the whole course of business and regulate the actions of individuals and governments. They are only one body in the community with their own special function to perform. It is not theirs to dictate but to serve, and their business thrives in precisely the degree that they wisely and faithfully serve the interests of the nation.

Credit Requirements Met.

Obviously, supplying this country's banking needs is no simple task. How has this task been performed, both in good and bad times? Between 1925 and 1929 the current loans of Canadian banks expanded in exact proportion to the vast growth in Canadian industrial production. In the same period these institutions financed record crops and exports of grain, although the demand for agricultural credit was relatively less than for industrial, because farming was expanding more slowly than industry. Not only were all reasonable credit requirements in this country fully met, but there was no increase in interest rates.

Surely, then, a banking system which provided an expansion of bank credit that matched the exceptional economic progress of the country should not be regarded as having failed to discharge its principal function.

Credit Widely Distributed.

Since 1929 the decline in the banks' current loans has been less than that in the commodity price level and in the national income. I direct your attention also to the fact that the decline in commodity prices preceded that in bank credit and, therefore, it cannot be claimed that the latter precipitated the former.

To prove that bank credit in Canada has been widely distributed I need only say that we have about 150,000 borrowing accounts on our books and that 85 per cent. of the number of our loans are for amounts of $1,000 or less, and 96 per cent. for $5,000 or less. Among these borrowers are many thousands of farmers in every part of Canada.

The Question of a Central Bank for Canada.

If it could be shown that a central bank could do more than the chartered banks have done, or if there was in prospect some international credit structure with which Canada would be linked, I should be willing to endorse the proposals that Canada should have a central bank. But the facts speak for themselves. There has been banking stability which has saved both depositors and borrowers alike from losses resulting from banking liquidation, and credit has been available to all classes in every section for any worthy purpose at a reasonable cost.

I am satisfied that the establishment of central banking here would mean merely additional charges for banking service which might have to be borne by the public, and the closing of many of our small branches.

Currency Inflation.

On the subject of currency inflation I need not stress the fact that history abounds with examples of the heavy losses finally inflicted upon nations by the issue of "fiat" currency greatly in excess of the requirements of trade. Such inflation as we now have may be regarded as a mild stimulant to export trade unlikely to cause serious after-effects. Some of our citizens, however, contend for a degree of currency inflation sufficient to cause a material rise in domestic prices over world prices. They advocate arbitrary depreciation of the Canadian dollar, to, say, 75 per cent. of parity, or linking it in exchange value with the more depreciated pound sterling.

A Drag on Export Prices.

The argument in favor of this proposal ignores several important considerations, among them, that part at least of the extra premium on export prices would be wiped out in a corresponding rise in import prices; that there is considerable evidence to show that action of this kind elsewhere has been a drag on commodity export prices; and that world markets, already over-burdened by supplies of raw materials and food products, are in no condition to withstand the further competition resulting from forced exports. We should never lose sight of the fact that the export value of what we sell abroad depends upon world markets over which we can exercise no direct control.

Competition in Depreciation.

All this is aside from the fact that further depression of Canadian exchange would automatically increase an already heavy burden of external debt charges upon Governments, Provinces and Municipalities—and consequently of taxation—and that our export trade would be subjected to further attack in the way of countervailing tariffs, such as those placed by the United States on lumber from which the producers of this material now suffer grievously. There is the further consideration that competitor countries now having depreciated currencies would probably still further depreciate their currencies and we should then have a competition in depreciation with results which no one can foretell. Our wisest policy is to let our exchange find its own level. It reflects our commercial and financial condition from time to time with fair accuracy and serves its purpose as a practical check upon undue inflation.

Preparation for Economic Recovery.

It is as unreasonable to insist that depression has fastened itself permanently upon us as it was a few years ago to regard prosperity as a settled condition. It cannot be too strongly emphasized that every generation has had to overcome depressions and their attendant serious problems, which in many cases, appeared worse than any ever encountered before. Each such period tested the courage and the capabilities of individuals and nations. As the centre of gravity in this era seems now to have shifted from the economic to the political sphere, the return of normal conditions waits upon affirmative and constructive efforts to bring national policies into line with an economically independent world. During the time required for the solution of these prolems let none of us shirk our individual responsibilities.

Foundations of Good Business Intact.

The time has come, if it is not already overdue, to stop fault-finding and recrimination and by a spirit of good fellowship assist each other in regaining firm ground. The foundatins of good business are intact and we can rebuild upon them. But let us use sound principles and do the work well. Rash experimentation could easily weaken the present structure and make the task of reconstruction much more prolonged and difficult.

While the economic outlook is undoubtedly obscure and one naturally hesitates to express any definite prediction, I am hopeful that this year will witness an improvement in conditions for Canada and the world at large. Towards this end, so far as concerns our own Dominion, I pledge the continuance of this Bank's policy of rendering constructive public service.

GEORGE TUCKER PASSES AWAY

Veteran Citizen Was Born in Douro Township 89 Years Ago.

FEW WEEKS SICK.

George Tucker of Warsaw died at the residence of his son-in-law Thomas Rose of Short street, Otonabee early this morning. He was 89 years of age, and dis death was preceded by an illness of some weeks duration.

Mr. Tucker was born on a farm in Douro on September 10, 1843. His birthplace was located next to the Forsythe property.

He married Janet Forsythe, who predeceased him in 1911, and farmed in Douro until the year 1886. He then moved to Dummer with his wife. Twenty years ago he moved into the home in Warsaw where he had resided until six weeks ago when he went to live at the home of his son-in-law in Otonabee.

He was predeceased by two sons. Surviving him are one daughter Mrs. T. Rose, of Otonabee; one brother, James Tucker of Warsaw and a sister, Mrs. George May of May's School House.

Mr. Tucker was well known throughout the district for his hospitality. While living at Warsaw he welcomed picnic parties to the pretty grove which he owned, and used to take the trouble to place convenient benches and tables for use of the picknickers.

During the years of his retirement he had made a hobby of collecting birds and small wild animals, in which he exhibited a great deal of pride, and obtained particular enjoyment. His modest collection was contained in glass cases at his home.

The funeral is to be held on Friday at 1.30 p.m. from the residence of Thomas Rose, Short street, Otonabee for service at the Baptist Church, Warsaw, where the Rev. Mr. Walker and the Rev. Wm. McDonald will officiate. Interment at Warsaw cemetery

MISSION CIRCLE ELECTS OFFICERS

Miss G. Spence is Chosen President—Year's Work Summed Up.

MILLBROOK, January 12 (Examiner Correspondence). — The Golden Links Mission Circle met on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. G. W. Sayles for its annual meeting, the retiring president, Miss Marjorie Sayles, taking the chair, and the secretary's report showing a total membership of 29 seevne meetings held, total attendance 186, average 27.

A resume of the year's activities, which had all been crowned with success, included a Valentine tea in February, a musical treat for the whole community in June, when the gold medallists from the Durham County Musical Festival Association presented the numbers which had won them reward at the annual competition at Bowmanville; a joint meeting with the W.M.S. and the Mission Band in the form of a picnic at Wallace Point in August, and a hot supper served in December. On motion the report was adopted as read.

The treasurer's report, presented by Miss Margaret Luxon, was itemized: Annual members' fees $3.25, one new life member $10, thankofferings $25.45, mite boxes $5 79, collections $5.60, other sources $55.16; total raised, $106.16; donation to Mission Band $4.00, expense, 61c, amount remitted to the branch treasurer, Mrs. Fie'd, Cobourg, $100

The election, conducted by Mrs (Rev.) W. W. Jones, resulted in the following slate for 1933: President, Miss Gertrude Spence; vice-president, Miss Marjorie Sayles, secretary, Miss Helen Mitchell; treasurer, Miss Marian O'Brian; auditors Mrs. J. McKnight and Miss Burnham; hon. presidents, Mrs. J. McKnight and Miss Jean L. Burnham; pianist, Miss Mary Burnham.

The C.G.I.T. group met with the Circle on Tuesday evening, and had charge of the devotional period, taking up a study of the text, "If ye shall ask anything in my name I will do it," and emphasizing promises for strength and comfort during the ensuing year. The text given by the presiding officer, Mrs Jones, especially for the Circle members in 1933, was Psalm 96 6.

Business items conducted by the group included a report of Christmas activities covering carol singing for shut-ins two evenings previous to December 25, a basket of cheer and a round-robin for a shut-in member, and arrangements to remember this member before the next meeting. Also a request that a generous offering mark the next meeting on Tuesday, January 17, at the leader's home.

Orange Association Meets At Springbrook

MARMORA, January 12 (Examiner Correspondence). — The annual meeting of No. 1 District of Centre Hastings Orange Association was held in the Orange Hall, Springbrook, on Tuesday afternoon, the retiring District Master Wor Bro. Conger McConnell presiding over a goodly attendance. Reports showed the association to be in a healthy condition. Condolences were expressed to Wor Bro. C. McConnell and Bro. Rev. H. A. Bunt in their recent sad bereavements.

Wor. Bro. W. J. Tanner presided for the election of officers for 1933, which resulted as follows:

District Master, H. G. Potts; Past District Master, C. McConnell; Deputy Master, W. J. Johnston; Chaplain, Rev. H. A. Bunt; Recording Secretary, J. Courtney; Financial Secretary, Clayton Burkitt; Treasurer, Elgin Jackman; Director of Ceremonies, Allan McComb; Lecturers, Fred Bateman, Clare Tanner; Tylers, W. Martin and D. Robertson.

In the installation which ensued, the installing officer was assisted by Wor. Bro. Alexander Martin and Bro. Alan McComb. After appropriate speeches had been made by the newly elected officers and last District Master, Wor. Bro. W. J. Cottrell, the meeting adjourned.

CALL EXTENDED REV. J. KOFFEND

Choice of Stirling and West Huntingdon Congregations for St. Andrew's Pastorate.

DISTRICT NEWS

STIRLING, January 12 (Examiner Correspondence). — On Monday evening, at a congregational meeting held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Stirling, a call was extended to Rev. J. Koffend. This was the unanimous choice of both Stirling and West Huntingdon congregations.

At St. Andrew's Guild on Monday night the topic was Moses as a Leader. The first part was taken by Leslie Eggleton, the second by Arthur Duncan.

Women's Institute.

On Thursday evening last the regular meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the Community Hall. A reading was given by Mrs. T Cranston on Friendship, and this was followed by a similar one by Mrs. P Bronson. Arthur Duncan sang, "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling." A cake contest was put on by Mrs. Perry Bronson. Winners were Mrs. J. McGee, Mrs. R. Melklejohn, Miss Helen Ward, and Mrs. M. Nolan.

The Palace of Engineering at Wembley, England, is the largest concrete structure in the world.

VESTRY MEETING OF MADOC CHURCH

Temperance Society is Organized—Entertaining Program Given.

(Examiner Correspondence)

MADOC, Jan. 12.—The annual vestry meeting of St. John's Anglican church, Madoc, was held in the Guild rooms on Tuesday evening, Jan. 10, 1933, with a rather smaller attendance than usual. Reports of the wardens, Guild and Sunday school were read, each showing a slight increase in finance and attendance over the previous year, the Sunday School especially showing a decided increase though several families with children have left the village during the year.

Mr. Wm. Hart was re-appointed as rector's warden, and Mr. Robert Belshaw unanimously re-elected as people's warden. Mr. E. C. Tufts was elected as representative to Synod, in placeof Mr. George Avery, who has moved away.

The executive council was re-elected without change. Following the election of officers, the rector, Rev. P. Gatley Reynolds thanked the wardens for their co-operation during the year, and the organist and choir, the Sunday School teachers and officers for their faithful work, and also Mr. E. C. Tufts for help and assistance during the special efforts made to finance the year.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to Rev. and Mrs. Reynolds for their earnest efforts to assist and oversee the general work of the church and for the splendid results in all departments of the Church work.

LAMEY REMANDED IN LINDSAY COURT

Warkworth Resident Charged With Criminal Negligence Following Accident Last November.

LINDSAY, January 12 (Special to The Examiner). — William Lamey, of Warkworth, appeared before Police Magistrate Jordan yesterday and was remanded until January 18 on renewal of $4,000 bail originally set when he first appeared in court. He is charged with criminal negligence following an accident when his car struck and seriously injured Mrs. Samuel Galbraith, of town, on November 6 of last year at the corner of King and Lindsay Streets. The injured woman left the hospital a short time ago, but is unable to walk yet.

Bethany

The members of the Women's Association of the United Church met at the home of the president, Mrs. Jamieson, on Friday evening when after the opening exercises, Mrs. Driver addressed the meeting briefly, before giving the topic which had been prepared for the first meeting of the New Year.

Miss McMullen read the scripture lesson and Mrs. Thorndyke, who was one in charge of the program gave each a slip containing a New Year resolution to be read as called by the number attached. This was followed by valuable discussion for ways and means whereby to carry on. It was decided to hold a Valentine tea on the first Tuesday in February. Also it was unanimously approved to hold the regular monthly meetings the first Tuesday of each month at the usual hour.

At the close of the meeting, Mrs. A. B. Ryley and Mrs. Jamieson were hostesses, serving a dainty lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Foster accompanied by Mr. G. Hurst, of Toronto were supper guests on Monday evening of Mrs. R. Vance, of Brunswick.

Messrs. Steen and Hallard, of Lindsay were in Bethany on Tuesday.

Mrs. J. McKinley who has been making an extended visit with friends in Toronto returned home on Saturday.

Madoc

The first W.M.S. meeting for 1933 was held on Thursday, January 8th, at the home of Mrs. S. S. Ashley. The new president, Mrs. J. Rutherford, then took charge of the business. In addition to the regular monthly reports, the annual reports of the secretary and treasurer were read, and the various department secretaries made their reports.

Following these reports and routine business, Mrs. V. Jack took charge of the program. The devotional leaflet—Deborah—the public-spirited woman, was read by Mrs. Corrigal. At the conclusion of this study, Mrs. Jack asked the senior members to tell something of their early church life. Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Dingman and Mrs. Huffman gave some very interesting reminiscences of their childhood days in the church and Sunday schools. The president then called upon the ex-president to perform a very pleasant duty. This was the presentation on behalf of the society of a life-membership certificate to one who is ever a faithful member. Mrs. J. Henderson, though taken completely by surprise, replied feelingly, thanking all for their kindness and love. Mrs. Jack very beautifully voiced the feelings of the society toward Mrs. Henderson. The Mizpah Benediction closed this interesting and profitable meeting. Mrs. Corrigal and Mrs. Wellman were assistant hostesses for the social half-hour. The February meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Jack, and the word for roll-call, "Charity."

THE other day a friend gave my wife a recipe for a new Frozen Orange Pudding. We had it last night for dessert.

"This is something new," I said. "Where did you get it?"

"Mae gave me the recipe yesterday. She clipped it from an advertisement."

My wife didn't read that advertisement. If her friend hadn't read it what a treat we would have missed.

Do you read the advertisements? It will pay you many times over to do so. From them you may learn about all sorts of new things. New foods, new ways to use them, new recipes that will add variety to the daily menu.

Right in the advertisements in this paper there are countless things to interest you, to save you money, to bring you the most value for what you spend. And now as a reward for reading this advertisement here is the recipe that inspired it.

Recipe for Frozen Orange Pudding

Ingredients. 2 egg yolks (beaten); 1 cup orange juice; 1 cup cream (light cream or top milk will do); 4 teaspoonfuls flour; 1/8 teaspoonful salt; 1/3 cup sugar; 1 teaspoonful grated orange rind.

Blend thoroughly egg yolks, sugar, flour, salt and add orange juice and cream. Put in double boiler until thick. Add orange rind, cool and pour into freezing tray of refrigerator—or three or four hours on ice. When ready to serve, top each dish with meringue made by beating two egg whites stiff and adding 1/4 cup sugar. Garnish with orange segments.

MADOC CHURCH CONGREGATIONS HOLD JOINT WEEK OF PRAYER

Rev. C. G. Wright of Belleville Speaks in St. Peter's Presbyterian Church.

LARGE ATTENDANCES

MADOC, Jan. 12 (Examiner Correspondence).—The week of intercession and prayer just past, was observed in Madoc as a special season in which the United, Presbyterian and Anglican Church of the village arranged jointly a program to meet in the various churches as a joint congregation with an interchange of speakers. The various meetings were all well attended. The first evening there were 77 present, and 89 the second evening, with an added attendance each evening until on Friday evening about one hundred and twenty were in attendance.

On Sunday, January 1, each minister preached to his own congregation the opening subject being, "The Consecration of Ourselves," and also stressed the importance of keeping this special week for the special services planned, and urged all to attend some or all of the meetings.

On Tuesday, the meeting was held in St. Peter's Presbyterian Church, the speaker being Rev. G. G. Wright, rector of Christ Church, Belleville. His subject was "Young People's Part in the Movement."

Rev. Mr. Wright spoke of the ideal of Christ that was usually put before our young people. He pointed out that the popular hero among them was someone who had done something; as for instance the hockey player. He stated that to his mind too much emphasis had been placed on the presentation of Christ from the standpoint of gentleness and humility without showing the strength and power of the personality behind it. Christ had this gentleness, but it was the gentleness of the strong personality. He had the humility of the truly great. We should place before our young people the personality of Christ in all its aspects and not stress one side only. It was the strong personality of the Christ which drew from the Roman soldier at the Crucifixion, "Truly this was the Son of God," and caused the dying thief to realize a great leader.

Our young people need and look for a great leader and it is ours to show the power and leadership offered by Christ.

Rev. P. Gatley Reynolds

On Wednesday, in Trinity United Church, Rev. P. Gatley Reynolds was the speaker, and taking "Consecration of the Home," as his subject, gave a very practical and earnest address that should compel most earnest and prayerful thought on this subject by all who were privileged to hear this address. Beginning by defining a home as one founded by love, as otherwise it would be but fore bare walls, and illustrating the homes of Eden, Nazareth and Bethany, he startled his hearers by demonstrating that as a chain is no stronger than its weakest link, so no community is better than its average home, and drove home the truth that we must consider, "If all homes are like yours—or mine—would the community be Christian? Would it be, if like the average home?"

Speaking of the well-known motto, "Christ is the Head of This Home, the welcome guest at every meal, the unseen listener to every conversation," with this hung on the wall, but swearing or quarrelling in the kitchen, is that home Christian? Each Home, he said, should be founded on Love, human and divine, then the obedience exacted from children, will not be hard, as it will follow from love.

Then parent will pray for child, and child for parent. There will be prayer at the table, and then naturally the family will come up together for worship in God's House on God's Day. Sunday school and day school will not be held responsible for the Christian education of our children, but what they teach will be but a continuation of the home teaching ,not instead of it. Parents are responsible for the teaching, and children are responsible for obedience. It is laid on them as a duty. Christian homes will make Christian villages and a Christian world.

At St. John's Angican Church on Thursday, Rev. R. Bertram Nelles was the speaker; prayers being taken by Rev. P. Gatley Reynolds, rector, and Scripture lesson by Rev. G. W. Rivers. The subject was "Consecration of the Community." Taking the text, "That the Scriptures might be fulfilled that saith, that Abraham was the friend of God," James 2:35. Mr. Nelles spoke of the fact that individual life must make the community life. Referring to Sheldon's "What Would Jesus Do?" he showed now that question might be asked in daily life? Jesus taught by Beatitudes and applying these teachings may be a guide.

The saying, "Birds of a feather fleck together," is often a real truth. Kindred minds form groups, either from business associations, inheritance, or organization, and so a community is formed. This week is a call to consecration, but where community life shows lack of recognition of God, where God is not recognized in home life, in industry, in organized effort, in national effort, the result is failure; else, results would have been different.

Consider, "If I had not come?" into community life, in Madoc, or at Christmas time, how different would have been our outlook.

The Call is to Prayer, to a consecrated understanding of Himself and His coming; that we may be all agreed and united in service to Him; to Friendship, to be the friends of each and friends of God. What said the speaker, is true religion? If we are prepared to leave God out of our life, or out of the community, what are we to do about it? We might consider our means of raising money, and whether our church impresses itself and its ideals of service on the community. The Church—the building is not the essential thing—money is not absolutely necessary—but we must be consecrated in spirit. There must be true religion in the family group, in the church group, and the community group. Religion must be not material, but deeper, not a creed, but friendship. God and God only is friendship and real understanding. Our consecration is not measured by our income, but by outgo.

True religion has its basis in faith, and its climax in the Cross. If heart and soul are consecrated, the Church will have no difficulties in meeting its obligations. Each one should recognize our responsibility in the community.

Rev. G. W. Rivers

On Friday evening, at St. Peter's Presbyterian Church, Rev. G. W. Rivers took up the theme of "International Relationships," Rev. Mr. Nelles, the pastor, being called to Toronto, the devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. Mr. Reynolds.

Rev. Mr. Rivers called attention to the fact that the world has become only a larger neighborhood, owing to telegraphy, airplanes and radio. The world has moved very rapidly. Not so long ago, all disputes were settled by war, but war settles nothing. The Great War settled nothing. The winners were the losers, and now the winners must help the losers to get back to normal. War arouses hatred; it is wrong, and against the teachings of Jesus.

Jesus came to bring Peace. We should pray for peace—think peace and talk peace,—as families, in home life, as neighbors, and in community life; then we might have world peace; but it begins at home.

The League of Nations is a move in the right direction. We have been threatened by Communism, by Rationalism, by greed of munition manufacturers. The economic war now among the nations must be done away with, and the Christian Church must consider how best to help the missionaries scattered among the nations. These are far too few, and a larger army of missionaries means more Christian work done. If the money that was spent on the Great War had been spent on missions there would have been no war. We have been too slow, too uninterested in sending the Gospel to the nations. Instead of retrenching, and falling down, we should send more. There is money for Government bonds, for shows and amusements, but not for missions. We must consider that the more Christians there are in a country the less likelihood of war. If more Christians among the Chinese and Japanese, there would be no war. Conditions are bad enough now, but without Christianity it would be much worse.

Some of the things we can do are to pray—to sow seeds of love and brotherhood. He came to bring peace and goodwill among men.

St. John's Church

At St. John's Anglican Church, the subject, "The Consecration of Ourselves," for Sunday, January 1, was taken with the text, "Choose you this day whom you will serve," Joshua 24:15. The rector, Rev. P. Gatley Reynolds, spoke to his people of the choice to be made and the importance of making the proper choice. Choosing for God is consecrating ourselves to and for His service. If we choose for God, then, Gd being Love, the love of God would abound in our hearts and in the world. Then, speaking of the Week of Prayer and Intercession, Mr. Reynolds spoke of the opportunity offered, and the opportunity and necessity of making a right choice, and urged his people to attend as many as possible of the meetings of the week.

On Sunday, Jan. 8, the subject being "The Consecration of this Week of Prayer for the Evangelization of Canadian Life," Rev. Mr. Reynolds took as his text, "When they saw the star ,they rejoiced with exceeding great joy," Matt. 2: 10. Combining the Epiphany message with the subject for the evening, Mr. Reynolds spoke of Epiphany as the manifestation of Christ to the Gentiles.

Christ, he stated, had many ways of attracting to Himself. To take two only of the outstanding ways known to us. The first on the Salvation Army, which was founded by William Booth to take the Gospel to the slums of London, and has continued bringing glad tidings to poeple whom the church has not reached. Among them are many very spiritual minded men and women who have done great work for God's cause. Another, entirely opposite, is the recent Oxford Group movement, which aims to reach the highest in the land. The teachings are not new. They teach Divine guidance, but leave out the human intelligence. It has its dangerous points, having no doctrinal basis, no creed. Its method of confession might lead to emotional dangers, and the danger of not realizing what the Coming of Christ really means.

Reviewing briefly the addresses of the week, the speaker asked, "What did you get out of these meetings? Are you better in heart and life? or is yours the attitude of the Pharisee? You will get only what you desired.

The subject, "The Evangelization of the Dominion," brings to us the need of the individual consecration of your life to His service,—the necessity of getting into your hearts the need of Christ. Did you pray for His grace? Will you ask, what part am I going to take in the evangelization of the Dominion? One speaker during the week spoke of the fact that if there were more Christians in China and Japan, there need not have been war between them; but we want more Christians in our own churches, more who are not ashamed to confess Him and live for Him. Follow the Epiphany Star,—follow until we find,—and then follow on until the end of this life, and we hear the "Well done," of the Father. Make up our minds to do our part, through our home, through the community, and the neighborhood, the nation and the world. Take the love of God to our hearts, until it radiates from us, and the kingdoms of this world become the kingdom of God, and He shall reign forever and ever.

INQUEST IS HELD

The inquest was conducted before Coroner Dr. J. C. Smith, of Lakefield, by Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K.C. Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C. was present representing Mr. Eastwood's interests and John R. Corkery was in attendance in the interests of the bereaved family.

J. C. Poolman had seen the body after death and identified it as that of Daniel O'Brien.

Fractured Hip

Dr. W. S. Fitzpatrick said he examined Mr. O'Brien the day after the accident. The patient was suffering from shock, had a bruise on his right hip and a bone fracture of the right hip. Dr. Fitzgerald assisted in setting the fractured bone.

Dr. F. P. McNulty attended the injured man shortly after the accident in Lewis' barber shop and also at the hospital. He said the fracture of the right hip was the only serious injury. There were no indications of concussion. However the fracture was extensive, there being considerable displacement.

"Almost from the first he seemed to have a general lowering of his vitality," stated Dr. McNulty in giving the cause of death. He said he understood Mr. O'Brien was 75 years of age. Shortly after taken to the hospital the patient become depressed, developed bronchial pnuemonia and all his organs ceased to function properly. He was unconscious for ten days previous to his death. Every care was given the patient in the form of stimulants and special nursing.

Dr. McNulty said that the final illness and death of Mr. O'Brien was due to the accident. The doctor said he expected the patient to die ten days before he did.

Heard Scream

Aileen Milloy, employee of James Lynch's drug store, said she did not see the accident but heard a scream. She saw Mr. Eastwood and saw a man being carried into Lewis' barber shop.

Sergeant William Wigg said he investigated the accident, first finding Mr. O'Brien in Lewis' barber shop being attended by Dr. M. McCulloch.

Himself to Blame

"The only words he said was that he wished to express that it was his own fault," stated Sergeant Wigg. "I tried to make it. I thought I could," he told me.

Sergeant Wigg said that Mr. Eastwood's car skidded 15 feet on ice and about three feet on wet pavement. The skidd marks showed the car was travelling almost in the centre of the road. The skidd marks began just about opposite Chambers street. He gave as his opinion that a car would not have to be going very fast to skid that distannce on the icy pavement.

There were no chains on Mr. Eastwood's car and no test was made of the brakes.

In Good Health

J. C. Poolman was recalled, said he was a son-in-law of Mr. O'Brien. Witness said the deceased man's health was perfect for a man of his age. He was within a few days of 76 years old.

J. M. Yokom said he did not see the accident but heard it. He said there was a car parked between him and the accident. He heard a dull thud and a scream. He found Mr. O'Brien lying on the pavement and assisted him into the barber shop.

"He said that he was entirely responsible," said witness. "Speaking to Mr. Eastwood he said, "You're not to blame." Mr. Eastwood's car stopped facing southwest and practically all on the left side of the road. The road was very icy, he said. As he recollected there was a car proceeding in front of Mr. Eastwood.

William Walters said he saw Mr. O'Brien being carried into the barber shop. "I heard him say it wasn't Mr. Eastwood's fault that it was his own," said Mr. Walters, who was in the barber shop when the injured man was being treated.

Willam Clancy corroborated the evidence of Sergeant Wigg as to the position of Mr. Eastwood's car after the accident.

Car in Front

Vincent Eastwood said he was driving west along Hunter street at about 15 to 18 miles per hour.

"I was just passed Chambers street," said Mr. Eastwood. "There was a car standing in front of the telephone office with its lights on and apparently starting to draw away from the curb. I was going carefully watching that car when Mr. O'Brien crossed from the north side of Hunter street going south.

"I saw Mr. O'Brien about three feet in front of my left bumper. To my knowledge he had come out in front of the other car. I was about abreast of the other car which was also proceeding west. I was about half a length behind the front of the other car."

Rather Foggy Night

Explaining why he had failed to see Mr. O'Brien, witness said it was rather foggy. "The first I saw of him was when he was three feet in front of my left fender," he said. "I stopped my car almost instantly. The car did not run over him but left him rather inclining against the wheel. I think the car struck him on the left hip and knocked him on his left side on the pavement."

Telling of the conversation with Mr. O'Brien, Mr. Eastwood said, "He said that it was no ones fault but his own, that he himself was to blame." Witness called the doctors and the police station.

Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Saves $2. No Cooking! So Easy!

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It takes but a moment to prepare, and costs very little, but it positively has no equal for quick, lasting relief.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex. Pour this into a 10 oz. bottle and fill the bottle with granulated sugar syrup, made with 2 cups of sugar and one cup of water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's so easy! Thus you make 16 ounces of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and children love its taste.

This simple mixture soothes and heals the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway Pine, the most reliable healing agent for severe coughs. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

CAMPBELLFORD

NEWS ITEMS FOR THE TRENT TOWN DISTRICT

Business in the plant of the Campbellford Cloth Company is picking up considerably with the regular staff running at full time and some departments doing several nights a week overtime. This is a considerable boon to the town and will help to relieve some of the severe employment conditions.

Reeve C. H. Davidson was a visitor to Toronto on Wednesday, attending the banquet at the Royal York Hotel at which the guest speaker was the Hon. G. S. Henry, premier of Ontario.

Mr. W. V. Drewry of Warkworth was a visitor to town on Wednesday.

Mr. Walter H. Smith, District Agricutural Representative of Brighton was in town on business on Wednesday.

Obituary

JOHN RICHARD RICKMAN.

STIRLING, Jan. 12 (Examiner Correspondence).—Sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. J. Rickman, who lost their baby, John Richard, on Saturday after a short illness. Rev. A. Rowland conducted the service at the home and cemetery.

MRS. KEITH SAUNDERS.

RUSH POINT, January 12 (Examiner Correspondence).— The death occurred at eight o'clock on Tuesday morning of Mrs. Keith Saunders (nee Verena West Hubble) at the home of Mrs. William Hubble near South Lake. Mrs Saunders had been ill but a very short time with pneumonia, and word of her death came as a shock to her friends in this district. She was well known at Rush Point, where as a child she attended the Rush Point Public School and the White Church and at Havelock, where she resided for some months after her marriage. She was also well known in Norwood, where she lived for some time before her marriage.

She leaves, besides her sorrowing husband, one little daughter Jacqueline, who will be two years old in February.

The funeral services were held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alf Spencer of Havelock on Thursday afternoon, interment taking place at Maple Grove Cemetery.

J. MOORE.

An old resident of Stirling, J. Moore, passed away on Saturday last. He was born in Napanee 85 years ago. His widow survives him, also four sons: Charles of Watertown, Bert of Toronto, William of N. Dakota, Roy of Napanee.

BABY MARTIN.

CAMPBELLFORD, January 12 (Examiner Staff Correspondence). — The funeral of ten-months-old Lilly Catherine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy S. Martin, Maple Street Campbellford, was held this afternoon from the family residence, interment being made in Mount Pleasant Cemetery. The service was conducted by the Salvation Army officers. The child died yesterday morning.

MRS. JOHN FRY.

CAMPBELLFORD January 12 (Examiner Staff Correspondence) — The death occurred yesterday at the home of her brother, T. Watson, Concession 8, Seymour Township, of Elsie Fry, widow of John Fry, in her 68th year. Born in the township on January 19, 1865, she has resided there all her life, the past ten years being spent at the home of her brother.

The funeral will take place on Friday afternoon to St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Burnbrae, where service will be conducted by the Rev. D. A. McKenzie, interment being made in Burnbrae Cemetery.

same time we have no intention of giving up Shanhaikwan either," the General continued. "We must continue to occupy the city as a measure of security against recurrence of the events of January 1 and 2, or Shanhaikwan must be converted into a neutral zone.

Attack Calamitous.

"Massed in front of us are 30,000 Chinese troops. If they attempt to retake Shanhaikwan, it will prove calamitous for them, for we shall hurl against them all our available land, air and sea forces," said Suzuki.

Traversing the top portion of the great wall which encircles Shanhaikwan at this point, the writer ascertained that the extent of the battle havoc and ruined area covers about six city blocks, but the majority of houses destroyed were cheap one-storied dwellings.

The great wall itself was badly damaged in many sections, especially near the south gate and the famous sexagonal tower.

CAVAN.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Simpson have been spending the past week with friends at Smith's Falls.

Mrs. W. Card visited friends at Manvers Station last week.

Mr. Sydney Hutchinson of Havelock spent the week-end here with Mrs. Hutchinson and Garfield Mr. Hutchinson has been transferred from Cavan to Havelock section and will shortly move his family to Havelock where he and his family will reside.

Toronto Man Discovers Quick Relief for Backache

Could Hardly Straighten Up —But Now Well, Thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills

Toronto, Ont., January 12 (Special).

"My husband's back was very painful," says Mrs. Edwin Milner, a well known and respected resident of this city. "It was so bad that when he stooped he could scarcely get up again. This condition was caused by his Kidneys. He took Dodd's Kidney Pills for a short time and was soon rid of the pain in his Back and felt fine. I have also used Dodd's Kidney Pills, and both my husband and myself think they are the best Remedy there is. We have recommended them to our friends and they all say there is nothing to beat them."

Backache is Nature's warning of faulty Kidney action. Never neglect it. If you fail to heed this sign that your Kidneys are out of order you are taking great chances. Backache, if not corrected, is often followed by some far more serious form of Kidney disease. Do not hesitate but at the first sign of Kidney trouble, such as Backache, turn unhesitatingly to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

EDWIN MILNER

Who suffered from such painful Backache that he could hardly straighten up. He took Dodd's Kidney Pills and his aches and pains quickly disappeared. He is now feeling fine and recommends Dodd's Kidney Pills to all his friends.

PAROLED SLAYER FINDS WORLD MUCH THE SAME

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 12.—(A.P.)—There have been a lot of changes, but after all, it's the same old world.

So declared Merton Munn, paroled slayer, as he stepped from the State's prison at Stillwater yesterday, a free man for the first time in more than a quarter of a century.

Once sentenced to hang, and later getting a life term from the Governor, Munn went on an automobile tour of the twin cities en route to his new home at the Minnesota Soldiers' Home here.

"Not bad," he said, as he described his first automobile ride. "A few more houses where there used to be farms," he said of the scenery.

He got a close-up view of an airplane at the municpal airport. "Going to ride in one, if I can," he said.

Munn, a Spanish-American war veteran, was convicted in 1906 of killing Gus Franklin, at Spooner, Minn., during a quarrel.

SPLENDID YEARLY REPORTS ARE READ

George Street Church Women's Missionary Society Holds First Meeting.

The first meeting for the New Year of the W.M.S. of George Street United Church was held in the board room yesterday afternoon, with an attendance of over fifty, with the president, Mrs. C. W. Coon, in the chair.

The Scripture lesson, read by Mrs. J. H. Rowe, was taken from the first chapter of Colossians, and Mrs. J. E. J. Millyard led in prayer.

A memorial service in charge of Mrs. W. McMillan was held in tribute to three departed members, Miss Emma McCamus, Mrs. Spence and Mrs. George Powell, who had been faithful workers in the W.M.S. for many years. Mrs. McMillan spoke of Mrs. Spence; Miss Might, of Mrs. Powell, and Mrs. Latimer read a paper by Mrs. Bamforth, who was unable to be present, on the life work of the late Miss McCamus. Mrs. Coon led in prayer, followed by the singing of a hymn.

Splendid yearly reports were submitted by the secretary and treasurer, showing that a great work had been achieved during the year. In spite of the difficulties in financial affairs, the allocation had been reached.

Reference was made to the recent bereavement of Mrs. W. H. Morton, Mrs. O. Gray and Mrs. A. E. Dixon, and deep sympathy expressed.

Mrs. Fairbrother was appointed temperance secretary and Mrs. Burch as assistant corresponding secretary. Mrs. S. R. Armstrong and Mrs. J. Spencer agreed to act as auditors for the coming year. Excellent reports were received from the group leaders or secretaries as follows:

Mrs. J. W. Copp reporting for Group A; Mrs. Parnell, for Group B; Miss Might, for Group C; Mrs. Latimer, Group E; Mrs. J. H. Hales, Group F; Mrs. Sandercock, Group G, and Mrs. Kelly for Group H.

Mrs. J. W. Hales, for the Sick and Visiting Committee, reported 55 calls made during the month, and a total of 692 made during the year. Mrs. J. A. Spencer, for the Strangers' Committee, reported making 97 calls during the year.

Mrs. Hatherley reported for the Missionary Monthly, and Mrs. W. H. Cunningham gave the report of the Supply Secretary, showing that a bale valued at $35.28 had been sent in September. Mrs. J. H. Rowe submitted the report of the Literature Department, and Mrs. F. Miller, press secretary, reported nine regular meetings and a large number of special activities printed in The Examiner.

An excellent report on the work of the Fidelis Mission Band was given by Mrs. Wellwood and Mrs. Dulmage gave the report of the Twilight Mission Circle.

A resolution was passed that the standing committees remain the same as last year, with Mrs. A. Piper as Finance Secretary, assisted by Mrs. W. Burns, Mrs. Manning and Mrs. H. Dulmage. Mrs. J. C. Wood, Mrs. J. M. Fanning and Mrs. F. Miller were appointed delegates to the Women's Council.

A telephone committee to assist the secretary, Miss Might, was appointed, consisting of Mrs. Fanning, Mrs. Spencer and Mrs. Dulmage.

A report of the executive meeting held to make arrangements for serving meals for the Presbyterial was given, Mrs. Richard Parnell and Mrs. G. H. Walker being appointed convenors. A reception committee and a committee in charge of the collection was also appointed.

It was decided that for the coming year the groups would take charge of the devotional part of the program for the regular meetings and that the president, first and second vice-presidents, secretary and treasurer form a committee to arrange for a speaker and the remainder of the program.

Y.W.C.A. BOARD HOLDS MEETING

Total Receipts From Finance Campaign Are $2,154.35.

PLAN SPECIAL CLASS.

The regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Y.W.C.A. was held this week, Mrs. E. E. Harvey presiding and taking the devotional exercises.

The financial reports were read and accepted. Total receipts from the Finance Compaign to date were $2,154.35, with $169.00 in promises and a few still to hear from.

The report of the General Secretary included the regular classes in Elocution, First Aid, Junior Cooking, and Junior Story Hour, the weekly program of four organized clubs which reach 275 girls, the employment bureau with its numerous calls and services, and the special Christmas parties and entertainments. The Y.W.C.A. bazaar, a joint project of all Y.W.C.A. groups, gymnasium, classes, residence and clubs was a real success and netted the Association $100.00.

Arrangements have been made in co-operation with the Red Class Society to start Friday, January 13, at the Y.W.C.A., a class in Home Nutrition. Thirty have already registered for this Red Cross Course which promises to be very helpful. Everyone interested is invited to attend.

Announcement was also made of the Leadership Training Course, February 3 to 10. This course provided excellent training for leaders in psychology, material and methods for Sunday School and organized club work as well as excellent Bible Study Courses.

The Physical Director announced the January Gymnasium Campaign for new members. The various classes have as their objective 50 new gym. members, and already 15 have joined. A large mountain scenery bulletin with ski slide records the new members.

The Basketball League commenced games January 6. This year's league will be one of the largest and promises many interesting games.

Gymnasium classes have a good registration. Special Christmas parties including the large junior party when Santa visited the 300 little tots, marked the social side of gym. activities for December. Badminton is still very popular. The gym. is reserved for Badminton three mornings each week, early afternoons and two evenings. Arrangements can be made for instruction for beginners.

The Residence report was most encouraging with the house well filled, there being 26 Normal School students, 2 Collgeiate and 2 Business College as well as 30 business girls. A reduction in the price of board had meant a reduction in income partly met by lower prices. Christmas and New Year's were fittingly celebrated and although several have been ill with colds, a happy atmosphere prevails.

The meetings closed with social half hour and cup of tea.

Mountain Maid

Nothing could be more charming (no ambiguity inferred) than this rough and ready costume worn by Miss Betty Stockfield in "The Maid of the Mountains," a British picture which had a splendid run in Canada. Betty is one of the most popular of British actresses and one has only to see this "from-the-neck-up" shot for the main reason. Of course, she can also act, but who cares?

Your Health
By Dr. LOGAN CLENDENING

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

"Why," asks a somewhat angry reader, "are women so much more likely to be cold inside a room in the winter than men? Does this imply any difference in health?"

The answer is, of course, evident to everyone, but the fact that it constitutes a considerable health hazard is not quite so often taken into account. The difference is, of course, largely due to the difference in clothing.

The clothing which American men wear in the winter time is usually heavy enough to allow them to be comfortable in a temperature of about 55 or 65 degrees Fahrenheit. The clothing that most women wear in the winter time would not make them very comfortable at the equator.

Besides this, American homes and office buildings, and buildings of all kinds, usually are badly overheated and badly ventilated in the winter time. In fact, I have seen it stated that American homes in the winter time have exactly the same amount of humidity as the Sahara Desert.

I see no prospect of persuading women to wear any heavier clothes and allow the house to be kept at a temperature of 65 degrees, so, therefore, I believe the only way to help this situation is to recommend thinner clothes for the men. As a matter of fact, the standard for the weight of our clothes came originally from England where climatic conditions are entirely different from those in the United States. It is true that in the past 20 years the weight of garments for men has come down so that it is now all through the year far below the weight of garments sold in England or in most parts of Europe. In fact, it is impossible to obtain materials in Europe as thin as American men demand in the summer time.

However, there are certain other conditions that are different in the United States. The system of heating houses from a central furnace is far more prevalent than in England or other parts of Europe. Over there they are likely to have an open fire in the grate in one room, the halls and the rooms where there is no fire are cold. The edges of such a room are much colder than ours. Hence, they require heavier garments indoors.

As a matter of fact, American men, for their own health and comfor, should wear almost summer weight cloth for their suits. They will find that with their heavy overcoats they can keep perfectly comfortable in such garments on the street.

People vary, of course, in their sensitiveness to cold, but most differences are due to such simple things as I have pointed out.

M. A. H. requests me to repeat an article on the prevention of athlete's foot.

Answer: The method I suggested was the use of a 10 to 15 per cent solution of sodium thiosulphate. This solution should be in a large pail or tub, and in locker rooms bathers should be required to dip their feet in it before and after bathing.

STAMP CORNER
By M. A. Bessey

Libera, the so-called "Paradise of the Black Man," might also be termed the paradise of the stamp collector who has a taste for color and variety.

The large majority of Liberian postage stamps are printed in two colors, some more, and as a rule the stamps are quite large and depict attractive scenes, as well as many of the various animals, reptiles and birds that are natives of that African republic.

Liberia is a republic on the west coast of Africa north of the equator and lying between the French Ivory Coast and Sierra Leone. The colony was originally founded by several colonization societies to provide a home for the freed slaves of America. It was constituted as the Free and Independent Republic of Liberia in 1847 and received prompt recognition by several countries, and the ultimate recognition of the world powers.

The triangular stamp illustrated is one of a set of five registration stamps issued in 1921. All five depict that famous but terrifying boa constrictor about which many stories have been told. The boa, in all cases, is printed in black, with the balance of the stamp in a diffeernt color. All stamps are of the same face value—10 cents. On the stamp illustrated you will note the name of the town "Monrovia" appears across the bottom of the stamp. This is the capital of Liberia. The other four stamps bear the name of a different town or city of Liberia, these being Buchanon, Greenville, Harper and Robertsport. The color combinations are as follows: Claret, red, ultramarine, orange and green each of the above colors being combined with the snake which is in black. All of the stamps are catalogued at 20 cents each unused and 10 cents each used.

Many different opinions have been given as to the advisability of collecting and purchasing these Liberian stamps. I am not going to advise one way or the other, but will merely give you a little information about them, and my own opinion. It is hardly necessary for me to say that practically all of the Liberian stamps are very attractive, and will provide any amount of color to the pages of your album. They will also provide many interesting scenes worth looking over, and if you are interested in animals, birds and reptiles, you can have practically an entire zoo in your own home. So much for that.

To anyone more interested in the investment side of stamp collecting, I can hardly recommend these varieties as gilt-edged securities. Some authorities on the stamps of Liberia recommend the collecting of unused copies, while others favor the used stamps. In this latter class there is a catch. Liberia, it seems, is one of those countries who are not averse to cancelling stamps to order. By that I mean large supplies of stamps will be specially postmarked and sold at much less than their face value. Naturally, such stamps should not be worth as much to a collector as genuine postally used copies. Nevertheless large quantities of them are offered for sale both in the United States and Canada, as well as other parts of the world. Usually they are sold for about one-half catalogue value. Experts advise against paying so much for them, but I have never seen them offered wholesale at a sufficiently low price to allow them to be sold at a much lower retail price as such cancelled-to-order stamps really should.

Granting that the stamps are very picturesque and help to brighten up practically any collection, I can see no reason why collectors need worry about their future value, if the present price asked for the stamps is not too high. Unused stamps of Liberia are doubtless the best, with genuine postally used copies a close second. However, cancelled-to-order stamps are by far the most plentiful, and so I say don't buy them for their future value, but more as pretty little pictures, about which you need not worry over such things as postmarks and present and future values.

The author will be pleased to answer all questions regarding stamps or stamp collecting. Address your letter in care of this paper, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope for your reply. If your question is of general interest it will be answered in this column, and will require no return envelope.

Turn those clouds

Inside Out!

YOU can gain a fuller, richer enjoyment of life by keeping in tip-top health. For health and happiness go hand in hand.

A frequent cause of poor health is constipation. It clouds your waking hours, and dulls even the sunniest disposition. Yet it can be overcome by eating a delicious cereal.

Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN furnishes "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regular habits. ALL-BRAN also provides twice the blood-building iron of an equal amount by weight of beef liver. The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that in leafy vegetables.

Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily will overcome most types of constipation. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not corrected this way, see your doctor.

Think how much better it is to enjoy this food in place of taking patent medicines—so often harmful and habit-forming. Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

"When you're healthy, you're happy"

"How you feel — and how well you look — depends largely upon the food you eat. Be sure your diet is balanced — with sufficient 'bulk' to promote regularity."

feet perspire, and since, because of the shoes, proper evaporation is impeded, the stockings become sodden and uncomfortable. Then, when the shoes and stockings are removed at night snug slippers are usually donned. And finally, the feet are tucked away under heavy bedclothes. As a result, the feet receive very little opportunity to come into contact with the air.

Any woman who wants healthy, pretty and unblemished feet, should give her tootsies air baths as often as possible. She would remove her shoes and stockings when at home, and don loose, wel-ventilated sandals. Or better still, she should pad about the house in her bare feet. It doesn't matter if her feet become dirty. For the benefit they derive is worth far more than the little effort required to wash away the grime.

In a sense, walking around in the bare feet gives the skin of the feet a chance to breathe. It naturally permits the normal evaporation of moisture and perspiration. And what's more, it helps to strengthen the muscles of the feet by exercising and developing them. So take my tip and bare your feet as often as you can. If you do this, and observe the other rules of foot health, the chances are that you'll wind up with feet as unblemished and lovely as the famous Triby's.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Mouth Wash

Alice: An excellent mouth wash can be made by dissolving one-fourth teaspoon of borax, one-fourth teaspoon peroxide and one-fourth teaspoon of salt in a glass of warm water.

BE BEAUTIFUL
By GLADYS GLAD

It is said that the lovely screen start and warbler, Jeanette MacDonald, often takes off her shoes at parties and walks about in her stocking feet I know, of course, that some women do this surreptitiously because their feet hurt, or their shoes are too tight But Jeanette doesn't try to conceal her slipperless feet. And she doesn't kick off her shoes because her feet hurt, either. She does it because she derives pleasure from walking about without shoes.

Perhaps a party isn't quite the place to take off one's shoes. But I certainly do wish more women would get into the habit of baring their feet frequently at home. For the feet derive a great deal of benefit from air baths, and yet so seldom receive them.

In the first place, all day long the feet are encased in close-fitting stockings and air-tight shoes. The

Today's Recipes

Brown Sugar Pudding.—Three cups milk, four and one-half tablespoons cornstarch, four tablespoons brown sugar, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one egg, one-half teaspoon vanilla (one teaspoon cornstarch may be substituted for the egg if desired.) Mix the cornstarch, salt, two tablespoons sugar, and one-half cup cold milk. Meanwhile scald the rest of the milk in the top of a double boiler. Pour a little of the scalded milk on the cornstarch mixture, and blend well. Add this to the remaining scalded milk and stir constantly until the pudding coats the spoon. Remove the spoon, cover the double boiler and cook for 25 minutes, stirring occasionally. Beat the egg slightly, add the remaining sugar and pour the pudding over the egg mixture gradually, stirring constantly (never add the egg to the hot mixture). Combine thoroughly and return to the double boiler to cook one minute longer. Add the vanilla, beat up well and pour into cold, wet molds or sherbert glasses. Chill thoroughly.

LIFFORD LINE.

The Lifford Line A.Y.P.A. met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Peters on Thursday evening with 20 young people enjoying a beneficial social gathering.

The highlight of the evening was an interesting and instructive debate: "Resolved, that the car has done more good than harm." The affirmative side was taken by Miss Aileen Peters and Percy Hamilton, while Harold Thwaite and Bill Ridout capably upheld the negative side. Each speaker showed a full knowledge of the subject in hand. The judges, Messrs. William Hanna, Harry Pearce and Robert Sisson after deliberation gave their decision in favor of the affirmative side, at the same time highly commending the efforts of the negative side.

A Geography Contest with the Lifford teacher, Miss Trimble and the Fleetwood teacher, Mr. Hamilton acting as captains for sides, proved most entertaining, the award of winning going to the latter side by one point.

As usual community singing was enjoyed with Robert Sisson in charge.

At the close of the first half of the program, refreshments were served by the hostess family assisted by George Tims.

Recreation of various types followed, rounding out a jolly social hour.

Miss Muriel Hanna, a regular attendant, invited the young folks to come to her home for the next fortnightly meeting.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

HOUSE PLANTS are a delightful bit of indoor green, and color, too, when they are in bloom.

* * * * * * *

They lend cheer to rooms with their living beauty.

* * * * * * *

You have often heard the expression that a certain woman "has the best of luck with her plants." But it really isn't luck at all. It is systematic care and a knowledge of what is needed.

* * * * * * *

Other women who give desultory care to their plants believe they have poor luck with them, and often hesitate to include the beautifying decoration.

* * * * * * *

Jardinieres must be used with care. In the use of these there is always the danger that the plant will be standing in stale water, if it is not looked after.

* * * * * * *

But there is a jardiniere with a hole in the bottom, as in a flower pot. This permits air circulation about the pot inside, and extra water drains off readily.

* * * * * * *

This means, of course, that the jardiniere must stand on some sort of saucer or plate.

* * * * * * *

And it is well to remember that plants breathe through their leaves. So keep them clean lest the pores close. Plants with large leaves or those not so tender that they will break when handled can have the leaves sponged off occasionally.

* * * * * * *

A good spraying can be given others. Place the plants in the wash tub or bath tub and spray thoroughly with a bath spray. The gentle streams of not too cold water are like fast falling raindrops which are so refreshing and invigorating to plant life.

* * * * * * *

Plants which require sun will not flourish in north windows. The sunnier the window the better. Most ferns can do without sun, while the rest should not have it all day in full force.

* * * * * * *

A shade can be drawn when the sun shines too long or too powerfully on a fern, but one hesitates to exclude the snushine from rooms.

* * * * * * *

It is wise, therefore, to have a fern in a north window or one through which little sun comes.

OUR MAIL

Dear Anne:

I have wanted to Happy New Year to you and the neighbors for over a week, but it is not twelfth night yet, so hope it is not too late. I do indeed wish you and all who wrote to you a really Happy New Year.

What a good letter Water Lily sent. It is only the higher things of life that count and they and they alone make for unalloyed happiness. Ever since Christmas Sunday when we had our Christmas dinner with two relatives and a young friend I have planned to write but afternoons or evenings there would be such glad surprises. People whom we loved and longed to see came unexpectedly and we had such happy times, but Christmas letters are still unanswered. We hear and see so much about depression, unemployment, taxes, relief and kindred subjects and means of overcoming them.

We delight in amusement, as a recreation, not as a life and we have often said we thought people had gone pleasure-mad. Even a church gathering must have its social and the Y.P.S. must have a purely social evening once a month. Games of skill are not desired. It is difficult to give a party and not have dancing or cards—both well enough and good in their place. But why nothing else? Why must a story have a bit of spice in it to be popular? Why am I allowed to live? What good am I? If my sphere is no better because of me, then am I any better than or as good as the horse or the dog that work faithfully for me? Back it all goes to "Man's chief end is to glorify God and enjoy Him forever."

When we each individually and all collectively really seek to do that, depression will be lifted. Such are the promises which have never failed, but if that is not honestly attempted history shows us, do as man will, all the treaties, all the legislation or anything else, leaving the Godhead out will fail surely.

Sincerely yours,
QUID EST.

Thank you, Quid Est, and the same to you! Better late than never, as the saying goes, and everyone of us appreciates your kind wishes. Yes indeed, that was a splendid letter, and I am looking forward to receiving such letters from the other neighbors who used to write but somehow have vanished. Write again, Quid Est.

Sincerely,
Anne Wilcox

MISSING YOUR CUE

On its face an informatory double shows strength in three suits. Usually the doubler is weak in the suit doubled and he is strong in the other three suits. Sometimes he may be strong in the suit doubled and weak in another suit. In this latter case the doubler does not at once bid no trumps, for fear that an opening lead of his weak suit may be made, and that he may go down on his contract before the suit bid is led. The object of the informatory double is to discover who holds the doubler's very weak suit. Suppose that you hold a hand like the following, when 1-Spade is bid at your right:

Spades— K J 10 8
Hearts— A 10 7 3
Clubs— 4
Diamonds— A Q 6 2

An informatory double of the 1-Spade is the best way of handling the situation. If your partner responds with hearts or diamonds you have strong support for him. If he bids clubs, you should shift into no-trumps, showing that spades is one of your strong suits, and that clubs is your poorest suit. In case your partner holds another biddable suit he may show it.

Making an informatory double upon a two-suiter is poor strategy. Show both suits, if they are worth it, but do not confuse your partner by advertising strength in three suits, if you do not possess it.

Suppose that you hold sufficient strength in three suits to make an informatory double of an opening bid of 3-Spades, as you have on the hand shown below, when the opening bid is 1-Spade.

Spades— A
Hearts— A J 7 3
Clubs— K Q 10 4
Diamonds— A Q 6 2

Perhaps the player at your left, having long spades and ability to ruff a side suit, may bid 2-Spades over your informatory double. Unless your partner has a strong suit, which is improbable, he will pass the bid. An intervening bid always removes the obligation to respond to an informatory double. It is possible that your opponents may fulfill the spade contract with well fitting hands. It is also possible that your side may hold game going strength, if you can force your partner to bid. In case the original bidder passes, or even if he goes to 3-Spades, you may double again. As long as the doubled contract does not exceed 3 Spades, your double is informatory, and it calls upon your partner to make his best bid, unless he can defeat the doubled contract, which possibly is a "psychic" bid.

Your partner may have a hand something like the one shown below, and your side may have a game, if you oblige him to bid but certainly he will not bid such a hand unless you force partner to do so.

Spades— 2
Hearts— 8 4
Clubs— J 9 5 3 2
Diamonds— 9 8 7 5 3

Aside from knowing the general rules for making informatory doubles, a player must think what your doubles mean, and he must study his own holdings in connection with your probable holdings. Missing your cues, either as doubler or as partner of the doubler may deprive you of a game at the right make, or cause you loss at an improper make.

Under certain conditions a player may double each of two makes. Such a case will be given tomorrow. The opening bid will be 1-Heart. The player who happens to be your partner doubles, for you to bid. Third hand bids 1-Spade. You pass on the hand shown below.

Spades— A Q 9 8
Hearts— 6 5
Clubs— 10 9 7 5
Diamonds— J 10 4

The dealer passes. Your partner then doubles the 1-Spade, and the bidder of that suit passes. What should you do?

TO SEE HER FAT GO

Cost This Woman 75c

If you are curious to know what is happening to her bust, waist, and hip measurements, read her letter:

"I was 186 lbs. when I started taking Kruschen three months ago, and am now 162 lbs., and I hope to reduce my weight still more. Regarding my measurements before taking Kruschen: I was 41-ins. bust, 38-ins. waist, and 49-ins. hips, and now I am 39-ins. bust, 36-ins. waist, and 45-ins. hips, my age being 29 years. A 75c bottle of Kruschen lasts me a month. I take one-half teaspoonful in a tumbler of hot water each morning before breakfast. Apart from losing weight, I feel so much better in health. I do not wake up in the morning still feeling tired, and do not get headaches like I used to. I cannot thank Kruschen enough."—(Miss) M.A.H.

Kruschen contains those six mineral salts, proportionately balanced, found in the waters of those famous European Spas used by generations of fat people to reduce weight.

Kruschen helps blood, nerves, glands, and body organs to function properly—you gain new strength and energy—feel years younger—look better, work better.

ST. JOHN'S W.A. ELECTS OFFICERS

Mrs. H. A. Morrow is Re-elected President of the Association.

The annual meeting of St. John's W. A. was held on Tuesday with a large attendance. The president, Mrs. H. A. Morrow, was in the chair. There were some splendid reports given by the different departments, showing progress all along the line for 1932. It being election of officers there were only two changes, that of Dorcas convenor, Mrs. J. Rigden resigning after many years of faithful service in this department; also Mrs. C. Stanton resigning leadership of the Teen Age Girls' Branch. Tribute was paid to those two retiring officers by the president.

The officers for 1933 are as follows:

Hon. President—Mrs. R. C. Blagrave.
President—Mrs. H. A. Morrow.
1st Vice-President— Mrs G. S. Cameron.
2nd Vice-President— Mrs. F. M. Dela Fosse.
Secretary—Mrs. Cooper.
Treasurer—Mrs. Sherwood.
E. C. D. Treasurer—Mrs. Knights.
U. T. O. Treasurer—Mrs. Lundy.
Leaflet Secretary—Mrs. Ross.
Literature Secretary— Mrs. J. H. Cridland.
Little Helpers' Secretary — Mrs. Budd.
Junior Supt.—Mrs. Stanger.
Dorcas Convenor — Mrs. George Groombridge.
Refreshment Convenor— Mrs. D. Eldred.

The Teen Age Girls' Dept. is going to be carried on under the joint leadership of Mrs. F. Craig, Mrs. F. Ford, Mrs. P. Moore, Mrs. G. Groombridge and Mrs. J. Cridland.

The president gave a very inspiring address to the members for 1933, urging them to co-operation and the Christ-like spirit in all WA. work, at all times, never indulging in the spirit of criticism as it is harmful and destructive.

Following the members' prayer and benediction a dainty tea was served by Mrs. D. Eldred and her refreshment committee.

NEW CAR ACCESSORIES HOLD FEMININE APPEAL

NEW YORK, Jan. 12 (C.P.).—Today was women's day at the National Automobile Show in Grand Central Palace, an occasion which focussed attention upon the numerous items of feminine appeal in the nearly 300 car models on display.

Such appurtenances as vanity cases, fancy clocks, opalescent instrument boards, ingeniously concealed pockets, glove and package compartments and special cigarette cases and lighters were in evidence. The woman motorist looked on new varieties of trim and upholstery, new cushion fabrics and colors, wood panelings and strikingly contrasting moldings.

She also found in the new cars many conveniences, from rear curtain manipulators to automotic window closers and disappearing arm and foot rests.

A doctor observes that the Chinese custom of binding the feet of girls will probably not entirely disappear for another century or two, at China's present rate of progress.

Belleville Wins Opening Game From Campbellford 5-1

THREE GOALS IN THIRD FRAME WHEN MAROONS SHORT-HANDED WINS FOR DOHERTY ATHLETICS

Superior Conditioning and Smoother Combination Gives D.A.C. Edge on Play.

TICE PLAYS GOOD GAME.

Whitton, Davis, Ingram and McKay Are Stars for Visiting Maroons.

BELLEVILLE, Jan. 12.—(Special to The Examiner).—Rattling in four goals in the third period, when Campbellford was short-handed the Belleville Doherty Athletic Club won their opening game in the O.H.A. intermediate series here on Wednesday night by a score of 5-1. The D.A.C. had far too much condition and played better hockey for the sixty minutes. Percy Bond, president of the O.H.A., officially opened the season, His Worship Mayor George O. Tice, introducing the guest of the evening.

The Belleville squad have been playing in the Kingston City Hockey League and are in the pink of condition, while the Campbellford team, although never giving up, were very shy on the needed wind and tired towards the end of the third period. The winners were more adept in the use of the forward pass and when the combination plays were clicking, it was a case of too much Belleville. The wings bottled their opponents and the puck carrier was forced down the center lane to be taken care of by the two defense men and the stellar work of Les Tice in the winners' cage. Both teams in the first two periods played a waiting game, which was not conducive to fast hockey, but when Belleville opened the throttle in the final canto Campbellford was not in the picture.

Buster Whitton, Ken Davis, the Ingram brothers and McKay, the backbone of the losing team, have lost none of their cunning. Whitton was hard to stop on every excursion in the enemy territory. Fred Ingram played a smart game on the left boards, but was well checked all evening, while Harry Ingram played a sound defensive game, but was inclined to pick feuds with the opponents. Toppin in the twine stood out for his team and made many fine saves and the ones that beat him were from close in and every play was perfectly executed.

Les Tice stood between his team and defeat through the first two periods as the Belleville team were allowing the opposition to carry the play and in the third frame, made two or three sensational saves, literally robbing the opposition of markers. Weir and Sherry made a sound defensive, while the starting line of McMeekin, "Pete" Morgan and Bob Hull had a little edge over the Campbellford line-up. The kid line of Nicoll, "Red" McDonald and Harry Morgan clicked in their well known style and Rene St. Denis worked well with either line. The game was no pink tea affair, there being considerable high sticking, especially in the last period and Campbellford were the worst offenders. Referee Joe Smith handed out ten penalties during the game, Belleville drawing four.

Davis Scores Goal

Ken Davis scored the first goal in the second period, the first being scoreless, after Fred Ingram had carried the rubber in and handed him the pass from the back of the net. Tice was taken completely out of the play. Weir went away for tripping and shortly after Nicoll was benched for hooking, but Campbellford could not capitalize on their advantage. It looked as if Belleville would go scoreless in this frame also but one minute before time, Weir rushed and reaching the defense placed a hard one on the twine. McArthur in his anxiety to clear, stuck up his hand and the rubber was deflected in the net.

With Harry Ingram in the penalty box, Weir scored on a perfect pass by Harry Morgan, right at the goal mouth and again when the Campbellford Club were short-handed Nicoll went in alone to beat Toppin cleanly. Right back came "Red" MacDonald on a pass from Harry Morgan and Sherry and the same players engaged in another fine play that resulted in a tally. Most of the penalties incurred took place in this frame but the referee handled the situation well.

The line up:

Belleville D.A.C.—Goal, Tice; defense, Sherry and Weir; center, McMeekin; wings, Pete Morgan and Hull; subs, Nicoll, H. Morgan, MacDonald and St. Denis.

Campbellford—Goal, Toppin; defense, McArthur and H. Ingram; center, Davis; wings, F. Ingram and McKay; subs, Hendy, Bush, Whitton and Copperthwaite.

Referee—Joe Smith of Kingston.

GAME ENDS IN HOCKEY BRAWL

Port Hope Juniors Defeat Cobourg 4-2 in Eighty Minute Battle.

FEELING RUNS HIGH.

PORT HOPE, Jan. 12.—In a rugged O.H.A. junior game here last night Port Hope defeated Cobourg 4 to 2 after 80 minutes of play. The fans were kept in a continual state of excitement, which finally reached its peak with a fistic battle amongst the spectators and the Young Ontarios scoring the tieing goal with only 30 seconds to go.

There was no scoring in the first period but Cobourg counted a pair in the second period, Hie and Lucas being the marksmen. Port Hope made the count 2 to 1 when Rowland batted in a rolling puck. The pace was fast in the final period and with half a minute left Jack Phillips batted in McTavish's pass at the goal mouth. The goal judge declared no goal which promptly resulted in a fight. About 30 spectators took part in the brawl and some surged on to the ice which held the game up for 20 minutes. The referee allowed the counter.

Phillips Scores Second.

In the first overtime period there was no scoring and in the second chapter, diminutive Jack Phillips scored his second goal with the prettiest play of the game on a shot from the side after a neat piece of stick-handling. Rowland settled the issue by a wicked shot from the left boards in the final minute.

Phillips Bros., Rowland and Cancilla were best for the homesters, while Bevans of the Cobourg defence played stellar hockey. The teams:

Cobourg—Goal, Platt; defence, Staples and Comrie; centre, Hie; wings, Bevans, E. Parker; subs., J. Parker, Lucas, Goodie, Henderson, Mitchell.

Port Hope—Goal, Cancilla; defence, Record and McTavish; centre Pillsworth; wings, Jack and Jim Phillips; subs., Paedon, Douglas, Rowland and Mercer.

Referee, Chartran, Bowmanville.

Maroons To Attempt Break Wings' Streak

TORONTO, Jan. 12.— (C.P.) — Those poor stragglers who are allowing Toronto's Maple Leafs to make a runaway of one National Hockey League division will play while the Leafs rest to-night, assured that at least one of the trailing foes will be a point or two closer by to-morrow.

Tied with eight points less than Toronto are Ottawa Senators, Montreal Maroons and New York Americans. To-night Americans play Senators at Ottawa, Maroons will try to check a flaring Red Wing winning streak at Detroit and Canadiens, another four points back in the standing, entertain Chicago Black Hawks.

The Maroon-Detroit battle overshadows other skirmishes, though as far as the Wings themselves are concerned the New York Ranger-Boston tussle at New York will carry plenty of interest.

As Rangers, Bruins and Wings are deadlocked at the top of the United States' section, two of them may share first place after the night's work.

NO CURLING AT COBOURG

COBOURG, Jan. 12.—It has been impossible to obtain good ice at the curling rink, due to mild weather, and as a result the curling club has announced that there will be no more curling this Winter.

It is felt that, under existing conditions, it would be impossible to get a sufficiently large number of curlers grouped together to warrant a schedule being drawn up and adhered to.

Therefore, apart from junior hockey, and that, too, is becoming to look more or less hopeless owing to mild weather, it appears that Winter sports in Cobourg will be decidedly minus this season.

RANGERS BLANK LAKEFIELD HIGH BY 1 TO 0 COUNT

Close Playing Features Opening of the District Hockey League.

LIONS WIN 4-1.

(Examiner Correspondence)

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 12.—The district hockey league got away to a good start on Tuesday night with a good crowd present and enthusiasm which encouraged the promotors of the league. The first game between the Warsaw Rangers and High School was a snappy game with a score of 1-0 in favor of the Rangers, last year's champions and holders of the Casement Cup, the most coveted hockey trophy in the village. Warsaw had their old line-up almost intact with the exception of Wasson and Hilliard and Harold Darling who were not in the line up. Wasson who was the Lorne Chabot of the District league was replaced with Allan Darling who made his hockey debut in Lakefield at the age of ten, about eight years ago when he took Wasson's place most creditably.

Trevor Watts, a newcomer to the team and a young player of promise scored the only goal after five minutes of rather fast play. Both teams show lack of practice but were fairly well matched, Warsaw had greater weight but Lakefield had the slight advantage of the practice ground being the scene of the game. Braden Blewett refereed both games and did so in a very satisfactory manner. Penalties were not very numerous, Dominick White and Fred Bell rested a short time in the coop in the first period, Percy Payne and Ivan Clements took a vacation in the second and in the third Joe Blewett and Jack Morgan pondered on their misdeeds. The game was clean and fast with more than occasional flashes of real good hockey, the shooting was not specially good for either team but that will be remedied. Both goalies earned their laurels as some sensational stops were made by both Darling and Loyst.

The line-up was as follows:

The second game showed a more ragged exhibition of hockey due in the case of both teams to lack of practice but in their next game there will be a great improvement and the teams were equally matched. The first two periods were scoreless, there was lots of shooting but nothing which the goalies could not stop. The opposing teams were the Young's Point Maroons and the Lennox Lions, both veterans of last year's league and "rarin' to go" for another season and a try for the Casement trophy. The "red line" of forwards of the Lions were good, very good indeed and will improve as the league progresses. The goalies, Bill Hamblin of the Maroons and "Chief" Webster of the Lions were the stars but the Lions forwards Hill, Morin and Jewell showed form.

At the end of the third period the score was 1-1 with Jewell and Cummings scoring the goals. A ten minute overtime was decided on and in the extra session the Lions drove in three goals to make a decisive victory 4-1. Penalties were few, Johnston, H. Young and Darling were the Maroons bad boys each drawing a short rest. Roger Stenner with two and Percy Mareden with one were the "wicked partners" of the Lions. The game was clean, no major penalty was handed out in either games.

The line-up was as follows:

Young's Point Maroons—Goal, W. Hamlin; defence, D. Darling E. Johnston; centre, G. Tedford; wings F. Carroll, H. Young; subs, J. Young, A. Cummings, B. Harvey, A. Brooks, A. Wilson.

Lennox Lines—Goal, Webster; defence, H. Hamblin, F. Marsden; centre, W. Morin; wings, Jewell, and Hill; subs, R. Pearson, R. Stenner, P. Marsden, G. O'Neil.

Madoc Wins First Game From Trenton

MADOC, Jan. 12 (Examiner Correspondence).—The Junior O.H.A. hockey team won their first game of the season on Wednesday evening at the Madoc Rink, against the speedy team sent against them from Trenton. The game was fast from the very first, the Trenton lads being ready to take advantage of the first chance of scoring. Only the splendid work of West and Ashley on defence saved the game in the first period, which passed without either team scoring a goal. The second period, Madoc's boys showed more alertness, and both teams showed good team work and excellent combination. Near the end of the period, Madoc scored, and for the rest of that period and most of the last, the utmost each team could do failed to score. Late in the third period Trenton evened the score, making overtime play necessary. The first period of the overtime went scoreless. During the second ten minutes, Madoc succeeded in scoring twice, making the score 3-1, and in the final few seconds Trenton again scored, leaving the final score 3-2 in favor of Madoc.

In the second period, Armstrong scored on a pass from McGuire. In the third period, Lott scored for Trenton. In the second overtime, McGuire scored from Akey's pass. Then Rashotte scored from McGuire, and the last score for Trenton by Lamoore.

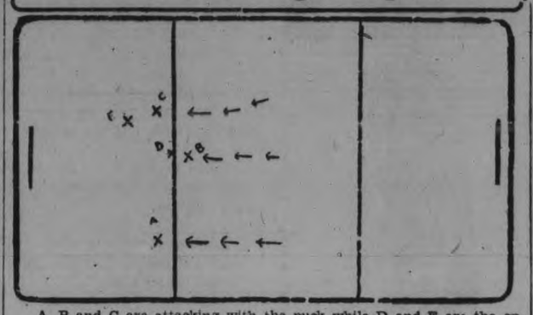
Referee, Jack Henderson.

The line-up:

Madoc—Goal, C. McKee; defence, K. West and D. Ashley; centre, Rashotte; wings, McGuire and Armstrong; subs., Ross, Akey, Terry and Embury.

Trenton—Goal, F. Lamoore; defence, C. Ruttan and B. Lott; centre, Kidd; wings, Burtt and Jordan; subs., Lamoore, Richards, Harris, Staples and Cottrell.

New O.H.A. Ruling is Explained



A, B and C are attacking with the puck while D and E are the opposing defencemen B has the puck but as he nears the second blue line, D moves toward him to check. B slows up a trifle and his teammates, A and C skate over the blue line before the puck-carrier, B; and the referee must ring the bell and faceoff where B was when his teammates thoughtlessly crossed the line ahead of him. An attacking player cannot legally cross this blue line ahead of the player with the puck; but the latter may pass the puck ahead over the blue line and one of his teammates may then go after it, provided he was not offside when the pass forward was made. This rule is somewhat confusing to referees, players and fans.

THOMPSON LEADS GOALKEEPERS WITH RECORD OF 17 SHUTOUTS

Boston Bruin Goalie Has Fewest Number of Goals Scored on Him So Far.

PAUL LEADS CHIHAWKS.

MONTREAL, January 12 (C.P.)—Slim Cecil Thompson — ironically called "Tiny" — is setting the pace for National Hockey League goalkeepers with a record of seven shutouts at the half-way mark and the fewest number of goals scored on him this season so far. Last season "Tiny's" Boston Bruins registered 10 shutouts for the season to lead the league.

And Paul Thompson, who will be seen at left wing when Chicago engages Canadiens here to-night, is ably upholding the honor of the Thompson family in the opposition directors—scoring goals. Incidentally Paul robbed his brother of a shutout when he scored the first and only Chicago goal on the Hawks' first visit of the season to Boston.

38 Goals in 22 Games.

In addition to twice holding Canadiens, Americans, and Chicago scoreless, "Tiny" Thompson has shutout the sharpshooting Detroit Red Wings once and only allowed 38 shots to pass him in 22 games. His closest rival in point of goals allowed is agile Charlie Gardiner, Chicago cageman, who has permitted the puck to pass him 42 times.

The Thompson brothers learned their hockey in Calgary, Alta., and both travelled East when the United States cities came into the Calder loop. After several seasons with Lester Patrick's New York Rangers, Paul went to Chicago two seasons ago, and now ranks fourth among the United States section point-makers with 8 goals and 9 assists for a total of 17 points.

"Tiny" Thompson has been with the Bruins since the 1927-28 season and aided materially by a powerful defence headed by the incomparable Eddie Shore, has always shown a record among the best of the major circuit's netminders.

'CAYGEON WINS FROM LINDSAY

Scugog Juniors Stage Third Period Offensive to Net Three Goals.

LOSE IN OVERTIME 4-3.

LINDSAY, Jan. 12.—Bobcaygeon O.H.A. Juniors defeated Lindsay by a score of 4-3 in the Oakwood Arena last night. Lindsay entered the third period scoreless, while Bobcaygeon had tallied twice. Lindsay staged a terrific offensive and scored three counters and held the visitors to one more. The tying goal came with only 50 seconds left to play of the third period and sent the teams into overtime.

Scores Winning Goal

Nichols of Bobcaygeon scored the winning goal after seven minutes of the first overtime period.

The goalgetters were Nichols, Johnston and two for Alex. Nichols, for Lindsay, Cain, Walker and Campbell. Teams:

Bobcaygeon.—Goal, Kimbell; defence, Kennedy, Kellett; centre, Johnston; wings, Kelson, Nicholls; subs., Newman, Nichols, Conway, Linds.

Lindsay—Goal, Stephens; defence, Thomas, Campbell; centre, Tripp; wings, Cain, Murphy; subs., Lamb, Wakelin, Dart, Walker.

Referee—Max Aldous, Fenelon Falls.

Madoc Seniors Beat Marmora Outfit 7-1

(Examiner Correspondence)

MADOC, Jan. 12.—On Monday evening, Madoc seniors defeated Marmora by a scoreof 7-1, in a well-played game at the skating arena, Madoc. A good crowd was in attendance. Referee, Jack Brady of Marmora.

Madoc—Goal, W. Hulin; defence, T. Rupert, L. Blue; wings, Ware, Watson; alternates, F. Akey, K. West, C. Nickle, E. Armstrong.

Marmora—Goal, G. Hewitt; defence, Burns and McCoy; wings, Flynn, H. Hewitt; alternates, Campion, Neal, Shannon.

Electric Grass-Growing Stimulator Placed in Cleveland Club Grounds

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 12. — (C.P.)—When the Cleveland Indians play baseball this spring in the Cleveland Municipal Stadium, the "hot corner" as usual will be third base, but the "hot plate" is likely to be all over the field.

The distance around the base lines will be regulation in length, but there may be several "sort circuits" not mentioned in the rule books.

It seems that city officials are considering installing one of the "gadgets" of modern science—an electrical grass-growing stimulator—to put the field in condition and to keep it that way.

The electrical grass grower, as contemplated, would be a network of insulated wire cables buried six or seven inches under ground in all parts of the playing field, and quite analogous to an enormous electrical hot plate.

When current is sent through the cables, heat is generated, which radiates to the roots of the grass. The heat, and possibly some special potency of the electricity itself, according to various scientists, will make grass grow like compound interest.

The Indians' general manager, Billy Evans, wants to know if the electricity will increase the "O.H.M." runs.

LAST MINUTE COUNTER WINS FOR STARS 3-2

Syracuse Breaks Lead Tie With Tecs in Listless Game With Indians.

CANINES BEAT HERD 4-1.

Desse Roche Works Hat Trick for Windsor in Border City Game.

TORONTO, Jan. 12.— (C.P.) — Five games in 11 days proved the undoing of Buffalo Bisoons, who have been stampeding through the ranks of the International Hockey League teams since the advent of the New Year. Barging into Windsor last night, with four straight victories to their credit, the Bisons went down before the charging Bulldogs by a 4-1 score, in a game which saw the hat-trick accomplished by Desse Roche, Windsor wingman.

Syracuse Stars broke their tie with London Tecumsehs at the top of the League, when they scored a 3-2 last minute victory over the tail-end Cleveland Indians.

The Bisons were just as good as their opponents for the first two periods—although they were outscored 3-0—but in the last period they tired and lost whatever chance they had of pulling out a win.

Scores First Three.

Roche scored the first three goals of the game, notching two in the first and one in the second period. Johnny Proudlock made it 4-0 after eight minutes had elapsed in the final frame. Then Lloyd Gross and Roter Roth, the League's leading marksmen, got together 54 seconds later to score the Bisons' lone tally.

Syracuse played listless hockey in their game with the Indians and were fortunate to earn the decision over the battling cellarites.

Matte gave the Indians a goal lead in the first period, when he teamed up with Val Hoffinger, former Syracuse player to beat Benny Grant.

Ronnie Martin tied it up after five minutes of play in the second period and Earl Miller gave the Stars a lead, five minutes later. With Miller in the penalty box in the third period, Riley sank home the equalizer and with less than a half minute to play Markle batted in the deciding tally.

LOWER GATE PRICES WOULD HELP BRING BACK BOXING

James Brown, National Boxing Association President Outlines Plan to Bring Great Fistic Game Out of Doldrums.

(By James (Bingo) Brown, President National Boxing Association.)
(Written for the A.P.)

LANSING, Mich., Jan. 12 (A.P.)—The year 1933 may bring boxing back out of the doldrums if certain things happen.

First of all, people who are promoting boxing matches, fighters as well as managers, must realise that the day of the high-priced gate has gone and that prices must come down if the sport is going to prosper and hold its own. A common working man loves a boxing contest as well as the banker, the lawyer or the doctor, but his earnings have been cut to such an extent that he no longer can pay the high prices demanded for tickets. The result is that attendance has fallen to a great degree.

Scale With Other Sports

I feel that a championship boxing match should have the same price scale as a fine football contest or world's championship baseball contest. If match-makers are careful with their attractions, there is no reason why boxing shouldn't have a good year, but the public demands good attractions. This was illustrated by the fact that last April at the Yankee Stadium, the New York Yankees and the Philadelphia Athletics broke the record for attendance at a single ball game. This past football season illustrates the fact that if attractions are worth while, the public is anxious to see them.

The public also still loves the hero-worship type of fighter and perhaps we will have the hero emerge out of the Schmelling-Baer contest that is to be promoted by that great American hero, Jack Dempsey. . . .

Defend Titles More Often

"I feel that champions should defend their titles more often if we are going to keep the game alive. Every time a man wins a title he announces that he is going to be a fighting champion, but he almost always travels the path of his predecessors and goes into hiding with the result that interest lags because of lack of competitors. I feel that a boxer of the type of Kid Chocolate could box at least once a week against good stiff competition and never feel the effects of it. A fighter of the type of Tony Canzoneri is another champion who should come out of hiding and defend his title more often."

Amateur boxing has made great strides in America and if handled correctly, it certainly has its place in the boxing world.

"I feel that if these principles that I have mentioned above are followed, that boxing will come out of its doldrums and be on the upper swing in the year of 1933.

VARSITY SCORES 1-0 WIN OVER KITCHENER EMPIRES

Maxie Fullerton Scores Only Contest With Only Two Goal of Hard-fought O. H. A. Minutes of Play Left.

(By The Canadian Press)

The lower section of the Senior "A" group of the Ontario Hockey Association had tightened up considerably to-day, following University of Toronto's 1-0 victory over Kitchener Empires at Kitchener last night.

The four points which came to the Students as a result of their win, put them within one point of their intra-city rivals, Toronto Nationals and left them only two points behind the fifth place Empires.

The Collegians appeared to have benefitted from their exhibition games with United States college teams during the holidays, and played stellar hockey at all times.

Maxie Fullerton, was "Johnny-on-the-spot," when he trapped one of Zuch's shots off the board, while still in the Empires' defensive area, and drove the puck past Berner in the Kitchener nets for the only goal of the game. Only two minutes of play were left when the goal was scored.

Shipp is Standout

Shipp, the Varsity goal guardian, was a standout in his team's victory, saving his team repeatedly, when penalties left them shorthanded.

Kitchener's sniping was consistently erratic, otherwise the result might have been different.

In the Senior "B" group, 5-1 scores were chalked up in three of the four fixtures. Stratford Indians turned on the Galt Terriers after a string of six defeats, and blasted out a 5-1 win. Shaw, Indian pivot man, notched two goals and assisted in another, to stand out in his team's victory.

Hamilton Patricias snapped a losing streak of three games when they downed Brantford by another 5-1 score. Anderson was a shining star in the victory, netting two pucks, and assisting in two other scores.

Third Straight Win

Oshawa chalked their third straight victory when they defeated St. Michael's College, 5-1, before an admiring Oshawa throng. St. Mikes scored the first goal after seven minutes of play, but were blanked thereafter. In the fourth game in this series Niagara Falls defeated Fort Erie 4-2.

Hunt's 'Cage Outfit Beats Battersby 28-16

Williams' and Hunt's basketball teams will meet in the Y. M. C. A. House League finals, as a result of the semi-final games played last night Hunt's eliminated Battersby's squad, 15 to 9; while the Williams' team took Huggins' into camp, 28 to 16. Some fast and exciting cage play was seen in these two games.

There was little difference shown in the first tussle, but Hunt's finished slightly stronger. They showed good team work and fair shooting, while tightening up on the defense as the game progressed. Stanger, Curry and Hunt were the best offensively, while for the other side, Eccles, Battersby and Kitchen were effective. The teams:

Battersby's—Eccles, Kitchen, Percell, Burley, Finley and Battersby.

Hunt's—Stanger, Curry, McFadden, Reynolds and Hunt.

The other game saw many exciting plays, with the winners gradually drawing ahead, aided greatly by the tricky rushing and fine shooting of Cadd. He accounted for twenty of his team's points, Stuart and Menzies each getting four. Emery scored eight points for the losers, Mitchell being the next best in hooping the ball. Both forward lines went good. The teams:

Huggins'—Emery, Leggott, Miller, Wood, Mitchell and Huggins.

Williams'—Cadd, Menzies, Francis, Leggitt, Stuart and Williams.

WINNIPEG JAWBREAKER FINISHES HEAVY TRAINING FOR JEBY BOUT

Former Newsboy Looked Upon as Very Near Replica of Old Manassa Mauler.

Also Prototype of Tunney.

(By Sam Robertson, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

NEW YORK, Jan. 12 (C.P.)—A little more than 24 hours separated from the most important fight of his meteoric career, Frankie Battaglia looked forward to easing up in his training grind today and then "curling up with a good book" for most of the time until he steps into the ring against Ben Jeby.

Already finely drawn and with muscles perfectly attuned for his 15 round bout, the New York State Boxing Commission stamps as for the world's middleweight title, the Winnipeg Jawbreaker planned a light round of calisthenics for this afternoon. Long hours of heavy conditioning work were at an end.

The task of keeping his mind off the Friday night task ahead was the greatest worry of handlers. But Frankie's natural hankering for reading, and good reading at that, made their task lighter.

Prototype of Tunney

For the 22-year-old Canadian-Italian is a prototype of Gene Tunney in his thirst for knowledge and seriousness about the fight business. The killing wallop he packs in his right and somewhat in his left—26 knockout victories in 30 professional starts attest to that—are reminiscent of the Jack Dempsey he idolizes.

The physique of the old Manassa Mawler might have been used as a mould for that of Battaglia. Heavily shouldered, lean waisted, and over-all a picture of perfect muscular development, the former Winnipeg newsboy is a near-replica of the ex-heavyweight king.

Meeting Dempsey was one of the two greatest thrills of his life. The other came last summer when he clashed with Jeby at Chicago and un-scrambled him with a first round flurry of punches.

He looks to repeat the second thrill Friday night when he steps into the Madison Square Garden battle against the tough Jew who blossomed from New York's east side.

Jeby Also Through

Like his Canadian foe, Jeby today was through with heavy work. In the gym Wednesday his last strenuous workout was more impressive than that of the previous day. He seemed more eager for fight against his sparring mates, but still failed to show the speed and hitting power of Battaglia.

The latter fairly tore at his work-out men with a viciousness born of thirst for battle. But once in his dressing room again he was the same soft-spoken amiable, serious countenanced youth, eager to talk boxing but taciturn regarding his own, popular self.

"RED DUST"

Clark Gable and Jean Harlow have the spotlight in this picture. And even if you don't happen to like them, individually or collectively, you have to admit that they certainly can act. Both of them, in this talkie, give the impression of living the part, rather than acting it, and that gets just as near to real acting as the screen can give.

Clark Gable isn't the polished lover of other pictures. In "Red Dust," he is the rough and masterful male who takes what he wants. And Jean Harlow doesn't go in for "vamp" stuff. She is no longer the hateful siren of "Hell's Angels," but rather the girl who takes life as it comes. She is Valentine, who drifts down to the rubber plantation when Dennis Carson (Clarke Gable) is boss, and stays to while away the hours for the boss. Mary Astor, who turns out to be a much more hateful type of woman than the gaudy Valentine could ever be, is Barbara Willis, beautiful wife of Gary Willis (Gene Raymond), assistant to the rubber plantation owner.

It is entertaining drama with a title that doesn't fit, unless it has to do with the "red dust" from which Carson and Valentine are made. Instead of dust, the atmosphere is full of rain, heavy tropic moisture that beats down almost insistently as it did in "Rain" itself.

The story turns around the eternal triangle, and the manner in which a rough man reacts to the friendship of another man, even when the latter's wife is involved. Valentine has some expert wise-cracking and her part is superbly handled. There is a fat Chinese cook that adds a lot to the picture.

A "Torchy" comedy, in which the famous lad turns to polo-playing, accompanies the feature.—Jeanette.

BALCONY RESERVED SECTION

To The Sporting Editor,
Peterbosough Examiner.

The Peterborough Hockey Club wishes to make the following statement in reference to the reserved section in the balcony at Brock Street Rink.

It is the wish of the club to eliminate a congested stairway and to avoid a crowd at the entrance to the reserved section of the gallery. Purchasers of reserved seats are entitled to this protection.

The club wishes to stop the practice of spectators crowding into the dressing room at the rest periods.

With the stairway and entrance to the gallery free, an injured player may be carried quickly to the dressing room to received first aid treatment from a St. John's Ambulance Corps' representative, who is on duty at all O.H.A. games.

The Hockey Club officials are willing to co-operate in this respect.

Yours sincerely,
Peterborough Hockey Club.

BAN ON PLAYERS

To the Sports Editor,
The Examiner.

In last evening's Examiner in the column "Sports Day by Day" objection was taken to the fact that non - participating Intermediate players were not admitted to the balcony. The facts of the case are that the managers of the home teams whether junior or intermediate desired the hockey room and the hallways, etc., to be free of all persons who were not on the team playing, and asked the rink management that some action be taken.

Tickets are on sale for the balcony and for those who purchase a seat, are entitled to it without all the congestion that has hitherto taken place in previous games. The Intermediates got a free ticket for Junior games and the Juniors for Intermediate games, and really should be and are content with the tickets each member receives. The team playing gets tickets as well.

We believe the management of the Junior team is satisfied with Tuesday night's arrangement and the management of the Intermediates will be satisfied when they play their games.

Yours truly,
The Rink Management.

Betting Odds Shift In "Feather" Match

CHICAGO, Jan. 12. — (A.P.)—Tommy Paul, the Buffalo chicken raiser, who risks his National Boxing Association featherweight crown against Freddie Miller of Cincinnati at the Chicago stadium to-morrow night, isn't so sure of the fruits of hard work after all.

Paul wound up his drill for the battle yesterday by boxing six rounds with southpaws while Miller used up the day by loafing around. Result: Betting odds shifted sharply from 8 to 5 in the champ's favor to even money. Many fans predicted that by ring time, the Cincinati left hander would be a slight favorite.

SPORTS Day by Day

HOCKEY—BOWLING—BOXING
BASKETBALL — OTHER SPORTS

(By C. J. P.)

The reserved seats are generally considered the best spot to view a hockey game from, though many prefer the greater freedom, as well as the smaller tariff, of the two-bit seats at the Brock. But we lean toward the section at the north end of the rink, the balcony up where the rafters begin. It has its disadvantages, too. For one thing, it's beginning to dawn upon an intellect that must be pulling a heavy load that most of the goals are scored at the far end of the rink, and that makes it plenty tough trying to describe exactly how it happened. Another fault is when the action is heated just below us, some fine evening we're going to lean over the rail just a little too far, and you're only allowed one mistake of that kind.

* * * * * *

But the whole game assumes a decidedly different and more accurate picture of what is happening when watched from one end. You can readily understand then what a tough task those two defence players have to form a wall clean across the rink against opposing forwards bearing down on flying skates. The defencemen are practically standing still and they must guess right or look like a flustered waiter just after spilling soup all over the guest of honor. There is a sizeable hole between the two blue-line guardians and a big chunk of scenery to right and left of them. It's no wonder they are so often guilty of charging or using the elbows. The surprising thing is that they do stop most of the rushes.

* * * * * *

And there's the goalie. Looking at the back of his neck you begin to see that the goal is pretty wide for a young fellow to have to guard against two and three speeding players at the same time, one of whom is going to burn a hard puck at one corner or the other. No matter how many he lets by him, we give him credit for a good job except where he has been careless of a long shot or trying to grab forty winks during the fray. Probably the longest half-minute in the game is the one the goalie goes through between the time the puck hits the twine back of him and the next faceoff. He doesn't seem to have a friend in the world, and nine times out of eleven he never had a chance to block it.

* * * * * *

The forwards also go different when looked over from the backseat. You see them as they start a rush and wonder why the guy with the puck is tearing toward a corner instead of coming up centre. But there's an opposing back-checker pacing him, to one side and not trying to knock the puck away from him—just putting him on the spot, as it were, for a big defenceman who's angling down slowly, skating him out of the play, that's what they call it; and the boy with the disc will either lose it shortly, or he'll have to try a long shot on goal, or else pass it blindly. Experienced forwards moved up and down all evening in their own lanes both attacking and backchecking. It's an education to see them coming toward you or away, instead of watching 'em go by.

* * * * * *

We haven't seen many perfect lone rushes at the goal, and prefer combinations most of the time, but there is no greater thrill in hockey—and perhaps in no other sport either—than seeing a fine rink-length rush coming toward you down there on the ice. A player takes the old bootheel around behind his own net and comes out picking up speed like an airpane taking off. Perhaps he has running interference over the blue line, but anyway he must zig-zag fast right through the whole opposing team, getting in through the defence and then outguess the goalie—that's what we call a thrill, folks, looking at it from the crow's-nest up under the shingles.

* * * * * *

Norwood's E.P.L. argument in Lakefield last night had to be postponed because of soft ice. Westclox tangles with Norwood Friday in Alex Kempt's ice-box, and there are rumors abroad that the Combines and their manager are still smarting under that 2-1 loss suffered at the hands of Payne's Carters right down there before the home crowd the other night. Westclox better be hot or they'll bear the brunt of the Norwoodian revenge.

* * * * * *

The Petes' intermediates meet Orono at the Brock Friday, which is the 13th, and will mean hard luck for somebody. The locals pulled out an easy win over the Ramblers in Orono the first of the week, but expect more trouble this time. For one thing, Orme Gamsby will have his team at full strength which he didn't before, and they say this "Doc" Henry is bad medicine to opposing players. As it will be the first intermediate O.H.A. game shown in Peterborough this winter, a good crowd of fans should be out to see the new husky squad wearing the Blue and White in action.

* * * * * *

Southend League games to-night at the Sacred Heart rink are: Pirates vs. Canuck intermediates at seven, Warne Bros. bantams vs. Empire Cubs at eight, and Albion Knitting juveniles vs. Black Hawks at nine. Church League fixtures this e'en at All Saints follow: All Saints vs. Knox midgets at six, St. James juveniles vs. St. Andrew's at seven, George Street vs. Trinity juniors at eight, and All Saints intermediates vs. George Street at nine. Tomorrow at All Saints, the West End Intermediate League teams, All Saints and Keene play at eight.

* * * * * *

A crowd of over two hundred applauded the great playing of Jack Purcell, badminton exponent extraordinary at the Armouries last night. He exhibited in several singles, mixed doubles and men's doubles—playing his opponents ragged while he finished fresh. Even for those who don't understand the game thoroughly, it is well worth while seeing such a display as that given by the former Canadian champion, now a professional. He may be seen again tonight at 8.30 in the Market Hall.

Al Simmons Favors Yankees To Repeat In 1933 American Baseball League Race

CHICAGO, Jan. 12 (C.P.)—Al Simmons is getting ready to supply hits for the White Sox, but he can't see anyone but the Yankees in the 1933 American League race.

"Those Yankees should be 25 games in front of the field by the last of July," Al said. "Who's going to stop them? Certainly not the Red Sox, nor the Browns, nor Detroit, nor the White Sox. I don't think the Indians can muster enough strength to keep a steady pace and Connie Mack is depending on youngsters to stay up there. Washington won't do it either. So it looks like the Yanks.

"Ruth will be back — yes, I know he's getting old and all that, but what helps the Babe is the fact that he can conserve his energy with a club like the Yankees. He doesn't have to run himself out all the time: hence, when he has to step lively he can do it. Nope, they look good to me."

Plenty of sleep and good food constitutes Simmons' training program for 1933.

Roots of the mandrake plant are said to be the oldest hypnotic known to man.

ADDED ATTRACTION IN FRIDAY'S GAME

Skating Will Be Held for Boys 16 Years and Under—Sweater Coat as First Prize.

As an added attraction to the opening intermediate O.H.A. game of the season at the Brock to-morrow (Friday) night, a skating race for boys 16 and under will be run off between periods. One or two heats, depending on the number of entrants, will be staged between the first and second periods, and the finals held in the last intermission of the game. The skaters will go around the rink four times, two prizes being given, the first a fine sweater-coat offered by the Albion Knitting Company.

Boys of this age intending to take part will be admitted free to-morrow night, but they must bring their own skates. Dr. Harold Long will act as starter, and the judges will be the only two men in town to-day who were members of the Petes of 1906, Ontario champions, Chris Graham and R. M. Glover. Entries must be in to the rink management by 4 o'clock Friday.

Peden And Leduc To Start In Bike Grind

MONTREAL, Jan. 12.—(C.P.)—Torchy Peden, the Victoria, B.C., giant six-day bicycle rider now performing at Dortmund, Germany, and Andre Leducq, of France, last year's winner of the famous French road race, the "Tour de France," are practically certain starters in the Trans-Canada professional bicycle race from Vancouver to Montreal in August, Promoter Armand Vincent announced here to-day.

Peden and Leducq will be strong favorites in the 4,000 mile race which is scheduled to start in August and finish in Montreal on September 3. Winner of 13 six-day races in two seasons, the Victoria rider is also an experienced road racer while Leducq's winning of the Tour de France in 154 hours, 11 minutes and 49 seconds for the 5,000 kilometres or approximately 3,100 miles is a criterion of his ability.

Extra Landing Field Set For Camp Borden

BARRIE, Ont., Jan. 12.—(CP)—The Department of National Defense proposes as a measureof unemployment relief to construct an additional landing field at Camp Borden in the near future, it is understood here. It is expected there will probably be 160 men employed, and each will receive board and $5 per month wages. The men will likely be chosen from Simcoe county.

Royal Victoria hospital, Barrie, has offered to provide medical attention and all necessary hospital treatment for the extra men at a flat rate of $2.35 per man per day, which is slightly lower than cost.

TOMMY TIT TEASES PETER RABBIT

Lipperty-lipperty-lip, lipperty-lipperty-lip, as fast as he could go raced Peter Rabbit for the Green Forest in quest of Tommy Tit the Chickadee, or Drummer the Woodpecker, or both. Now Tommy Tit is a very little fellow, Drummer isn't so very much bigger, and the Green Forest is a great big place. Where to look for them Peter hadn't the slightest idea. So he just wandered about this way and that way hoping that he would blunder on them somewhere. He was about ready to give up when in the distance he heard a faint rat-a-tat-tat. Off started Peter headlong in that direction of the sound, for he knew that none but Drummer the Woodpecker could make that rat-a-tat-tat.

He ran until he was quite out of breath and then he had to stop. He had seen nothing of Drummer and he had heard nothing further. He didn't know whether he had come far enough or too far. He was a wee bit discouraged. To be quite truthful he was more than a wee bit discouraged—he was a whole lot discouraged. Once more he was about to give up when he heard a faint "Dee, dee, dee," off in another direction. It was the voice of Tommy Tit the Chickadee and off started Peter once more.

This time he had better luck. Before he was quite out of breath he spied Tommy Tit flitting about and cutting up all sorts of antics in some birch trees.

"Tommy! Oh, Tommy!" panted Peter. "I want to see you."

"Dee, dee, dee, see me," cried Tommy in his merry way. "Dee, dee, dee, see me all you please, Peter; I won't stop you."

"Do you want to talk to me or do you want me to talk to you?" demanded Tommy Peter looked up at Tommy and grinned. "Please stop fooling, Tommy," said he. "You know very well what I mean. "I want to talk to you."

"Do you want to talk to me or do you want me to talk to you?" demanded Tommy. "You look to me as if you are simply full of questions, and, of course, that means that I've got to do most of the talking. What is it, Peter? Out with it."

"What did you mean by saying to Drummer the Woodpecker over in the Old Orchard that Wecome Robin seems to be in pretty good spirits?" replied Peter with great promptness.

Tommy Tit's eyes twinkled. "Just what I said," said he. "Is there anything queer about that?"

"There certainly is, there most certainly is," retorted Peter. "You spoke just exactly as if you knew exactly how Welcome Robin seems and how could you when he is so far away in the Sunny Southland?"

"Perhaps a little bird told me," twittered Tommy Tit slyly.

Peter looked at Tommy suspiciously. "What bird has come up from there, I want to know? I haven't seen any. You are just talking Tommy Tit, to hear yourself talk. Now tell me truly, what did you mean?" Peter was very much in earnest.

"Just what I said, Peter, as I told you before," retorted Tommy Tit "Welcome Robin does seem in pretty good spirits. If you don't believe it just go down to the swamp where the cedars grow. Chickadee, dee, dee."

With this Tommy Tit flew off, leaving Peter quite as puzzled as ever.

"CAPRICORN"

If January 12th is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 7.30 a.m. to 8.45 a.m., from 11 a.m. to 12.45 p.m and from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m. The danger periods are from 9.30 a.m. to 10.45 a.m. and from 8 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Influences are such, that some very trying situations may arise in the course of the day for your solution. Approach them calmly and as their master; they will seem to fade away. If you have suffered the loss of a friend or dear one, or possibly a business loss of some kind, you may anticipate the coming of some person bearind word of a consoling nature.

The child born on this January 12th will all through life get his share of the good things. He will be unusually fortunate in all his various endeavors. At school he will stand out above his classmates, both in his studies and in school activities. His sincerity of purpose and ample energy and good health augur well for a successful and full existence.

If January 12th is your birthday, you are a person of many possibilities. You could do well in any one of a number of lines of work. Your desire to create might well manifest itself in painting or sculpture. Music you like, though you prefer to be an auditor, rather than to take part yourself. You are imaginative to a good degree, but you have the ability to get your thoughts and ideas into concrete form; a career in advertising might suit you well. Practical minded, analytical and possessed of a mind that correlates and retains facts and that deals well with figures, a life spent in the field of banking would seem to suit you well.

Born on January 12th, you will in all probability carry on to a successful conclusion whatever you undertake. You are a hard worker, and you like to work. You cannot not be swerved from your purpose once you have embarked on a course of action. You are a friendly person, and you have many friends. You are honest and sincere. You aways let the other man have his say; you are open to reason, and willing to alter your stand on any matter if you can be convinced that you should. You are considerate of others' feelings; you are generous, always willing to help with you time or with your money whenever you can.

Keep Young with Your Children

Don't give them a cross nagging mother to remember. A happy home depends upon you. If your work is a burden—if the children annoy you—do something about it today. Start taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It will steady your nerves—give you that extra strength and energy you need.

By actual record, 98 out of 100 women say, "It helps me." Give it a fair chance to help you too. Sold by all druggists.

Officers Elected St. George's W.A.

The annual meeting of St. George's Woman's Auxiliary was held on Tuesday afternoon at the home of the President, Mrs. Tucker. The opening devotions were taken by the President. The Scripture passage was read by the rector, Rev. J. L. Hughes, who also gave an encouraging message from the words, "When ye shall have done all those things which are commanded you say, We are unprofitable servants, we have done that which was our duty to do." (St. Luke 17, v. 10). Satisfactory reports were given by the treasurer and junior superintendent, and the work of the Little Helpers, Literature, Living Message and Dorcas work were also reported on.

The election of officers next took place with the rector occupying the chair. The officers for the year are as follows:

Honorary President, Mrs. J. L. Hughes; President, Mrs. E. Tucker; Vice-President, Mrs. W. H. Andrews; Sec.-Treas., Mrs. W. McIlwain; Dorcas Sec., Mrs. W. J. Downer; Living Message, Mrs. W. H. Andrews; Literature and Prayer Partner, Mrs. Hughes; Junior Superintendent, Mrs. Hughes.

The office of Little Helpers' Secretary was left open for the present, owing to the absence of several members. The Rector closed the business meeting with prayer, after which the hostess served afternoon tea.

Treasure Seekers Officers Elected

The Treasure-Seekers' Class of St. James' United Sunday School, met on Tuesday evening in the classroom for their annual meeting and election of officers.

A. E. Prest, the superintendent of the school, presided during the election which resulted as follows: President, William Fell; Vice-President, George Cuff; Sec.-Treas., Wesley Rose; Teacher, E. Benson; Membership Committee, J. H. Fry, convenor. Convenor Social Committee, Mrs. A. Wilson.

In a short address, Rev. Mr. Moorhouse congratulated the class upon its splendid work during the 25 years since its inception, the Treasure Seekers being the first organized class in St. James' Sunday School.

Mr. Prest, who has also been superintendent during all these years, also spoke of the class in very complimentary terms, assuring the members that this class had been always a source of inspiration, not only to himself, but to the whole school. This class, he said, has provided many teachers for the school during the years, and the influence of their efforts for good would reach far into the years ahead.

The meeting was concluded with prayer by the pastor.

ORILLIA SCHOOL COSTS LOW.

ORILLIA.—The cost of maintaining pupils in the Collegiate Institute during 1932 averaged approximately one-half the average cost in Toronto secondary schools, it is shown in figures released to-day by H. C. Skinner, secretary of the Board of Education. Each High School pupil here costs the taxpayers $87.08, while in Toronto the average cost is said to exceed $160. In the public schools, the average cost per pupil here is $30.09, while the Toronto figure is given as $90.

LIBERALS MEET NEXT THURSDAY

First Anniversary Meeting of Central Ontario Association.

MEET IN COBOURG.

The first anniversary meeting of the Central Ontario Liberal Association will be held at Cobourg Thursday, January 19.

Among those who have intimated that thtey will be present are W. E. N. Sinclair, M.P.P., W. W. Fraser, M.P., W. H. Moore, M.P. and Hon. Vincent Massey, all residents of the central Ontario district. J. J. Duffus, president of the association, will be chairman, opening the meeting at 2 p.m. in the town hall theatre.

The broad campaign of organization that has been carried on throughout the district during the first year of the Central Ontario Association has been mentioned at some of the meetings as strong evidence of the flourishing spirit of Liberalism. At Lindsay last Saturday, Mr. Duffus stated today, there were at least 1,500 at the South Victoria meeting which nominated Percy Pogue as candidate in the next provincial elections. The friendly relations with the former U.F.O. members was manifested, he said, by the presence of Fred G. Sandy, Bruce McNevin and many others.

Mr. Duffus expressed the hope that the Peterborough section of the district would send a large representation to the meeting a week from to-day.

Police Court

Three Havelock young men returned to their homes yesterday after having appeared before Police Magistrate Langley in an attempt to secure sufficient money to pay fines totalling $27.50 levied on them in police court. Their journey proved fruitless and as a result they will spend the next ten days in the county gaol.

They were implicated in the small riot that ended a dance in the Havelock Town Hall last Friday, and pleaded guilty to being intoxicated in a public place for which the fine and costs amounted to $24.50 each, and to a charge of disorderly conduct for which the court penalty was $3.00. Failure to pay the fines met ten days on each case, but the Magistrate arranged the sentences to run concurrently.

Two other Havelock men, similarly charged, were able to pay their fines.

Walter Fulbrook, local youth, pleaded guilty to theft of two automobile tires and inner tubes from J. K. Hughes' garage. In pleading for leniency, Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., his counsel, urged that the youth had had a previously clean record and urged that he be given another chance. Sentence was adjourned for one week.

The trial of Fred. W. Stanley, charged with receiving the stolen tires, was commenced and was proceeding this afternoon. In this case, Fulbrook, the first witness, testified that he stole the tires from Hughes' garage during his morning hours on duty when he was alone in the garage. He gave them to Stanley, he said, who in return loaned him his car on several Sundays. During his several interviews with Stanley concerning the tires, he stated, that the accused had said nothing to intimate that he knew the tires were stolen, except that once he said that Fulbrook must be careful not to do anything that would get him in trouble.

On motion of Vansickle and McNeely, Robt. Marshall was appointed relief officer.

COUNCIL HOLDS INITIAL SESSION

Millbrook Collector Reports $1,481 Taxes Outstanding—Roll Extended Month.

OFFICES FILLED

MILLBROOK, Jan. 12.— (Examiner Correspondence.)—The inaugural meeting of the Muncipal Council for the Village of Millbrook was held on Monday at 8 p.m., when the following members who were elected by acclamation on December 26, 1932, subscribed to their oath of office and took their seats: Reeve P. Stinson, Councillors J. R. Eakins, W. E. Ball, P. I. Bentley and T. C. Ingram.

Communications — From W. E. Bonneville regarding the Russell account. G. F. Harrington, collector, made a report of taxes collected, showing a balance outstanding of $1,481.40.

Bentley-Eakins—That the time for returning the collector's roll be extended for one month.—Carried.

The audnitors, J. L. Byam and F. W. Burton, made a report on the accounts of the village for 1932; Bentley-Ingram, that the auditors' report be received, and one rundred copies be ordered printed.—Carried.

Councillor Bentley introduced by-laws reappointing municipal officers for 1933. The following were named: W. H. Jordan as member of the Public Library Board; R. E. Stanton as member of the Board of Health; G. F. Burton and J. L. Byam as auditors; Alex Hunter and W. G. Pendrie as fence viewers; J. W. Hutchinson and H. G. Skitch as pound-keepers.

Also a by-law empowering the Reeve and treasurer to borrow up to $10,000 from the Bank of Toronto to meet expenses.

By-law appointing assessor was left over until the February meeting.

The Reeve appointed Councillors Ball and Bentley a committee on fire hall and east end of the village, and Councillors Eakins and Ingram a committee on the town hall and the west end. The Whole Council on relief with Counsellor Bentley as chairman.

The following accounts were presented and on motion of Councillors Ingram and Ball were ordered paid: Hydro, lighting halls, $6.75; Telephone Co. acct., $5.03; C. Thorndyke, registering births, marriages, and deaths, $12.75; Board of Health acct. 1932, $60.00; Counties' Treasurer acc. Mrs. Russell, $17.50; Counties Treasurer, acct. Mrs. Turner $27.13; Mrs. A. Fraser, care of Miss Gillott, $15.00; G. E. Burnham, groceries J. McIvor, $3.63; G. E. Burnham, groceries P. Handley, $5.67; W. F. Fallis, milk J. McIvor, $1.05; W. F. Fallis, milk P. Handley, $2.25; G. W. Sayles, bread J. McIvor, 80c.; G. W. Sayles, bread P. Handley, $1.96; R. A. Ford, meat J. McIvor, $1.55; R. A. Ford, meat P. Handley, $185; S. R. Hart & Co., assessment rolls 1933, $14.33.

Ball-Ingram— That the Council adjourn to meet again at the call of the Reeve.—Carried.

BRIDGENORTH

A New Years concert was given in the church by the children and young people of the community under the auspices of the Sunday School. In the absence of the superintendent, D. Lewis, Rev. J. R. Merriam acted as chairman, and the following program was given: Readings, Muriel Bullock, Phyllis McKee, Charles Cromie, Eva Post, Jean Cromie, Gwen Coburn, Everett Poast, Shirley McKee, Ferne Mullen, Harold Heard, Noble Mahood, Eleanor Roseborough, Wallace Fowler, Wilma Armstrong, Sherman Cromie, John Lewis; solos John Lewis and Margaret Mullen; dialogues, drills and shadow plays, and choruses and plays made the evening's entertainment of the best given for some years.

Mr. Leo Copp of Peterborough, was the guest speaker at Bridgenorth church on Sunday evening, and spoke on the boys' work of the O.R.E.C.

ECONOMY FIRST BURLEIGH MOTTO

Council Makes Saving of $50 on Salaries—Alex. McColl New Assessor.

W.I. TO AID IN RELIEF

APSLEY, January 12 (Examiner Correspondence).—"Economy First is the motto of the 1933 Township Council of Burleigh and Anstruther. This was exemplified at the inaugural meeting held in the Town Hall on Monday, when a saving of about $50 in salaries was effected by reductions made as follows: Reeve and Councillors, a reduction of 50 cents per meeting, or about 16⅔ per cent.; Clerk, 5 per cent.; Treasurer, 5 per cent.; M.O.H., 10 per cent.; Assessor, approximately 8 per cent.; Auditors will get $2.50 per day instead of $3.00.

Five applications were received for the post of assessor, namely, T. H Lean, salary $60; Howard Reid $55; Vernal Windsor, $49; Alex. McColl and Malcolm Tucker, no salary stated. Alex. McColl was appointed at a salary of $55. Other appointments were: School attendance officer, Mrs. W. Staples, salary $10; E M. Emmal and Lewis Blackwell, auditors; Albert Reid, weed inspector, salary $10; Mrs. W. Lean, relief officer; Ben Coones, member of the Board of Health.

Mr. Emmal addressed the Council on the matter of bicycle riding on the sidewalks. It was discovered that a by-law was passed some years ago governing this, and it was decided to post up copies of same in conspicuous places, and take steps to enforce the observance of it.

The relief committee of the Women's Institute attended the meeting, and expressed willingness to undertake relief work on the same basis as last year. The offer was accepted gladly. The treasurer reported that approximately $1,700 of the 1932 taxes is still uncollected and it was decided to extend the roll until the next meeting.

A resolution was passed requesting the Reeve to interview the road inspector with the object of having the colonization grant for Burleigh expended on the hill at Brown's Falls, at McCauley's Bridge, members of the Council declaring this was the most dangerous part of the road between Peterborough and Apsley. William McCauley was appointed to attend to the sanding of this hill in icy weather.

It is interesting to note that Roy Brown, the new Reeve, is the third generation of the Brown family to occupy his position, his father and grandfather each having served the municipality in this respect for several years at different periods.

ANNUAL MEETING ST. ANDREW'S L.A.

Millbrook Group Reports $500 Raised in Year—Mrs. F. J. Smith New President.

MILLBROOK, Jan. 12.—(Examiner Correspondence.)— Mrs. E. J. Thornton was hostess for the annual meeting of the Ladies' Association of St. Andrew's church, held at her home, Anne street, on Tuesday afternoon with a good attendance, and the retiring president, Mrs. Offa Williamson, in the chair.

The report presented by the secretary showed a total paid membership of 66, six new members in the past year, and an average of twenti-one at the monthly meetings. Eleven regular and two special meetings were held, one of the latter being the strawberry festival at the home of Mrs. L. Smith, Fifth Line, Cavan, last June. Two letters and two cards of sympathy were sent to bereaved members, ten baskets of cheer delivered at Christmas time, and six Christmas cards sent with messages of remembrance to shut-in members at Christmas.

The treasurer's report showed a total of more than five hundred dollars raised in the year, taxes paid on the parsonage, a new piano bought and presented to the church, and the church kitchen thoroughly renovataed, new dishes bought, also a new range, and other improvements. Approximately one hundred dollars are now in the bank, and a contribution of one hundred dollars was made to the church thank offering, with five dollars each to the three outside churches on the charge.

The election resulted as follows: President, Mrs. F. J. Smith; vice-president, Mrs. W. A. O'Brian; secretary, Mrs. E. J. Thornton; treasurer, Mrs. J. McKnight. Ice cream and cakes were served during the enjoyable social hour at the close. A Valentine Tea will be held on February 11, the place to be announced later.

Quick Recovery From "Flu"

Patient and All Her Friends Amazed.

To get through the winter without at least one attack of Influenza is rarely the lot of any family. Among the thousands of letters in our mail is an interesting one from a trained nurse, who tells how she treated her patient and cured her in record time! Of bronchial "flu," too! The most deadly and dangerous type. Read what she says, so that you will know what to do for the best the instant the unpleasant visitor makes its appearance. "I have been nursing a case of Bronchial Flu," writes this nurse. "I was greatly surprised how quickly it eased the patient's chest and cough. After only 10 days my patient had quite recovered. I have recommended 'Thermogene' to all my nurse friends, and into my own home. My patient is telling all her friends how quickly she recovered, thanks to 'Thermogene'."

What "Thermogene" Medicated Wadding did for this lady, it will do for you. For the pain-relieving essences in that scientifically impregnated cotton wool never fail.

It is far surer than drugs which only deaden pain temporarily, for it works by the oldest and surest of all methods—counter-irritation. Lay a comforting layer wherever you feel the weary ache that heralds the coming of "flu." "Thermogene" will soothe it almost at once—and very soon you'll feel an improvement. For though this wonderful medicated wadding works from the outside, it goes deep down to the cause of the trouble—removing pain at its very roots. It is so clean and easy to apply. There's none of the mess of poultices! None of the fuss of rubbing as with sticky embrocations. Just clean, fleecy cotton wool—and so soft to the body. Keep a box of "Thermogene" in the house. It's a godsend—not only for "flu" but for attacks of rheumatism, lumbago, and all the other ailments mentioned on the box.

GRAIN AND PRODUCE REVIEWS

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Jan. 12 (C.P.).—Big selling to realize profits took place in the last moments of wheat trading yesterday. Until the final transactions, wheat showed a decided upward trend most of the time, and had risen in some cases 1½ cents above Tuesday's top, surpassing any prices since last August. Highest prices were reached after word came that a move to kill the enacting clause of the farm allotment measure at Washington had been defeated. There were also rumors of disturbed political relations between Russia and Japan. Wheat closed 1-8 to 3-8 cents lower.

TORONTO PRODUCE.

TORONTO, Jan. 12.—Lifted out of the rut into which it was thrown during the post-holiday lull, the local produce market seemed to take a new lease on life yesterday when price changes were posted almost throughout the entire list. Poultry prices were a shade higher, fresh eggs softened, while butter and cheese seemed content to hold anywhere from unchanged to higher prices.

After having satisfied holiday appetites, poultry movements to the local market are now on a lighter scale and prices yesterday were a trifle higher on spring chickens, fatted hens, turkeys, geese and ducklings.

The current spell of mild weather has tended to speed up production of fresh eggs, resulting in a somewhat heavier movement to the market. Prices on some grades yesterday reflected the temporary step-up in supplies with ungraded eggs, cases returned, off as much as two cents at 25 cents for fresh extras, 22 cents for fresh firsts, 19 cents for pullets and 17 cents for seconds. Graded eggs, cases free, closed at 29 cents for fresh extras, 25 cents for fresh firsts, 22 cents for pullets and 19 cents for seconds. To the retail trade, fresh extras, in cartons, dropped two cents to 32 cents with the loose at 30 cents. Firsts commanded 27 cents and pullets 24 cents with seconds at 22 cents. Storage eggs to the retail trade were off from one to two cents with no buying prices quoted.

While Nos. 1 and 2 Ontario creamery butter, in solids, marked time at Tuesday's close, quotations to the retail trade showed their first change in some weeks, advancing one-half cent. No. 1 creamery prints rose to 25 cents with No. 2 at 24½ cents. The advance was credited to a better demand. Buying prices for cheese also held steady but to the retail trade new large cheese rose fractionally to 11¼ cents with twins at 11½ cents and triplets at 11¾ cents.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Jan. 12 (C.P.). — Prices held unchanged on the produce and dairy market here yesterday.

Egg receipts eased off yesterday with 700 cases arrived, compared with 2,202 Tuesday and 1,780 cases Monday. Graded fresh extras in carlots or less were quoted at 31 to 33c; firsts at 27 to 28c, and pullets at 26 to 27c. Storage eggs, in carlots or less, were firm at 22 to 22½c for extras; 20 to 21c for first and 18½ to 19c for seconds. Butter was quoted at 21¼c for carlots or less of No. 1 finest grass make in carlots or less. Receipts were only 23 boxes. Cheese remained quiet and unchanged at 8¼ to 8½c for current Ontario white; 9½ to 9¾c for current Ontario colored and 10½ to 11c for early Ontario make. Receipts were 18 boxes.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, January 12.—Somewhat nervous but able to absorb heavy profit-taking sales, wheat seesawed through an erratic session yesterday. With export trade a minus quantity, prices at the close were ½c to ¾c lower. Gains of more than a cent were established in early trade when traders took a lead from a brisk buying rally from the south. Several recessions and recoveries followed this, and prices eventually sagged to around previous closing levels.

There is a growing belief here that the so-called wheat surplus in the United States is much smaller than at first believed, and that because of the poor start made by the new winter wheat crop the United States may find itself on a domestic basis this year. High premiums paid by United States mills for cash wheat add strength to this belief and large traders in the south are said to be right behind the market. Argentine shippers continue to hold their prices firm, while Australia is selling liberally to the Orient.

CROWDED COURT IS GIVEN LAUGHS AT STUBBS TRIAL

Defense Counsel Waxes Caustic in Cross Examination of Attorney General

JUDGE, FAMILY LOOK ON.

Hon. W. J. Major as Witness Lists Actions Tending to Undermine Justice.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 13.—(CP)—Argument between counsel for the defence and Hon. W. J. Major, attorney general, as a witness, monopolized the morning session of a hearing into charges of judicial misconduct against Judge Lewis St. G. Stubbs.

Cross examination of Mr. Major was begun by E. J. McMurray, counsel for the accused county court judge after the witness had enumerated particulars of charges he brought against the judge.

Several times counsel became caustic in his remarks to witness and brought laughter from the crowded court. He asked what the attorney general thought constituted functions of the judiciary which witness claimed was being undermined by the conduct of the judge.

"To administer law with impartiality," Mr. Major said.

"Do you know of any further functions,' counsel asked.

Light Necessary

"If you show me any further light on what you are referring to, I'll tell you," witness answered.

"You need the light, don't you?" counsel retorted, amid laughter from the court. "I'll tell you what the functions are. The judges make the law. You may pass the laws in the legislature but the real law is in the judge's interpretation."

As counsel and witness continued their argument the little grey haired judge sat back in his chair at the counsel table and smiled. Behind him were seated three of his daughters and a son, while another son sat beside him.

The Attorney-General began the enumeration of the Judge's actions and statements from the bench which witnesses claimed tended to undermine administration of justice. He dealt with the charge against the Judge involving "unwarranted criticism of law enforcement officers" in judgment of the accused from the bench.

In one case Mr. Major quoted the Judge as having said: "I am not going to take the word of these people (referring to police witnesses)."

"They (the police) are out to get them (the accused), and never let them go," the Judge was reported to have said in another case. "They

FLIES 25 MILES SHOT IN HEAD

Pilot Tells of Thrilling Adventure Over Rebel Lines in Honduras.

LANDS PLANE SAFELY.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 13 (A.P.)—A thrilling story of flying a Nationalist plane 25 miles to land in safety after an enemy bullet blinded his right eye and fractured his skull during the recent Honduran disturbance is told by Lowell Yerex, native New Zealander.

Yerex came to New Orleans yesterday to undergo treatment for his wound. The pilot, who explained he had served with the British air forces during the war, said the incident occurred near Tegucigalpa, Dec. 28, just before open hostilities ceased. He has four planes in the Nationalist forces in Honduras, he said.

At the time he was shot, Yerex said, he was piloting Guy Molony, former New Orleanns superintendent of police, over the rebel stands where he was engaged in operating a machine gun and dropping bombs from the plane, scattering the rebels.

The bullet that struck the pilot seemed to sear his right eye, blinding it, and then grazed his forehead, fracturing his skull, Yerez said. His eye is nearly closed.

In his wounded condition, he said, there was nothing he could do to survive but fly the 25 miles to Tegucigalpa where he and Molony safely landed.

For eight days Yerex remained in the hospital at Tegucigalpa and then he was permitted to leave for New Orleans for treatment by specialists.

REVISED PLANS FOR NEW BRIDGE ARE AWAITED

Highways Department is Waiting for Revised Plans From Ottawa.

MAY COMPLETE CHURCH.

One of the deferred constructional projects which is regarded among the certainties for the New Year is the proposed new bridge at the Locks.

J. F. Strickland, M.P.P., told The Examiner to-day that he had received a letter from Hon. Leopold Macaulay, Minister of Highways, intimating again that the Department was waiting only for the engineering revision of the plans which had been held up a few months ago by the Federal Department of Railways and Canals. When agreement is reached on this detail, it is understood there is no other obstacle to hold up this work, and for that reason it is believed to be a definite undertaking for some time early this year.

Another project that may be listed among the probabilities is the completion of the Church of the Immaculate Conception. Rev. Dean O'Sullivan, parish priest, referred in the Christmas Day announcements to the congregation's need of the larger accommodation and facilities which had been originally planned. Although the economic outlook was not bright as the old year ended, there were other considerations which might advise proceeding with the work this season. The building fund had reached an encouraging sum, and the costs of construction were at a much lower level than they had been for a long time. There was also the factor of providing work at a time when employment was at a very low ebb.

Dean O'Sullivan expressed the hope that in view of all the relative circumstances, the completion of the church might be undertaken this year.

These are two early labor prospects which may materialize. The contract for the dam above Nassau has been let, and the Council has a hope or two of its own which may be realized.

Farmer Hides Stock Sale Is Called Off

WINDSOR, Ont., January 13 (C.P.). — A. S. Ascromarty, Essex County farmer, can give Thurston some lessons in magic, according to Frank Howard and Charlie Eggleton, Division Court bailiffs.

Ascromarty made two horses and two cows disappear and the court officer cannot find them. There was a good crowd gathered for the auction, which was held to satisfy a judgment against the farmer, but the stock was missing, so the sale was called off. Officers spent hours following hoof prints to various parts of the 12-acre farm and to adjoining property, but had to give up because Ascromarty would not tell where he hid the animals.

BERNARD GUILTY MANSLAUGHTER

Convicted of Pact With Sister in Murdering His Brother-in-law.

POISONING SUSPECTED.

SHERBROOKE, Que., Jan. 13 (CP)—An assize jury to-day found Gedeon Bernard 42, guilty of manslaughter in connection with the death of his brother-in-law Ludger Chapdelaine. Bernard had been tried on a murder charge as an accomplice of his sister, the dead man's widow. The jury convicted him of the lesser offense, however, and recommended him to mercy. Mrs. Chapdelaine was found guilty in a previous trial and sentenced to be hanged March 17.

Ludger Chapdelaine died under circumstances that aroused suspicions of his physician. An autopsy was performed and although no poison was found in the viscera, experts testified that the symptoms of the illness pointed to poisoning. Dr. Rosario Fontaine, provincial medico-legal officer said the autopsy had been performed too late for traces of poison to be found.

Charges were laid against the widow and her brother. The Crown's contention was that Bernard had supplied his sister with the poison on a promise that he would receive part of the insurance money.

SUPERSTITIONS OF FRIDAY 13TH CENTURIES OLD

Greeks Back in 850 B. C. Warned Not to Plant Seed on 13th of Month.

DATE FEARED BY NORSE.

Adam and Eve Said to Have Partaken of "Forbidden Fruit" on Friday.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Jan. 13 (A.P.)—If you fear some ill fortune to-day because it is Friday the 13th, you can blame the bad arithmetic of your early ancestors, some of whom could not count above three.

Primitive man like the number 12 because he could parcel 12 objects into groups of 3. But 13, what could be done with that?

Dr. Eugene S. McCartney, University of Michigan classical scholar who has studied ancient and modern superstitions, believes that the unpopularity of number 13 undoubtedly began before there weer any written records, probably before early Europeans migrated out of Asia.

Earliest mention of unlucky 13 in Greek literature dates back to 850 B.C., when Hesiod in the first "Agricultural Bulletin" advised against sowing seed on the "thirteenth of the waxing month."

Worst Day of All

There are several theories about the origin of "unlucky thirteen," Dr. McCartney says, and also several explaining "unlucky Friday." It was natural to combine the two and make Friday the thirteenth the worst day of all.

Adam and Eve are said to have partaken of the "forbidden fruit" on Friday, which caused their eviction from the Garden of Eden. Jesus was crucified on Friday.

There was fear of number 13 among the Norsemen, whose mythology says there were 12 demigods until Loki came among them to make 13 and cause plenty of trouble. The Norsemen believed 13 Valkyrie seized a warrior and conducted him to Valhalla.

Kinsmen Officers Take Over Office

The new officers of the Peterborough Kinsmen Club were installed last night by the retiring president G. Wilson Craw, who in a brief address outlined the duties of each officer, and urged upon the members to give the new executive their very best support and co-operation this year. Dr. S. Y. Walsh gave a splendid report on the work the Sunshine Committee had achieved during the past year and recommended to the club members that the Kinsmen sponsor an eye clinic amongst the school children of the city.

City Council Need Not Provide for Extra Street Lighting Cost.

DEPENDS ON 13TH BILL.

Commission Requests Exhibition Board For Payment of Bill.

An announcement was made today in connection with the proposed advancement of street lighting and rates for the city that will ease the mind of the City Council.

"The City Council need not consider the advance in the street lighting rates in its estimates for this year," declared Gordon S. Matthews, chairman of the Commission, in reply to a question of S. R. Armstrong, city clerk. Mr. Armstrong pointed out that the various committees of the council will be striking their estimates within the next few weeks, and the question whether some provision should be made in the estimates for advance in street lighting rates.

Chairman Matthew's announcement will probably pour oil on the controversy that has existed for the past month between the Utilities Commission and the City Council as to which body should bear the cost of the advance in street lighting rates fixed by the Ontario Hydro Power Commission.

Want No Increase

"What the Commission desires mainly is to keep the street lighting rates as they were previously," commented Chairman Matthews. "Whether we will be successful or not depends entirely on what is returned to us from the Hydro Commission in the 13th Bill. We will not know our position on the question until May or June when it is again reviewed with the Hydro Commission. There is no need for the City Council to provide for the increase in their estimates this year."

Mr. Matthews was re-elected chairman of the Commission for the sixth successive year, E. R. Shirley, re-elected to the Commission this year, and John Crane, the other member, declaring their confidence in his leadership of the Commission.

Sturgeon Falls Relief List Shows Women Wed To Prominent Business Men Among "Masqueraders," As Commissioner Checks Up.

OFFICER ADMITS SUPPLY OF CLOTHING GIVEN TO 122 WHO GET STEADY INCOME.

STURGEON FALLS, Ont., Jan. 13.—(CP)— Individual cases of relief abuses occupied the attention of the Royal Commission investigating relief disbursements here today, with Relief Officer Joseph Cote on the stand before Judge J. M. Hall, Royal Commissioner.

Cote, on instructions from W. H. Williams, K.C., commissioner counsel, presented a list of 122 persons who, he said, were not on relief but had been given clothing. All had steady incomes, he testified.

As soon as residents of the town lost their jobs, they were placed on relief. Among those receiving clothing while regularly employed was a teamster who worked for Councillor John Jacques, and two Springer township farmers, said Mr. Cote.

One man, Albert Andrews, had received $71.35 worth of clothing while steadily employed by the Abitibi Power and Paper Company.

The enquiry continued this afternoon.

Startling Evidence

When the enquiry reopened, a new line was taken when it was found wives of prominent business men and others had received relief while masquerading under their maiden names. Mr. Williams had checked over the names on the list submitted by Mr. Cote. When he came to the last name, that of Mrs. A. Seguin, who received clothing valued at $122 he asked:

"Who is she?"

"That," Cote replied, "is Mrs. Joseph Serre."

"Why was she called Mrs. Seguin?"

"Seguin is her maiden name."

"Were there similar cases?"

"It is possible," said Cote, shrugging.

"Who signed the order for her?" asked Mr. Williams.

"Councillor J. F. Demers," Cote replied.

Mr. Williams suggested names on the list unrecognized by Cote were fictitious, and that if correct names were given the persons might be recognized.

Names of Councillor Joseph Sivigny, chairman of the 1932 council relief committee, who headed the polls last election, and Councillor J. F. Demeas cropped up continually to-day as the signers of large numbers of relief orders.

"Wait till I get some of the councillors in the stand next week and I'll land some big fish," said Mr. Williams.

The real name of Pola Negri, movie actress, is Appolinia Chalupez.

JERUALEM, Dec. 26.—Once a year the church of the Holy Sepulchre is the scene of a miracle. This occurs on Easter morning. Days before Easter the city is in a state of tense excitement and troops patrol the streets and alleys. Anything may happen in Jerusalem on Easter morning. For religious exaltation reaches such a pitch on that holy day that physical pain and discomfort count for nought. Men would walk into fire and into the jaws of hell when in this state of excitation. For this is the Orient. Here religion does not merely consist of a few ethical precepts. It is a course of action fanatically defended if deemed necessary. The

KEMPT QUARTET WINS FROM KAY IN FINAL 21-17

Second Time Norwood Veteran Has Lead His Rink to Neill Cup Victory.

SUCCESSFUL TOURNEY.

The Neill Trophy disappeared overnight from the club rooms of Peterborough Curling Club, and the emptiness of the glass case in which it had been displayed for many years, is only accentuated by the imposing array of other trophies which surround it.

A large silver cup, mounted on a heavy wooden base, the trophy was presented for annual competition among the district clubs, by the late Robert Neill, one of the founders of Peterborough Curling Club and its first president.

No mystery surrounds the missing cup. It was won in hard competition by Skip F. Kempt and his Norwood Rink and was proudly carried eastward in the early hours of this morning to occupy the place of honor among other trophies of Norwood Curling Club, Skip Kempt's victory is a double one. He was skip of the winning rink in the Neill Trophy some nine years ago.

Closely Contes'ed

The finals were particularly closely contested, and progress of the game, despite the lateness of the hour, was followed by an eager gallery of spectators.

Kay was 4 shots up, in the fourteenth end and it almost looked as if he had the decision clinched. The Kempt quartette thought otherwise, and getting in 5 points in the fifteenth end, they were one up on Kay coming home. The game concluded with a margin of four points, in favour of Norwood, and the cup was again out of the custody of the local curlers.

Each member of the victorious rink was presented with a Kenwood blanket, while the runners-up received sweater coats.

First competed for in 1919, the cup went into the original possession of the Keene Rink skipped by J. J. Moore. In the year following it was captured by Peterborough, since which time they have managed to retain possession of it each year, with exception of the few occasions upon which it has gone to one or other of the district rinks.

Clubs represented in the tourney this year besides Peterborough and Norwood, were Lakefield and Millbrook. Keene did not have an entry.

SUSPECTS HELD IN BANK HOLDUP LOOT RECOVERED

Montreal Police Trail Man to House, Nab Accomplices as They Arrive.

THREE GUNS FOUND.

Prisoners Believed Implicated in Many Recent Violent Thefts.

MONTREAL, Jan. 13.—(C.P.) — Originally seeking three men wanted for an armed hold-up at a branch of La Banque Canadienne Nationale here yesterday, detectives to-day had six men in the cells at headquarters. Three charged with the robbery and three held on suspicion of being implicated in many other violent thefts of the past few weeks.

Trail from the bank led to an uptown house where a man was arrested. The place was guarded and five others who approached it were taken into custody. The complete haul of the robbery, $1,500, was recovered and identified by the bank staff, while three revolvers were seized.

The group was ready to leave for Toronto when taken into custody, detectives stated. They intended, according to police information, to spend some days at the Ontario capital, then return to Montreal separately.

John Munsters, 32, Harry McDermott, 30, and Pat Milton, 22, were charged with the hold-up.

FATAL BLAST AT GAS STATION

STOVE IGNITES VAPORS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (A.P.)—Terror thrilled through a section of midtown Manhattan to-day when a big gasoline station blew up with a roar, killing one man and injuring two.

The blast, followed by the crash of hundreds of window panes, spread fear through a populous area a few blocks north of the Times Square—theatrical zone. The casualty list:

Gilman Osgood, 27, of Hempstead, father of two children, killed when the wreckage of the station buried him in an oiling pit.

Patrolman William Butler, seriously injured when he ran to investigate a preliminary blast. The big explosion hurled him across a street.

Ned Hawley, a passerby, less seriously hurt.

A fourth man, known only as "Red," was listed as missing. Like Osgood he was an attendant at the gas station.

The blast was attributed to seepage of vapors from a tank to an office where a coal stove ignited them.

Acquittals Easy Criminals Knew Major Declares

Attorney-General "Apprehensive" Over Consistent Acquittals, He Declares In Probe Of Judge Stubbs. SHARE OF RESPONSIBILITY IS LAID

AT DOOR OF JUDGE STUBBS BY HON. MAJOR.

WINNIPEG, January 13. — Winnipeg yesterday was pictured as a place recognized by criminals as an easy place to escape conviction. The situation was so serious, W. J. Major, Attorney-General, was "becoming apprehensive," he declared in an attack on the judicial behavior of Judge Lewis St. George Stubbs.

Endeavoring to support the charges of judicial misconduct he brought against the County Court Judge, Mr. Major blamed this situation on Judge Stubbs' "bias and disregard of evidence."

Out of thirty-four cases before him between July and October, 1932, thirty-three were acquittals, said the Attorney-General, who also charged the accused with "tremendous abuse of authority." Wards of the court had suffered, he continued, from "the terrible state of affairs," arising from the Judge's collection of fees "for which he had no authority."

Day of Argument.

The declarations of Mr. Major, called as a witness in the investigation into charges of judicial misconduct against the Judge, climaxed a day of sharp argument among E J McMurray, counsel for the accused; Arthur Sullivan, K.C., counsel for the Commission; and the witness himself.

Complaints against the Judge were continually arriving at the Attorney-General's office, he said, from law enforcement officers and the public at large. Also he had a statement from a jail turnkey repeating alleged remarks of prisoners which, witness said, indicated "they entertained the thought they would be treated with extreme leniency if they cou'd be tried before Judge Stubbs."

Twice Mr. McMurray accused the Attorney-General of being biased. He said not only was Mr. Major showing the nature of charges against the Judge, but "also his own nature." Also, he charged Commission counsel with attempting to submit "something improper" to facilitate the early departure of the witness.

Wanted Trial by Stubbs

Again, he complained when the Attorney-General continued to read from files and statements to the effect that prisoners in court, and when arrested, expressed their desire for trial before Judge Stubbs.

Finally, it was agreed to defer this evidence until the witnesses concerned could be brought before Mr Justice Frank Ford, the Commissioner.

Mr. Major then continued with charges of "excessive exercise of authority" in the Judge's signing release paper for twenty-three garnishee orders. There appeared to be a "decided and positive objection" by the Judge to these orders, witness claimed.

He charged that the Judge had "exceeded his power" in this respect, for, he maintained, there was no need of quashing such orders when any debtor could, under the Orderly Payment Act, apply to that particular department, and explain his inability to pay. This provided ample protection to debtors, he declared, and there was no reason for a Judge to act.

Since 1929, at least, Judge Stubbs had been accepting fees to which he had no statutory right, the Attorney-General claimed, and he summarized several cases where, he charged, payment of the fee had caused court wards to suffer.

"Outrageous," He Says

Mr. McMurray objected to review of acquittals by Judge Stubbs, the evidence of which the Attorney-General entered as exhibits. It was a most "outrageous proposition" to suggest these judgments be reviewed by the Commissioner, defense counsel submitted.

A Judge, he contended, was not answerable to any court or Parliament; he was answerable only to his conscience. Mr. Major, acting as a witness, was arguing and drawing conclusions, Mr. McMurray continued.

"Perhaps that's a little too strong" Justice Ford interrupted, and loud snickers broke out over the courtroom, jammed to the doors, over which Royal Canadian Mounted Police kept watch. All day those unable to get a seat inside stood crowded around the door in the corridor.

PREVILLE DIES UPON GALLOWS PRAYER ON LIPS

Quebec Youth Convicted of Murdering Woman Last January.

CASE OF JEALOUSY.

Committed Crime Using Knife, Gun on Finding Brother With Sweetheart.

JOLIETE, Que., Jan. 1 (C.P.)— Facing death with calm fortitude, Albert Preville mounted the scaffold in the jailyard here and paid with his life for the murder of Mrs. Joseph Mondor in the little village of St. Damien on January 18, 1932.

Preville was dropped through the trap at 7.02 a.m. to-day. Physicians pronounced him dead at 7.14 a.m.

Albert Preville went to his death quite calmly. Abbe Verschelden, chaplain of Montreal jail and his companion since his removal to Joliette on Wednesday, sat at breakfast with the condemned man and walked with him to the scaffold. With firm step Preville mounted the steps of the portable red-painted scaffold erected in the snow of the jailyard. He was repeating prayers after Abbe Verschelden as Hangman Arthur Ellis adjusted the straps and fixed the noose, and was sent crashing through the trap with a prayer on his lips.

The crime for which the young St. Damien villager was sentenced to death was ascribed to jealousy. A year ago less five days, Albert Preville went to call on Mrs. Joseph Mondor. He found his brother Alphonse with the woman. In his jealous rage he shot his brother through the thigh and killed Mrs. Mondor, according to evidence laid before the jury. Her throat was cut from ear to ear and there were nine knife wounds and three bullets in her body.

Myrna Loy and Gilbert Roland are also featured.

GARBO'S HOUSE TO TAKE LIVELIER SETTING.

SOME INTRIGUING items about Greta Garbo's home life were discovered by Claudette Colbert when she took over the Brentwood estate formerly occupied by the Swedish star. In that great house—five bedrooms, living-room, library, dining-room, den, etc.—Garbo used no more space than she might have had in a double apartment. She practically lived in her bed-room and on a little porch where she sometimes slept. Even her meals were served there. And, though the house was provided with elaborate sets of dishes, she used only a few cups, saucers and plates. On rare occasions, she sat in the living-room, but the rest of the house she completely ignored.

Why, then, rent such a large place?

The answer is, privacy. Several acres of grounds surround the place. It has a swimming pool, a tennis court. Garbo used these and she took long walks in her grounds.

Under the Colbert regime, things will be a little gayer. Claudette doesn't give large parties, like some Hollywood folk, but she frequently entertains. And she is having a croquet course laid out on the lawn.

Gradually the house will forget the famous Hollywood recluse who once occupied it.

MYRNA LOY GIVEN CHANCE BY GRIFFITH.

MYRNA LOY, the lady who has been splashing glamour across our screens for several years, has finally come into her motion picture own. Myrna waited for her big chance a long time. Always beautiful, always talented, always a good trouper, the Loy girl had been the victim of melodramatic vamping roles for many years. Directors had refused to cast her for intelligent, sophisticated parts with resolution worthy of a better cause.

Edward H. Griffith, lining up his cast for "The Animal Kingdom" gave Myrna the part of a seductress wife, a role in which she could turn loose all her famous glamour and at the same time bid heavily for the audience sympathy.

INFLATION OF DOLLAR ADVOCATED BY MARIPOSA TOWNSHIP FARMERS

Meeting at Cambray Opposes Trade Deal With Russia.

WM. COULTER DIES

LINDSAY, Jan. 12—Death, as the result of shock following the announcement of the passing of her brother, claimed a well known resident of Bobcaygeon, in the person of Mrs. Margaret Graham Bingham in her seventy-third year. The deceased suffered a stroke from which she never gained consciousness. Interment took place in Verulam cemetery.

Taken ill while on a visit to Peterborough, William Coulter, who resided on the Galway Road in Harvey Township, Peterborough County, passed to his eternal rest a few days ago. The deceased was born in Galway Township sixty-two years ago, and was well known throughout the district. He is survived by his wife, three brother and three sisters, one being Mrs. E. Curtis of Pterborough.

Farmers of the township of Fenelon and Mariposa townships at a meeting held in the Community Hall, Cambray, last night, turned down two resolutions presented during the evening—one in favor of the proposed Canadian-Russian trade agreement and the other endorsing the inflation of Canadian currency. Mr. Jasper Forman, Reeve of Fenelon, and Wm. Newman, M.L.A., North Victoria, were the two speakers.

Mr. Foreman claimed that the plight in which the farmers found themselves was very largely, if not altogether, due to the inflation of Canadian currency. Cattle today would be as good as they were a year ago except for the fact that England went off the gold standard and Canada did not follow. One of the main items of the Imperial Economic Conference should have been to get the pound sterling and the dollar on the same level. The only solution, he declared, was for the farmer to get the dollar on par with the English pound. One way to accomplish this is by the issue of new bills. The money lords of Canada are agains it, he stated, but the time has come for drastic action in order to keep Canada from going to ruin.

Would Trade With Russia.

Mr. Newman in his address endorsed the remarks of Mr. Forman. In his Sunday School class of thirty-five young men he had barely touched the Sunday lesson, but had given addresses on the gold stand-

PLAN TO FORM ORGANIZATION

Cheese Industry in Northumberland County Will Solidify and Draw Up Constitution.

GENERAL MEETING SOON.

(By Examiner Staff Correspondent)

CAMPBELLFORD, Jan. 13.—The first step in the formation of an organization in Northumberland County of a cheese board and to obtain someone to speak for the cheese industry in this section of the country was taken on Wednesday when officials and patrons of that branch of dairying met at Campbellford and drafted a constitution for presentation at a general meeting of all patrons and officials of the county which is expected will be held at Campbellford sometime during this month.

The meeting, which was held in the Seymour township office was convened by Walter H. Smith, district agricultural representative of Brighton, John A. Murray, Campbelliford group instructor also being present. The idea of a county organization has been mooted for some time and it was felt that before calling a general meeting it was necessary to have some solid facts to present. This was discussed and a constitution drawn up, which will be fully discussed later. The object is to solidify and assist the cheese industry within the County of Northumberland.

The date of the general meeting has not yet been set but it is thought that at this gathering two outstanding men in the industry will speak. H. B. Somerset, chairman of the Ontario Marketing Board and George H. Barr, Director of Dairying in the Provincial government.

VEERSATILE FIREMEN.

WINDSOR.—First aid in varied forms is just matter of fact business to Windsor fire-fighters. When a man cut himself seriously while cutting meat, a rescue squad fixed him up and sent him to hospital. Another chap collapsed from asthma, so the squad used inhalator treatment.

NEGOTIATIONS DENIED

GENEVA.—Dr. W. W. Yen, chief Chinese delegate at the League of Nations, notified that body to-day that reports that the Nanking Government had appointed someone to negotiate with Japanese authorities regarding Shanhaikwan hostilities were false.

ARMORY BURNS AT BALTIMORE

Loss of Maryland's National Guard Building May Total $1,500,000.

ORIGIN UNKNOWN.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 13 (C.P.). — The historic Fifth Regiment Armory of the Maryland National Guard was destroyed by fire early to-day, at a possible loss of $1,500,000.

Only the thick granite walls, among which the flames raged for hours, remained of the 30-year-old building where Woodrow Wilson was nominated for United States President in 1912, and Franklin D. Roosevelt ended his southern presidential tour last fall.

The fire, of an undetermined origin, was discovered at 1.50 a.m., and within a few minutes a general alarm summoned all the fire-fighting apparatus of the city.

Unable to bring the flames under control, the firemen turned their attention to numerous small fires started by flying embers, scattered over a wide area by a 30-mile northwesterly wind.

Col. Washington Bowie, Jr., commander of the regiment, said if the walls and structural steel are seriously damaged, the loss will total $1,500,000, but if the walls and frame-work survived the fire, the damage probably will be about $500,000.

SOLVE the mystery! Twelve missing numbers will do it.

$450,000 LOSS IN CHURCH FIRE

Priceless Relics Go Up in Flames at St. Louis de France, Montreal.

ARSON SQUAD PROBING.

MONTREAL, Jan. 13 (C.P.).—St. Louis de France Church was completely destroyed by fire yesterday with its valuable collection of priceless relics, beautiful paintings and wood carvings lost in one of the most spectacular outbreaks the city has witnessed in a long while.

Last night only the bare walls and the tower of the church, which stood on Roy Street, remained. The fire caused minor damage to 73 dwellings nearby and the roofs of 30 automobiles sustained damage as burning embers or flying stones struck them. One fireman was slightly injured.

For hours it appeared as if a general conflagration threatened the eastern part of the city.

Blaze Under Control.

Late last night the interior of the church was still burning, its woodwork being consumed slowly. It was completely under control, however, and a night staff of firemen was standing by. On top the tower four bronze figures of angels were crowning the ruin.

Members of the arson squad of the Montreal police department began an investigation into the outbreak for which no immediate cause could be discovered. In 1925 a firebug attempted twice to set the building ablaze, but small outbreaks were quickly put out.

Actual loss to the church and its contents were set at $450,000, almost covered by insurance. A prized relic of St. Louis, King of France, long treasured by the parish, was lost as were several paintings by the eminent French-Canadian artist, Georges Delfosses.

Don't delay ordering new dahlias and gladioli you want. The supply of novelties sometimes runs short.

Great Community Effort to Raise FUNDS for RELIEF

Backed by Mayor and Aldermen of the City

At a very representative meeting of citizens held in the Council Chamber on Wednesday night, it was decided to make an appeal for funds for Relief purposes to those of our citizens who, knowing the facts, are able and willing to help.

The problem of relief for our unemployed fellow-citizens is assuming very serious proportions. There are upwards of 675 families or 3,000 individuals who have to be taken care of. This is a heavy burden. Peterborough citizens were asked in 1931 to contribute to a similar fund, which amounted to approximately $13,000.00, supplemented later brought it up to about $17,000.00. This is a very small amount as compared with other places.

Ottawa raised over $180,000.00

Brantford raised over $135,000.00

Oshawa raised over $35,000.00

and corresponding amounts in other places.

The funds raised in the campaign of 1931 came largely from the men in the factories, but on this occasion workmen will not be solicited, but an opportunity is being given to every one to participate.

APPEAL FOR FUNDS

To those Individuals, Corporations, Organizations, Lodges, Service Clubs, etc., knowing the necessity at this time, a frank appeal for funds is being made to those who are able to contribute, and any sum, large or small, will be gratefully accepted and acknowledged.

Second-Hand Clothing Bureau

Through the generosity of the Canadian Department Stores, the Committee has been loaned the use of the store, formerly Eaton's Groceteria, George Street, Cressman Block, where arrangements will be made to receive donations of second-hand clothing, furniture, boots and shoes, bedding and every kind of household article, as well as canned goods, vegetables, and any gift of new clothing you are disposed to give.

Every one in the city can get interested in this Relief Campaign. To those who are able, your donation in cash is going to be wonderfully appreciated. To those who can spare them, the articles of clothing, furniture, vegetables, etc., may be left at the above address, where they will be received and handed out to those applying for them.

The campaign opens on Monday next. You know the need. Let us all do the very best we can on this occasion, keeping in mind that it is more blessed to give than to receive.

SMITH COUNCIL NAMES OFFICERS AT INAUGURAL

Reeve Mann in His Opening Address Stresses Need of Economyi n 1933.

GRAHAM RE-APPOINTED

Schedule of Wages for Work on Roads Set by Council.

The inaugural meeting of the Municipal Council of the Township of Smith was held on Monday; all the members of Council being present.

Before the opening of the session of Council, Reeve Mann gave an address, in which he congratulated and welcomed back the members of last year's council and also George E. Mullen, a new member, as Deputy Reeve. He stressed the more-than-ever need of economy and co-operation during 1933, and hoped Council would legislate as far as possible to alleviate the financial stress now being so generally felt.

The clerk was requested to order seven copies of The Municipal World for use of Councillors and Assessor.

By motion, the Reeve and Clerk were given authority to sign printed forms re borrowing of money from the Royal Bank, Peterborough.

Moved by George E. Mullen and seconded by Fred Armstrong, that the Reeve and Clerk be authorized to sign and submit to the Minister of Public Highways for Ontario, the petition of the Corporation of the Township of Smith, showing that during 1932 there has been expended upon the township roads in Smith the sum of $7,519.71; and requesting the subsidy grant on this amount from the Department of Highways for Ontario, as provided by the Ontario Highways Act and amendments thereto.

Officers Appointed

By-law No. 910, appointing certain officers, received its several readings and was passed as below:

James A. Young, auditor, salary, $10; Alex. I. Edminson, auditor, $10; Dr. J. A. Morgan, M.H.O., nominal salary, $4.00; Peter Nicholls, Albert Armstrong and C. E. Moore, Sheep valuers and fence viewers; salary as per services; G. D. Mann, assessor, salary, $180.00.

The township was divided into "pound divisions," coinciding with the several school sections, and with the following as pound keepers: J. A. Middleton, Harold Archer, C. Sanderson, R. A. Garbutt, G. D. Mann, Ira Gardiner, James Blewett, Victor Young, K. Sweeting, Rollie Armstrong, Elmer Milburn and Thomas Davis.

By-law No. 911, appointing Dr. J. A. Morgan, Reeve Mann and Deputy Reeve George E. Mullen as a local board of health, with the clerk as secretary, received its several readings and was passed.

By-law No. 912, appointing Clayton Sanderson as weed inspector for 1933, at $2.50 per day plus six cents per mile for each mile travelled in the performance of his duties, was passed.

By-law No. 913, appointing Albert K. Nicholls as sanitary inspector, truant officer and relief officer at a salary at $95, was also passed.

By-law No. 914, authorizing the borrowing of money from the Royal Bank for current expenses received its several readings and was passed.

An order was passed authorizing the payment of $8.85 covering Pay Sheet No. 1 for 1933.

Moved by George E. Mullen and seconded by C. Westlake, that the clerk arrange for the bonding of treasurer in the sum of $10,000; and that a copy of the same be deposited with Crown Attorney McElderry as per requirements of the Ontario Statutes as amended in 1932. Carried.

Moved by H. Fowler and seconded by Fred Armstrong, that George E. Mullen and C. Westlake be appointed to sell all the township wood. Carried.

Moved by C. Westlake and seconded by Fred Armstrong, that the assessor be asked to take a census of bulls in Smith townships while on his tour, as per request of the County Council. Carried.

Moved by Fred Armstrong and seconded by C. Westlake, that the reeve and clerk arrange to borrow by note from the Royal Bank, Peterborough, for three months, the sum of $4,000 to cover overdraft and for current account. Carried.

Moved by C. Westlake and seconded by H. Fowler, that Messrs. A. Comstock and Sons be paid the sum of thirty dollars for the burial of Mrs. George Sidey. Carried.

Moved by H. Fowler and F. Armstrong, that I. H. Graham be re-appointed road superintendent for 1933 at a salary of $4 per day of ten hours, and that the Department of Highways for Ontario be advised of the change in salary. Carried.

Schedule of Wages

On motion of C. Westlake and H. Fowler, the following schedule of wages for work on roads be adopted for 1933: man and team, 35c per hour; labor, 17½c per hour; road boss, 25c per hour. Carried.

Councillor Armstrong was appointed to investigate re residence of Pearl Cummings and to report at the next meeting.

Moved by George E. Mullen and seconded by C. Westlake, that in the case of direct relief, the sum of $2 be allowed weekly for the first two in a family; 40c per member weekly for the next two members, and 25c weekly for each remaining member. Carried.

Moved by C. Westlake and seconded by George E. Mullen, that the following accounts be paid: Treasurer of Emily Township, balance of boundary road account, 1932, $2.57; Royal Bank, Lakefield, commisison on collection of taxes, 1932, $12; Dawe-Pearson, Ltd., printing Dec. 15 statements, $14.42; Peterborough Examiner Ltd., printing ballots, $13.26; Percy T. MRS. RAY FINLAY NEW PRESIDENT

Elected by Ladies' Aid of Fraserville at Annual Meeting.

MRS. SEABROOK HOSTESS

FRASERVILLE, Jan. 13.—Mrs. Barrie Seabrook was hostess to the members of the Fraserville Ladies' Aid on Wednesday afternoon for their annual meeting and election of officers.

The meeting opened with the hymn, "More Love to Thee." The Scripture lesson, Psalm 34, was read by Mrs. Stewart Hogg, which was followed by a reading, "My Creed," by Miss Roberta Holden.

The secretary reported a very successful year for the Ladies' Aid. They held 10 meetings with an average attendance of 14 members. Two new members had been added to the roll during the year, and after all accounts had been paid they have a small balance on hand.

Several items of unfinished business of the previous year were dealt with.

Rev. E. M. Cook then took charge of the meeting and the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Ray Finlay; vice-president, Mrs. Barrie Seabrook; secretary, Mrs. W. Johnson; treasurer, Mrs. W. A. Wood; leader Group A, Mrs. Stewart Hogg leader Group B, Mrs. W. A. Wood; leader Group C, Mrs. Barrie Seabrook.

A delightful lunch was served, which brought a very enjoyable afternoon to a close. Table collection amounted to $2.75.

Order seeds and plants if you have been slow about it.

PILES GO QUICK

No Salves—No Cutting.

Thousands who have itching, bleeding or protruding piles have not yet learned that quick and lasting relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor suppositories remove the cause.

Bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The hemorrhoidal veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To get rid of Piles an internal medicine must be used to stimulate the circulation, drive out the thick impure blood, heal and restore the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, after years of study, found a real internal Pile remedy. He called his discovery HEM-ROID, and prescribed it for 1,000 patients with success in over 900 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer, no matter how stubborn their case, might try his prescription with a money back guarantee.

HEM-ROID Tablets have such a wonderful record of success that McDermid & Jury and Bond's Drug Store and all good druggists invite you to try HEM-ROID, and guarantee money refunded if it does not end your Pile misery

GRAIN, CATTLE, PRODUCE

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, January 13. —A lull in export and light outside interest gave a downward slant to wheat values in the grain pit here yesterday. At the close wheat registered net losses of ¾c to ⅞c. It was one of the dullest trading days here in weeks.

May closed at 46½c, July at 47⅛c to 47½c, and October at 48⅞c to 49c.

The market showed flashes of independent firmness toward the mid-session period, and in occasional spots showed a tendency to recovery. Chicago made similar improvements.

Cables Are Lower.

Cables were easy because of the slip in North American markets on Wednesday. Attention was directed to the larger shipments estimated from the Argentine this week which were expected to show an increase of 1,228,000 bushels.

Broomhall said the demand for actual wheat in the United Kingdom had subsided, despite the fact shippers' offers were weaker.

Cash wheat and coarse grains were sympathetic to the drop in wheat values.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

MONTREAL, January 13.— Prices held unchanged on the produce and dairy market here yesterday.

Graded fresh eggs in cartons or less were quoted at 31c to 32c for extras, 27c to 28c for firsts, and 26c to 27c a dozen for pullets. Storage eggs in cartons or less were firm at 22c to 22½c for extras, 20c to 21c for firsts, and 18½c to 19c a dozen for seconds. Receipts were 747 cases.

Cartons or less of No. 1 finest grass butter sold at 21¼c a pound. Receipts were 165 boxes.

Current receipts of Ontario cheese were quoted at 8¼c to 8½c for white, 9½c to 9¾c for colored, and 10½c to 11c a pound for early Ontario make. Receipts were 20 boxes.

New Brunswick or Prince Edward Island Green Mountain potatoes, per 80-pound bag, were 90c to 95c, and Prince Edward Island Green Mountains, per 90-pound bag, $1.00.

TORONTO PRODUCE

Heavy supplies of fresh eggs on the local market yesterday resulted in reductions in prices of several cents to country shippers and retailers. Brokers found extras difficult to clear, and eased their price on this grade, while holding to steady levels on the lower grades. Local consumption was not strong enough to allow dealers to clear receipts, and the cuts in prices were made in an effort to encourage buying.

Prices to country shippers were down to 24c for extras, 21c for firsts, 18c for pullet extras, and 16c for seconds, delivered, ungraded, cases returned. To retailers, prices were lower at 31c for extras in cartons, 29c for extras loose, 25c for firsts loose, 23c for pullet extras loose, and 21c for seconds loose. Brokers offered graded eggs in free cases at 27c for extras, 24c for firsts, 22c for pullet extras, and 19c for seconds.

Poultry

New poultry price lists were issued, and showed a better feeling on this market. Prices on milk-fed chickens were up 1c per pound, while quotations on hens, live weight, were also 1c higher. Turkeys were up 1c to 2c per pound, but ducklings were easier.

Butter

Trade in butter was no more active than on Wednesday, but brokers were not weakening prices to any extent. They asked 21c to 21¼c for fresh-made No. 1, and 20½c for regraded No. 1, while No. 2 was offered at 20¾c.

Cheese

Cheese was steady at 10c for new large, 10¼c for new twins, and 10½c for new triplets, while prices to retailers were unchanged at the innrease in effect earlier in the week.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Jan. 13 — Dubious over agricultural legislative developments at Washington, many traders turned to the selling side of the wheat market late yesterday, and prices slid downhill.

Much talk was heard that the farm allotment bill had been so overloaded with amendments the measure would have little chance of being signed by President Hoover. Rumors of export business gave backbone to the corn market.

Wheat closed weak, ⅝c to 1⅝c under Wednesday's finish; corn, ⅛c off to ¼c up; oats, ¼c down; and provisions varying from 7c decline to 5c advance.

ONTARIO GRAIN

Approximate prices track shipping point—Wheat, 40c to 43c; oats, 20c to 22c; barley, 33c to 35c; corn, 33c to 35c; rye, 30c to 32c; buckwheat, 27c to 29c.

GABRIEL PERFORMS MIRACLE FOR HOLY CITY'S FAITHFUL

troops are on hand to prevent that defence, which usually takes the form of aggression.

The Basilica of the Holy Sepulchre is thrown open to the public at midnight before Easter. Within five minutes every available nook and corner is filled by a wildly gesticulating mass of priests, monks, women and laymen. Arabic Christians, Coptic merchants, black, white, yellow men. Women veiled and unveiled squirm and squash into the balconies. They sit on the stairways, hang on to the bannisters, balance themselves precariously on the monuments. All through the night this crowd waits for dawn.

An unbelievable heat develops in the church through the emanations of the thousands of bodies. A westerner has all he can do to keep himself from collapsing. The perspiration streams down his face, but he hasn't even a chance to get his handkerchief out of his pocket. At least such was my experience on the two occasions that I attended the Easter morn service in this basilica. But the Orientals apparently experience no discomfort. They laugh and gossip and babble. Women eat oranges and melons in the balconies and spit the pits and stones down on the crowd. Nobody objects to this. This is the east, you see.

Too Crowded to Fight

Various quarrels break out in the course of the night. Then the entire congregation cackles and laughs and takes sides but the quarrels never come to blows, for it is impossible to get your hands free, so tightly wedged together is this crowd.

Toward dawn the excitement increases. It is the legendary hour of the resurrection. We are going to see a miracle. Women clap their hands in anticipation.

With the first streaks of daylight filtering through the windows of the dome, the lights go out in the basilica and the crowd waits in darkness. The ringing of bells is heard outside and a procession enters. The procession advances with the greatest difficulty. A dozen stalwart monks push and elbow their way forward through the portals. There are angry shouts and jubilations; the service is about to begin.

Behind the monks come twelve priests carrying banners, one for each of the Apostles. A thirteenth black banner represents Judas. Then follows the Armenian Patriarch, a white-bearded prelate wearing a golden crown and rich vestments of silk and gold. His dalmatica is of sky-blue satin. From a necklace of precious stones hangs a cross scintillating on his chest. Another cross studded with diamonds crowns his tiara of emeralds and sapphires. In his hands he carries a long crystal cane, two crossed golden serpents forming its hook. Priests walking backwards swing censers about him. You hear the twinkle of silver chains and the air grows heavy with the aroma of incense. The Patriarch blesses the crowd. A shout of joy is the answer. The procession goes around the Holy Sepulchre three times, while an immense clamor rises: "What is rightfully ours, O God, give it unto us."

Presently the Patriarch and a single priest detach themselves from the sacerdotal procession and go into the crypt. All they carry with them is an unlit candle.

A Miracle for the Crowd

Now the miracle will come. For it is said that while the Patriarch is in the crypt, the Angel Gabriel comes down there on Easter morning to light the candle in his hands as a token of the authenticity of the resurrection of Christ.

The Patriarch is in the crypt. the darkened church is in deep silence. You can hear the breathing of the crowd. People begin to pray: "O Lord show us a sign. Show us a miracle." Everybody prays in his own language. Some are overcome with emotion, they shout and wail their prayer.

Five minutes pass, ten minutes, the Patriarch tarries in the crypt. Will there be no miracle this year? The praying becomes wilder and wilder. Men scream and beat their chests. Women yell at the top of their voices. The longer the Patriarch stays away, the more restless the congregation becomes.

tA last there is a shout of victory. The Patriarch's hand comes through a hole in the wall, holding the sacred fire just down from heaven, brought by the archangel. "Glory, Hallelujah!" The shouting becomes deafening. "The miracle has happened again. Praise be to God. Gabriel has lit the candle!" The din increases. Priests ring bells. Everybody claps his hands. An Armenian monk in long flowing robes executes a wild, fantastic dance, perilously balancing himself on the top of the kiosk which holds the tomb of Christ. English soldiers have waited for this dance, for it happens every year. They too jump on to the tomb and brutally punch the monk back into the crowd with their truncheons.

A Light From Gabriel

And then something so astonishing happens that it takes one's breath away. Everybody present carries a candle. All these thousands of candles are unlit at the moment the Patriarch's hand appears. But those nearest to him light their candles from his. Thereupon everyone lights his candle from that of his nearest neighbor. In the flash of a moment, five thousannd candles are burning. You see the flames leaping through the church, as it were up the stairways, along the altars, high up on to the balconies, right up to the roof, wherever there are people. Some people hauled up lighted candles through apertures on the roof by means of ropes. In a minute the church is a blaze of light.

Formerly a Russian delegation was present on Easter morning to light a small holy lamp off the Patriarch's candle. Once lit, a runner carried it at top speed, seventeen miles away to the port at Jaffa, where a ship lay with steam up ready to sail for Russia. At Odessa, the destination of the ship carrying the haly lamp, thousands waited to light their lamps from that flame. Later, the fire was carried further inland, to Kieff, Moscow, Petrograd, until all the millions of lamps burning in front of Russia's ikons in churches and peasant homes were lit directly from the miraculous candle in Jerusalem. Since the Soviet government extinguished the lights before the ikons, no Russian runner is present in Jerusalem on Easter.

When the church finally goes out and the candle-carrying crowd gets into the streets, a wild dance ensues. It is not safe for a westerner to be around. The mere thought that he might be an unbelieving Moslem or Jew will get him in danger.

CAVAN W.M.S. MEET AT MATCHETT HOME

Address on Prohibition in Prince Edward Island.

CAVAN, Jan. 13.—The W.M.S. of Cavan United Church met at the home of Mrs. Richard Matchett on Thursday afternoon. There were nine members and one visitor present. Mrs. R. S. Staples conducted the devotional period.

The president, Mrs. R. Matchett, conducted the business session, during which Mrs. D. J. Hunter was appointed literature secretary. She also announced that the Presbyterial W. M.S. convention would be held in George Street Church, Peterborough, January 17 and 18, and requested each secretary to have one question regarding her work to bring up at the conference.

Mrs. J. C. Swain, in a very interesting manner, took up the first chapter of the new study book on Canada. Mrs. Whithame gave an interesting reading on India, and contributed two choice selections of poetry, appropriate to the season and work.

The treasurer's report showed that $65.91 had been paid towards last year's allocation. There had been thirteen members.

Mrs. Perrin read an article from a magazine on "Prince Edward Island: Has Prohibition Been a Success?" This article stated that in that province, the only one in Canada that still has prohibition in force—it is a decided success, giving statistics o show that it has very little crime, practically no unemployment, and enjoys a great measure of prosperity.

Mrs. R. S. Staples contributed an article on "Peace."

There was discussion concerning "The Oxford Group," after which Mrs. Snider read an article on the work of the group.

Four members paid their fees and enrolled for 1933. The collection was $1.45. Mrs. Swain closed the meeting with prayer.

Mrs. Locke, Millbrook, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. W. Perrin.

The Young People's Society of Cavan United Church held a meeting on Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Staples were visitors in South Monaghan on Saturday evening.

Mrs. Vance and Mrs. Earchman, of Manvers, were guests of their sister, Mrs. E. Fallis on Tuesday.

The young people of Trinity Church, Omemee, will present their three-act play, "Her Step-Husband," in Cavan community hall on Friday evening, January 20, under the auspices of Cavan W.A.

How to End RHEUMATISM

New Internal Medicine Drives Rheumatic Poisons from Joints and Muscles.

EASES PAIN FIRST DAY.

Poisons in the blood settling in the joints and muscles cause rheumatism. You cannot get rid of rheumatic agony till every trace of these dangerous poisons is driven out of your system. That's why external remedies and pain deadening drugs only give temporary relief.

What you need is RU-MA, the new internal medicine sold by all druggists that acts directly on the liver, stomach, and blood, and expels through the natural channels of elimination the dangerous poisons that cause rheumatism.

No discouraging wait for that awful pain to stop; for it stops right from the first day's use of Ru-Ma. Magically your muscles and joinst limber up, swelling vanishes, aches and twinges disappear.

So many terrible sufferers from rheumatism in this vicinity have been freed from their agony in less than a week that McDermid & Jury and Bond's Drug Store urges you to buy a bottle of Ru-Ma to-day and guarantees money-back if it does not end your Rheumatic aches and pains.

SNAGS IN OVERTIME

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 12 (AP)—Overtime is no blessing to Philadelphia's ash men. After the last snowstorm, they were pressed into service to help clear the streets. The work netted them $4 apiece in overtime but when they got their cheques they found they actually paid $1.20 for the 'privilege.' The explanation was that their regular salaries are exempt from a recent 10 per cent cut but the extra money brought them within ard and other national problems. Mr. Newman then proceeded to give the definitions of money currency, etc., and urged the inflation of Canadian currency as a means of local relief, pointing out that it would not altogether be a new measure as our currency had already been inflated 12.4 per cent. In connection with the Russian deal, he considered it a wonderful opportunity as regards markets for our agricultural products.

Mr. Forman then presented his resolution asking the government to take immediate action to place the dollar on a parity with the British pound sterling. Only twelve voted for the resolution. He next presented a resolution to endorse the proposed cattle deal with Russia, and to ask the government to enter into an agreement with the Soviet Republic. Only thirteen votes were recorded in its favor. Dr. Urquhart, of Cambray, said he was a supporter of Mr. Newman, but could not follow him on this issue. He warned the people about making hasty moves to change the value of our currency, pointing out that we had lived without tampering with our money all these years. We would leave ourselves open for a lot of trouble, said the doctor, should we make drastic changes

Obituary

WILLIAM MANTLE.

MARMORA, January 13 (Examiner Correspondence). — It was with feelings of profound regret that residents of Deloro and Marmora learned of the demise of William Mantle at Trenton on Wednesday evening. Deceased was a member of the staff of the Deloro Smelting and Refining Company, Limited, for about 25 years, from whose employ he retired about a year ago. He had been in poor health for some time, but his end was unexpected. He leaves to mourn his loss his widow one son Eric, and two daughters, Eileen and Audrey, all at home. He was a member of the Anglican Church. Tidings of the funeral are being awaited locally.

MRS. KEITH SANDERS.

HAVELOCK, January 13 (Examiner Correspondence). — The funeral of the late Mrs. Keith Sanders (nee Verna West), whose death occurred at South Lake on Tuesday morning after only four days' illness from pneumonia, was held from the home of her father-in-law, Mr. Alf. Spencer, on Thursday afternoon, and was largely attended.

Mrs. Sanders, who was in her eighteenth year, was the adopted daughter of Mrs. William Hubbell of South Lake, at whose home her death occurred. Besides her young husband, she leaves a little daughter Jacqueline to mourn the loss of a devoted wife and mother.

Rev. Mr. Beaton of Knox Church, Havelock, and Rev. Mr. Downing of Norwood Baptist Church, conducted the services at the house and the graveside.

Six Havelock friends of the young couple were pall-bearers, Messrs. Gordon Buchanan, Angus Clarke, Raymond Wilde, Burrell Peters, Fred Rutherford, and Harry Anderson.

The funeral cortege proceeded from the house to the cemetery at Norwood, where interment was made in the family plot.

BABY WILLIA MSCOTT.

HAVELOCK, January 13 (Examiner Correspondence). — The death occurred here on Thursday morning of William Laird Scott, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Scott (nee Melville), aged 17 months 15 days. The little fellow had been ill for only a few days. He was the only child of his parents. The funeral will be held on Saturday.

BETHEL.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nelson and son, Billy, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Mathers of Mathers Corner, on Tuesday.

Mr. Roy Elmhirst, of Toronto, was called home on Thursday owing to the death of his sister, Miss Isabel Elmhirst.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Garvey were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Sweeney, Douro, on Friday.

Mr. Dave McAdams, of Smith, visited at the home of his father, Mr. Robert McAdams, recently.

Mr. Stuart Elmhirst, Mr. Edwin Fife, Mr. Herb McKay, Mr. Wellington Fife, Mr. Will Elmhirst, Mr. Roy Faux, Mr. Herbert Edwards, and Mrs. Fred Nelson attended the funeral of the late Miss Isabel Elmhirst in Keene, on Saturday.

How to Get Relief From Catarrh

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh, you should know this simple home treatment which frequently overcomes these distressing conditions. Secure from your druggist one ounce of Parmint (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it ¼ pint hot water and a little sugar.

Take one tablespoonful four times a day, breathing should become easier, while the distressing catarrhal head noises, dropping mucous and defective hearing should gradually disappear under Parmint's tonic action. Catarrh sufferers find Parmint just what they need.

THE RELIEF CAMPAIGN.

Peterborough citizen's appeal for relief funds backed by the mayor and the City Council will soon begin to take form and will be directed, and rightly so, at those considered in the best position to come to the assistance of those in distress.

The decision not to canvas industrial workers for donations will be generally regarded as based on a proper appreciation of the situation.

The employed workers contributed most handsomely in the previous relief campaign, but since their own status has been materially altered, their wages have been reduced and a good many are on short hours, so that it would be unfair to call upon them at this time for assistance.

There are, The Examiner is confident, many citizens able to help this most worthy cause who will come forward cheerfully when the appeal is made and give generously, knowing that the need is great and that their donations will go to save some fellow-citizen from destitution.

WHEN THE DEMOCRATS ARE IN.

A Democratic resolution appeared in the United States Senate the other day asking for a list of the jobs that are at the disposal of the Senate. "What do you want that for?" asked an innocent Republican. Then straight from the lips of Senator Huey Long, who is more noted for his bluntness than his diplomacy, came the reply: "We want to be sure that we get all the jobs we are entitled to."

No beating about the bush there. No heming and hawing, or trying to hide behind the barn door when something is going to be put over that they think might be better done under cover. The Democrats in the Senate just want to know how many Republicans they can fire and replace them with Democrats. It was a form of notice to the present holders of the offices that they had better begin to tidy up their desks and pack their bags.

We do not know how many jobs the Senate has the right to pass around, but we do know that the grand total for the entire party is 117,000.

That means that 117,000 Republicans can expect to be on the unemployed list within the next few months, and that 117,000 Democrat workers who may not have a job now, or are looking for better ones, are about to achieve their desires—for four years at any rate.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

NO DEMONSTRATION NEEDED.

Mayor Stewart of Toronto, in declining to do anything to facilitate a mass demonstration by unemployed men who propose to gather in the Queen City on Monday for a conference with the Ontario Government, has done the sensible thing.

Such demonstrations should be discouraged; they are unnecessary, help to defeat their own purpose, and almost invariably they lead to disturbances and oft times to violence.

There is nothing to be gained for any cause by massing large bodies of men to wait upon Government heads; the most sensible and the most effective way is to select a small and representative committee to present the case and to discuss the issue with representatives of the Government.

A carefully chosen committee can far more effectively voice arguments and make a deeper impression upon the powers-that-be than a mob of demonstrators whose very numbers and actions are likely to be construed as a challenge to authority, and therefore to lead to the assembling of large bodies of police to deal with the situation.

And quite often when this combination of mob and police arrive at the same spot there is likely to be a mild riot, a few cracked heads and the dragging off to jail of some of the ring-leaders.

There is no need of a demonstration in force in Toronto Monday; all that is necessary is the presence of a few qualified representatives of the unemployed to discuss their grievances with the Premier and some of his Cabinet.

That is the wise and the businesslike way, and the only way that contains even a promise of successful results.

SHOULD DO THEIR SHARE.

Premier Henry's appeal to some Ontario municipalities to quit "lying down on the job" and to refrain from dumping all their relief problems on the doorstep of the Provincial and Federal Governments would seem to be well justified.

There are undoubtedly some communities that have been too ready to pass the buck entirely to the two Governments, and that have made no real effort to assume a proper share of the responsibility.

It is The Examiner's conviction that every municipality should do what it can to secure from those among its own citizens who have escaped most lightly the consequences of the depression and who are in a position to help others less fortunate, funds to take care of others less happily situated, and that only when this source has been fully exploited and has been found wanting should Governments be looked to for a full rendition of assistance.

After all, the money that the Governments provide for relief comes out of the pockets of the people of the province and of this Dominion, and the municipalities which make no real effort to contribute a share of relief funds are sponging on the rest of the country, and in some cases without the slightest justification.

Looking upon the Ontario and Federal Governments as year-round Santa Clauses has been too prevalent a custom in certain quarters.

Every self-respecting community will want to assume its fair share of the responsibility of looking after its own people.

INSPIRING STATEMENTS.

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Canadian Bank of Commerce on Tuesday was notable both for the satisfactory nature of the reports presented as to the bank's operations during the past year and for the splendid addresses delivered by Sir John Aird, the president, and S. H. Logan, the general manager.

Critics who have been assailing the Canadian banking system because of what they have called lack of effective leadership had their answer in the lucid and informative speeches of these two well-known Bank of Commerce executives.

Sir John Aird's statement gave valuable information on a number of important points, but his most significant utterance was his suggestion that normal business conditions would be in a great measure restored if all the nations in the world would agree to a 10 per cent. reduction in tariffs. This course, the president asserted, might help to check the decline of world trade and facilitate the task of the statesmen who will attend the world's economic conference.

From Mr. Logan came a frank warning to those who are clamoring for currency deflation should take into consideration the disadvantages as well as the advantages of what they propose, and an equally effective defence of the achievements of the Canadian banking system during the years of the depression.

The charge that the present economic conditions had been caused through contraction of credit on the part of the banks was met by Mr. Logan's statement that bank loans since 1929 had not declined as much as the national income and the commodity price level.

Such addresses as those given by Sir John Aird and Mr. Logan have a tonic effect; they show that our financial leaders are not asleep at the switch, and they serve to call attention to the fact that we have every reason to feel proud of the record of our Canadian banks, who throughout one of the most distressful eras in Canadian history have efficiently protected the money of their hundreds of thousands of depositors so that not a cent has been lost.

BUSIER BRITAIN.

Travellers returning from the United Kingdom are remarking upon the spirit of optimism which seems to be prevalent there, notwithstanding the severe trials to which the Old Country is still subjected and the difficulties through which its people have passed over a period of years.

There seems reason to believe that business is picking up more rapidly in the Motherland than in some other countries that might be mentioned. Christmas shopping in London is said to have been well ahead of last year and in some cases actually ahead of the volume for 1930. Christmas parcels passing through the post office were 15 per cent. greater than in 1931. The statistics relating to the production of steel and iron and electric current distribution picked up in September and have been climbing ever since. The consumption of gasoline—beg pardon, petrol—is four per cent. above last year. And, in spite of heavy taxation and other adverse circumstances, the response to all charity appeals during the year is said to have been "impressive."

A glance through "Industrial Britain," the publication of the Travel and Industrial Development Association of Great Britain and Ireland, reveals other favorable signs. In the Lancashire cotton industry revival is being experienced with more looms being started every week and with a drop of over 47,000 in unemployment. New factories are being opened to meet the requirements of the textile trade and the head of one electrical firm reports that its radio business is at least five times what it was last year. Lancashire exported 407,000,000 square yards of cotton over and above the shipments of the first nine months of 1931 during the same period of 1932.

The Liverpool works of the Automatic Electric Company are working on large foreign contracts. The South African post office, the Polish Government and the Dutch Government are all buying from that plant. Tinplate and steel works in Wales that have been idle for many months are resuming operations and new fields of employment are being found in the building of factories for the manuacture of goods not previously produced in that area. During October 40 more vessels were put into commission at the Cardiff docks, giving employment to 1,200 officers and men. Coal exports from the South Wales ports are running well ahead of last year, and Swansea has had a record season for the shipment of coal to North America. Tinplate works in West Wales have secured new orders and several collieries have re-opened.

Half a million pounds are being spent on the erection of new buildings and the installation of new plant by Vauxhall Motors, Limited, at Luton, Bedfordshire, from which approximately 1,000 cars and trucks are being sent overseas monthly. The Singer Motor Co., with works at Coventry and Birmingham, are working day and night, having booked a substantial order from Holland, while the Austin Motor Co. has recently taken on nearly 1,400 new employees to cope with increased business and its factories are also working day and night.

These are only a few illustrations of the revival in British business which seems to be under way, leading to a much better feeling and to the expression of considerable optimism at a time when the North American continent seems shrouded in gloom. One reason for the hopefulness with which Britain faces the future may lie in the fact that its people have not allowed themselves to grow panicky in the face of the adverse conditions confronting them and that, having experienced adversity over a much longer period than the people of this continent, they have grown accustomed to such conditions and proceeded steadfastly to set their affairs in order on a new basis.

Months ago it was predicted that Great Britain might be among the first of the world's nations to experience recovery, due to the inherent stability of the country and its people and to the bull-dog manner in which they have addressed themselves to settlement of their difficulties. Current returns from British industry would appear to justify such a conclusion.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

ALL OF US

By MARSHALL MASLIN

WHITE BREAD—AND HUMAN NATURE.

I HAVE HEARD, I have read, I have believed that human nature never changes. And the other day I heard a man say that nearly all of us have certain words that we use when we wish to stop thinking.

Marshall Maslin

Some people say, "I never have any luck." Others say, "I never had a chance when I was young." Still others say, "I've never been popular." And some people, this man said, say, "Human nature never changes."

Well, I don't believe it does, but we do change our ways and sometimes a little scrap of knowledge changes us in little or in large.

I remember through a pleasant haze of the years, the fragrance of new made bread in my mother's kitchen. I can smell the great loaves, the hot buns; I can taste them even now, and I remember how the butter melted and soaked into them and how crisply the crust crunched between my young and eager teeth.

For years hot white bread was the best kind of food for me, symbolizing something out of my childhood that was dear and friendly.

Then the dietitians came along, and scientists discovered vitamines and food values, and the world was flooded with printed material on the subject of what you should eat and what you should not.

And out of the clamor white bread emerged as the Villain of the Table. I was told that I shouldn't eat white bread because when the flour was made it was robbed of previous mineral elements, irreplaceable vitamines, and that bread made from that flour was not only useless but dangerous.

I read all that stuff, I heard all the arguments, and I believed the sacred word of science. I ate whole wheat bread, cracker wheat rolls, and I abhorred white bread. I developed a distaste for it and I couldn't eat it without squirming a bit. See how one poor, gullible mortal had changed!!

Then I read that it made no difference. The white bread from my mother's oven might have lacked vitamines and mineral elements, but it made no never-minds. I didn't eat white bread exclusively. I ate apples and raw wheat from the barn and salads from our garden and raw potatoes, and I got everything, as a hungry child, that anyone needed to have....As I do still ....And as long as I ate other things, I could eat white bread and enjoy what I liked.

So white bread is back, restored to honor and favor. And I can still eat white bread from the oven, torn apart and lavished with butter, if I want, if I can get it....See how human nature changes a little, under the influence of words and facts.

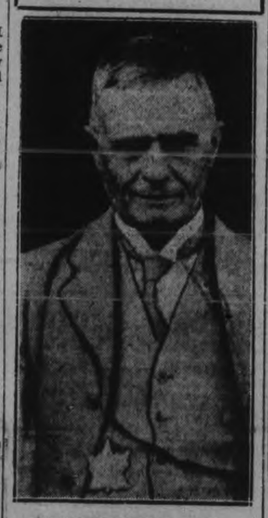
Who's Who in Ottawa

By CHARLES ROSS, Jr.



SENATOR JOHN LEWIS

"I became a reporter on The Toronto Globe in November, 1863. The building was the one in which George Brown was shot. The city to be covered had a population of 100,000. Much shoe leather was worn out in the quest of news, there being only a few miles of street railway ,traversed by horse cars, for which the city editor reluctantly parted with tickets." Newspaper men of this year of grace, 1933, will remark that transportation facilities may have changed, but that city editors have remained, and probably will continue to be, just about the same brand of humans as of yore.

From his seat in the Senate, John Lewis will be pardoned a little reminiscing. In fact, those who value a colorful yarn, inimitably told, will encourage as much of this exercise as the Hon. Senator may be inveigled into unloading. Mr. Lewis, whose school teacher father had an admiration for law, put the Senator to farm at the legal profession, which he studied dutifully from 1874 to 1879. But journalism, the stuff that is born into some hapless souls, couldn't be resisted. Mr. Lewis worked on the old Toronto World and The Winnipeg Times, before joining The Toronto Globe staff on which he quickly became parliamentary reporter, and in 1892 its leading writer. He joined The Toornto World in 1903, and subsequently The Toronto Star. In the stirring times from Blake to Bennett, Mr. Lewis until his appointment to the Senate in 1925 himself states that he lived "not in, but of them." If his personal life has been comparatively uneventful, he has served as few have been privileged, as the mirror of the most magnificent years of Canada's history for all who read the printed word. Thousands of Canadians owe their knowledge of parties, problems and men to the kindly, penetrating insight and analytical genius of this wise journalist.

MURDER IN EDEN

By Charles Winfield Smith.

CHAPTER 15

It was near noon when Nanette LeRoi aroused from a deep slumber. She lay in bed, ruminating over the events of the night before, of her visit to Bailey's home, of being told that he had been murdered—she shuddered at the thought—of the attack on her, of her meeting with Lillian Hull.

Lillian Hull! Why had she come there? To gloat over her! To mock her!

She hated that woman, hated her more than she had ever hated anyone in her whole life. And for what an impossible reason. What unreasonable spleen! Because Lillian had dared speak frankly to her one night at a party.

It was at Richard Bailey's. Nanette was living up to the character which Bailey and the studio press agents had built for her. She was cold, aloof; she refused to "lower" herself to the point where she would join in the festivities. But that was what had been ordained for her. She had no alternative.

Lillian had partaken too freely of the refreshments which the director had provided. She was young, effervescent, carefree. She danced and she sang until she was exhausted. Then she flung herself onto the divan and centered her gaze on the exotic newcomer in whose honor the party was given.

Suddenly, she snapped her fingers and smiled wisely. Then she moved unsteadily across the room and planted herself directly in front of Nanette. Arms akimbo, she glared down at her. After a moment:

"You're putting on a great show," she said thickly, "but you aren't fooling me, Judy King."

And with that she turned and stalked away.

Nanette—the former Judy King, musical comedy star who had married a millionaire wastrel and then killed him—glowered at the retreating Lillian Hull. A tremendous rage boiled within her. And day by day it grew more intense.

The little actress though it all a huge joke. Once, at the studio, she drew Nanette aside and whispered:

"You don't need to worry about me ever telling. I think it's a great joke."

Nanette hissed through clenched teeth: "If you ever open your mouth to anyone about this I'll kill you."

Thus had the chasm widened between the two. On the one side was Lillian, secretly enjoying the knowledge that an extremely humorous fraud was being perpetrated by a gir whose name was once on the lips of every lover of musical comedy. On the other was a woman afraid that her fraud would be discovered and that she would be thwarted in the realization of her ambitions.

It was while she thought of all this that another young woman entered bearing a tray on which was an urn of steaming coffee, some toast and a large glass of orange juice. She placed it on a small table beside the bed and:

"How do you feel this morning?"

"Badly."

"Your shoulder?"

"No. That doesn't pain much. It's here, Dorotha." Nanette placed her hand over her heart.

"Bailey?" curiously.

A scowl darkened the actress' features. Her eyes flashed dangeorusly. "Bailey?" she rasped. "He got what was coming to him."

Dorotha frowned. "He was a rotter," vehemently.

Nanette raised her brows in surprise. She cast a questioning glance at the other woman. "You—you knew him?"

"By reputation, at least," Dorotha returned.

"Oh!" Nanette seemed relieved.

Dorotha drew a cup o coffee and handed it to her. Nanette sipped it and nibbled at a piece of toast, the while studying her companion, for Dorotha, who served in the capacity of secretary in this household, was more of a companion than an employee.

It was she who had played maid the night before when Jere Kane had come. It had been distasteful to her but she submitted gracefully when Nanette demanded it.

There was a strange attachment between them. Nanette did not really need a secretary, but Dorotha had convinced her that she could do much to improve the newcomer's social standing in the motion picture Eden. Dorotha hinted that she had been sent to her, but never once did she reveal who had sent her.

She said, now, "Perhaps you'd better let me dress your wound."

Nanette returned her cup to the tray and Dorotha expertly set about the self-assigned task. She was gentle, patient, and presently she was through. The actress rested in her pillows. She closed her eyes and soon had dropped off to sleep.

Making certain that Nanette was asleep, Dorotha tiptoed from the room. She went to the telephoned and in a hushed voice called a Hollywood number. When the other party answered she spoke, almost in a whisper.

"This is Dorothea Deane," she said. She listened intently while a voice cracked over the wire. Then: "I understand. She is not seriously hurt. I think I can get her to go."

Then she hung up.

Quietly, she went back to the door and peered in at the sleeping actress. Apparently satisfied, she crossed the living room to the throne chair, moved it a trifle nearer the window. Carefully, she closed the window which opened onto the front lawn.

The while she did this she kept her eye glued to the door to the actress' room as if fearful tha she would be caught. Finished with this, she hastily glanced about the room and, seemingly content that all was in order, went to her own room.

She took a magazine from a small Queen Anne desk, threw herself across her bed and tried to read. But she could not concentrate on the story she had chosen. She turned to another. That likewise was uninteresting.

Time passed with unutterable prolongation. Again she tried to bury her thoughts in a lively story of romance, but to no avail. Finally, she tossed the magazine from her and lay staring out the window at the palms, waving gently in a soft breeze.

She ran a slender hand through her extremely blonde hair, then fingered at a ringlet which curled down about her ear. Her lips curled into a smile, one that was more of impatient anxiety than pleasure.

The telephone rang. She sprang to her feet and started to answer it, but when she reached the short corridor which led from her room to the front of the house she heard Nanette speaking over an extension in her boudoir.

Burning with eagerness, she waited until she heard the actress hang up, then went in. Nanette looked disgruntled.

"What is it?" Dorotha asked solicitously. "Bad news?"

"Terribly bad news," the actress returned. "An invitation to a party, and I can't go."

"Why not?" the other inquired. "It won't hurt you. As a matter of fact, I rather think it would do you good to get out."

"But I can't drive with one hand," complainingly.

"If you wish I'll drive you down and then call for you."

Nanette's countenance brightened. "That's an idea," she exclaimed. "Dorotha, you're a dear. I'll do it."

She threw back the light covers and crawled out of bed. Dorotha said, "If you don't mind I'd like to call a friend and break a date——"

"Oh, don't do that."

"It's perfectly all right. I can see him any time," and she smiled shyly. "Then I'll help you dress."

She left the room and carefully left the door slightly ajar. Nanette heard her call a number—she didn't pay any attention to what she heard, or, if she had, she might have been prompted to be inquisitive—and after an interval heard Dorotha say:

"I'm driving Miss LeRoi to the beach. . . . No, we're leaving at once and won't return until tonight."

ON THIS DATE

A DAY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

By Fred Williams

THE ROMANCE OF LADY ROSE

On this date, in 1870, Hon. John Rose, the second Minister of Finance of the Dominion was created K.C.M.G. and thus became Sir John the first of many honors, which were to include a baronetcy and a seat at the Imperial Privy Council. Rose did not value the title so much for himself as because it enhanced the rank of his wife, who throughout his life was his inspiration and helpmeet. This lady was originally Miss Charlotte Temple, of Vermont, and before becoming the wife of John Rose had been the heroine of a tragic story.

About the year 1840 there resided in Montreal a Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sweeny, well known and popular society people, the wife being the former Miss Temple. Among the military officers stationed there was Major Henry J. Warde, an officer of the First Royals and a great friend of the Sweenys. One day an anonymous communication was received by Mr. Sweeny, stating that Major Warde was too attentive to his wife. Shortly afterwards the Sweenys gave a dinner, in the course of which a note was delivered to Mrs. Sweeny and a bouquet was brought in. Sweeny, whose suspicions had become thoroughly aroused, demanded to see the note. Mrs. Sweeny refused, whereupon he took it from her by force. The party broke up in confusion. Sweeny rushed to the officers' mess, where Warde was dining. As Sweeny bounced up the stairs, some of the officers, recognizing his step, called him to join them in a glass of wine, but he entered the room and, going up to Warde, insulted him. The inevitable duel took place the next morning. At the first shot Major Warde fell dead. Sweeny fled to St. Alban's, Vermont, where he died of remorse a few months later, his misery being aggravated by evidence that the whole affair was a malicious plot and that the fatal missive which caused all the trouble was a forgery.

Mrs. Sweeny returned to Montreal and went into lodgings. Among the other lodgers was a raw Scottish lad, who, having taught school in the county of Huntingdon had gone to Montreal, to study law. He met Mrs. Sweeny; the attraction was mutual; she helped him through his examinations; and when he was called to the bar they were married. Thus Charlotte Rose on this date became Lady Rose and as such lived to adorn society both in Canada and in England, until her death in 1883, five years before her distinguished husband.

TWO FIRES IN 10 HOURS.

KITCHENER. — Two fires within 10 hours of each other had completely destroyed the brick home of James Hammond at Crosshill today. The first fire occurred late yesterday while the second broke out early to-day.

Cause of the outbreaks is unknown although it is believed that the second fire was caused by the smouldering remnants of the first blaze. The loss is approximately $1,000.

DEFIES SUPERSTITION.

WINDSOR, Ont.—Friday the 13th is openly defied by Sgt. Joe Pero, Windsor police officer, when he applied for his motor license plates. He asked for and received Number 1313. Bailiff G. D. McQuarrie drew license 1300 and paid $13 for it.

SUES FOR LOVE OF DOG

WINDSOR, Ont.—What has become of "beauty," the thoroughbred Spitz owned by Mrs. L. J. Lafontaine of Windsor? She has started a $500 suit against the city to find out. Beauty was allegedly picked up by the civic dog catcher and impounded, but could not be located next day or since. The pound keeper allegedly reported the dog had not been delivered to him.

GUELPH RESIDENT DIES.

GUELPH, Ont.—A widely known resident of Guelph, William A. Knowles, brother of C. O. Knowles, editor of the Toronto Telegram, died to-day. Born in Kitchener, he had lived in Guelph for more than 50 years. He was a traveller for the Bond Hardware Company, and for the Goldie Milling Company for many years, but had been retired for the last two years.

TORONTO CHEESE

TORONTO, Jan. 13 (C.P.)— The Toronto wholesale cheese market was steady to-day with dealers buying large, colored, paraffined and Government grades at 10c.

Wolesalers offered cheese to retailers at the following prices: New—Large 11¼c; twins, 11¼c; triplets, 11¾c. Old—Large 17¾c; twins, 18c; triplets, 18¼c. Medium—Large, 15¼c; twins, 15½c; triplets, 15¾c.

TORONTO LIVE STOCK.

TORONTO, January 13 (C.P.)— Trading on the Toronto Live Stock Market was fairly active during the week with prices generally a shade higher than last week's close. Cattle trade was fairly active; calves were strong; hogs strong; lambs active; sheep slow.

Cattle prices advanced 25c per cwt. on the small opening run, but 10c to 15c of the early gain was lost as receipts increased. Export buyers were fairly active and some cattle were also taken on Montreal order, otherwise the market would have shown greater weakness at the close. Exporters paid $4.00 to $4.50 for good and choice heavy steers for Great Britain. The balance of the weighty steers sold between $3.00 and $4.00 per cwt. Choice butcher cattle closed at $4.00 to $4.25, with common downward to $2.50. Butcher cows were firm at $2.30 to $2.75 for choice, with canners and cutters at 75c to $1.50. Good bulls went for export at $2.50 to $2.75, with bologna bulls easier at $1.25 to $1.50. Fed calves closed at $4.50 to $6.25, according to quality.

Store cattle were a small supply, with prices ranging from $2.50 to $2.25 per cwt. Milkers and springers were unchanged at around $45 for tops. Shipments off the Yards for Great Britain totalled 250 cattle with some being held for later shipment.

Veal calf prices recovered 50 per cwt. at the opening and held steady to the close. Choice vealers sold at $6.00 to $6.50, with common downward to $3.50. The bulk of the supply sold between $4.00 and $5.75 per cwt.

Hog prices advanced 15c to 25c per cwt. during the week but there was an easier feeling at the close. Bacons closed at $3.25 f.o.b., at $3.50 to $3.60 off truck, and at $3.75 to $3.85 weighed off cars. Selects brought $1 per head premium.

Sheep and Lambs receipts included about 800 Western lambs. Prices were firm to a shade stronger. Good ewes and wethers sold mostly at $5.75 to $6, with two decks of Western lambs sold between $4 and $5.50 per cwt. Sheep sold at $1 to $2 per cwt for the majority, with yearlings at $2.50 to $3 per cwt.

Receipts as supplied by the Dominion Livestock Branch:

BOY BURGLARS IN POLICE HANDS

Eight Orillia Lads Convicted of 33 Offenses—Much Loot Recovered.

COURT AMAZED.

ORILLIA, Jan. 13 (C.P.)—Startling details of a long series of burglaries and thefts, committed over a period of months by an organized band of juvenile outlaws, were unfolded before Magistrate McCaughrin in police court here yesterday.

The eight boys who comprised the gang were found guilty on 33 charges of "breaking, entering and theft." Three of the boys admitted having entered and removed articles from "fifteen automobiles, more or less," for which they were not charged because no formal complaints had been made to the police. Magistrate McCaughrin after expressing amazement at the band, adjourned the cases until to-day.

Six of the boys were arrested last night by Chief Constable Louis Church and Constable Lewis Carr. Hundreds of dollars worth of loot has already been recovered.

FARMERS' DEBT IS BIG PROBLEM

A. R. Piper Addresses Kiwanis Club at Weekly Luncheon.

INTERNATIONAL COMPANY.

The great problem of Western Canada was the agricultural debt—a debt that was assumed with wheat prices well above the dollar value, and which had been added to by interest accumulation, stated A. R. Piper during the course of an address before his fellow-Kiwanians at Empress Hotel to-day noon.

Introduced to the club by A. B. Gates, chairman of the Program Committee, Mr. Piper, who recently came to this district from Regina, delivered a message that held the close attention of his audience throughout. At the close of his talk he was tendered a vote of thanks by President J. B. Nelson, on motion of Dr. J. J. Craig.

Agriculture the world over was suffering, Mr. Piper remarked, but he believed that the Canadian situation was probably better than was the state of affairs in most countries. In Central and Eastern Europe after the War, he said, the respective governments had endeavored to absorb the unemployed on the land by opening up large private estates and properties of ecclesiastical institutions. In 1924 the shortage in the world's grain crop created great anxiety and led to the first conception of an International Agricultural Credit Organization. In 1926 the International Institute of Agriculture was entrusted to make a full inquiry covering all the phases of production and marketing of crops in these countries. The need of further credit became apparent to compete with the gradual development which agriculture was making in other parts of the world.

Interest Rates High.

The interest rates in the various States of Central and Eastern Europe were exceedingly high, depending on the class of farms and crops, security and class of lender. Agricultural State Banks charged as high as ten and a half per cent. as a minimum, and Commercial Banks from eighteen to twenty-five per cent. Such a usurious condition would eventually reduce the farmers to serfdom.

On May 21, 1931, approval was therefore given by the League of Nations and twenty-five different nations signed the documents for establishment of an International Agricultural Mortgage Credit Company.

By this means it was hoped that an extension of necessary funds at reasonable interest rates would be made possible, and that a wholesome standard of life might be maintained by the millions of agriculturists in these countries.

"Those of us who are inclined to feel that our lot is hard in this country, may realize the blessings we have by such contrasts," Mr. Piper thought. "It is not an uncommon occurrence to witness immigrants to Western Canada from some of these countries kneel down with gratitude and kiss the ground which to-day constitutes their homestead," he said.

The meeting, virtually the first of the New Year, was a happy augury of the programs that are to come. Among the guests present were the President of Lindsay Club, also Bert Hamilton, formerly of Regina, George Chandler, George Howson, and John Anderson, soloist. Kiwanian J. C. Hall was welcomed back, after an absence of some weeks, during which he has been on the sick list.

In the 1930 census there were 285,045 chauffeurs listed, 949 of them being women.

As Japanese Prepared To Take Shanhaikwan

This picture, made outside China's Great Wall at Shanhaikwan some time ago, shows a batch of apparently care-free Japanese soldiers engaged in trench-digging. It was not foreseen at the time that these trenches would later be used in a new drive by Japan for control of the Jehol province. It was from here that the Jap attack, which climaxed in the capture of Shanhaikwan was launched.

STORE TO BE OPE NED IN CITY TO RECEIVE G OODS FOR NEEDY

Clothing, Furniture, Stoves and Vegetables Will Be Accepted.

OPENS NEXT MONDAY.

Have you an old stove out in the shed, that you will never use again and that isn't of any use to anybody or anything except the rust? Have you a high chair or a baby carriage that was meant to be a comfort to some small member of the human family and that isn't fulfilling any purpose except to look gloomy in a dusty attic? Have you a bundle of baby clothes put away in a bureau drawer, with the moths waiting a chance to get in and start at the nice soft wool? Have you shelves and shelves covered with canned fruit and vegetables, nicely labelled, and only three or four people to eat them, complaining about getting the same old thing every morning for breakfast? Have you a bunch of quilt patches that might be made up by eager fingers into a warm covering for a chilly night?

Yesterday, in this office, we had a letter from a woman, that speaks for itself. It said:

"I wonder if you could help me in obtaining some sheets or pillow slips. I have three beds to keep going and I have one pair of each for one bed. The rest are completely worn out and I expect sickness in the near future and I can't get any. If it was factory cotton, either flour bags or sugar bags, they would be fine. I could make them and they would bleach while being used. Thanking you, I remain——"

Boots and shoes are another great need. Three little girls sat in a store yesterday. One had been promised a new pair of shoes. It happened to be her birthday, and she was in great glee over the prospect of a new pair. She might well be. Her feet were covered only by a pair of leaky goloshes, and the wet seeped in. She had to dry her feet on the register before putting on the new shoes. Her smaller sister had boots that were cracked along both sides, and the still smaller one sported goloshes that formed her only footgear. And yet many a pair of half-worn shoes might be harbored in a closet corner that would help these little girls to dry feet.

The Groceteria Store of the Canadian Department Stores on George Street will be open next Monday to receive goods of any sort that might be of help in homes where money is scarce. Clothing of any type, furniture, mattresses, oilcloth pieces or mats for floor covering, stoves, boots and shoes, vegetables, canned goods, or any small pieces of household furnishing, will be welcome, and will be received there any time from now on, in connection with the campaign which is being started in the city to assist the unemployed of Peterborough.

Catholic Petition Presented To Henry

TORONTO, Jan. 13. —(CP)— A large deputation of the Catholic Taxpayers Association of Ontario today presented an application to Premier Henry urging amendment of the Assessment Act to provide for a share of the corporation and public utilities taxation for separate schools. The argument was presented by H. J. Quinn, president, Louis Cole, Cons., M.L.A. East Ottawa, and C. A. Sequin, Cons., M. L.A. Russell, the two members having on previous occasions urged measure on the floor of the Ontario Legislature.

Summary of the argument contained 25 points contending that the proving should assume the duty of providing equal educational facilities for children of all citizens, and that the cost should be borne evenly by all taxable wealth. The equality is only in facilities for every child and taxation of all wealth.

Market Closing On All Exchanges

WINNIPEG EXCHANGE

WINNIPEG, Jan. 13 (C.P.)—Influenced by the lightness of offerings, a small business worked out of Vancouver overnight and steadiness in Winnipeg States markets local wheat prices scored fair gains in the early trading to-day. Fractional losses were recorded shortly after opening, but scattered buying brought values back quickly.

At the mid-session period values held at ½ to ⅝ higher. May was quoted at 47; July at 47¾; and October at 49¼.

Most of the support came from houses with Vancouver connection and locals, but trading generally was very draggy and as offerings were extremely light it took little in the way of support to boost prices. No figure was placed on the amount of business worked for export from the Pacific Coast.

TORONTO EXCHANGE

TORONTO, Jan. 13 (C.P.)—Interlisted shares took the brunt of the bear drive on the industrial markets to-day, Toronto Stock Exchange listings showing losses general but not large. Smelters dropped 2 points to 58 and C.P.R. surrendered ⅝ to 15 ⅛ while Brazilian and Nickel were down fractions and Ford A held firm at 7½, supported by reports of an early announcement about new models.

Imperial and British American Oil had a fair quota of trade, the former at a shade lower level and B.A. holding at 8 while International Pete registered a loss of ¼.

Montreal Power suffered a point loss and Power Corporation was firmer, while the other leading utilities held about steady after narrow fluctuations, Bell Telephone closing at 96.

STANDARD EXCHANGE.

TORONTO, Jan. 13.— (C.P.) — Spotted with a liberal sprinkling of recessions, the standard mining market nevertheless maintained an undertone of firmness to-day. Most of the leaders registered losses ranging from a single point for some of the secondary gold shares to 30 for McIntyre and volume was down from the turnover of recent sessions.

Eldorado, Siscoe, Teck Hughes and Noranda led the board in volume. Eldorado weakened from 1.55 to 1.48 but stiffened up to 1.51 before the close.

Among the high-priced gold stocks, Lake Shore was off less than 26, Dome was practically unchanged, Teck Hughes closed up a couple of points and Wright Hargreaves weakened about 5.

Noranda fell back to $20. Nickel was quiet and the other Copper shares were moderately weak. In the oils Olga was down more than a point to 24.

WALL STREET.

NEW YORK, January 13 (C.P.)— Stocks drifted aimlessly in the late trading to-day, easing irregulary lower. Most shares were within fractions of their previous closing prices. United States Steel, Allied Chemical, American Telephone, Dupont, and General Motors were down slightly, while Steel Preferred lost nearly a point, and Loew's dropped more than that. Goodyear, Union Pacific, and Case were steady. Pennsylvania, American Can, Columbian Carbon, Reynolds Tobacco B and Corn Products were somewhat higher. Liggett & Myers B gained a point. Transwers approximated 800,000 shares.

$50,000 JEWEL ROBBERY.

NEW YORK—Police headquarters received a report to-day that Isaac Keller was robbed of $50,000 in jewellery by two men in his Penthouse apartment at 40 West 72nd Street last night. Keller's wife is the mother of Harry Glemby, wealthy hairgoods manufacturer, whose apartment was robbed of more than $300,000 in jewels a year ago.

PROPOSAL TURNED DOWN.

LONDON. — Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer to-day vetoed a proposal to sell United States holdings in the Boots Pure Drug Company, largest British drug store chain, to British interests.

A Chilly Town

HORNEPAYNE, Ont., Jan. 13.—(C.P.) — "Banana belt!" said residents of Hornepayne with a sniff to-day. "We'll show 'em." And they did.

It all started yesterday, when the mercury flopped to 58 below zero at White River and 56 below here. Hornepayne said something about it, and White River got "chesty" and referred to this town as being in the "banana belt."

So Hornepayne to-day at 50 below is the coldest spot in Canada. And the town beat White River by the proverbial mile, for it was comparatively mild there at 24 below. Temperatures around North Bay ranged from 10 above at the northern city to five below at Capreol.

sions, since one of the chief topics on its agenda is the question of exchange, a subject that is proving a major problem to all municipal utilities at this time. Also the question of the surplus power purchased by the Hydro Commission will be discussed.

A letter was sent to the Exhibition Board asking that its bill of $1,958.06 owing the Commission be paid.

At the request of the Relief Committee of the Central Charity Board the Commission will furnish electric light to the store in the Cressman building, being used as a depot for the distribution of clothes to the needy, without cost.

Police Action Rapped.

In a case of the King against Barber, Mr. Major said Judge Stubbs had declared the action of police had been arbitrary and officious. "When such things are done, something is very wrong with the temper of the police force" he quoted Judge Stubbs as saying.

Mr. Major added that in this case, one of riot, police suffered, one of them a broken leg and the other a broken wrist and finger.

"Why should the Attorney-General send reports to Ottawa in an attempt to slide me off the bench," Mr. Major quoted the Judge as having remarked in another case. "It will take some sliding before they do it."

"Attempts are being made to break me by men who have obtained nothing less than the government of this province by nothing less than fraud," Judge Stubbs said.

13TH, BAD LUCK FOR FELIX.

WINDSOR, Ont.—Felix Tessier, East Windsor, told police he found a keg of beer in a dark alley and was taken to the police station. The magistrate thought Felix' story was not according to facts, so Friday, 13th, sees him starting a three-month term in jail for illegal possession.

FINE OF ONLY $50.00 IS LEVIED FOR MAN HAVING 500 PARTRIDGES

Man Purchased Partridges Near Madoc to be Sold in Ottawa.

BEING SOLD IN CITY.

"For having in his possession 500 partridges out of season, Norman Kizell, 422 Nelson street, was fined $50 and costs. The charge was laid by George S. Leach, district game supervisor."

This news item from Ottawa Journal was the subject of the Madoc Review's following editorial comment:—

"The above fine has caused a great deal of comment among hunters in this district. Norman Kizell is a fur buyer who, the Review has learned, has purchased these partridge not far from Madoc to be sold in Ottawa. According to our game laws the minimum penalty for this offense is ten dollars per bird. Why then was the offender fined only $50 and costs? Surely if an investigation was ever necessary it is necessary in this case, and the public informed why such a law penalty was imposed.

"Thousands of dollars are spent each year in Ontario for the protection of these birds and for several years hunters have been forbidden to take any in order that they would not become extinct; and yet one man is allowed to take hundreds and escape with only a very low penalty."

In regard to the shooting of partridge out of season, an Examiner reporter heard of two instances of this violation of the game laws.

A prominent citizen stated that he had received four partridges, presumably as a gift, and because he knew his wife would object to the illegality of their possession he decided not to take them home, but gave a brace of them to each of two friends, both of whom are also in the class of "prominent citizens."

The maximum fine in this instance would have been $200.

Being Sold in City

This morning, another citizen told the same reporter that he had seen fifteen partridge in the city yesterday, and also thirty fish. The figures might have been reversed, thirty partridges and fifteen fish, for at the time it was not intended to publish the statement, which had all the color of truth.

However, the item in the North Hastings Review recalled the morning information, and the extent of the fines seemed large enough to warrant publication as a warning to those who are breaking the law.

On this subject, the Examiner had a conversation recently with Fred Marshall, game warden, who succeeded the late M. P. Kennedy of Lakefield. Mr. Marshall spoke of some of the work he has been doing since his appointment, and said he hoped the citizens would co-operate with him. Information of law-breaking would be absolutely confidential. On the other hand it was stated to Mr. Marshall that if any of the reports heard on the street were published it was not for the purpose of suggesting any reflection on his work, but rather as a deterrent to those who make light of the game laws, and indirectly as an appeal to the public for their assistance in conserving the game resources of this district.

Not long ago similar reports of fish being delivered in the heart of the city reached the Examiner, but no mention of them was made at that time.

Defying the Jinx

CHICAGO, Jan. 13 (A.P.)—Chicago's anti - superstition club observed one of its two Friday the 13th holidays with a variety of jinx-defying rites.

The organization, headed by Sidney N. Strotz, president of the Chicago Stadium Corporation, and consisting of 13 members, planned to destroy a lot of good luck charms and tokens at a luncheon; light three cigarettes on one match all day, walk under ladders, open umbrellas indoors, whistle at breakfast, smash mirrors and do anything else purported to cause ill luck.

To-night the club will occupy seats in row 13 during the featherweight championship bout between Freddy Miller and Tommy Paul, and will be escorted by usher number 13.

The next holiday falls on October 13.

PRATT IS GIVEN TWO YEAR TERM ON FRAUD COUNT

Barrie Assistant, J. A. Vaillancourt, Sentenced to Reformatory for Year.

2 CHARGES WITHDRAWN.

Both Men Involved in Real Estate Deal With Allandale Woman.

BARRIE, Ont., Jan. 13.—(CP)—William S. Pratt, head of the Toronto real estate firm bearing his name, was today sentenced to two and a half years in Portsmouth penitentiary for obtaining $1,000 by fraud from Mrs. Ellen T. McDougall, Allandale. Joseph A. Vaillancourt, local manager for the company, was sentenced to one year in Ontario reformatory on each of two charges of fraud. The terms will run concurrently and date from Nov. 15, 1932. Pratt's sentence will start as from Nov. 16, 1932.

A second charge of obtaining $2100 from Abraham Jory, Crown Hill, was withdrawn by the crown after Pratt had been sentenced.

Plea For Leniency

Gordon Longman, Barrie, acting for Vaillancourt, pleaded for leniency on the ground his client was only an agent for the firm, and was joined in his plea by W. A. Boys, K.C., crown prosecutor.

The men were both charged as the result of a real estate transaction affecting an industrial site at Mimico, near Toronto. Pratt and Vaillancourt sold Mrs. McDougall a lot, declaring the land was free of incumbrance and that their firm was one of the biggest in Toronto. Evidence showed the land was not fully paid for.

Charges to which Vaillancourt pleaded guilty involved also $750 obtained by fraud from J. L. Mahoney, Allandale, and $2,000 in Victory bonds from Mrs. McDougall. A third charge involving $8,500 from Jory, was withdrawn.

RINK IS OPENED AT BRIDGENORTH

Pipe and Drum Band Take Part in Opening Ceremony —Rink Fully Paid For.

With impressive ceremony the Bridgenorth skating rink was officially opened to the public last evening. A pipe and drum band and a large crowd was on hand to take part in the important event. It was announced that the rink was already fully paid for, receipts having more than wiped out the cost incurred in building the rink. The cost was kept very low because members of the community had given unstintingly of their time and energies in its construction; Sam Bell, garage man, being outstanding in this connection.

Jim Jopling and Rev. R. J. Merriam were speakers at the opening ceremonies, and at their conclusion a large number of skaters enjoyed the fine ice sheet.

TAYLOR RE-ELECTED ON RECOUNT.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont.—Angus Taylor was to-day declared elected Mayor of Thessalon in the recount before Judge Fred Stone by a majority of one vote, instead of the two announced election day. One ballot marked for Alf Shaw, Taylor's opponent, which was disallowed by the returning officer, was allowed by the judge. The vote now stands: Taylor 226, Shaw 225.

CONTINUES FLIGHT.

PORT ETIENNE, French West Africa, Jan. 13 (C.P.).—The French plane Arc-en-Ciel (Rainbow), carrying seven persons, in a projected flight from Istress, France, to Buenos Aires, hopped off, at 11.15 a.m. to-day for Dakab, Sengal.

The plane was forced down here for its first stop because of a broken oil line, which was repaired.

Police Court Goes To Scene Of Crime

HAMILTON, Jan. 13.—(C.P.) — Police court to-day adopted procedure of adjourning to the scene of an alleged offense to see for itself what had happened. Anthony Anderson was accused of breaking and entering the premises of the Acme Caulk and Tool Company by Charles Linkert. The whole case hinged upon whether or not a person could emerge through a window from which Linkert declared he saw Anderson jump. The court went to the spot and Magistrate Burbridge examined the window in question. It would open only 19 inches and was 6 feet from the ground. His Worship dismissed the charge.

COUNCIL OF CHRIS TIAN EDUCATION ORGANIZED IN PETERBOROUGH

G. H. Roper is Appointed President at Organization Meeting.

TO HOLD SCHOOL

At a recent meeting of ministers, Sunday school superintendents, teachers and leaders of girls' and boys' work board, it was decided to form a Peterborough Council of Christian Education. The following report of a committee appointed at a previous general meeting was accepted:

That the organization be called "Peterborough Council of Christian Education."

That the personnel of the Council consist of:

(a) All ministers of Protestant churches of Peterborough.

(b) Superintendents of all Protestant Sunday schools of Peterborough.

(c) General secretary of the Y.W.C.A. and Y.M.C.A.

(d) Representatives of all co-operating churches based on the active membership, in proportion of one member for each two hundred and fifty church members or fraction thereof. A suggestion was offered in appointing their representatives the churches consider leaders of adult and young people's departments, boys' and girls' work divisions and children's work.

(e) Chairman of boys' work, girls' work, children's work and all similar interdenominational boards hereafter formed.

The following officers were nominated:

President—Mr. G. H. Roper.

Vice-Presidents—Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe, Dr. A. T. Barr, Rev. C. D. Daniel.

Secretary—Miss L. Brownscombe.

Treasurer—Mr. H. McLeod.

The Executive Committee should consist of the president, vice-presidents, secretary and treasurer, chairmen of organized boards as in section (e), and the secretary of the Y.W.C.A. and Y.M.C.A.

All co-operating denominations are entitled to appoint one member on the executive from the Council to be chosen at the discretion of the denomination.

That a leadership training course be held February 3 to 10 (excluding Saturday and Sunday).

That the following O.R.E.C. courses be given by the leaders named:

Boys' and girls' work, "Study of Adolescence," Rev. C. D. Daniels.

Children's work, "Materials and Methods," Mrs. L. J. Pettit.

Young people's work, "Materials and Methods," Dr. A. T. Barr.

Adults, "Teaching Values of the Old Testament," Dr. C. V. McLean.

General course, "Life of Christ," Rev. J. H. Sutcliffe.

That Mr. L. Copp be director of the school.

Officers Elected For Norwood Lodge

The Norwood district No. 1 L.O.L. held its annual meeting on Jan. 10 in the Orange hall at Norwood. After the general business was transacted, the election of officers then took place, with Hillard Nelson in the chair, and resulted as follows:

Joseph Tedford, D.M.; Rork Ferguson, D.D.M.; G. L. Humphries, recording secretary; A. Baptie, financial secretary and treasurer; A. Webster, chaplain; C. Tighe, marshal; A. Campbell, first lecturer; — King, second lecturer.

The newly elected officers were duly installed by H. Nelson, County Deputy Master. The lodge was then duly closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

Four-Year-Old Saves Two In Fire

The courage of four-year-old Milo Mackenzie, center, saved the lives of his two-year-old sister, Flora and his 10-month-old brother, Donald, shown above with their mother, when fire destroyed their home in Englewood, Colo. Capt. Wilburn MacKenzie, a Canadian war ace, father of the children, and Mrs. MacKenzie were away from home at the time. Milo carried both children to safety.

JINX TUESDAY.

NEW YORK, January 13 (C.P.).—Spanish and Latin-American residents laugh at this theory that Friday the 13th is unlucky. Now, if this were Tuesday the 13th!

A Spanish proverb warns: "On Tuesday, neither marry nor travel." Tuesday is poison to the Spanish, and to them Friday is just another day.

But 13 — that's unlucky in any language.

CONCESSIONS ARE OPPOSED

Orillians Send Protest to Henry on Separate School Agitation.

DENY EQUAL RIGHTS.

ORILLIA, Ont. Jan. 13 (C.P.)—Vigorous protest against changes in the assessment act which might permit diversion to the support of Separate Schools of any share of the school taxes of corporations and Public Utilities was voiced at a public meeting held in the Orange Hall, under the auspices of the Orange societies, here last night.

At the conclusion of the meeting, the following resolution was passed for transmission to Premier George S. Henry: "Having learned through the public press there is an agitation going on to give Separate Schools a share of Public Utilities and industrial taxes, resolved, that we Public School supporters of Orillia and district go on record as being opposed to any further concessions being granted to Separate Schools in Ontario; and that we call upon the Premier and members of the legislature to resist these encroachments upon the Public Schools of this province."

"The Separate School in Ontario is a compromise, a concession, not a right, and it has not a status equal to that of the Public School," said Grand Master Charles M. Carrie, one of the chief speakers at the gathering. "The Roman Catholic bishops claim the two types of schools are equal, but if they are, why do they not go into the courts and collect the share of taxes which they claim is due to them?"

PRESENTATIONS MADE

BETHANY, Jan. 12 (Examiner Correspondence).—Mr. and Mrs. Ernest S. Beer recently celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding when the large hall was filled with friends and neighbors, J. J. Clark acting as chairman for the evening's program.

The program included: Solo, Herber Preston, with Mrs. Herbert Neals at the piano, "Will You Love Me When I'm Old," Mr. Preston responding to an encore; remarks, by R. L. W. Scott; duet, Isobel and Robert Sisson, playing their own accompaniment; solo, George Neals, with Mrs. Herbert Neals at the piano; duet, Ben Page, with trumpet and R. Sisson at the piano; solo, Harry Preston; play, "Won by Wager," a one-act drama, which was alive with humor. Those taking part being Robert Sisson, as Mr. Sweet; Clarence Page the supposed doctor; Clare Sisson, young Billie Sweet, the torment of the house; Mary Sweet, Miss Isobel Sisson; Miss Melinda Sweet, Viola Gray; Aunt Sally, the darky cook, Vera Strachan; the Irish servant, Keith Thorndyke; Mrs. Sweet, Marjory Page.

Other numbers included solos by Miss Verda Gillies, of Toronto, George Neals and Herber Preston.

Mr. and Mrs. Beer, with their bridesmaid, Mrs. (Dr.) Irwin, who was present from Rochester, were invited to come forward and be seated at a beautifully draped table holding the wedding cake. The table was lighted with green candles in silver holders. James Strachan read an appropriate address of congratulations and good wishes and the gifts were presented by Misses Vera Strachan, Marjory Page, Isobel Sisson, Verda Gillies, Viola Gray, assisted by Robert Sisson and Clarence Page. Mr. Beer made a suitable reply on behalf of himself and Mrs. Beer, and a telephone message was read from Mr. Gillies of Toronto.

REPORTS ARE READ AT DELORO MEETING

Monthly and Annual Meetings for Deloro Safety Committee Held Jointly.

MARMORA, Jan. 12 (Examiner Correspondence).—Following a sumptuous banquet held at the staff dining hall at Deloro on Tuesday evening, the monthly meeting of the Deloro Safety Committee took place, to be succeeded by the annual meeting. R. A. Elliott presided at both meetings. At the former meeting, H. Rennie reported the receipt of seven suggestions.

C. T. Nicholson, in reporting for the Competitive Committee, mentioned the fact that each of these suggestions had merited an award and that after a recapitulation of former suggestions four extra prizes had been given. He also mentioned that the star went to the General Department.

W. L. Rigg spoke of prone method practices being carried out in the Oxide plant. C. H. Buskard gave the report f the Benevolent Relief funds. Before the meeting adjourned, J. H. Hemphill and H. Smith Sr. were appointed to carry out practices among the staff and with the General Department respectively, and A. V. Yates was appointed floating member for January on the Inspection Committee.

The election of officers followed, acclamation being given to last year's executive: Chairman, R. A. Elliott; vice-chairman, J. H. Hemphill; secretary-treasurer, T. Paquet; assistant secretary, W. R. Reynolds.

The following sub-committees were then appointed: Suggestions—R. D. Murray, J. Judge, N. A. Kilpatrick, G. Brooks, W. Simmons; Competitive—H. A. McNally, C. T. Nicholson, H. Rennie, W. Mumby, H. O. Loveless; Inspection—C. H. Buskard, J. H. Hemphill, W. M. Regan, H. Smith Sr., A. McKenzie; Publicity—W. R. Reynolds, A. V. Yates, W. L. Rigg, D. Robertson, F. Gray. Auditors, H. A. McNally and H. Rennie; Benevolent Relief Board—R. A. Elliott, three years; C. H. Buskard, two years; A. Kennedy, one year.

The chairman moved a vote of thanks to the management for their financial assistance, which made it possible for the committee to carry on, and for their provision of the banquet.

S. B. Wright, general manager of the Deloro Smelting and Refining Company Limited, in responding expressed the pleasure it gave him to be with them this year, having had to miss the last few annual meetings. He congratulated all men collectively for their efforts in 1932 and previous years.

The reports given showed that the sub-committees had been functioning splendidly. H ving con ratulated the chairman and secretary on their comprehensive reports, he said "that the company fully appreciated in every way the work being done by the men in the cause of safety, this being not only a benefit to the men themselves but also to the company. It meant a definite saving to the company in the amounts which have to be paid to the Compensation Boartl." He referred, in closing, to the saving of life at Crowe Lake last summer by Mac Bonter and Jack McCrodan. T. A. Bapty, secretary-treasurer of the company, in a happy speech, echoed M.. Wright's remarks.

J. H. Hemphill, in a brief speech, touched upon an article he had recently seen, "Safety First in the Old Days." H. W. Sabine, Dr. H. Crawford and W. R. Reynolds gave short, interesting speeches in turn. Dr. Crawford made the interesting announcement that Deloro village had passed through 18 months without one quarantinal disease. Appreciation of the work of Mrs. Percy Smith and her helpers in preparing the banquet were voiced before the gathering dispersed.

Two charts, as in former years, were displayed for the interest of the committee, and were referred to by the chairman in his report:

Compensated accidents per year—1918, 25; 1919, 20; 1920, 17; 1921, 26; 1922, 20; 1923 33; 1924, 20; 1925, 14; 1926, 6 major and 12 minor; 1927 4 major and 19 minor; 1928, 4 major and 14 minor; 1929 (banner year), 0 major and 8 minor; 1930, 3 major and 8 minor; 1931, 2 major and 8 minor; 1932, 1 major and 3 minor.

Lost days per year which came under compensation: 1923, 643; 1924, 519; 1925, 246; 1926, major 184, minor 34; 1927, major 88 minor 41; 1928, major 126, minor 26; 1929, major 0, minor 19; 1930, major 63½, minor 8¾; 1931, major 64, minor 15; 1932, major 30, minor 0.

Lakefield Institute Plans To Visit Home

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 13.—(Examiner Correspondence.)— The regular meeting of the Woman's Institute was held in the Memorial Hall on Wednesday afternoon with a good attendance of members present.

Plans were made for a visit to the House of Refuge at an early date when a program will be given. The Christmas treat was sent out already. The February meeting will be in charge of the Agricultural committee with Mrs. J. H. Moore as convenor.

Mrs. S. E. White had prepared a very comprehensive paper on the life of Pauline Johnson, one of the outstanding figures in Canadian literature and dramatic art.

Mrs. J. H. Moore gave an excellent reading on co-operative marketing as affecting especially the dairy industry, and which urged a union of producers who would remedy the present weakness which seriously affects the farmer.

Mrs. Ridpath gave a reading, "Thawing Credits" which caused a laugh but contained more truth than fiction.

Mrs. Stanley Higgins spoke of the visit of Miss Agnes McPhail, M.P., to Peterborough on January 27, it is expected.

Mrs. A. Davis announced the card party and dance of the Woman's Institute of Young's Point on Monday evening with a pot luck supper to follow.

St. John's W. A.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of St. John's church was held on Tuesday afternoon in the Parish Hall with a good attendance of members. The reports for the year's work showed a very healthy condition, with all the pledges fully met and a balance on the right side of the treasury. This, in a time when the financial stress had been so greatly felt, was particularly gratifying.

The officers were all re-elected by acclamation as follows:

Honorary President— Mrs. F. G. Kendal.

President—Mrs. W. J. Creighton.
1st Vice-Pres.—Mrs. J. W. Todd.
2nd Vice-Pres—Mrs. C. E. White.
Secretary—Miss F M. Atwood.
Treasurer—Mrs. C. C. Stenner.
Living Message Secretary— Mrs. M. Smith.
Dorcas Committee— Mrs. Chappell, Mrs. T. Z. Webster, Mrs. Armstrong.

MORE HIGHWAY WORK PLANNED

Activity on Trans-Canada Route to Aid Sturgeon Falls and Mattawa.

100 MEN FROM EACH.

NORTH BAY, Jan. 13 (C.P.). — Sturgeon Falls and Mattawa are to benefit by relief projects being launched under the direction of the northern development branch. In each case approximately 100 men will be accommodated.

Resumption of work on the Field-Martin River trunk road, connecting Sturgeon Falls with the Ferguson Highway, will take up 100 single men of the Sturgeon Falls area. About seven miles of this 17-mile route remains to be built. The workers will be employed on the $10 per month and board basis.

Unemployment conditions in Mattawa will be relieved by taking approximately 100 men, married and single, for work on the trans-Canada Highway immediately east and west of the town. The men to be recruited under the new plan will be allowed to board at home and will be paid 50 cents per day board allowance in addition to the $10 monthly wages.

CAPTAIN HELD TO BLAME FOR SMUGGLING TACTICS

HALIFAX, Jan. 13.—If the captain of a ship chooses to carry a liquor cargo through a customs blockade, that's his funeral. The members of his crew, "bound by the terms of the ship's articles", are not responsible in the opinion of Magistrate Ian Ross.

So the magistrate convicted Captain Rupert Smith on a charge of possessing spirits unlawfully imported, and acquitted his three men, Harry Creaser, Harry and Ira Eisenhauer.

Captain Smith, who was in command of the Riverport schooner, Francis T, when she was seized by mounted police at Owl's head on Dec. 3, was fined $1,000 and sentenced to serve three months in jail.

ST. LUKE'S W.A. ANNUAL MEETING

Mrs. T. Moore is Re-elected President of Women's Association.

YEAR OF ACTIVE WORK.

At the annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of St. Luke's Church, held this week, Mrs. T. Moore was re-elected as president, with the following officers for the New Year: Mrs. G. J. Bousfield, honorary president; Mrs. John Butcher, honorary vice-president; Mrs. H. Butcher, vice-president; Mrs. R. H Parsons, secretary; Mrs. T. H. Adams, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Manicce, assistant to the Dorcas convenor (not yet named); Mrs. C. Hughes, Evening Branch; Mrs. G. J. Bousfied, Junior spuerintendent; Mrs. J. Mackin, Treasurer Little Helpers; Mrs. S. Long, assistant treasurer Little Helpers; Mrs. W. Thompson, United Thankoffering; Mrs. H. Starr, secretary Living Message and organist; Mrs. John Scott and Mrs. Charles Butcher, rector's representatives.

Reports presented at the meeting showed unusual activity for a trying year just ended. The Rev. Mr. Bousfield took the chair for the election of officers.

A resolution of deep regret was passed that Mrs. Harold Fitch, one of the most faithful of the members of the society, is unable, on account of ill-health to continue her duties as secretary of the Living Message.

The rector and president expressed gratification at the extent of the work carried on by the Auxiliary and for the spirit of unity which exists.

MacDonald Returns From Visiting King

LONDON, Jan. 13 (C.P. Cable).—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald returns to London to-day after a three-day visit with Their Majesties the King and Queen. The visit was purely a private one, being the customary court after Christmas.

Returning to Downing Street, Mr. MacDonald will launch once again into the affairs of State. The Cabinet is expected to meet next Wednesday, and on that occasion it is almost certain the question of international war debts will be discussed.

In their notes to the United States delivered prior to the payment of the last installment of the war debt due on December 15, the United Kingdom asked for discussions on the problem and it is probable that the United States will make no move until further suggestions come from the British side.

AIMEE REPORTED IN GRIP OF COMA

Physicians Decline to Discuss Nature of Evangelist's Ailment.

CONDITION SERIOUS.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 13 (A.P.)—Ill more than two years, Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton, Canadian-born evangelist, was reported to-day by her physician to be in a coma.

The physician, Dr. L. C. Audrain, described her condition as serious but declined to discuss the nature of her ailment.

The evangelist was said to be confined in her bed in the parsonage of Angelus Temple of which she is pastor.

Mrs. Hutton has been reported seriously ill on numerous occasions during the last two years. Her illness began with a nervous breakdown. Later, while on a honeymoon trip to Central America with her husband, David L. Hutton, Jr., she contracted a tropical illness.

Several months ago when her husband lost a breach of promise suit to Myrtle St. Pierre, a nurse, the evangelist fainted on being told the news. She fell to the concrete floor of her home and at that time was reported to have suffered a skull fracture.

FIVE ARRESTED IN KIDNAPPING

Two of Suspects Are Policemen, Blamed for Actual Abducting of Prisoner.

ASKED $100,000 RANSOM.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13 (A.P.)—Five men, including two policemen, were arrested to-day charged with kidnapping Ernest Schoenig of 40 Plaza Place, Pleasantville, N.J., from the Brooklyn Federal Building on Dec. 27, and holding him prisoner for 15 days.

The arrests were announced to detectives at the daily line-up at police headquarters.

Schoenig was said to have gone to the Federal Building in Brooklyn in connection with a liquor case and the kidnapping was carried out, police said, in broad daylight by the two patrolmen, an ex-convict with a long record, and two other men.

Schoenig was taken by his kidnappers to Manhattan and held there.

Detectives at the line-up were told that the kidnappers demanded $100,000 ransom but when negotiations failed to produce results they released their prisoner.

The patrolmen under arrest are John Nevins and Arthur B. Graef, who have been in the police department five and eleven years respectively.

The other prisoners described themselves as Frank Miller, a clerk; Max Geller, a seaman, and Leonard Gawelczyk, a chauffeur. Miller is the ex-convict.

Paid in Eggs

BEAMSVILLE, Ont., Jan. 13 (C.P.).—One of the local dental fraternity had the unique experience a few days ago of being paid with a basket of eggs for an urgent dental job. The patient in question told the practitioner that he must have dental attention, he had no ready cash to pay for service, and landed in the office with the eggs as payment. They were accepted and both parties in the deal were satisfied.

Coin-operated typewriters have been installed in some German post offices for use by the public.

Obituary

WILLIAM HARRISON.

NORWOOD, Jan. 13.—(Examiner Correspondence.)— The death occurred here at four o'clock this morning of William Harrison, an old and respected resident and proprietor of the village saw mill.

The late Mr. Harrison suffered a strike some years ago. His second seizure took place yesterday afternoon and he died this morning at his home after an illness of twelve hours. He is survived by his wife and one brother, John Harrison of Asphodel.

The funeral will take place on Monday, January 16th, at two o'clock, from his late residence to the Norwood cemetery.

MRS. ALEXANDER BROWN.

In the death of Margaret Galloway, widow of the late Alexander Brown, who passed away at her residence, 205 McGill Street, on Thursday afternoon at the age of 94 years, this district suffers the loss of another hardy pioneer resident.

A native of Stirling, Scotland, Mrs. Brown came to Canada shortly after her marriage, and as a young woman faced the hardship and responsibility of pioneer life with her husband, who took to farming in Burleigh Township.

Leaving the homestead about thirty-six years ago, the couple moved with their family to Port Arthur, where the late Mr. Brown went into business as a general merchant. He retired from business about ten years later and shortly after coming to reside in this city passed away. Mrs. Brown had since resided on McGill Street, and the state of her health, due to her advanced years, was such that she was unable to get about to any great extent. Occasionally she had been able to attend church services at Knox United Church.

Mrs. Brown and her husband traveled from their native land in an old sailing vessel, the journey being a prolonged one on account of the severe weather encountered on the Atlantic.

Mrs. Brown is survived by three sons, Duncan of Apsley, Alexander of Wroxeter, Ontario, and Malcolm of Stettler, Alberta, and four daughters, Mrs. Annie Lindsay of Apsley, Mrs. Janet McCallum, of New Westminster, B.C., Miss Margaret Brown of Peterborough, and Mrs. Ernest Parker of Port Arthur, Ontario. She also leaves thirty-one grandchildren and several great-grandchildren.

The funeral is to be held on Saturday at 2 o'clock p.m., from her late residence, 205 McGill Street, with services conducted by the Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr, pastor of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church. Interment at Little Lake Cemetery.

RELIEF OFFICER IS ASSAULTED

Ernest Dettlor, 26, North Monaghan, Pleads Guilty in Police Court.

SUSPENDED SENTENCE.

Although Ernest Dettlor, aged 26, of North Monaghan Township, was granted leniency in police court today when he pleaded guilty to assaulting Herman Killingbeck, relief officer of the township, Magistrate Langley issued the warning in no uncertain terms, that in future no one can get pugilistic with any relief officer and expect the same sympathy from the court.

Dettlor admitted that when he interviewed Relief Officer Killingbeck at his home yesterday afternoon he grabbed hold of the officer, pushed him against the wall and threatened to beat him up. He said he was angry because a relief order had been refused his wife.

The officer explained that Dettlor had changed his place of residence, having lived in the city for some weeks, and had not informed relief officials as required by the Government. That was the reason, he said, that he could not give the relief order.

Magistrate Langley told Dettlor that rather than attempt to beat up the relief officer, he should be thankful for the relief and care he and his family had received from the good citizens of the township in the past, and be willing to furnish the officer with the proper information. Killingbeck and Reeve McIntosh urged leniency for Dettlor and suspended sentence was granted him by the Magistrate.

Judgment was withheld in the case of Fred. W. Stanley, local youth, charged with receiving two automobile tires stolen by Walter Fulbrook from J. K. Hughes' garage.

Printing In Schools Stirs Labor Protest

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 13 (A.P.)—Printing work being done by students in Windsor-Walkerville Technical School has stirred a protest by Labor members of the Windsor Board of Education.

Trustee Ernest Atkinson protested that unfair competition existed for print shops that paid taxes. He claimed the technical director was soliciting work to be done by students and that programmes and other work had been done for organizations outside educational institutions. He had support for his protest that even work for schools should not be done.

Brantford Liberal Meet.

Suspects Queen's Park of Effort to Stifle Public Discussion of Hydro Affairs.

BRANTFORD, Jan. 13 (C.P.) — A challenge to the Ontario Government and the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission to publish a list of the bondholders of the Ontario Power Service Corporation was hurled at a meeting here last night by A. G. Slaght, K.C., of Toronto, in an address on the recent Hydro investigation in which he was counsel for the applicants for the probe.

"I challenge Mr. George S. Henry, as Prime Minister; I challenge Mr. J. R. Cooke, as a member of his cabinet and the chairman of the Hydro Commission; I challenge Mr. Alfred Maguire, and last, but not lease, I challenge the Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, a recently appointed member of the Commission —each of them separately or any one of them—to publish a list of the lucky bondholders of the Ontario Power Service Corporation with their addresses and occupations," said Mr. Slaght.

Gives Abitibi List

Mr. Slaght then gave to the meeting, held under the auspices of the Brantford Liberal Association, a list of the members of the parent Abitibi Company as formed in June of 1932, which he charged had been helped out by the Ontario Government's purchase of bonds of the subsidiary Ontario Service Corporation bonds at $90 on the $100. The purchase, he said, was made when the Abitibi Company was practically bankrupt, and the subsidiary company unable to raise $5,000,000 to carry on the work at Abitibi Canyon to completion.

By this payment of $18,000,000 to the bondholders, Mr. Slaght charged, the government had lifted the bondholders out of the hole at a time when it was doubtful if the bonds were worth $25, for after the "whispered word was out that the Henry Government might buy," the price rose in a day to $33 and later to $37.

Suspects Stifling

He prefaced his remarks with the pronouncement that there had been an attempt by those in power at Queen's Park to stifle and prevent a public discussion of Hydro affairs by suggesting that "in so doing we are attacking the great Hydro-Electric System itself as a system." "Nothing could be more misleading," he said.

NEW PRINCESS FOR BULGARIANS

Child is First Born to King Boris III and Queen Joanna.

COUNTY CELEBRATES.

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Jan. 13 (C.P.).—All Bulgaria was celebrating the birth of a princess this morning—the first child of King Boris III. and Queen Joanna. The mother and baby girl were both reported in excellent health.

Although Bulgaria's constitution prescribes direct succession by the male line, the princess was welcomed with a warmth of affection reminiscent of the reception accorded Queen Joanna when her royal husband brought her home from Italy two years ago.

The event naturally renewed speculation as to the religion in which any children of Boris and Joanna will be brought up. The law required that the ruler of Bulgaria must be a member of the Eastern Church, and special permission of the Pope was necessary before Boris married the Italian princess.

In official circles, it was pointed out, Boris made no promises in connection with the upbringing of his children.

The Government was planning a political amnesty for exiles and the pardoning of hundreds of prisoners in Bulgaria in celebration of the event.

The present heir to the Bulgarian throne is King Boris' younger brother Cyril. Boris succeeded his father, Ferdinand, who abdicated in 1918, and has been living since in the Duchy of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha in Germany.

KILLED IN FALL

BOURKES, Ont.—Runar Lindholm, employee of Bourkes' Mines, was instantly killed when he fell down the main shaft of the mine into 100 feet of water. With another workman, he was climbing a ladder to the surface when he slipped and fell. His body was recovered to-day. Lindholm had been working only a few hours when the accident occurred.

U.F.A. Urges Alberta To Follow Calgary

CALGARY, Jan. 13—(CP)—While Mayor Andy Davison and Premier J. E. Brownlee of Alberta went into conference in Edmonton today on Calgary's financial plight, the Calgary local of the United Farmers of Alberta called for the Alberta government to follow Calgary's footsteps and refuse to pay adverse United States exchange in meeting bond obligations.

The farm group local, a unit of the organization that swept Premier Brownlee's administration into power, previously had endorsed Calgary's stand on the exchange question. Last night it urged the Alberta government to take similar action. The question will go before the U.F.A. board of directors meeting here today and may find its way into the annual convention which opens Jan. 17.

FASHION SERVICE

Here's a fascinating apron and cap to wear and to make.

Clear sky blue dainty dimity, so young and flattering, as sketched, you'll find very practical. The binds are in deeper blue shade.

The apron cuts all in one piece! It is slashed in from sides. The lower edge of the slashed opening is gathered and joined to the opposite edge. The black straps are attached to the shoulders. The attached narrow sash tied in bow at back, holds the apron snugly to the figure. The cap is in one-piece.

Style No. 3198 is designed in sizes small, medium and large.

The medium size requires 1⅝ yards of 35-inch material with 9¾ yards of binding.

Liver in Gravy Baked Potatoes
Buttered Cabbage Pickled Beets
Carmel Blanc Mange Tea

The blanc mange and liver recipes were prepared by the New York State College of Home Economics at Cornell university for the state temporary emergency relief administration.

Today's Recipes

Liver and Gray—One pound liver, beef or pork, two tablespoons flour, one teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, four tablespoons drippings, three cups hot water, one slice onion, minced. Sprinkle slices of liver with salt and pepper, dredge with flour, dip in milk and again in flour. Brown in drippings, then add hot water and rest of seasonings. Cover and simmer one hour. Remove meat, thicken the liquid in the pan, season and pour over the liver.

Carmel Blanc Mange — Three cups fresh or diluted evaporated milk, six and one-half level tablespoons flour, six tablespoons sugar, one-fourth teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon vanilla. Mix the flour, salt and half cup cold milk. Stir to a smooth paste. Meanwhile scald the rest of the milk. Pour a little of the scalded milk on the flour mixture and blend. Add this to the remaining milk and stir constantly over fire until the mixture coats the spoon. Put the sugar in a frying pan over a low fire and stir until it is melted and a golden brown color. Remove from the fire, add slowly, stirring constantly, one-fourth cup of boiling water. Return to the stove and stir until smooth. Add the caramelized sugar to the other mixture and cook for 10 or 15 minutes longer. Add the vanilla or other seasoning if desired and pour into cold, wet molds or glasses. When cold, turn out on a sauce dish and serve with top milk.

Just Between Us Women

A daily chat with Examiner neighbors conducted by Anne Wilcox

IN THE COMING YEAR let none of us be unmindful of the latent power which exists in the universe, and which all of us can call upon with the assurance that our appeals will not be ineffectual.

* * * * * * *

This does not mean that we can fall back upon our appeal with the belief that that is all we have to do.

* * * * * * *

Each of us must follow the leads which present themselves, and work toward the desired result. But just to work without a realization of the unseen force is such uphill journeying that success does not always crown our efforts.

* * * * * * *

We need to be fortified by faith in the potency of the power to help us.

* * * * * * *

The best examples of the latent power are electricity and light waves. Were it not for these two things, there would be no telephones, no radio, no electric light and power companies.

* * * * * * *

To see this power is not necessary, but to harness the elements and put them to use is one of the supreme accomplishments of man's civilization. This is getting in touch with a power so potent that it is beyond the comprehension of man's mind to know to what it may lead.

* * * * * * *

There are individuals who feel the stirrings of the Great Power to such an extent that they are able to accomplish what would otherwise be beyond their strength and even their ability.

* * * * * * *

If it is our wish to accomplish what seems to us a mountainous task, it would benefit us to tap the power.

* * * * * * *

There are various ways of doing it, suited to different natures.

* * * * * * *

One person may get it through prayer, another through silent periods, when the mind is relaxed and not full of its own strivings, but ready to receive impressions from the outside.

* * * * * * *

There are others who get inspiration from fine music, which helps them to see things clearly, and which enables them to work with fuller purpose.

* * * * * * *

Works of art and fine books have their benefit in directing individual attention to things beyond their unaided ken. To most persons a silent waiting on the Power with a receptive mind brings them most quickly in touch with it.

* * * * * * *

Following its guidance is the testing of its force.

WOMEN REVIEW AID TO CHURCH

First Meeting of St. Andrew's Church Women's Auxiliary.

AT MILLBROOK

MILLBROOK, Jan. 13.—The initial meeting of the new year for the Woman's Auxiliary of St. Andrew's church was held on Wednesday afternoon at the parsonage. Reports, including that of the secretary, Mrs. J. H. George, showed fifty-eight paid members in 1932, three new names enrolled, twenty-three life members, including two new ones, two associate helpers, twelve meetings held with an average attendance of thirty-eight, the largest at the February gathering when fifty-one were present.

Eleven quilt tops had been donated and at the May meeting the annual quilting was successfully carried through. The annual bale was shipped in October, valued at fifty-four dollars, and the annual picnic was held in August at Wallace Point, with the Circle and Band participating. The average collection was $4.08 and Magic coupons are being collected for which cash will be allowed and thus add to the funds.

The treasurer's report showed: annual members' fees, $29.00; life members, $50.00; thankofferings, $134.10; mite-boxes, $4.78; associate helpers, $6.00; other sources, $77.94—total, $350.78; expenses, $10.78; amount sent branch treasurer, $340.00. Mrs. M. McDowell reported for the Mission Band, which has the largest membership in its history, fifty-two, and raised its full allocation of $100, as did also the Mission Circle reported by Mrs. J. McKnight.

Tells of Oxford Group.

In lieu of the usual chapter from the study book, Rev. Mr. Jone gave a talk on the Oxford Group, three members of which, an Anglo-Catholic, a Broad Churchman, and a Low Churchman, had been heard at the meeting of the South Durham and West Northumberland Ministerial Association held in St. Peter's Parish hall, Cobourg, on Monday of this week.

"The Oxford Group is the result of a new understanding of, and a new appreciation of Jesus Christ, and in that is similar to every other evangelistic movement since the first century of the Christian era. It lays emphasis upon four things: perfect honesty, absolute purity, the selfless life, and unfailing compassion as exemplified in the life of Christ."

One of the speakers at Cobourg was a son of the Rev. Canon Marsh, of Lindsay, and all were alike in expressing the joy experienced as a constant guest since contact with the Oxford workers in Toronto recently, resulting in changed lives, and 'sharing' with others the love and power attained through prayer, divine guidance, and the removal of all barriers between their souls and God.

THE FOURTH-BEST LEAD

Unless an honor can be led against a no-trump or suit call, almost invariably the fourth-best card should be led. This particular lead conveys specific information which may be invaluable to the leader's partner, provided he understands "The Rule of Eleven," which is as follows:

"Subtract from eleven the value of the fourth-best card led; the remainder shows the number of higher cards of that suit held by the three other players."

The following hand shows the utility of the rule. The diagram shows the cards held by each player at no-trumps, when your partner leads his fourth-best card of the suit.

Your Partner
K J 9 8

Declarer 7 5 2 — Y / A B / Z — Dummy Q 6 4

You
A 10 3

Your partner leads the 8, as his fourth-best card. You deduct 8 from 11. The remainder is 3, definitely telling you that outside your partner's hand there are held only three cards higher than the 8 that he has led. Dummy shows one such card. You hold the remaining two higher cards. The declarer can hold no card of that suit higher than the 8. Your partner holds the K-J-9 that are higher than the 8. He may hold one or more cards lower than the 8. It is your business to win the trick, and to see that you do not block the free run of that suit. If dummy's Q covers the 8, you must play your Ace, lay down your 10, and then lead your Ace, then play your 3. Your side must win four tricks in that suit, regardless of what dummy plays!

The rule of Eleven is a great convenience, but not a necessity. Were there no such rule you could read the situation equally well, but with more labor. Why the rule works is easy to understand. The lowest card is the 2. The honors have the following numerical values: Ten, 10; J, 11; Q, 12; K, 13; Ace, 14. If you had no rule, you would deduct the 8 from 14, saying: "There are six cards in the pack higher than the 8. That card being my partner's fourth-best, he has three of those six higher cards, leaving three cards outside his hand that are higher. I see two of those higher outside cards in my own hand, and dummy has one such card. The declarer cannot beat the 8 in his own hand." The process of determining that declarer could not beat the 8 could be accomplished without any rule. The rule simplifies things for the average player. That is all.

Recently my partner led a 3, as his fourth-best. Dummy showed K-9-5-4. I held A-10-7-6. Three from 11 leaves 8. Dummy and I held just eight cards higher than the 3. I knew that the declarer held the 2 alone, or none at all on his heart call. All I had to do was to beat whatever card was played from dummy.

By DR LOGAN CLENDENING

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M.D.

Winter is especially the time for contagious diseases. And most especially is it the time for contagious diseases among children.

This is true for perfectly simple reasons. Contagious diseases are spread very largely from one individual to another. And winter is pre-eminently the time when people are indoors in close contact, when in hotels they hover around the radiator, or around the stove in grocery stores.

So far as children are concerned, the fact that there are many more of them in close contact in school during the winter is the cause for the prevalence of these diseases during this season. Probably the height of the curve of incidence of all contagious diseases is from the first of January to the last of February.

When the problem comes up of the home management of these diseases, the first question that is likely to be asked is whether or not it would be better to have them treated in the home or in a hospital. The reason for this is the crossed infections, which are so likely to occur in contagious diseases in the hospital.

The child at home can be isolated, kept in its own room, and will not have contact with other sick children and, therefore, will not have a chance which its weakened conditions makes it disposed, to pick up a number of other germs and infections.

The danger to other members of the family by having a child with a contagious disease at home is not nearly so serious as is generally supposed. As a matetr of fact, the most contagious period of disease of this sort is during the early stages, before the disease is recognized, and if other members are to be infected they will probably have caught the contagion before the child is removed to the hospital, in case that procedure is adopted.

Of course, if circumstances are such that it becomes necessary to remove the child to the hospital, there is comfort in the knowledge that in modern hospitals all possible precautions are taken. The point of my remarks is not to cause any lack of confidence in hospitals, but to emphasize what I believe to be a fact—that if there is a choice, home treatment is the best, and no one should feel that the child is being done an injustice by having it treated at home.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS

Mrs. M. S. B.: "How is trichomono vaginalis contracted? Can men also get this disease? Is there a cure?

Answer: This is an infection produced usually from contact with a contaminated substance—usually a fountain syringe nozzle. So far as I know, no case has been reported in a male. It is a very stubborn infection, but usually yields eventually to treatment, which must be put in medical hands.

BE BEAUTIFUL

By GLADYS GLAD

I suppose you've all seen some of the recent new photographs of Clara Bow, the latest of the cinema stars to pull a screen comeback. And did you observe how much more slender the new Clara is? La Bow has, indeed, lost a great deal of weight. And judging from her appearance, it was through a safe and sane method of reduction only that she accomplished this. For her figure has all the "it" curves and alluring contours that it originally had. And there are no lines and wrinkles, or haggardness in her face to reflect an unsafe reduction method.

That's the trouble with most women. When they become overweight they want to reduce speedily. And so they choose the quickest reduction method they can find, regardless of its safety.

An unhealthy and too-speedy reduction method always reflects itself first in the face. Before reduction, the facial contours are padded and rounded out by layers of fat. Then, when a speedy reduction method is entered upon, these layers of fat are abruptly dissolved. As a result, the skin which has stretched to accomodate the increasing bulk beneath its surface, hasn't time to adjust itself to the change of contour. And so it sags in wrinkled looseness, giving a haggard and aged appearance to the face.

It is perfectly possible to preserve the youthful contours of the face while reducing. But only a well-planned reduction method should be employed, such as the excellent one outlined in my "New Figure" booklet. If such a routine is followed, and the following injunctions obeyed, no girl shold lose beauty with weight:

First, use a good nourishing cream on your face nightly. Coco butter is a very good one. Warm it to an oil and pat it into your skin nightly before retiring.

Second, do not neglect your water intake. Consume at least 8 to 10 glasses of water a day, so that your tissues do not shrivel through lack of fluid.

Third, make use of a good astringent or bracing lotion to stimulate the circulation in your face, and to keep your facial contours firm and smooth.

FRANK ADAMS HEADS OLD AGE PENSION BOARD

MUSICAL CONCERT IS MUCH ENJOYED

Pleasing Program Given in Paragon Hall in Aid of St. George's Church.

A concert outstanding in quality and with every item given in excellent style, was held in the Paragon Hall last evening in aid of St. George's church. The room was comfortably filled and the appreciation of the audience was shown in the applause which demanded encores to almost every number. The position of chairman was ably filled by J. J. Turner, whose contribution to the program during the intermission included several witty stories which added good humor and "lightness" to the evening. Roy Rome, popular local violinist, with an orchestra of ten, including Miss Marguerite Rome at the piano, played several enjoyable numbers, including "For Love and Honour," "Garden of Roses" and "Glow-Worm." Miss Olive Rome was heard to advantage in two charming vocal solos, "Reverie," and "Mother McCree," the second encore number being accompanied by violin obligato as well as piano.

Miss Mignon Mayneord, whose bird-like notes trilled and soared with natural ease, contributed two whistling solos, replying each time with an encore.

Miss Queenie Hope delighted the audience with her humorous recitations, "How Mr. Brown Caught a Mouse," and "A Mother Visiting Her Son in New York," and each time was recalled to the platform.

Ruth Fisher, a promising young violinist, played a difficult number in pleasing style, and responded with "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise."

Victor Coleman and Gerald Perks, two outstanding vocalists of St. John's choir, each charmed their hearers with their sweet, clear voices. Gerald sang "The Holy City" and "Bird Songs at Eventide," while Victor chose "The Gift" and "Daddy." Donald Perks and George Coleman, Jr., who should also have had their places among the artistes were unavoidably absent through sickness. Rev. J. L. Hughes substituted for Mr. Coleman and was in excellent voice for his solo, "Neath the Rolling Tide," responding with "Yonder."

As humorist of the evening, Mr. Charles Coleman excelled himself, and almost brought the house down during his rendition of "Scenes Down Lover's Lane," responding with a well merited encore, which related the story of "The Twins."

The greater part of the duties of accompanist were undertaken by Miss Marguerite Rome, others assisting being Mrs. Perks, Mrs. J. L. Hughes and Miss Lily Bacon.

Before the closing item Rev. J. L. Hughes extended on behalf of St. George's congregation, sincere thanks and appreciation to all who had contributed to the success of the evening. The chairman was always interested in the work at St. George's, and the artistes had given their services readily and willingly. Special thanks were given to Mr. C. Coleman who had made the evening's entertainment passible by his kind offer of the hall, his ready help with the program and his untiring efforts in the sale of tickets.

The singing of the National Anthem brought the evening's proceedings to a close.

HONAN MISSION SUCCESS SHOWN

Progress of Anglican Church in China Subject of Lecture.

BY REV. WM. SIMPSON

MILLBROOK, Jan. 13.—A visit to the province of Honan in North China was enjoyed by the audience which gathered in the parish hall of St. Thomas' Anglican church on Tuesday evening, by means of lantern slides and lecture, the rector, Rev. William Simpson, B.A., giving the information regarding the mission work and workers of the Anglican church at Kai Peng and other centres. R. Stone managed the lantern.

Among the buildings shown making up the mission compound at Kai Peng were the Trinity Cathedral, large and beautiful, the money for its building being the gift of Mr. Wiggs of Quebec, who sought in this manner to invest his fortune; St. Andrew's and St. Mary's schools for boys and girls respectively, and also "Toronto House," built by the Woman's Auxiliaries of the Toronto Diocese, hence the local and other Auxiliaries of the entire district having a share in providing this much needed adjunct to the mission plant.

The slide showing Bishop Whyte, who was born and brought up at Norwood, Ontario, and who has done such constructive work for many years in Honan province, was of peculiar interest. Bishop Whyte's plan has always been to develop a native Chinese Christian church, and his policy has proved the wisest and most successful under a variety of circumstances, favorable and otherwise, and now the rector of Trinity cathedral is a Chinese bishop, and in the eleven churches of the district a native pastor is the leader.

The slide portraying Mr. Anderson, author of the study book being taken up by the local and in fact all the Auxiliaries of the Dominion this year, and covering the work in Honan also aroused interest, this travelling evangelist doing a fine work as he goes about the large district, by means of a Chinese wheelbarrow when other ways are not available, and spreads the gospel. St Paul's hospital at Kweith, built by St. Paul's church, Toronto, and the hundreds of waiting patients who hear the Word as they wait their turn at the clinic, showed how profitable and successful the medical part of mission endeavor becomes, and the ambulance, also, which goes out and holds clinics through the countryside, is welcomed by whole villages on arrival, and bring in to the hospital those needing more than dispensary attention.

Mrs. C. M. Westmacott, president of St. Thomas' W.A., secured the slides as an impetus to interest in the study book on Honan to be taken up this year at the monthly meetings. Prayer by the rector dismissed the gathering.

NORWOOD MASONS INSTALL OFFICERS

Funeral of Mrs. Keith Sanders on Thursday.

NORWOOD, Jan. 13.—The installation of the newly elected officers of the Norwood Masonic Lodge No. 223 took place on Monday evening with Wor. Bro. B. W. Squire as installing officer. The following are the officers: W.M., W. Bro. Jas. McSharp; I.P.M., W. Bro. Geo. A. Elliott; S.W., Bro. Wm Thompson; J.W., Bro. Walter Bitten; Chap., W. Bro. H. G. Carleton; Treas., W. Bro. E. C. Squire; Sec., W. Bro. J. F. Pearce; S.D., Bro. R. T. Cuthbertson; J.D., Bro. L. E. Nelson; D. of C., W. Bro. E. P. Cuffe; S.S., Bro Richard Tedford; J.S., Bro. Joseph Tedford; I.G., Bro. Robert Tedford; Tyler, Bro. Wm. Baker.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Keith Sanders was held Thursday from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Spencer, Havelock, to the Norwood cemetery.

The late Mrs. Sanders, whose maiden name was Verena West, was well known here, having made her home with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hubble, Queen street. She attended the Norwood school where she made a host of friends among her associates, who regret her sudden and untimely passing.

She was in her eighteenth year and was married about two years.

Beside her husband she leaves one daughter, Jacquiline.

Her bereaved relatives have the sympathy of the entire community.

DR. J. F. WOLLE DIES

BETHLEHEM, Pa., Jan. 12 (AP)—Dr. J. Fred Wolle, whose organization of Bach music festivals made him widely known in music circles, died to-day after a long illness. He was 69 years old.

"You can telephone home for 30 Cents"

Marion always felt blue when the Christmas season was over.

"We see the family and our old friends," she told her husband, "and then we're out of touch for a year. I can't help feeling lonely."

"We'll fix that," her husband decided. "Call them on Long Distance now and then."

"But Jim, what does it cost?"

"Not very much — especially with night rates. You could telephone the folks at home for about 30 cents.* Why not arrange to call 'station-to-station' every Sunday night?"

"Oh Jim, you've no idea how much better that will make me feel!"

Talking on Long Distance now is as clear and easy as a local call. The service is prompt, dependable — and surprisingly inexpensive.

H. H. P. Johnston
Manager

For 30 cents you can telephone about 100 miles by making an "anyone" call (station-to-station) after 8.30 p.m. See list of rates in front of directory.

MR. AND MRS. I. BELL CELEBRATE DIAMOND WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

London Street Couple Joined By Mr. and Mrs. E. Rosborough, it Being Their 31st Wedding Day.

MANY FRIENDS CALL.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

BRIDGENORTH, January 13. —A very pleasing event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Bell, 114 London street, Peterborough, on Jan. 8, when a number of friends and neighbors called to extend congratulations on the occasion of their diamond wedding anniversary.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. W. Bell and Mrs. Fred Bell, from the bride's original china; tea being poured by Mrs. Alex. Rosborough. Several messages of congratulation and flowers were received by the bride and groom of sixty years.

Mr. and Mrs. Bell are enjoying fairly good health.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rosborough (nee Lily Bell) of Smith, received with Mr. and Mrs. Bell, it being the thirty-first anniversary of their wedding day.

Mrs. Rosborough presented her mother with the wedding cake.

Obituary

MISS M. E. HAISLEY

WARKWORTH, Jan. 13 (Examiner Correspondence).—The whole community was saddened by the death of Miss M. E. Haisley which occurred on Sunday at her residence. Up until a week previous to her death, she was in good health.

Miss Haisley was perhaps the oldest and most respected resident of Percy Township.

The greater part of her life was spent at teaching school, teaching in the local school for forty-eight years. Later she was librarian, which position she held at her death. She was very thorough and persistent in all her undertakings. She was endeared to all who knew her.

The funeral services were held from the United Church on Wednesday. The school in a body paid tribute to the deceased. She leaves many friends to mourn her loss.

The pall bearers were former pupils of deceased: C. H. Curtis, U. E. Wartman, Andrew Weatherson, G. S. Partridge, John Grant and W. B. Baker. The remains were interred in Warkworth cemetery.

GEORGE GRAY

ROSENEATH, Jan. 13 (Examiner Correspondence).—The funeral of the late George Gray took place on Thursday afternoon from his late residence on the Alderville Indian Reserve to the Alderville church, where the service was conducted by George Empey, student in charge of the Roseneath circuit.

The church was filled to capacity to show their respect to one who was highly esteemed by a large circle of friends. Deceased was 52 years old and had lived his entire life on the Indian Reserve, was quite active until two years ago when he was seized with a stroke and again another stroke two weeks ago which later caused his death. For several years he served as secretary of the Alderville Council and was a faithful member of the Alderville Orange Lodge.

Surviving are his widow, formerly Susan Smoke; also five sons and one daughter; one brother, Mr. Robert Gray, Marmora, and two sisters, Mrs. Frank Smoke and Mrs. Moses Smoke Sr.

The bearers were Moses Marsden, John Tobico, Sam Beaver, Noah Smoke, William Smoke, Zack Smoke.

MRS. RICHARD SMITH

LAKEFIELD, Jan. 13 (Examiner Correspondence).—The funeral of the late Mrs. Richard Smith was held on Tuesday afternoon from her late residence, Reid street, with Rev. W. R. Archer, B.A., as the officiting clergyman. Mr. Archer spoke words of inspiration and comfore to the mourners; words which pictured the faith of the Christian in the sure and certain hope of the life to come. He spoke of the keeping power of God so beautifully referred to in the epistles of St. ePter. That power is over all of us all the time, protecting us from perils of which oftimes we are hardly conscious.

Two favorite hymns were sung, "Rock of Ages" and "Safe in the Arms of Jesus," old hymns which never have failed to comfort gen-rations of bereaved ones.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. W. Charlin, R. J. Lennox, W. Madill, W. Ridpath, P. Spence and C. homson, all old friends and neigh-rs of the family. Interment was de in the Lakefield Cemetery.

The late Mrs. Smith was born years ago in Douro on the old odie farm, southeast of Mr. W. Downs' property, which was ade famous in the wel-known book n pioneer life, "Roughing It In The Bush," by Mrs. Susannah Moodie. Her maiden name was Anne Elizabeth Jory, and her entire life was spent in Peterborough County. Almost 59 years ago she married Richard Smith, who was a member of the Ashburnham Company of Volunteers of 1866, and who to-day is an honorary member of the Canadian Legion, and who, with her son, Max, survives her. Two brothers also survive, Edward Jory living in the States, and Sam Jory of Western Canada. Most of Mrs. Smith's married life was spent in Lakefield with the exception of fifteen years spent in Peterborough during which time Mr. Smith was employed at the C.G.E., where he had a great many friends. Four years ago the family moved back to Lakefield. Mrs. Smith was a member of the Presbyterian Church, and entered the Union with the congregation of St. Andrew's, Peterborough, with which she was associated during her residence in the city. She had been in failing health for some time, and about ten weeks ago her illness became serious and on Sunday evening she died.

Mrs. Smith was of a retiring disposition and enjoyed a quiet life, and was a loyal friend and an exemplary wife and mother.

Out-of-town visitors to the funeral included Mr. and Mrs. T. McBrien, Mr. Elwood McBrien, Mrs. G. H. Rowe, Mrs. W. Murduff, and Messrs. Edwin and Sherman Rowe of Peterborough.

Wine Red And Pink

By MME. LISBETH

The new off-color shades are ideal for bridesmaids' dresses. Paris calls them "dirty" colors, and "chalky" is the word New York uses.

By whatever name you designate them, however, the dull shades, like the dusty pink of this bridesmaid's dress, are fascinating.

With this dress are worn velvet accessories of wine red gloves, hat, shoes and flowers.

AUDITORS CHOSEN BY EMILY COUNCIL

Road Accounts Approved at First Meeting of Township Body.

OMEMEE, January 13. — The Emily council met in the Farmers' Club Rooms on Monday, with Harry E. Endicott, reeve, in the chair, and Councillors Herbert Jackson, P. A. Lowes, Paul McGuire and W. J. Patrick, present.

Having taken their several declarations of office, they took their seats and proceeded with the business.

Applications for office were received from Elmer Mahood and Elmer Hickey for position of treasurer, and from David Hill as clerk.

On motion the road accounts as presented by C. W. Mills, the road inspector, were approved and ordered paid.

The following election and miscellaneous accounts were approved and ordered to be paid: Albert Finlay, D.R.O Poll 1, $8.70; George Magee, D.R.O. Poll 2, $7.90; Geo. Henderson, D.R.O. Poll 3, $7.90; M. J. Harrington, Poll 5, $10.30; John C. Lucas, D.R.O. Poll 4, $8.50; John J. Vout, D.R.O. 6, $10.55; Alvin Franks, D.R.O. poll 7, $9.10; Harold Harrison, poll celrk, $2; Harold Long, poll clerk, $2; Leonard Attwell, poll clerk, $2; Joseph Goselin, poll clerk, $2; Ambrose Herlihey, poll clerk, $2; T. Allan, Kennedy, poll clerk, $2; Stanley Lowes, poll clerk, $2; George Magee, fenceviewer, $1.70; F. L. Weldon, balance county rate, $1; the Bank of Toronto telephone debentures, $407.60. The following orders were drawn on treasurer and charged to "sheep killed by dogs" account: Michael O'Neill, sheep killed $6; D. M. Costello, valuing sheep and mileage $1.80.

By-laws were passed appointing D. M. O'Leary and Harry Jackson auditors to audit the accounts of 1932; also appointing C. R. Hart a trustee of the Omemee school for two years, and to authorize the reeve and treasurer to borrow money as they needed to meet the current expenditure.

The reeve, clerk and treasurer were authorized to sign and submit a statement to the Minister of Highways showing an expenditure on the highways of Emily in 1932, of $4268.87, and asking for the usual subsidy on the same.

The collector's time was extended until the next meeting of the council and the said collector was authorized to receive $7.50 in full payment of the taxes of J. E. C. Hannah.

The matter of cutting the brush on the second line and on the Cavan boundary was left in the hands of the Road Superintendent to be done as relief work.

The council adjourned to meet on Monday, February 8, at 12 o'clock noon when the assessor will be appointed.

Wings Blank Maroons 4-0 for Fifth Straight Win

COMBINED TIE CONTINUES FOR U.S. GROUP LEAD

New York Rangers Also Advance With 3-1 Victory Over Boston Bruins.

AMERICANS WIN 5-2.

Revamped Lines Help Canadiens Take 4-2 Fall From Chihawks.

TORONTO, Jan. 13 (C.P.)—The Birdmen of Detroit flew well within range of the National League's big guns to-day, but foe marksmen had still to put the bead on the Red Wings in 1933.

Gathering speed as they near the end of three weeks of unbeaten campaigning, the fleeting hockeymen of Jack Adams scored their fifth straight triumph last night at home, whitewashing the rugged Maroons of Montreal, 4-0, before a crowd of 10,000.

The victory kept Detroit in a tie for first place in the United States section with New York Rangers who advanced with a 3-1 win over Boston Bruins. The Rossmen faded two points behind the joint leaders, but still four in front of Chicago Black Hawks, who stood still in the standing, as they took a 4-2 thumping from Montreal Canadiens.

If there is to be any sort of race in the Canadian division, it will have to be provided by Joe Simpson's bolstered New York Americans. The Amerks, definitely on the up-grade, took Ottawa Senators in their stride last night, 5-2, as a trio of Winnipeg-bred forwards—two of them rookies—banged in all five goals. The win sent them into undisputed possession of second place, six points behind Toronto.

Maroons, desperately seeking to get back the form they lost in mid-December, had no defences the Red Wings couldn't clear in a single hop. The Birds were so business-like in the first period, Ebbie Goodfellow, Stew Evans and Johnny Sorrell scoring before the invaders properly got going, that there was no need to press the issue very hard thereafter. Carl Voss scored another in the second, and Detroit merely planted the defance barriers for the rest of the distance.

Brilliant Offensive

Rangers played brilliant offensive hockey to beat Boston. Murray Murdoch and Ott Heller scored to give the Blueshirts a lead that Marty Barry reduced for Bruins but when Art Ross removed Goalie Tiny Thompson from the game and sent out six forwards in a third period bid to tie it up, Cecil Dillon shot and easy Ranger goal Dillon hit the net from centre-ice.

Wilf (Twinkle) Starr and Red Jackson, former Winnipeg amateur who broke into the major circuit together just two weeks ago, enjoyed a field day at Ottawa Jackson poked in a pair of goals in the second period and Starr got two more in the third. The other American tally came from Nick Wasnie's stick, the veteran also is a Winnipegger.

Until the third period the Senators held a good margin over the Amerks but the Kilreas and Cooney Weiland were off in their shooting. Bill Touhey scored both Ottawa counters.

9,000 Fans See Hawks Fall

With Howie Morenz working on one forward line and Aurel Joliat and Johnny Gagnon, his former partners, on another, Canadiens showed 9,000 Montreal fans the best attacking force the Flying Frenchmen have devised all season. Morenz worked with two other speed fiends Art Giroux and George Mantha, but this line was responsible for only one of four goals. Morenz supplied Mantha the pass for this one.

Gagnon, with Pit Lepine beside him, contributing just enough and not too much speed, bored in for a pair of pretty goals and Lepine got the fourth himself. Hawks played erratic hockey, shooting so inefficiently that in the second period they failed to get a single dead-on shot at George Hainsworth.

Doc Romnes scored for Chicago in the first period from Roger Jenkins' pass and Tommy Cook got another in the third.

Strong Teams Play Central Hockey Loop

HAVELOCK, Jan. 13.—If the cold weather lasts the Central Hockey League, composed of Deloro, Marmora, Madoc and Havelock, should provide hockey enthusiasts with a bill of fare comparable to any of the intermediate loops in the O.H.A.

This is only the league's second season, but in spite of its youth seems to be a remarkably well organized group and has sure done wonders in bringing back hockey to this part of the country. The players from here are all home town boys, but put up a superior band of hockey and get fine crowds out to see their games. This season the league has a bye in the O.H.A. grouping and there seems to be no doubt that a good team will represent the league.

The locals were most fortunate in securing the services of "Doc" Gardner as manager and Ernie Malton as trainer, in addition they have a real impressive bunch of youngsters to pick from this season. It is understood that Charlie Brennan, Becky Jack, Glenn Wright, Paul Voyer and Frank "Ponty" McLaughlin, all former E.P.L. players will turn out and lend a little speed to the clubmen's line-up. Of last year's team, Ted Watson, Burrell Peters, Lawrence Sanderson, Doug McColl, Fred McKenzie and George Kennedy, as goalie, will all prove assets. A feature "kid line" composed of Jerome Voyer, Bert Hagerman and Bill Rose have already shown they mean business and will be a dangerous element for an unsuspecting opposing team.

OMEMEE.

Following the regular church service at Trinity United Church on Sunday evening, Commissioner Edgar Hoe of the Salvation Army, Lindsay, who has spent 26 years in foreign missions, gave a talk on India and Africa, which was profusely illustrated by lantern slides.

A quartette, composed of members of the Army, rendered several very fine selections, vocal and orchestral.

The senior bridge club was entertained at the home of Mrs. Lamb on Tuesday afternoon. Following the card games, lunch was served by the hostess. The prize winners were Mrs. Shaw and Mrs. Gowans.

Mr. Victor Fee, of Toronto, visited friends here over the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Eggleston were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. Eggleston at Ida for a few days this week.

Mr. N. Clemett, of Peterborough, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Clemett, on Wednesday.

Mr. J. Magee was a business visitor to Lindsay on Wednesday.

The young people of Trinity United Church will present their play, "Her Step-Husband," at Cavan on Friday evening, Jan. 20.

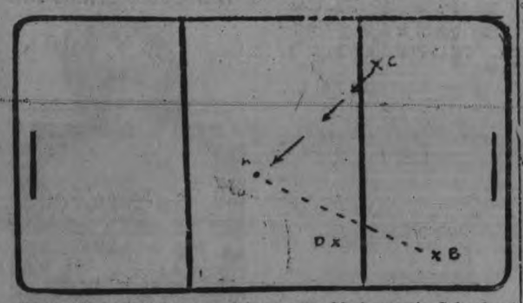
Mr. and Mrs. Laird, of Saskatoon, are guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Poast.

Dr. and Mrs. PePhee, Miss M. Rea, Mrs. Rea and Mr. V. Fee visited Mr. and Mrs. Spiers at Franklin on Sunday.

Mrs. Nugent, of Franklin, is visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Roberts.

Mr. Moore, of Bobcaygeon, visited his sister, Mrs. R. Wilson, on Wednesday.

New O.H.A. Ruling Is Explained



B has the puck in his own defence zone, his teammate C is ahead of him but also behind his blue line, while the third teammate, D, is in the neutral or centre zone. B passes the puck forward (the puck being designated as A). C may legally race forward and get the puck, as he was back of the blue line, but D cannot touch it without being called offside. Forward passing is permitted in both the defence and neutral zone, but not over the blue line from one player to another one on the same team.

Battaglia Hopes To Follow In Footsteps Of Some Of Greatest Fighters In Fistinia

(By Lou Maguire, Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—(C.P.) — Some of the greatest figures in ring history, the original Jack Dempsey, Stanley Ketchel, Harry Greb among them, have occupied the middleweight throne Frankie Battaglia of Winnipeg and Ben Jeby of New York each hope to occupy after tonight's fight in Madison Square Garden.

Not since August, 1926, has the sports palace Text Rickard built known a scrap for supremacy among the 160-pounders. On that exciting night the late Tiger Flowers, a Negro church deacon from down South, unexpectedly ducked under the arms of that human windmill, Greb, and knocked him from his perch. The deacon, only colored man ever to hold the title, was whipped by Mickey Walker at Chicago four months later.

The aptly-called toy bulldog, Walker gave up the championship in June of 1931, to square off with Jack Sharkey in a heavyweight bout a month later. Walker, at 169½ pounds, fought his usual plucky fight but just proved again that a good little man can't whip a good big one.
